How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS

[Law: scienter as the gist; circumstantial proof of guilty knowledge]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The gist of the offense is scienter — knowledge that the goods were stolen — which may be proved by circumstantial evidence such as gross inadequacy of price or furtive conduct. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: scienter as the gist; circumstantial proof of guilty knowledge. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS, p. 995; scan anchor: djvu line 166737 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the offense as receiving 'with the knowledge' the property was stolen; the note states the mens rea element's name and its standard mode of proof. Genuine criminal-law content, not a restatement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECENS INSECUTIO

[Case: Warden v. Hayden, 387 U.S. 294 (1967) — hot pursuit]

Who. The court deciding Case: Warden v. Hayden (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The medieval 'fresh suit' is the ancestor of the modern hot-pursuit doctrine permitting warrantless pursuit of a fleeing suspect across jurisdictional lines. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Warden v. Hayden, 387 U.S. 294 (1967) — hot pursuit. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECENS INSECUTIO, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166759 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1967 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines fresh pursuit of a thief 'immediately after the discovery'; hot pursuit is that principle's modern Fourth Amendment form. Genuine historical lineage from the defined term to living doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECESS

[Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 2, cl. 3; see NLRB v. Noel Canning, 573 U.S. 513 (2014)]

Who. The court deciding Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 2, cl. 3; see NLRB v. Noel Canning (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. A Senate recess carries constitutional consequence: the President may fill vacancies 'during the Recess of the Senate' — the Recess Appointments Clause, as construed in Noel Canning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 2, cl. 3; see NLRB v. Noel Canning, 573 U.S. 513 (2014). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECESS, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166777 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 2014 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry distinguishes legislative recess from inter-session intervals; the Recess Appointments Clause is the legal significance of that distinction — only a qualifying recess triggers the power. Directly illuminates the defined term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECID1VE

[Law: habitual-offender / recidivist sentencing enhancements]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The common-law analogue is habitual-offender sentencing: prior convictions aggravate punishment for the later offense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: habitual-offender / recidivist sentencing enhancements. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECID1VE, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166836 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines French récidive as relapse after condemnation; the habitual-offender principle is the same idea in the parallel system — the repeat offender as a distinct sentencing category. Genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECIPROCAL CONTRACT

[Law: mutuality of consideration in bilateral contracts]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In a bilateral contract each party's promise is the consideration for the other's, making the mutual engagements interdependent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: mutuality of consideration in bilateral contracts. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECIPROCAL CONTRACT, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166842 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the reciprocal (bilateral) contract as mutual engagements; the consideration rule states what makes those engagements legally binding rather than gratuitous. Genuine contract-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECIPROCITY

[Case: Hilton v. Guyot, 159 U.S. 113 (1895)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Hilton v. Guyot (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Reciprocity underlies the recognition of foreign judgments: comity extends where the foreign state would reciprocate. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Hilton v. Guyot, 159 U.S. 113 (1895). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECIPROCITY, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166855 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1895 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines reciprocity as mutual privileges between states conditioned on like treatment; Hilton v. Guyot made reciprocity the test for enforcing foreign judgments in U.S. courts. Direct application of the defined principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECITAL

[Law: estoppel by deed]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Recitals are not mere preamble: parties may be estopped by deed from denying facts recited in their own instrument. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: estoppel by deed. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECITAL, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166863 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines recitals as formal statements of fact explaining the transaction; estoppel by deed states their legal effect — the recited facts bind the parties. Genuine consequence, not restatement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECKLESSNESS

[Law: Model Penal Code § 2.02 — recklessness as conscious disregard of substantial risk]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Modern criminal law grades recklessness as conscious disregard of a substantial and unjustifiable risk — between knowledge and negligence in the culpability hierarchy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Model Penal Code § 2.02 — recklessness as conscious disregard of substantial risk. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECKLESSNESS, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166892 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry describes the reckless state of mind ('pays no regard to ... injurious consequences, or ... persists in spite of such knowledge'); MPC 2.02 gives that description its precise doctrinal place in the fault hierarchy. Genuine illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECLAIMED ANIMALS

[Law: animus revertendi in tamed wild animals]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The qualified property endures only while the animal retains animus revertendi — the habit of returning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: animus revertendi in tamed wild animals. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECLAIMED ANIMALS, p. 997; scan anchor: djvu line 166955 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry says qualified property 'may be acquired' in tamed animals; animus revertendi states how long it lasts — the operative limit on the defined property interest. Directly illuminating, from the same Blackstonian framework as the ratione cluster. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECLAMATION DISTRICT

[Law: special assessments on specially benefited property]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Such districts exercise the special-assessment power: lands specially benefited by the reclamation may be taxed for its cost. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: special assessments on specially benefited property. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECLAMATION DISTRICT, p. 997; scan anchor: djvu line 166965 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry notes funds 'raised by local taxation'; the special-assessment principle explains the constitutional basis for taxing only the benefited subdivision rather than the general public. Genuine public-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECLUSION

[Law: U.S. Const. art. III, § 3 — 'no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood']

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The 'civil degradation' resembles the common-law attainder's corruption of blood — which the Constitution forbids: 'no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. III, § 3 — 'no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECLUSION, p. 997; scan anchor: djvu line 166976 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reclusion as carrying 'civil degradation'; corruption of blood is the common-law analogue, and the Constitution's prohibition of it gives the American legal response to the same idea. Quoted exactly; genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECOGNITIONS ADNTTLLANDA PER VIM ET DURITIEM FACTA

[Law: duress as vitiating consent — obligations procured by force are voidable]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The writ applies the duress rule: an obligation acknowledged under force and duress may be avoided. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: duress as vitiating consent — obligations procured by force are voidable. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECOGNITIONS ADNTTLLANDA PER VIM ET DURITIEM FACTA, p. 997; scan anchor: djvu line 166999 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the writ as annulling a recognizance 'acknowledged by force and duress'; the duress rule states the substantive principle the writ enforces. Genuine: the writ is the procedural shell, duress the operative doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECOGNIZANCE

[Law: release on own recognizance in criminal procedure]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern descendant is release on recognizance — pretrial release on the defendant's recorded undertaking to appear. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: release on own recognizance in criminal procedure. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECOGNIZANCE, p. 997; scan anchor: djvu line 167017 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the recognizance as an obligation of record conditioned on an act 'as to appear'; release on recognizance is that definition's living criminal-procedure form. Genuine lineage from the defined term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECOMMENDATORY

[Law: precatory words and the precatory-trust doctrine]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Precatory words ('wish,' 'desire,' 'recommend') raise the precatory-trust question: whether the testator meant to impose a binding trust or merely express a hope — modern law requires clear intent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: precatory words and the precatory-trust doctrine. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECOMMENDATORY, p. 998; scan anchor: djvu line 167104 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines recommendatory/precatory language in wills; the precatory-trust doctrine is the construction question such language always raises. Directly illuminates the definition's legal stakes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECONCILIATION

[Law: condonation as a bar in divorce]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. As condonation, reconciliation bars the forgiven marital offense as a ground of divorce — forgiveness pleaded as a defense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: condonation as a bar in divorce. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECONCILIATION, p. 998; scan anchor: djvu line 167129 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry says reconciliation is used in divorce law as synonymous with 'condonation'; condonation-as-bar states the doctrine's legal effect. Genuine: gives the operative consequence of the defined term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECONDUCTION

[Law: holdover tenancy]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The common-law analogue is the holdover tenancy: remaining in possession with the landlord's assent renews the tenancy as a periodic one. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: holdover tenancy. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECONDUCTION, p. 998; scan anchor: djvu line 167137 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reconduction as renewal of a lease; the holdover-tenancy rule is the same principle in the common-law system — continued possession as implied renewal. Genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECONSTRUCTION

[Case: Texas v. White, 74 U.S. (7 Wall.) 700 (1869)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Texas v. White (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Texas v. White held the Union 'indestructible' — secession ordinances void — the constitutional premise on which Reconstruction rested. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Texas v. White, 74 U.S. (7 Wall.) 700 (1869). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECONSTRUCTION, p. 998; scan anchor: djvu line 167141 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1869 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines Reconstruction as re-establishing the seceded states' constitutional relations and cites Texas v. White; the case's indestructible-Union holding is the constitutional foundation of that process. Cited in the entry itself; holding stated accurately. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECONVENTION

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 13(a) — compulsory counterclaims]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern descendant is the compulsory counterclaim: claims arising from the same transaction must be pleaded in the same action. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 13(a) — compulsory counterclaims. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECONVENTION, p. 998; scan anchor: djvu line 167177 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reconvention as the defendant's cross-action, 'more extensive' than set-off; the compulsory counterclaim is its modern procedural form. Genuine lineage from civil-law root to current practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECONVERSION

[Law: equity of redemption]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Reconveyance on payment is the equity of redemption realized — the mortgagor's right to reclaim the estate free of the mortgage debt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: equity of redemption. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECONVERSION, p. 998; scan anchor: djvu line 167190 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's merged reconveyance passage defines the mortgagee's reconveying on payoff; the equity of redemption is the mortgagor's right that the reconveyance effectuates. Genuine: names the equitable estate behind the procedure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECORDING ACTS

[Law: race, notice, and race-notice recording statutes]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Recording acts divide into race, notice, and race-notice statutes — differing on whether priority turns on recording first, bona fide purchase without notice, or both. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: race, notice, and race-notice recording statutes. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECORDING ACTS, p. 1000; scan anchor: djvu line 167464 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines recording acts by their notice function; the race/notice/race-notice classification is the core doctrine determining how that function allocates priority between competing claimants. The essential property-law content of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECOUPMENT

[Law: recoupment vs. set-off — the same-transaction requirement]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Recoupment is confined to cross-demands arising from the same transaction — which distinguishes it from set-off and lets it survive as a defense where set-off would need an independent action. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: recoupment vs. set-off — the same-transaction requirement. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECOUPMENT, p. 1000; scan anchor: djvu line 167475 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines recoupment as deduction for the plaintiff's non-compliance with cross-obligations 'under the same contract'; the same-transaction requirement is the doctrinal boundary the definition implies, distinguishing recoupment from set-off. Genuine operative content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECOURSE

[Law: UCC § 3-415 — obligation of indorser; qualified indorsement]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. An indorsement 'without recourse' disclaims the indorser's contract liability on the instrument while still transferring title. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 3-415 — obligation of indorser; qualified indorsement. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECOURSE, p. 1000; scan anchor: djvu line 167541 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the 'without recourse' qualified indorsement; UCC 3-415 states its legal effect — disclaimer of indorser liability with transfer intact. Directly illuminates the defined form's consequence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECOVERY

[Law: res judicata / claim preclusion]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A 'final recovery' — final judgment — triggers res judicata, barring relitigation of the same claim between the same parties. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: res judicata / claim preclusion. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECOVERY, p. 1000; scan anchor: djvu line 167561 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines 'final recovery' as the final judgment in an action; res judicata states what a final judgment does — it concludes the controversy. Genuine: the definition's legal consequence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECRIMINATION

[Maxim: He who seeks equity must do equity — clean hands]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Recrimination is the clean-hands maxim in divorce dress: one at equal fault cannot have the divorce the other's fault would support. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: He who seeks equity must do equity — clean hands. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECRIMINATION, p. 1001; scan anchor: djvu line 167594 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines recrimination as a counter-charge 'in bar of the plaintiff's cause of divorce'; the clean-hands maxim states the equitable principle behind the bar. Genuine: the maxim explains why mutual fault defeats the suit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECTIFICATION

[Law: rectification for mutual mistake in equity]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Rectification is an equitable remedy requiring proof, to a high standard, of a common mistake: the instrument must fail to record what both parties actually agreed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Law: rectification for mutual mistake in equity. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECTIFICATION, p. 1001; scan anchor: djvu line 167616 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rectification of instruments framed 'by mutual mistake' not to express the parties' real intention; the note states the remedy's evidentiary and substantive requirements — the doctrine governing when the defined action lies. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECUSANTS

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. I — religion clauses]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Recusancy penalties are the old-world practice the First Amendment's religion clauses repudiate: 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. I — religion clauses. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECUSANTS, p. 1002; scan anchor: djvu line 167803 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry describes penal statutes for absenting from the established church; the First Amendment is the American legal answer to exactly that regime — establishment forbidden, free exercise protected. Genuine contrast illumination, quoted exactly. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECUSATIO TESTIS

[Law: modern presumption of witness competency]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The civil-law rejection for incompetency parallels the old common-law disqualifications (interest, infamy); modern law presumes every person competent, leaving credibility to the trier of fact. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: modern presumption of witness competency. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECUSATIO TESTIS, p. 1002; scan anchor: djvu line 167816 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rejection of a witness for incompetency; the historical arc — from categorical disqualification to presumptive competency — is the evidence-law context that gives the definition its modern meaning. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECUSATION

[Maxim: Nemo judex in causa sua] [Law: 28 U.S.C. § 455 — disqualification of federal judges]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The principle is nemo judex in causa sua — no one should be judge in his own cause — codified for federal judges in the disqualification statute. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Nemo judex in causa sua] [Law: 28 U.S.C. § 455 — disqualification of federal judges. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECUSATION, p. 1002; scan anchor: djvu line 167822 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines recusation as the plea that a judge is disqualified by interest or prejudice; the maxim states the principle and § 455 its federal codification. Directly illuminates the defined plea's foundation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RED-HANDED

[Law: in flagrante delicto; warrantless arrest for offenses committed in presence]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Red-handed' is the English of in flagrante delicto — taken in the act — the classic case for warrantless arrest, as at common law for a felony committed in the officer's presence. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: in flagrante delicto; warrantless arrest for offenses committed in presence. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RED-HANDED, p. 1002; scan anchor: djvu line 167847 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry gives the vivid English phrase; the Latin term and the in-presence arrest rule state its legal significance — freshness of guilt justifying summary apprehension. Genuine criminal-procedure content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDDENDO SINGULA SINGULIS

[Law: canons of construction — reddendo singula singulis; noscitur a sociis; ejusdem generis]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. One of the textual canons of construction, alongside noscitur a sociis and ejusdem generis — each phrase referred to its appropriate object. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: canons of construction — reddendo singula singulis; noscitur a sociis; ejusdem generis. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDDENDO SINGULA SINGULIS, p. 1002; scan anchor: djvu line 167855 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the rule as 'a rule of construction'; situating it among the textual canons shows the family it belongs to. The entry's own characterization invites exactly this framing. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDDENDUM

[Law: common-law rule that a reservation must be to the grantor, not a stranger]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. At common law a reddendum operates only by way of reservation to the grantor — a 'reservation' in favor of a stranger to the deed is void. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: common-law rule that a reservation must be to the grantor, not a stranger. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDDENDUM, p. 1002; scan anchor: djvu line 167861 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the reddendum as the clause by which the grantor 'creates or reserves some new thing to himself'; the stranger rule states the clause's doctrinal limit — it cannot grant to one not party to the deed. Genuine operative limit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDEEM

[Law: statutory tax-sale redemption periods]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. For tax sales, redemption is statutory: the owner may reclaim the land within the redemption period by paying the arrears, interest, and costs. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: statutory tax-sale redemption periods. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDEEM, p. 1003; scan anchor: djvu line 167923 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry expressly includes redeeming 'one's land from a tax-sale'; the statutory redemption period is the legal machinery behind that usage. Kept distinct from REDEMPTION, which carries the equity of redemption proper. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDEMPTION

[Law: equity of redemption; the 'no clog on the equity' rule]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The flagship is the mortgagor's equity of redemption — the right, even after default, to reclaim the estate by paying the debt, which no 'clog or fetter' in the mortgage may defeat. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: equity of redemption; the 'no clog on the equity' rule. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDEMPTION, p. 1003; scan anchor: djvu line 167979 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's core is 'cancelling and annulling a defeasible title to land, such as is created by a [mortgage]'; the equity of redemption is the doctrinal name for exactly that right, and the no-clog rule its defining protection. The central property-law content of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDHIBITION

[Law: UCC §§ 2-314, 2-315 — implied warranties of merchantability and fitness]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The common-law analogue is implied warranty: goods must be merchantable and, where the seller knows the buyer's purpose, fit for that purpose. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC §§ 2-314, 2-315 — implied warranties of merchantability and fitness. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDHIBITION, p. 1003; scan anchor: djvu line 168033 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the civil-law avoidance of sale for hidden vice (La. Civ. Code art. 2520); the UCC implied warranties are the same protective idea in the common-law sales system. Genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

annotation]

REDHUI

[Law: rent-service, rent-charge, rent-seck]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The common-law rents — rent-service, rent-charge, and rent-seck — are distinguished by the remedies annexed to each, chiefly the lord's right of distress. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: rent-service, rent-charge, rent-seck. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDHUI, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168078 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry catalogs rent species (white rent, black rent, quit rents, rent seek); the threefold classification with its remedial distinction is the doctrinal framework organizing the catalog. Genuine property-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDRAFT1

[Law: protest for dishonor; holder's recourse on bills of exchange]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. On dishonor by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder's protest founds recourse against drawer and indorsers — the redraft being the re-exchange mechanism. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: protest for dishonor; holder's recourse on bills of exchange. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDRAFT1, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168102 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the redraft drawn where the original bill 'went to protest'; protest-and-recourse is the bills-and-notes machinery that gives the redraft its function. Genuine commercial-law context. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDRESS

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. I — 'redress of grievances']

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The Constitution secures 'the right of the people ... to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. I — 'redress of grievances'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDRESS, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168112 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines redress as receiving satisfaction for injury; the Petition Clause uses the identical term for the citizen's constitutional avenue to seek it. Exact word match, quoted exactly, genuinely illuminating the term's public-law dimension. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REDUCTION

[Law: civil-law forced heirship — réserve héréditaire / portion disponible]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The French reduction enforces the forced-heirship system: the réserve héréditaire limits the disposable portion, and excessive gifts are reduced to protect it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: civil-law forced heirship — réserve héréditaire / portion disponible. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDUCTION, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168130 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's French sense defines reduction of gifts exceeding the portion disponible; forced heirship is the succession system that rule serves. Genuine: states the why behind the defined procedure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDUCTION INTO POSSESSION

[Law: common-law doctrine of reduction into possession by the husband]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The classic application was the husband's reduction of his wife's choses in action — by receipt or judgment — making them his own at common law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: common-law doctrine of reduction into possession by the husband. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDUCTION INTO POSSESSION, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168160 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reduction abstractly ('a debt is reduced into possession by payment'); the husband's reduction of the wife's choses is the doctrine's historic paradigmatic use — the reason the phrase lived in the books. Genuine historical-legal content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REDUNDANCY

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f) — motion to strike redundant matter]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Modern pleading retains the remedy: redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter may be struck on motion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f) — motion to strike redundant matter. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDUNDANCY, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168167 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines redundancy as superfluous matter in pleadings and cites striking cases; Rule 12(f) is the modern codification of that remedy. Direct lineage from the defined fault to current practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RE-ENTRY

[Law: equitable relief against forfeiture]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A re-entry proviso works a forfeiture; equity relieves against forfeiture for breach — especially non-payment of rent — where compensation can be made. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: equitable relief against forfeiture. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RE-ENTRY, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168177 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the lessor's resumption on the tenant's default; equitable relief against forfeiture is the chancery limit on that power — the doctrine that most often decides re-entry cases. Genuine operative limit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RE-EXAMINATION

[Law: scope of redirect examination limited to matters raised on cross]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Re-examination (redirect) is confined to matters raised on cross-examination — the scope rule governing the order of proof. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: scope of redirect examination limited to matters raised on cross. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RE-EXAMINATION, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168191 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines re-examination as upon 'matters arising out of such cross-examination'; the scope rule states the evidentiary limit that definition implies. Genuine trial-practice content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REFEREE

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 53 — masters]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern federal analogue is the special master: a court-appointed officer to hear evidence and report to the court. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 53 — masters. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFEREE, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168281 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the referee as one to whom a pending cause is referred 'to take testimony, hear the parties, and report thereon'; the Rule 53 master is that office's current federal form. Genuine lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REFERENCE

[Law: Federal Arbitration Act of 1925]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Agreements to arbitrate are enforceable under the Federal Arbitration Act, reflecting the strong federal policy favoring arbitration. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Federal Arbitration Act of 1925. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFERENCE, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168304 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1925 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry's contract sense is 'an agreement to submit to arbitration'; the FAA states the legal consequence that makes such agreements effective rather than revocable at will. Genuine operative law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REFERENDO SINOUXA SINGULIS

[Law: canons of construction — distributive reference]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The distributive-reference canon: where words in an instrument relate to several subjects, each is referred to its appropriate subject — kin to reddendo singula singulis. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: canons of construction — distributive reference. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFERENDO SINOUXA SINGULIS, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168350 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the rule as 'a rule of construction'; the note states its operation distinctly from the reddendo singula singulis note at entry 171 (each-to-each vs. distributive). Honest companion, not padding. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REFERENDUM

[Law: initiative and referendum in state constitutional law]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The American analogue is direct legislation by initiative and referendum, provided for in many state constitutions. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: initiative and referendum in state constitutional law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFERENDUM, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168357 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the Swiss constitutional referendum as submitting measures 'to a direct vote of the whole people'; initiative-and-referendum is the same democratic device in American state law. Genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REFINEMENT

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f) — motion to strike redundant matter]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Like redundancy, superfluous pleading verbiage is subject to a motion to strike. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f) — motion to strike redundant matter. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFINEMENT, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168370 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines refinement as verbiage 'over and above what is necessary' in pleading; Rule 12(f) is the remedy. Same genuine rule as REDUNDANCY, honestly applied to the companion term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REFORM

[Law: reformation for mutual mistake in equity]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Reformation requires proof of mutual mistake — or unilateral mistake coupled with fraud or inequitable conduct — shown by clear and convincing evidence. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: reformation for mutual mistake in equity. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFORM, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168379 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reform as equity's correction of instruments defective through 'error, mistake of fact, or inadvertence'; the note states the remedy's substantive and evidentiary requirements. Companion to RECTIFICATION's note, with distinct content (the unilateral-mistake-plus-fraud branch and the proof standard). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REFORMATORY

[Law: cy-près doctrine in charitable trusts]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The entry's failed bequest implicates charitable-trust definiteness: where a charitable purpose is stated but the machinery is vague, equity may apply cy-près rather than let the gift fail. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: cy-près doctrine in charitable trusts. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFORMATORY, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168429 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry holds 'boys' reformatory' too uncertain to support the bequest; cy-près is the equitable doctrine that addresses exactly such indefinite charitable gifts. Genuine: the doctrine the case's problem invokes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REFRESHING THE MEMORY

[Law: Fed. R. Evid. 612 — writing used to refresh memory]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Refreshing recollection is governed by the rule for writings used to refresh memory — distinct from past recollection recorded, where the memorandum itself becomes the evidence. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Evid. 612 — writing used to refresh memory. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REFRESHING THE MEMORY, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168457 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the witness's consulting memoranda to revive recollection; Rule 612 and the present/past-recollection distinction state the evidence-law framework for that act. The essential evidence content of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGAL FISH

[Case: Geer v. Connecticut, 161 U.S. 522 (1896)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Geer v. Connecticut (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The American transmutation of such prerogatives is state ownership of wildlife in trust for the people. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Geer v. Connecticut, 161 U.S. 522 (1896). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGAL FISH, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168533 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1896 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry describes whales and sturgeons belonging to the king 'by prerogative'; Geer holds the states own wild game in sovereign trust — the republican form of the same prerogative idea. Genuine comparative lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGE INCONSULTO

[Maxim: Rex non potest peccare — the king can do no wrong; sovereign immunity]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The writ reflects the sovereign-immunity root: the crown's interests cannot be adjudicated without its leave — 'the king can do no wrong.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Rex non potest peccare — the king can do no wrong; sovereign immunity. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGE INCONSULTO, p. 1007; scan anchor: djvu line 168620 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the writ as barring proceedings prejudicing the crown 'until advised'; the maxim states the immunity principle behind it — the sovereign as the fountain of justice cannot be impleaded without consent. Genuine root principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REGIA VIA

[Law: obstruction of public highway as public nuisance]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The king's highway is publici juris — its obstruction is a public nuisance, indictable at common law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: obstruction of public highway as public nuisance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGIA VIA, p. 1007; scan anchor: djvu line 168648 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry gives only 'the king's highway'; the public-nuisance consequence states the term's legal significance — why the highway's royal character matters in law. Modest but genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGICIDE

[Law: 25 Edw. 3, st. 5, c. 2 (Treason Act 1351) — compassing the king's death]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. At common law, compassing the sovereign's death is high treason — the Treason Act of 1351's first head. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 25 Edw. 3, st. 5, c. 2 (Treason Act 1351) — compassing the king's death. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGICIDE, p. 1007; scan anchor: djvu line 168658 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines regicide as the murder of a sovereign; the 1351 statute states its common-law criminal category — compassing the king's death as high treason. Genuine: gives the one-line definition its legal classification. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGIME

[Law: marital property regimes — dotal, community, separate]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The régime dotal is one marital-property system alongside community property and separation of property — Louisiana's community regime being the American civil-law instance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: marital property regimes — dotal, community, separate. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGIME, p. 1007; scan anchor: djvu line 168671 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry describes the dotal regime's administration rules; situating it among the marital-property systems shows the family it belongs to. Genuine comparative context for the French-law entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REGRATING

[Law: Sherman Act § 1 — restraints of trade; common-law forestalling, regrating, engrossing]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Regrating belonged to the common-law offenses against trade — forestalling, regrating, engrossing — the ancestors of modern antitrust's ban on restraints of trade. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Sherman Act § 1 — restraints of trade; common-law forestalling, regrating, engrossing. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGRATING, p. 1009; scan anchor: djvu line 169001 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the market-manipulation offense; the common-law trio and Sherman Act § 1 state its doctrinal lineage — early law's direct ancestor of the modern restraint-of-trade prohibition. Genuine historical lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGULATE

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 3]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The power described is the Commerce Clause: Congress's power 'To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 3. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGULATE, p. 1009; scan anchor: djvu line 169030 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines 'regulate' through the commerce power, citing Gloucester Ferry and Gibbons v. Ogden; the Clause is the constitutional text both cases construe, quoted briefly and exactly. The genuine source of the defined power. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REHEARING

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 59(e) — motion to alter or amend a judgment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern descendant is the motion to alter or amend the judgment — the procedural vehicle for asking the same court to revisit its decree. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 59(e) — motion to alter or amend a judgment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REHEARING, p. 1009; scan anchor: djvu line 169096 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rehearing as a second hearing on petition by one dissatisfied with the decree; Rule 59(e) is that petition's current federal form. Genuine procedural lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REI INTER VENTUS

[Law: estoppel by conduct / equitable estoppel]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Scotch rei interventus is estoppel's civil-law cousin: one who induces another to act in faith of an obligation cannot repudiate it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: estoppel by conduct / equitable estoppel. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REI INTER VENTUS, p. 1009; scan anchor: djvu line 169105 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rei interventus as acts done 'in the faith of its validity' barring repudiation; estoppel states the same principle in common-law dress. Genuine comparative illumination. The merged 'Rei turpis nullum mandatum est' maxim was not attached — it belongs to a different headword. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REINSURANCE

[Maxim: Uberrima fides — utmost good faith]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Insurance contracts, reinsurance included, are contracts uberrimae fidei — of the utmost good faith — requiring full disclosure of material facts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Uberrima fides — utmost good faith. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REINSURANCE, p. 1009; scan anchor: djvu line 169137 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the reinsurance contract; uberrima fides states the distinctive good-faith standard governing all insurance contracts. Genuine: the maxim gives the defined contract its doctrinal character. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RELATIONS

[Law: construction of 'relations' as statutory next of kin]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In wills 'relations' is construed as the statutory next of kin — those entitled under the statute of distributions. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: construction of 'relations' as statutory next of kin. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RELATIONS, p. 18 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169254 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines relations broadly as 'all the kindred'; the construction rule narrows it to the operative legal meaning in testamentary instruments. Genuine wills-construction content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RELATOR

[Law: quo warranto]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Quo warranto — 'by what authority' — is the proceeding testing one's title to public office or franchise, brought at the relator's instance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: quo warranto. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RELATOR, p. 18 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169287 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the relator as the one at whose instance quo warranto is filed; the note states what quo warranto is — the proceeding the defined person sets in motion. Genuine: explains the relator's function. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RELEVANCY

[Law: Fed. R. Evid. 401, 402 — relevant evidence]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Relevant evidence is evidence having any tendency to make a fact of consequence more or less probable — admissible unless otherwise excluded. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Evid. 401, 402 — relevant evidence. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RELEVANCY, p. 1012 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169460 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines relevancy as 'applicability to the issue joined'; Rules 401/402 give that definition its precise modern formulation and its consequence (admissibility). The essential evidence-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RELICTION

[Law: avulsion vs. accretion — sudden change does not move the boundary]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sudden withdrawal is avulsion, not accretion: where the change is sudden and perceptible the boundary does not shift. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: avulsion vs. accretion — sudden change does not move the boundary. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RELICTION, p. 1012 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169509 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reliction as increase 'by the sudden withdrawal' of sea or river; the avulsion rule states the legal consequence of suddenness — the opposite of the gradual-accretion rule noted at RECESSUS MARIS. Genuine: the sudden/gradual distinction is the doctrine's hinge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RELIGION

[Case: Reynolds v. United States, 98 U.S. 145 (1879)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Reynolds v. United States (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Reynolds drew the belief-conduct line: the First Amendment protects religious belief absolutely but leaves religiously motivated conduct subject to law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Reynolds v. United States, 98 U.S. 145 (1879). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RELIGION, p. 1012 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169548 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1879 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines 'religion' for establishment purposes and cites Reynolds; the belief-conduct distinction is that case's holding and the operative First Amendment framework. Cited in the entry itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMAINDER

[Law: Rule in Shelley's Case]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The classic remainder puzzle is the Rule in Shelley's Case: a remainder to the life tenant's 'heirs' gives the heirs nothing by purchase — the life tenant takes the fee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Rule in Shelley's Case. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMAINDER, p. 25 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169661 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines remainders expectant on a particular estate; Shelley's Rule is the most famous doctrine governing such limitations — it decides who actually takes. The essential future-interests content of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMAND

[Law: the mandate rule]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. On appellate remand the lower court must carry the mandate into effect — it may not revisit matters decided on appeal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: the mandate rule. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMAND, p. 32 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169775 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines remand of a case to the court whence it came; the mandate rule states the lower court's duty on receiving it. Genuine: the definition's operative consequence in appellate practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REMEDY

[Maxim: Ubi jus ibi remedium — where there is a right, there is a remedy]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The entry is the maxim ubi jus ibi remedium in expository form: remedy is the means by which the violation of a right is prevented, redressed, or compensated. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi jus ibi remedium — where there is a right, there is a remedy. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMEDY, p. 32 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169833 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's fourfold classification of remedies expounds the maxim's thesis; citing the maxim here (as at QUOD RECUPERET) is honest because the entry is the maxim unfolded. The maxim explains why the classification exists. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMISSION

[Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 2 — pardons]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The sovereign's remission of penalties survives as the pardon power: the President's 'Power to grant Reprieves and Pardons for Offences against the United States.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 2 — pardons. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMISSION, p. 1015; scan anchor: djvu line 169926 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's common-law sense is 'the act by which a forfeiture or penalty is forgiven'; the Pardon Clause is that power's American constitutional form, quoted briefly and exactly. Genuine lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMITTER

[Maxim: Relatio est fictio juris — relation is a fiction of law]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Remitter is the property-law form of the relation-back fiction — relatio est fictio juris — by which law treats a later act as effective from an earlier date. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Relatio est fictio juris — relation is a fiction of law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMITTER, p. 1015; scan anchor: djvu line 169973 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines remitter as the 'relation back' of a defective title to an earlier valid one; the maxim names the fiction at work. The maxim appeared in this chunk's own merged content (3 Coke, 28); applied here to its proper subject. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REMITTITUR DAMNA

[Case: Dimick v. Schiedt, 293 U.S. 474 (1935)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Dimick v. Schiedt (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Remittitur survives: a court may condition denial of a new trial on the plaintiff's remitting the excessive portion of a verdict. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Dimick v. Schiedt, 293 U.S. 474 (1935). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMITTITUR DAMNA, p. 1015; scan anchor: djvu line 169997 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1935 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines the practice of remitting excess damages; Dimick is the Supreme Court authority on remittitur's place in federal practice (and its additur limit). Genuine: the modern form of the defined practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMOTE

[Case: Palsgraf v. Long Island R.R., 248 N.Y. 339 (1928)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Palsgraf v. Long Island R.R. (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The antithesis is proximate cause — the legal-cause limit on negligence liability, famously tested in Palsgraf. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Palsgraf v. Long Island R.R., 248 N.Y. 339 (1928). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMOTE, p. 1015; scan anchor: djvu line 170026 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1928 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines 'remote' as the antithesis of 'proximate' in negligence; proximate cause is the doctrine the antithesis serves, and Palsgraf is its canonical exposition. Directly illuminates the defined term's function. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMOTENESS

[Case: Hadley v. Baxendale (1854)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Hadley v. Baxendale (1854) (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. In contract, remoteness is governed by Hadley v. Baxendale: only damages in the parties' contemplation are recoverable. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Hadley v. Baxendale (1854). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMOTENESS, p. 1015; scan anchor: djvu line 170059 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1854 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines remoteness as want of causal connection barring compensation; Hadley states the contract-law test for that bar — contemplation/foreseeability. Distinct from REMOTE's tort note (Palsgraf); the contract counterpart. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REMOVAL FROM OFFICE

[Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 4]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The constitutional removal is impeachment: 'Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. II, § 4. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMOVAL FROM OFFICE, p. 1016; scan anchor: djvu line 170095 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines removal as lawful deprivation of office; Article II, Section 4 states the federal constitutional mechanism, quoted briefly and exactly. The genuine public-law content of the defined term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REMOVAL OF CAUSES

[Law: 28 U.S.C. § 1441 — removal jurisdiction]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Removal to federal court is governed by the removal statute: a defendant may remove any civil action brought in state court of which the district courts have original jurisdiction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 28 U.S.C. § 1441 — removal jurisdiction. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REMOVAL OF CAUSES, p. 1016; scan anchor: djvu line 170101 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1441 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines removal as transfer from state court to the U.S. circuit court 'under the acts of congress in that behalf'; § 1441 is that act. Directly states the statute the definition invokes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RENT

[Law: common-law qualities of rent — certainty of amount]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A common-law rent must be certain in amount — one of the classic qualities distinguishing true rent from other periodic payments. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: common-law qualities of rent — certainty of amount. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RENT, p. 1017; scan anchor: djvu line 170245 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rent as 'a certain profit issuing yearly out of lands'; certainty is the doctrinal quality the definition's 'certain' encodes. Modest but genuine: explains the definition's operative word. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REPAIRS

[Law: covenant to repair — restoration vs. improvement]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A general covenant to repair obliges restoration, not improvement — 'repair' meaning to restore to former condition, as the entry's case holds. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: covenant to repair — restoration vs. improvement. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPAIRS, p. 1017; scan anchor: djvu line 170390 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's case (Ardesco Oil) holds repair 'means to restore to its former condition; not to change either the form or material'; the note states the covenant-law consequence of that definition. Modest but genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPEAL

[Law: presumption against implied repeal]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Repeals by implication are disfavored: courts presume the legislature does not intend to repeal by a later general statute absent irreconcilable conflict. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: presumption against implied repeal. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPEAL, p. 1018; scan anchor: djvu line 170446 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines express vs. implied repeal; the presumption against implied repeal is the construction canon governing when the defined 'implied' repeal will actually be found. The essential canon for the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPETITION

[Case: Moses v. Macferlan (1760) — money had and received]

Who. The court deciding Case: Moses v. Macferlan (1760) — money had and received (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The common-law parallel is the action for money had and received — quasi-contract's remedy for money paid by mistake. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Moses v. Macferlan (1760) — money had and received. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPETITION, p. 1018; scan anchor: djvu line 170477 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1760 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines the civil-law condictio for 'money paid under mistake'; money had and received is the same remedy in common-law dress. Genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REPETTTNDARUM CRIMEN

[Law: bribery and extortion under color of official right]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern form is public-corruption law: bribery and extortion under color of official right. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: bribery and extortion under color of official right. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPETTTNDARUM CRIMEN, p. 1018; scan anchor: djvu line 170510 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the Roman crime of magisterial bribery/extortion; the modern corruption offenses are its descendants. Modest comparative note, honestly framed as lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPLEVIN

[Case: Fuentes v. Shevin, 407 U.S. 67 (1972)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Fuentes v. Shevin (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Modern replevin statutes provide prejudgment seizure of the goods — subject to due-process limits on ex parte taking. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Fuentes v. Shevin, 407 U.S. 67 (1972). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPLEVIN, p. 1019; scan anchor: djvu line 170585 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1972 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines replevin as recovery of the goods in specie; Fuentes states the constitutional limit on the prejudgment seizure that remedy entails. Genuine: the modern significance of the defined action. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPRESENTATION

[Law: representations vs. warranties in insurance]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In insurance, representations are distinguished from warranties: a representation need only be substantially true, while a warranty requires strict compliance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: representations vs. warranties in insurance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPRESENTATION, p. 1019; scan anchor: djvu line 170773 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines insurance representations as collateral statements of risk facts; the representation/warranty distinction states their legal effect — the doctrine the definition exists to serve. The essential insurance-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REPRESENTATIVE

[Law: representation / per stirpes in intestate succession]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In succession, representation is the per stirpes principle: issue take the share their ancestor would have taken. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: representation / per stirpes in intestate succession. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPRESENTATIVE, p. 1019; scan anchor: djvu line 170851 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the representative as one standing in another's place, instancing the heir; per stirpes representation is that standing's succession-law operation. Genuine doctrinal content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPRIEVE

[Law: executive clemency — reprieve, pardon, commutation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Reprieve is one head of executive clemency, alongside pardon and commutation — a temporary suspension, not a forgiveness, of the sentence. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: executive clemency — reprieve, pardon, commutation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPRIEVE, p. 87 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 170971 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reprieve as withdrawing a death sentence 'for an interval of time'; situating it in the clemency trio states precisely what it is and is not. Distinct from REMISSION's pardon-power note. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPRISALS

[Law: U.N. Charter art. 2(4) — prohibition on use of force]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Forcible reprisals are now unlawful: the UN Charter prohibits the threat or use of force in international relations. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.N. Charter art. 2(4) — prohibition on use of force. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPRISALS, p. 87 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 170991 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reprisals via Vattel as forcible self-help between nations; Article 2(4) states the modern law's abolition of that self-help. Genuine: the current legal status of the defined practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REPUBLIC

[Law: U.S. Const. art. IV, § 4 — Guarantee Clause]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The Constitution guarantees 'to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. IV, § 4 — Guarantee Clause. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPUBLIC, p. 87 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 171032 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines republican government at length, citing Federalist No. 39; the Guarantee Clause is the Constitution's textual commitment to that form, quoted exactly. The genuine constitutional content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT

[Case: Luther v. Borden, 48 U.S. (7 How.) 1 (1849)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Luther v. Borden (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Claims under the Guarantee Clause are political questions — nonjusticiable. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Luther v. Borden, 48 U.S. (7 How.) 1 (1849). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT, p. 87 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 171053 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1849 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines republican government and cites cases upon it; Luther holds Guarantee Clause disputes nonjusticiable — the justiciability limit on the defined concept's enforcement. Distinct from REPUBLIC's clause note. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPUBLICATION

[Law: republication by codicil]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A codicil republishes the will — the will speaks as of the codicil's date, curing intervening defects of execution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: republication by codicil. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPUBLICATION, p. 87 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 171064 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines republication as re-establishment of a revoked will; republication by codicil is the doctrine's standard operation — the will's effective date moves to the codicil. Genuine wills-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REPUDIATION

[Law: UCC § 2-610 — anticipatory repudiation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In contract, anticipatory repudiation — unequivocal refusal to perform before performance is due — is itself a breach, permitting the aggrieved party to sue at once. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-610 — anticipatory repudiation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPUDIATION, p. 1022; scan anchor: djvu line 171085 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's first sense is rejection/refusal of a duty; anticipatory repudiation is that refusal's contract-law form, with its distinctive consequence (present breach). The operative doctrine for the defined term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPUGNANCY

[Law: repugnant conditions void; restraints on alienation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A condition repugnant to the estate granted — as a restraint on alienation annexed to a fee simple — is void. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: repugnant conditions void; restraints on alienation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPUGNANCY, p. 1022; scan anchor: djvu line 171112 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states 'a repugnant condition is void'; the note gives the rule's paradigmatic application — restraints on alienation repugnant to a fee. Genuine: the doctrine the maxim-like statement encodes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REPUTATION

[Case: New York Times v. Sullivan, 376 U.S. 254 (1964)]

Who. The court deciding Case: New York Times v. Sullivan (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The action for such injuries is defamation — requiring a false statement of fact, published to a third party, harming reputation; public figures must prove actual malice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: New York Times v. Sullivan, 376 U.S. 254 (1964). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REPUTATION, p. 1022; scan anchor: djvu line 171139 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1964 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry says injuries to reputation are 'defamatory and malicious words, libels'; defamation's elements — and Sullivan's actual-malice rule — state the modern law of exactly those injuries. The essential tort content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REQUISITION

[Law: U.S. Const. art. IV, § 2, cl. 2]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Interstate rendition rests on the Extradition Clause: a person 'charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime … shall … be delivered up.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. IV, § 2, cl. 2. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REQUISITION, p. 1022; scan anchor: djvu line 171208 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's international-law sense is the formal demand for a fugitive's surrender; the Extradition Clause is the American constitutional form of interstate rendition, quoted briefly and exactly. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESALE

[Law: UCC § 2-706 — seller's resale]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. On the buyer's breach, the seller may resell the goods and recover the difference — the Code's resale remedy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-706 — seller's resale. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESALE, p. 1024; scan anchor: djvu line 171571 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry describes the vendor's reserved right of reselling on the purchaser's default; § 2-706 codifies that right and its damages measure. Directly states the statute for the defined practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESCEIT

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 24 — intervention]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern form is intervention: a nonparty claiming an interest in the property or transaction may intervene to protect it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 24 — intervention. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESCEIT, p. 1024; scan anchor: djvu line 171581 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines resceit as receiving a third person 'to plead his right in a cause formerly commenced between two others'; intervention is that reception's modern procedural form. Genuine lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RESCISSION

[Law: rescission — restoration of status quo / tender back]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Rescission restores the status quo: the party rescinding must tender back what was received under the contract. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: rescission — restoration of status quo / tender back. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESCISSION, p. 1025; scan anchor: djvu line 171619 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rescission as the contract's canceling; the tender-back requirement states its equitable condition — rescission is not a one-way windfall. The operative doctrine for the defined act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESCUE

[Case: Wagner v. International Ry. Co., 232 N.Y. 176 (1921)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Wagner v. International Ry. Co. (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. In tort, the rescue doctrine holds that 'danger invites rescue' — the tortfeasor who creates peril is liable to the rescuer injured in the attempt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Wagner v. International Ry. Co., 232 N.Y. 176 (1921). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESCUE, p. 1025; scan anchor: djvu line 171708 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1921 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines rescue in its criminal/admiralty senses; the tort rescue doctrine is the exact-name civil counterpart — Cardozo's 'danger invites rescue.' Genuine: the same word's flagship tort doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESCYT

[Law: accessory after the fact]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern category is accessory after the fact: one who receives, relieves, or assists a felon knowing of the felony. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: accessory after the fact. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESCYT, p. 1025; scan anchor: djvu line 171731 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rescyt as 'the receiving or harboring a felon, after the commission of a crime'; accessory after the fact is that conduct's modern criminal-law category. Direct classification. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESERVATION

[Law: reservation vs. exception in deeds]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A reservation creates some new right in the grantor (as an easement); an exception withholds part of the thing granted — the classic conveyancing distinction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: reservation vs. exception in deeds. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary,

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

2nd edition (1910), entry RESERVATION, p. 1025; scan anchor: djvu line 171751 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reservation as creating a right 'which had no previous existence as such'; the reservation/exception distinction states the doctrinal boundary the definition implies. Distinct from REDDENDUM's stranger rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESIDENCE

[Case: Williams v. North Carolina, 317 U.S. 287 (1942)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Williams v. North Carolina (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Domicile — not mere residence — founds jurisdiction: as for divorce, where at least one spouse must be domiciled in the forum. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Williams v. North Carolina, 317 U.S. 287 (1942). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESIDENCE, p. 1026; scan anchor: djvu line 171840 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1942 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry draws the residence/domicile distinction; domicile's jurisdictional consequence (divorce jurisdiction) is why the distinction matters in law. Genuine: gives the defined distinction its stakes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESIDUARY

[Law: residuary clause prevents partial intestacy]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The residuary clause's office is to prevent partial intestacy — sweeping into the will whatever the specific gifts leave undisposed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: residuary clause prevents partial intestacy. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESIDUARY, p. 1026; scan anchor: djvu line 171925 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the residuary clause; preventing partial intestacy states its testamentary function — the reason wills contain it. Genuine operative content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESISTING AN OFFICER

[Law: privilege to resist unlawful arrest (common law; now widely abolished)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The offense requires the officer's lawful duty; at common law one was privileged to resist an unlawful arrest — a privilege most states have now abolished. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: privilege to resist unlawful arrest (common law; now widely abolished). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESISTING AN OFFICER, p. 1027; scan anchor: djvu line 172034 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the offense as obstructing an officer 'in the lawful discharge of his duty'; the lawfulness qualifier and the abolished resistance privilege state the doctrine's boundary. Genuine criminal-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESOLUTION

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 3]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Under the Presentment Clause, every 'Order, Resolution, or Vote' requiring both houses' concurrence must be presented to the President. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 3. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESOLUTION, p. 1027; scan anchor: djvu line 172051 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry distinguishes legislative resolutions from statutes; the Presentment Clause states the constitutional consequence — even 'resolutions' with legislative effect require presentment. The genuine public-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESOLUTIVE

[Maxim: Resoluto jure concedentis resolvitur jus concessum — the grantor's right extinguished, the granted right is extinguished]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The entry's own maxim states the derivative-title principle: the granted right falls with the grantor's right — kin to nemo dat quod non habet. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Resoluto jure concedentis resolvitur jus concessum — the grantor's right extinguished, the granted right is extinguished. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESOLUTIVE, p. 1027; scan anchor: djvu line 172081 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The maxim appears in the entry's own body (Broom, Max. 467) defining the resolutive quality; the footnote records its doctrinal meaning — derivative title's limit. Sourced from the entry itself, applied to its subject. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESPITE

[Law: composition with creditors; bankruptcy adjustment of debts]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The civil-law respite — the debtor's composition with creditors for time — is the ancestor of modern bankruptcy compositions adjusting the debtor's obligations. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: composition with creditors; bankruptcy adjustment of debts. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESPITE, p. 1028; scan anchor: djvu line 172145 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's civil-law sense defines respite as the debtor's transacting with creditors for delay; the composition is that transaction's modern bankruptcy form. Genuine lineage, distinct from REPRIEVE's clemency note. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RESPONDERE NON DEBET

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 6 — Speech or Debate Clause; diplomatic immunity]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The examples given are the great immunities: the Speech or Debate Clause for members of Congress, and diplomatic immunity for ambassadors. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 6 — Speech or Debate Clause; diplomatic immunity. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESPONDERE NON DEBET, p. 1028; scan anchor: djvu line 172276 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the plea by its examples — 'a member of congress or a foreign ambassador'; the note states the immunities those examples embody. Directly illuminates the definition's instances. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESPONSIBLE

[Law: Statute of Frauds — suretyship provision]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A promise to answer for another's debt falls under the Statute of Frauds — it must be in writing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Frauds — suretyship provision. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESPONSIBLE, p. 1028; scan anchor: djvu line 172311 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry distinguishes a promise to be 'responsible' for another's contract (guaranty) from suretyship; the Statute of Frauds' writing requirement is the operative formality for such promises. Genuine contract-law consequence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESTAURANT

[Law: innkeeper's liability]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. If an 'inn' in law, the keeper faces the innkeeper's heightened duties — including strict liability for guests' goods. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: innkeeper's liability. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESTAURANT, p. 1028; scan anchor: djvu line 172381 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's point is that 'restaurant' may legally be an 'inn'; innkeeper's liability states why that classification matters. Genuine: the legal consequence of the entry's classification question. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RESTITUTIO IN INTEGRUM

[Law: equitable rescission — restoration to status quo]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Roman root of equitable rescission: chancery's power to unwind a transaction and restore the parties to their prior position. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: equitable rescission — restoration to status quo. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESTITUTIO IN INTEGRUM, p. 1028; scan anchor: djvu line 172388 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the praetor's restoration to previous condition; the note states its lineage — the Roman source of chancery's rescission. Complements RESCISSION's tender-back note with the historical root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESTITUTION

[Law: restitution on reversal of judgment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. On reversal, the successful appellant is entitled to restitution of whatever was taken under the erroneous judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: restitution on reversal of judgment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESTITUTION, p. 1028; scan anchor: djvu line 172405 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's practice sense defines restitution as the return of what was taken under a reversed judgment (citing Haebler v. Myers); the note states the appellate doctrine — the judgment's reversal unwinds its fruits. Genuine operative content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RESTRICTIVE INDORSEMENT

[Law: UCC § 3-206 — restrictive indorsement]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A restrictive indorsement limits further negotiation — e.g., 'for deposit only' — and gives the indorsee only the stated rights. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 3-206 — restrictive indorsement. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESTRICTIVE INDORSEMENT, p. 1030; scan anchor: djvu line 172608 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the indorsement that 'puts an end to the negotiability of the paper'; § 3-206 codifies its effect. Directly states the Code section for the defined form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RESULT

[Law: purchase-money resulting trust]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The flagship is the purchase-money resulting trust: where one pays the price for property conveyed to another, equity presumes a trust for the payor. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: purchase-money resulting trust. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RESULT, p. 1030; scan anchor: djvu line 172619 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cross-refs resulting trust; the purchase-money presumption is the doctrine's central application — the resulting trust equity infers from payment. The essential trusts content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RETAIN

[Law: attorney's retaining lien]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The attorney's retaining lien secures fees: the lawyer may retain the client's papers and funds until paid. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: attorney's retaining lien. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RETAIN, p. 1030; scan anchor: djvu line 172666 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cross-refs 'Retaining See Lien'; the retaining lien states what the lawyer retains and why — the security behind the retainer. Modest but genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RETORSION

[Law: retorsion vs. reprisal in international law]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Retorsion is distinguished from reprisal: retorsion answers unfriendly acts with lawful unfriendly acts, while reprisal answers a wrong with otherwise-unlawful coercion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: retorsion vs. reprisal in international law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RETORSION, p. 1032; scan anchor: djvu line 172790 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines retorsion via Vattel; the retorsion/reprisal distinction is the international-law classification the definition belongs to. Complements REPRISALS' Charter note with the doctrinal boundary. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RETRACT

[Law: UCC § 2-205 — firm offer]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The revocability rule has firm-offer and option-contract exceptions: a merchant's signed writing holding an offer open is irrevocable for the stated time. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-205 — firm offer. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RETRACT, p. 1032; scan anchor: djvu line 172821 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states the offer 'may always' be withdrawn before acceptance; the firm-offer exception states the Code's limit on that rule — the doctrine that qualifies the definition. Genuine operative limit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RETRAIT

[Law: right of first refusal / pre-emption]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern analogue is the right of first refusal — a pre-emptive right on sale, now contractual rather than feudal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: right of first refusal / pre-emption. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RETRAIT, p. 1032; scan anchor: djvu line 172843 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the seignior's pre-emption on the vassal's alienation; the contractual right of first refusal is the same device in modern property law. Modest genuine lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RETRAXIT

[Law: retraxit vs. nonsuit; dismissal with prejudice]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Retraxit is the ancestor of dismissal with prejudice: unlike a nonsuit, it forever bars another action for the same cause. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: retraxit vs. nonsuit; dismissal with prejudice. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RETRAXIT, p. 1032; scan anchor: djvu line 172849 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines retraxit as barring another action 'for the same cause'; the retraxit/nonsuit distinction — with/without prejudice — is the doctrine the definition encodes. The essential procedure content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RETREAT TO THE WALL

[Law: duty to retreat vs. stand-your-ground]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The retreat rule's modern counterpoint is stand-your-ground: no duty to retreat before using deadly force in self-defense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: duty to retreat vs. stand-your-ground. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary,

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

2nd edition (1910), entry RETREAT TO THE WALL, p. 1032; scan anchor: djvu line 172871 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the retreat-to-the-wall requirement in self-defense homicide; stand-your-ground is the modern jurisdiction-split on exactly that requirement. Genuine: the live doctrinal divide over the defined rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RETROSPECTIVE

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, §§ 9, 10 — ex post facto]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The Constitution bars ex post facto laws — the criminal-law form of retrospectivity: 'No ... ex post facto Law shall be passed.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, §§ 9, 10 — ex post facto. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RETROSPECTIVE, p. 1032; scan anchor: djvu line 172901 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines retrospective laws impairing vested rights and cross-refs Ex Post Facto; the Clauses are the constitutional prohibition of the criminal form, quoted briefly and exactly. Direct. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REUS

[Law: Roman stipulatio]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The reus stipulandi and reus promittendi are the parties to the Roman stipulatio — the formal question-and-answer contract. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Roman stipulatio. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REUS, p. 1033; scan anchor: djvu line 173029 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the contract-party senses; the stipulatio is the Roman institution those terms belong to. Modest genuine Roman-law content for the defined terms. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REVENUE

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 1 — Origination Clause]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Revenue bills must originate in the House: 'All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 1 — Origination Clause. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REVENUE, p. 1034; scan anchor: djvu line 173123 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines revenue and revenue law; the Origination Clause is the Constitution's procedural rule for revenue legislation, quoted briefly and exactly. The genuine public-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REVERSION

[Law: reversion vs. remainder]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A reversion arises by operation of law in the grantor; a remainder is created in a third party — the fundamental future-interests divide. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: reversion vs. remainder. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REVERSION, p. 1034; scan anchor: djvu line 173198 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the reversion as the residue 'left by operation of law in the grantor'; the reversion/remainder distinction states the classification the definition belongs to, complementing REMAINDER's Shelley's Rule note. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REVIEW

[Law: standards of appellate review]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Appellate review is graded by standards: de novo for law, clearly erroneous for fact, abuse of discretion for discretionary rulings. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: standards of appellate review. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REVIEW, p. 1035; scan anchor: djvu line 173318 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines review as examination 'for purposes of correction' by an appellate court; the standards of review state how that correction is performed — the doctrine governing the defined function. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REVIVE

[Law: revival of time-barred debt by acknowledgment or part payment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A debt barred by limitations may be revived by the debtor's acknowledgment or part payment — restarting the limitations period. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: revival of time-barred debt by acknowledgment or part payment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REVIVE, p. 1035; scan anchor: djvu line 173414 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines revive as making oneself liable for a limitations-barred debt 'by acknowledging it'; the acknowledgment/part-payment rule states the doctrine's operation. Directly illuminates the defined act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REVOCABLE

[Law: revocation of agency authority]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The paradigm is agency: a principal may revoke the agent's authority at any time, remaining liable for breach of the agency contract. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: revocation of agency authority. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REVOCABLE, p. 1036; scan anchor: djvu line 173458 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's body carries the REVOCATION definition (recall of power or authority); the agency-revocation rule states its operative content — authority is revocable at will, with contract liability surviving. Sourced from the entry's own merged content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REVOCATUR

[Law: writ of error coram nobis]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The fact/law divide survives in coram nobis — the writ correcting errors of fact not appearing of record. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: writ of error coram nobis. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REVOCATUR, p. 1036; scan anchor: djvu line 173510 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines revocatur as annulment 'for error in fact' (vs. reversal for error in law); coram nobis is that fact-error writ's modern form. Genuine lineage for the defined distinction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REWARD

[Law: reward offers as unilateral contracts]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A reward offer is the classic unilateral contract — accepted by performance, and in most jurisdictions only with knowledge of the offer. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: reward offers as unilateral contracts. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REWARD, p. 1036; scan anchor: djvu line 173533 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the reward as a premium 'offered' for acts to be performed; the unilateral-contract analysis states the offer's contractual character and how it is accepted. The essential contract-law content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REX

[Maxim: Rex debet esse sub lege quia lex facit regem — the king ought to be under the law, because the law makes the king]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The entry's maxim states the rule-of-law root: the king is under the law because the law makes the king. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Rex debet esse sub lege quia lex facit regem — the king ought to be under the law, because the law makes the king. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REX, p. 1036; scan anchor: djvu line 173549 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The maxim appears in the entry's own body (1 Bl. Comm. 239); it is Bracton's principle that even the sovereign is subject to law — the constitutional significance of the Rex entry. Sourced from the entry itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RHODIAN LAWS

[Law: Lex Rhodia de jactu — general average]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The preserved jettison article — Lex Rhodia de jactu — is the source of general average: all contribute for the sacrifice that saved the venture. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Lex Rhodia de jactu — general average. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RHODIAN LAWS, p. 1037; scan anchor: djvu line 173613 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry notes only the jettison article survives (Dig. 14, 2); that article is general average's fountainhead — the doctrine RESTITUTION's maritime sense describes. Genuine: names the surviving article's living doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIDER

[Law: single-subject rules for legislation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Legislative riders are policed by single-subject rules: many state constitutions provide that no law shall embrace more than one subject. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: single-subject rules for legislation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIDER, p. 1037; scan anchor: djvu line 173658 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the rider as a clause added after committee; the single-subject rule is the constitutional response to the rider practice. Genuine: the legal consequence of the defined device. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RIDING ARMED

[Law: Statute of Northampton, 2 Edw. 3, c. 3]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The offense descends from the Statute of Northampton (1328), forbidding going armed to the terror of the people. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Northampton, 2 Edw. 3, c. 3. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIDING ARMED, p. 1037; scan anchor: djvu line 173681 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the misdemeanor of going armed 'tending to disturb the public peace'; the Statute of Northampton is its historical source. Modest genuine lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGGING THE MARKET

[Law: Securities Exchange Act § 10(b); SEC Rule 10b-5 — market manipulation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The modern form is securities manipulation — prohibited as a manipulative or deceptive device in connection with securities transactions. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Securities Exchange Act § 10(b); SEC Rule 10b-5 — market manipulation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGGING THE MARKET, p. 1037; scan anchor: djvu line 173741 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines rigging as inflating prices 'by a system of pretended purchases'; § 10(b)/Rule 10b-5 prohibit exactly such manipulation. Direct: the defined practice's modern criminal/civil category. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT

[Law: Hohfeld, Fundamental Legal Conceptions (1913) — jural relations]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The concrete sense anticipates Hohfeld's analysis: 'rights' resolve into claim-rights, privileges, powers, and immunities, each with its correlative. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Hohfeld, Fundamental Legal Conceptions (1913) — jural relations. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT, p. 1037; scan anchor: djvu line 173749 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1913 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry's concrete sense lists 'a power, privilege, faculty, or demand' — Hohfeld's vocabulary; the jural-relations analysis is the jurisprudential framework for exactly that list. Genuine: the entry's terms are Hohfeld's terms. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RIGHT OP ACTION

[Law: accrual of a cause of action]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A right of action accrues when the wrongful act is complete — the event from which limitations run. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: accrual of a cause of action. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OP ACTION, p. 1039; scan anchor: djvu line 174050 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the right to bring suit growing out of a transaction; accrual states when that right comes into existence — the limitations consequence of the definition. Keyed under the chunk's headword as printed ('RIGHT OP ACTION'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF DISCUSSION

[Law: surety's immediate liability at common law vs. beneficium ordinis]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Scots law grants what the common law denies: at common law the creditor may proceed directly against the surety without first exhausting the principal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: surety's immediate liability at common law vs. beneficium ordinis. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF DISCUSSION, p. 1039; scan anchor: djvu line 174062 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the cautioner's right to insist the creditor pursue the principal first; the common-law contrary rule gives the comparative context that makes the Scotch right distinctive. Genuine comparative illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF DIVISION

[Law: contribution among co-sureties]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The common-law analogue is contribution among co-sureties: each answers only for his pro rata share, the others being solvent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: contribution among co-sureties. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF DIVISION, p. 1039; scan anchor: djvu line 174069 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the cautioner's right to refuse more than his share; contribution states the same pro rata principle in common-law dress. Genuine comparative illumination, complementing QUOTA's equity note. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RIGHT OF ENTRY

[Law: forcible entry prohibited; ejectment / unlawful detainer]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The 'peaceable manner' qualifier is the point: even the holder of a right of entry may not use force — the modern remedy is ejectment or unlawful detainer. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: forcible entry prohibited; ejectment / unlawful detainer. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF ENTRY, p. 1039; scan anchor: djvu line 174078 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the right as resumption 'in a peaceable manner'; the forcible-entry prohibition states why the qualifier matters — self-help by force is barred, judicial process required. Genuine operative limit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RATIONABILE E8TOVERIUM

[Law: the marital support duty as the basis of alimony]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Alimony rests on the common-law duty of marital support — the obligation to maintain a spouse — which is what this 'reasonable estover' secured to the wife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: the marital support duty as the basis of alimony. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RATIONABILE E8TOVERIUM, p. 992; scan anchor: djvu line 166162 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry equates the phrase with 'alimony' in one line; the support duty explains what alimony is for in law, giving the equivalence its legal content rather than leaving it a bare translation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REBUS SIG STANTIBUS

[Law: Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties, art. 62 — fundamental change of circumstances]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The clausula rebus sic stantibus is the treaty-law doctrine permitting termination or withdrawal upon a fundamental change of circumstances. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties, art. 62 — fundamental change of circumstances. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REBUS SIG STANTIBUS, p. 994; scan anchor: djvu line 166525 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry gives only the translation ('in these circumstances'); the clausula's treaty-law function — the fundamental-change doctrine — is its entire legal significance. Genuine illumination of a bare translation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RECESSES HARIS

[Law: doctrine of reliction/accretion in riparian rights]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Land uncovered by the sea's gradual and imperceptible retreat (reliction) accrues to the riparian owner — the counterpart of accretion by alluvion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: doctrine of reliction/accretion in riparian rights. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECESSES HARIS, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166797 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines reliction as the sea's retreat; the riparian-accretion rule states who owns the uncovered land — the definition's operative legal consequence. Genuine property doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGHT

[Law: the Roman jus vs. lex distinction]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The entry's ambiguity — Recht as both 'right' and 'law' — mirrors the Roman distinction between jus (law as right and justice) and lex (enacted statute). [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: the Roman jus vs. lex distinction. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGHT, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166801 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry says Recht 'answers to the Roman jus' and notes the shared ambiguity with droit/diritto/right; the jus/lex distinction is the classical frame for exactly that ambiguity. Modest but genuine jurisprudential illumination. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RECIPROCAL WELLS

[Law: contract to make a will / contract not to revoke]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Reciprocal wills made pursuant to agreement may bind the survivor: the contract-not-to-revoke doctrine gives disappointed beneficiaries a contract remedy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: contract to make a will / contract not to revoke. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RECIPROCAL WELLS, p. 996; scan anchor: djvu line 166847 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines wills with reciprocal provisions; the contract-not-to-revoke doctrine states their distinctive legal consequence — revocability is the whole question with mutual wills. Genuine operative doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

REDDIDIT BE

[Case: Taylor v. Taintor, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 366 (1872)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Taylor v. Taintor (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The bail's correlative right: a surety may surrender his principal into custody to exonerate the bail. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Taylor v. Taintor, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 366 (1872). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REDDIDIT BE, p. 1003; scan anchor: djvu line 167904 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1872 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines reddidit se as the principal's rendering himself 'in discharge of his bail'; Taylor v. Taintor states the surety's corresponding dominion — seizure and surrender of the principal. The two halves of the bail relationship. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

REGALE EPISCOPORUM

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. V — Takings Clause]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The body's REGALIA defines jura regalia — royal rights by prerogative; eminent domain is the surviving regalian right in American law, limited by just compensation: 'nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. V — Takings Clause. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry REGALE EPISCOPORUM, p. 1004; scan anchor: djvu line 168544 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's body carries the full REGALIA definition ('jura regalia,' royal rights by prerogative); eminent domain is the classic jura regalia carried into American law, and the Takings Clause states its constitutional limit. Quoted exactly; strong genuine link. Keyed under the chunk's headword as printed. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RELICTA VERIFICATIONS

[Law: cognovit / confession-of-judgment clauses]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The cognovit — confession of judgment — survives in modern practice as the confession-of-judgment clause, now restricted or barred in many jurisdictions, especially in consumer transactions. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: cognovit / confession-of-judgment clauses. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RELICTA VERIFICATIONS, p. 1012 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 169501 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the cognovit actionem relicta verificatione; the modern confession-of-judgment clause is its descendant, and the consumer-protection restrictions are its current legal significance. Genuine lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BEVEBTEB

[Law: fee simple determinable / possibility of reverter]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The possibility of reverter follows a fee simple determinable — 'to A so long as used for school purposes' — vesting automatically if the limitation fails. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: fee simple determinable / possibility of reverter. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BEVEBTEB, p. 1035; scan anchor: djvu line 173296 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the possibility of reverter as the reversionary interest where the grant 'may possibly terminate'; the fee simple determinable is the estate it follows. The essential future-interests pairing. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF POSSESSION

[Law: ejectment — possessory action enforcing a right of possession]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The disseisee's right to enter and turn out the occupant is enforced by ejectment, the common-law possessory action. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: ejectment — possessory action enforcing a right of possession. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF POSSESSION, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174101 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law remedy directly enforcing the right the entry defines; loose form used, no case invented. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF PROPERTY

[Law: 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27 — abolition of writs of right]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The writ of right was the remedy for this mere right of property, abolished by 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27 — abolition of writs of right. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF PROPERTY, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174111 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry is about the right the writ of right protected; the abolishing statute (named in this chunk's own RIGHT, WRIT OF entry) genuinely explains its historical frame. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF REDEMPTION

[Law: equity of redemption — mortgagor's equitable right before foreclosure sale]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Distinct from the equity of redemption, which equity gives the mortgagor before sale without any statute. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: equity of redemption — mortgagor's equitable right before foreclosure

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

sale. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF REDEMPTION, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174121 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry explicitly contrasts the two; the footnote states the equitable counterpart as a real doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF REUEF

[Law: suretyship — surety's right of reimbursement from the principal]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Scots 'relief' is the surety's right of reimbursement and exoneration against the principal debtor. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: suretyship — surety's right of reimbursement from the principal. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF REUEF, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174136 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine suretyship principle; the entry's Scots right of relief is that doctrine under another name. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF REPRESENTATION AND PERFORMANCE

[Law: Dramatic Copyright Act 1833, 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 15]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Dramatic Copyright Act 1833 first gave authors a performing right distinct from copyright in the work. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Dramatic Copyright Act 1833, 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 15. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF REPRESENTATION AND PERFORMANCE, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174142 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1833 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry cites this statute; the footnote identifies it as the origin of the performing right as distinct from copyright. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT OF SEARCH

[Law: belligerent right of visit and search — law of nations]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The belligerent right of visit and search on the high seas is a doctrine of the law of nations. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: belligerent right of visit and search — law of nations. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF SEARCH, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174154 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine international-law doctrine that is exactly what the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RIGHT OF WAY

[Law: easement appurtenant — right of way running with the dominant estate]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A right of way is an easement appurtenant, passing with the dominant tenement it serves. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: easement appurtenant — right of way running with the dominant estate. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT OF WAY, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174164 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine property doctrine classifying the servitude the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT PATENT

[Law: 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27 — abolition of writs of right]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Obsolete because writs of right were abolished by 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27 — abolition of writs of right. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT PATENT, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174197 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry calls it an obsolete writ; the abolishing statute (named in this chunk's own RIGHT, WRIT OF entry) genuinely explains the obsolescence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT TO BEGIN

[Law: trial practice — the party with the burden opens and closes]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The party holding the affirmative — the burden of proof — generally opens and closes, which is why beginning carries the reply. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: trial practice — the party with the burden opens and closes. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT TO BEGIN, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174205 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine procedural principle explaining why the right to begin carries the right of reply, as the entry states. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT TO REDEEM

[Law: equity of redemption — mortgagor's equitable estate before foreclosure]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The 'debtor's estate subject to mortgage' is the equity of redemption, the mortgagor's equitable estate before sale. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: equity of redemption — mortgagor's equitable estate before foreclosure. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT TO REDEEM, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174215 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's terminology discussion is grounded in this real equitable estate; complements the RIGHT OF REDEMPTION entry rather than duplicating it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHT, WRIT OF

[Law: 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27 — abolition of the writ of right]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The 'highest writ in the law' was abolished by the Real Property Limitation Act 1833. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 3 & 4 Wm. IV c. 27 — abolition of the writ of right. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHT, WRIT OF, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174226 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1833 [basis: year stated in the insert's own text]

Why. The entry itself states the abolition; the footnote identifies the statute as the operative legal fact. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHTS OF PERSONS

[Law: Blackstone, Commentaries, Book I — Of the Rights of Persons]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Blackstone's Commentaries, Book I, organizes English law around the rights of persons. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Blackstone, Commentaries, Book I — Of the Rights of Persons. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHTS OF PERSONS, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174234 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cites 1 Bl. Comm. 122; the footnote names the genuine structural source. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIGHTS OF THINGS

[Law: Blackstone, Commentaries, Book II — Of the Rights of Things]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Blackstone's Commentaries, Book II, treats the rights of things — the law of property. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Blackstone, Commentaries, Book II — Of the Rights of Things. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIGHTS OF THINGS, p. 1040; scan anchor: djvu line 174239 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cites 1 Bl. Comm. 122 (the introduction); the footnote names the book that actually expounds the subject. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BIGOB JURIS

[Maxim: Summum jus, summa injuria]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Summum jus, summa injuria — the rigor of law can be the height of injustice — which is why strictness is set against favor of the court. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Summum jus, summa injuria. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIGOB JURIS, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174259 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real Latin maxim genuinely illuminating the entry's distinction between rigor juris and gratia curiae. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

BING

[Law: Sherman Antitrust Act of 1890 — combinations in restraint of trade]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Combinations to control a market are restraints of trade, reached at common law and by the Sherman Act. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Sherman Antitrust Act of 1890 — combinations in restraint of trade. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BING, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174271 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1890 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry defines a ring as a combination to control the market or stock exchange; the Sherman Act genuinely governs that conduct. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RING-DROPPING

[Law: larceny by trick — obtaining property by fraud]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Frauds of this kind fall under larceny by trick and false pretenses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: larceny by trick — obtaining property by fraud. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RING-DROPPING, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174279 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine criminal-law category for the trick the entry describes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

BINGING THE CHANGE

[Law: counterfeiting — uttering false coin]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Passing spurious coin back as change is uttering counterfeit money. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: counterfeiting — uttering false coin. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BINGING THE CHANGE, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174293 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine criminal category; the entry's trick is the passing of counterfeit coin. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

BINGING IIP

[Law: UCC § 1-303 — usage of trade in contract interpretation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A brokers' ring custom given legal effect is a usage of trade informing contract interpretation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 1-303 — usage of trade in contract interpretation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BINGING IIP, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174300 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry describes a trade custom given legal effect (cases cited); UCC 1-303 is the genuine modern doctrine of usage of trade. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

BIOT

[Law: Riot Act 1714]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Riot Act 1714 made failure to disperse after proclamation a felony — the statutory overlay on this common-law offense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Riot Act 1714. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIOT, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174319 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1714 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine statute governing the offense the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

BIOTOUS ASSEMBLY

[Law: Riot Act 1714 — proclamation and dispersal]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The twelve-person and proclamation elements are the Riot Act's machinery: remaining together after proclamation was felony. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Riot Act 1714 — proclamation and dispersal. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIOTOUS ASSEMBLY, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174372 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1714 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry's twelve-person/proclamation elements are the Riot Act's machinery; the footnote adds genuine content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BIP ARLAN

[Law: riparian rights — reasonable-use doctrine]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Riparian owners hold correlative rights of reasonable use of the water. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: riparian rights — reasonable-use doctrine. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIP ARLAN, p. 1041; scan anchor: djvu line 174394 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine water-law doctrine for riparian land. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIFUARIAN LAW

[Law: Lex Ripuaria — Ripuarian Frankish code]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Lex Ripuaria, the tribal code of the Ripuarian Franks reduced to writing under Theodoric and Dagobert. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Lex Ripuaria — Ripuarian Frankish code. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIFUARIAN LAW, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174470 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine historical code; the entry defines it and the footnote names it in its conventional form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIP DARI AN PROPRIETORS

[Law: riparian rights doctrine — correlative rights of proprietors]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Riparian proprietors hold correlative reasonable-use rights against one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: riparian rights doctrine — correlative rights of proprietors. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIP DARI AN PROPRIETORS, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174478 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine water-law doctrine; each entry judged on its own despite overlap with BIP ARLAN. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RISK

[Maxim: Uberrima fides — utmost good faith in insurance]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Insurance demands uberrima fides — utmost good faith — because the risk is the very subject of the contract. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Uberrima fides — utmost good faith in insurance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RISK, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174483 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Real maxim of insurance law genuinely illuminating why the entry defines risk with such care. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RISTOURNE

[Law: cancellation and return of premium in insurance law]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The dissolution of a policy carries cancellation and return of the premium. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: cancellation and return of premium in insurance law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RISTOURNE, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174496 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine insurance doctrine matching the French definition; borderline but the category is real, not invented. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIVER

[Law: navigable waters — title to beds and public trust]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Whether a river is navigable determines title to its bed and the public's rights in it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: navigable waters — title to beds and public trust. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIVER, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174514 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine; the entry's own cited cases (e.g., Howard v. Ingersoll) are river-boundary cases, anchoring the fit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RIXATRIX

[Law: common scold — common-law nuisance offense; 4 Bl. Comm. 168]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Law: common scold — common-law nuisance offense; 4 Bl. Comm. 168) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The common scold was punishable at common law as a public nuisance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: common scold — common-law nuisance offense; 4 Bl. Comm. 168. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RIXATRIX, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174561 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cites 4 Bl. Comm. 168; the footnote states the genuine offense category. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ROBBER

[Law: common-law robbery — larceny aggravated by force or fear]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Robbery is larceny aggravated by force or putting in fear — hence 'robber' is not synonymous with 'thief.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: common-law robbery — larceny aggravated by force or fear. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROBBER, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174662 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrinal distinction the entry itself draws. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROBBERY

[Law: 18 U.S.C. § 2113 — bank robbery]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The common-law offense is codified federally for banks at 18 U.S.C. § 2113. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 18 U.S.C. § 2113 — bank robbery. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROBBERY, p. 1042; scan anchor: djvu line 174670 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine modern codification of the common-law offense the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROGATIO

[Law: nuncupative wills — oral wills declared before witnesses]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Rogatio testium — the testator's formal call on witnesses — is the Roman root of the nuncupative (oral) will. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: nuncupative wills — oral wills declared before witnesses. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROGATIO, p. 1044; scan anchor: djvu line 174756 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry's second paragraph defines rogatio testium in making a nuncupative will; the footnote names the genuine modern doctrine it grounds. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROGATORY LETTERS

[Law: 28 U.S.C. § 1781 — transmittal of letters rogatory]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Letters rogatory are transmitted between courts for the examination of witnesses abroad. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 28 U.S.C. § 1781 — transmittal of letters rogatory. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROGATORY LETTERS, p. 1044; scan anchor: djvu line 174784 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1781 [basis: year carried in the citation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine judicial-assistance procedure; the federal statute governing it is real and directly on point. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROGO

[Law: precatory words in wills — wish distinguished from command]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'I ask, I request' in a will is precatory language — expressing wish, not command — and is construed accordingly. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: precatory words in wills — wish distinguished from command. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROGO, p. 1044; scan anchor: djvu line 174788 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry notes rogo as a precatory expression in wills (Dig. 30, 108, 13, 14); the precatory-words doctrine is the genuine rule for construing it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

BOHAN LAW

[Law: Corpus Juris Civilis of Justinian — the received Roman law]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In the restricted German sense, 'Roman law' means the Corpus Juris Civilis of Justinian as received. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Corpus Juris Civilis of Justinian — the received Roman law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BOHAN LAW, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 174922 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry itself frames the restricted sense around Justinian's collections; the footnote names them in conventional form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROMNEY HARSH

[Law: Statute of Sewers 1531, 23 Hen. VIII c. 5 — commissions of sewers]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The laws of sewers made at Romney Marsh guided commissions of sewers under the Statute of Sewers 1531. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Sewers 1531, 23 Hen. VIII c. 5 — commissions of sewers. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROMNEY HARSH, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 174952 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1531 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry says commissioners of sewers 'may receive light and direction' from these laws; the footnote names the genuine statute creating those commissions. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ROTA

[Law: the Roman Rota — papal appellate court]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Rota Romana — the papal court at Rome — survives as the Holy See's appellate tribunal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: the Roman Rota — papal appellate court. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROTA, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 174989 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine court; the entry names the ancient Roman court and the footnote identifies its continuing legal identity. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROTTEN BOROUGHS

[Law: Reform Act 1832 — disfranchisement of rotten boroughs]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Reform Act 1832 disfranchised the rotten boroughs the entry describes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Reform Act 1832 — disfranchisement of rotten boroughs. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROTTEN BOROUGHS, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 175004 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1832 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry itself dates the boroughs 'prior to the reform act, 1832'; the footnote names the genuine statute. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROTTEN CLAUSE

[Law: implied warranty of seaworthiness in marine insurance]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The clause discharges insurers where the vessel proves unseaworthy — an application of the implied warranty of seaworthiness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: implied warranty of seaworthiness in marine insurance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROTTEN CLAUSE, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 175009 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine marine-insurance doctrine; the entry's clause is a contractual expression of it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROUT

[Law: unlawful assembly, rout, and riot — common-law trilogy]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Rout stands between unlawful assembly and riot in the common-law trilogy of public-order offenses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: unlawful assembly, rout, and riot — common-law trilogy. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROUT, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 175050 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry itself places rout 'between an unlawful assembly and a riot'; the footnote names the genuine trilogy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ROYAL

[Law: royal assent — the complement and perfection of a law]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The royal assent is, in Lord Hale's words quoted by the entry, 'the complement and perfection of a law.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: royal assent — the complement and perfection of a law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ROYAL, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 175108 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry quotes Hale; the footnote states the genuine constitutional principle of enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUBRIC

[Law: statutory interpretation — title as an aid to construction]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A statute's title or rubric may show the legislature's object and so aid interpretation of the body of the act. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: statutory interpretation — title as an aid to construction. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUBRIC, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 175170 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry itself states the interpretive function; the footnote names the genuine canon. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUDER EBB

[Law: battery — any unlawful touching of another]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The slightest unlawful touching may constitute battery — rudeness in the touching does not excuse it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: battery — any unlawful touching of another. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUDER EBB, p. 1046; scan anchor: djvu line 175181 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states that touching with rudeness may be battery; the footnote states the genuine common-law rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RUMOR

[Law: hearsay — out-of-court statements inadmissible]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Rumor is inadmissible as hearsay — an out-of-court statement offered for its truth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: hearsay — out-of-court statements inadmissible. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUMOR, p. 1047; scan anchor: djvu line 175383 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry says rumor 'is not generally admissible in evidence' (cases cited); the hearsay rule is the genuine doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUNNING ACCOUNT

[Law: account stated — implied promise to pay a settled balance]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. An account stated — a settled balance impliedly promised to be paid — is distinguished from a running, open account. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: account stated — implied promise to pay a settled balance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUNNING ACCOUNT, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175431 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry contrasts running with stated and liquidated accounts; the footnote names the genuine doctrine on the other side of the distinction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUNNING OF THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

[Law: tolling — suspension of the running of limitations]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The running of limitations may be suspended by tolling, as where the plaintiff is prevented from suing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: tolling — suspension of the running of limitations. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUNNING OF THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175463 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine directly governing the metaphor the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUNNING WITH THE LAND

[Spencer's Case, 5 Co. Rep. 16a (1583)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Whether a covenant runs with the land is governed by Spencer's Case, the foundational authority. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Spencer's Case, 5 Co. Rep. 16a (1583). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUNNING WITH THE LAND, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175479 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. 1583 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine leading case on covenants running with land; confidently cited in standard form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUNNING WITH THE REVERSION

[Law: privity of estate — covenants running with the reversion]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Covenants run with the reversion through privity of estate between lessor's assignee and lessee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: privity of estate — covenants running with the reversion. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUNNING WITH THE REVERSION, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175485 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine property doctrine for the entry's subject; kept distinct from the Spencer's Case note on the companion entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RURAL SERVITUDE

[Law: praedial servitudes — burdens annexed to estates]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A rural servitude is a praedial servitude — a burden on one estate for the benefit of another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: praedial servitudes — burdens annexed to estates. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RURAL SERVITUDE, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175533 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine civil-law property doctrine classifying the servitude the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUSE DE GUERRE

[Law: ruses of war permitted; perfidy prohibited — law of armed conflict]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The law of war permits ruses — stratagems — while prohibiting perfidy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: ruses of war permitted; perfidy prohibited — law of armed conflict. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUSE DE GUERRE, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175537 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine distinction of the law of armed conflict directly governing the stratagem the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

RUSTICUM FORUM

[Law: arbitration — the parties' chosen tribunal]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Arbitrators chosen by the parties are a genuine tribunal — the modern law of arbitration. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: arbitration — the parties' chosen tribunal. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUSTICUM FORUM, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175549 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry says the term is applied to party-chosen arbitrators; arbitration is the genuine modern doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

RUSTICUM JUDICIUM

[Law: divided damages in maritime collision]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In collision cases admiralty divided the damages between the two ships — the divided-damages rule. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: divided damages in maritime collision. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry RUSTICUM JUDICIUM, p. 1048; scan anchor: djvu line 175557 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine maritime doctrine; the entry defines the judgment as dividing collision damages between the ships. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SABBATH

[Law: Sunday closing (blue) laws — Sabbath observance statutes]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sabbath-breaking prosecutions rested on the Sunday observance (blue) laws. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Sunday closing (blue) laws — Sabbath observance statutes. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SABBATH, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 175656 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry lists Sabbath-breaking prosecutions with cases; the blue laws are the genuine statutory basis. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAC

[Law: sac and soc — manorial franchise of jurisdiction]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sac with soc was the manorial franchise of holding pleas and taking fines — private jurisdiction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: sac and soc — manorial franchise of jurisdiction. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAC, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 175693 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine franchise doctrine; the entry defines sac as the liberty of holding pleas in the manor court. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SACABURTH, SACABERE, SAKABERE

[Law: hue and cry — fresh pursuit of felons]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The victim putting in surety to prosecute with fresh suit is the hue and cry — fresh pursuit of the felon. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: hue and cry — fresh pursuit of felons. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SACABURTH, SACABERE, SAKABERE, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 175700 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law doctrine; the entry describes its mechanism exactly. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SACQTHER

[Law: Laws of Oleron — medieval maritime code]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The officer's duties come from the Laws of Oleron, the medieval sea-code the entry cites. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Laws of Oleron — medieval maritime code. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SACQTHER, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 175726 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine historical code; the entry cites Laws Oleron art. 11 as its source. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SACRAMENTALES

[Law: compurgation — wager of law by oath-helpers]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Compurgators are the wager of law — purging by oath-helpers — one of the old modes of trial. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: compurgation — wager of law by oath-helpers. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SACRAMENTALES, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 175739 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine old-English trial procedure; the entry defines compurgators and the footnote names the procedure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SACRAMENTI ACTIO

[Law: legis actiones — the legis actio sacramento]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The sacramentum was one of the legis actiones, the formal actions of early Roman civil procedure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: legis actiones — the legis actio sacramento. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SACRAMENTI ACTIO, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 175744 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine Roman procedural category; the entry defines the sacramenti actio as one of the legis actiones. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SACRILEGUB

[Maxim: 4 Co. 106 — the sacrilegus maxim]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Coke's maxim in 4 Co. 106 ranks the sacrilegious person above all other robbers in cupidity and wickedness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: 4 Co. 106 — the sacrilegus maxim. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SACRILEGUB, p. 1051; scan anchor: djvu line 175830 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The maxim is quoted in the entry itself; the footnote states its genuine content without re-quoting garbled OCR. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAEVITIA

[Law: cruelty — matrimonial offense and ground for divorce]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Cruelty rendering cohabitation unsafe is the matrimonial offense of cruelty, ground for separation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: cruelty — matrimonial offense and ground for divorce. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAEVITIA, p. 1051; scan anchor: djvu line 175869 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine divorce-law doctrine; the entry defines saevitia in the law of divorce. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAFE-CONDUCT

[Law: safe-conduct — law of nations]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Safe-conducts are instruments of the law of nations, licensing protected passage in war. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: safe-conduct — law of nations. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAFE-CONDUCT, p. 1051; scan anchor: djvu line 175874 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine international-law instrument; the entry defines both the royal grant and the wartime license. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAFE-PLEDGE

[Law: bail — surety for a party's appearance]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A surety for appearance is bail — the genuine modern form of the safe-pledge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: bail — surety for a party's appearance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAFE-PLEDGE, p. 1051; scan anchor: djvu line 175888 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines safe-pledge as surety to appear on a day certain; bail is the genuine continuing doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAILING

[Law: warranty to sail — compliance in marine insurance]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. What counts as sailing satisfies the warranty to sail in a marine policy — a question of warranty compliance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: warranty to sail — compliance in marine insurance. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAILING, p. 1052; scan anchor: djvu line 175950 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry frames sailing entirely as satisfying the policy warranty (cases cited); the footnote names the genuine warranty doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAISIE

[Law: garnishment — attachment of a debt or property in a third person's hands]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Saisie-arret — attachment of property in a third person's hands — is garnishment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: garnishment — attachment of a debt or property in a third person's hands. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAISIE, p. 1052; scan anchor: djvu line 176002 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines saisie-arret as attachment in a third person's possession; garnishment is the genuine common-law equivalent. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SAXE

[Law: UCC Article 2 — sale of goods]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A sale of goods is governed by UCC Article 2. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC Article 2 — sale of goods. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAXE, p. 1053; scan anchor: djvu line 176109 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the contract of sale (seller, buyer, price); Article 2 is the genuine modern codification. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SALIC LAW

[Law: Lex Salica — Salian Frankish code]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Lex Salica, the Salian Frankish code of the fifth century, most ancient of the barbarian codes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Lex Salica — Salian Frankish code. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SALIC LAW, p. 1054; scan anchor: djvu line 176342 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines the Salic law and cross-refers Lex Salica; the footnote names it in conventional form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SALUS

[Maxim: Salus populi suprema lex esto]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Salus populi suprema lex esto — the welfare of the people is the supreme law — the ground of the police power. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Salus populi suprema lex esto. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SALUS, p. 1054; scan anchor: djvu line 176390 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Famous real maxim quoted in the entry with authorities (Bacon, Broom, 13 Co. 139); it genuinely grounds public-welfare legislation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SALVAGE

[Maxim: no cure, no pay — salvage requires success]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Salvage is earned only on success — no cure, no pay. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: no cure, no pay — salvage requires success. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SALVAGE, p. 1054; scan anchor: djvu line 176418 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Real maritime principle; the entry defines salvage as compensation for saving from impending danger or recovering from actual loss. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAXVO

[Law: reservation of rights — acting 'without prejudice']

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Salvo jure cujuslibet' — without prejudice to anyone's rights — is the reservation-of-rights formula. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: reservation of rights — acting 'without prejudice'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAXVO, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176479 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry gives salvo as 'without prejudice to'; the footnote names the genuine procedural use. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SALVOR

[Law: salvage — volunteer service required; duty excludes award]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Only a volunteer can be a salvor — one under a pre-existing duty to the ship cannot claim salvage. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: salvage — volunteer service required; duty excludes award. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SALVOR, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176485 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry stresses the salvor acts 'as a volunteer adventurer, without any pre-existing covenant'; the volunteer rule is the genuine doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAMPLE

[Law: UCC § 2-313 — express warranty by sample]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A sale by sample creates an express warranty that the goods shall conform to the sample. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-313 — express warranty by sample. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAMPLE, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176506 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine warranty doctrine; the entry defines sale by sample and the footnote states its legal effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SANCTION

[Law: Austin's command theory — law as command backed by sanction]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Austin's command theory defines law as the sovereign's command backed by a sanction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Austin's command theory — law as command backed by sanction. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SANCTION, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176524 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry itself expounds the jurisprudential sense of sanction; the footnote names the genuine theory it invokes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SANCTUARY

[Law: right of sanctuary — ecclesiastical refuge from arrest]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The right of sanctuary gave offenders refuge where arrest could not be made — an ecclesiastical immunity. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: right of sanctuary — ecclesiastical refuge from arrest. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SANCTUARY, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176549 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine historical immunity; the entry defines the consecrated place's privilege against arrest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SANE

[Law: capacity to contract and criminal responsibility require sane mind]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sanity — sound mind — is essential to capacity to contract and to criminal responsibility. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: capacity to contract and criminal responsibility require sane mind. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SANE, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176562 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry itself states sanity as essential to contracting capacity and the ground of exemption in crime; the footnote names the genuine doctrines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

L

[Law: 'without impeachment of waste' — exemption from waste liability]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Without impeachment of waste' exempts the tenant from liability for voluntary waste. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 'without impeachment of waste' — exemption from waste liability. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry L, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 4085 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine conveyancing clause; the entry (headword OCR'd as 'L') defines it with Litt. 152. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SANS JOUR

[Law: adjournment sine die — without day]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. To adjourn sans jour — sine die — is to adjourn without appointing a day to reconvene. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: adjournment sine die — without day. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SANS JOUR, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176644 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine procedural term; the entry defines it as 'without day; sine die.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SANS NOMBRE

[Law: common of pasture — common sans nombre]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Common sans nombre is a right of common of pasture for beasts levant and couchant, indefinite in number. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: common of pasture — common sans nombre. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SANS NOMBRE, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176647 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law profit; the entry defines the term's relation to putting beasts on a common. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SANS RECOURS

[Law: qualified indorsement — 'without recourse' disclaims liability]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. An indorsement 'without recourse' is a qualified indorsement disclaiming the indorser's liability. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: qualified indorsement — 'without recourse' disclaims liability. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SANS RECOURS, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176654 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine negotiable-instruments doctrine; the entry cross-refers indorsement and the footnote states the effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SABINE

[Law: livery of seisin — symbolical delivery of possession]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sasine is the Scots livery of seisin — the symbolical delivery that passed feudal possession. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: livery of seisin — symbolical delivery of possession. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SABINE, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176692 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry itself answers sasine to livery of seisin (4 Kent, Comm. 459); the footnote names the genuine feudal ceremony. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SATISFACTION

[Law: UCC § 3-311 — accord and satisfaction by use of instrument]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Payment of a lesser sum to settle a disputed claim is accord and satisfaction, discharging the obligation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 3-311 — accord and satisfaction by use of instrument. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SATISFACTION, p. 1056; scan anchor: djvu line 176719 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine discharge doctrine; the entry defines satisfaction by payment of what is due on a contract or judgment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SATISFIED TERM

[Law: Satisfied Terms Act 1845, 8 & 9 Vict. c. 112]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Satisfied Terms Act 1845 abolished satisfied outstanding terms of years. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Satisfied Terms Act 1845, 8 & 9 Vict. c. 112. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SATISFIED TERM, p. 1057; scan anchor: djvu line 176783 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1845 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The entry names the statute; the footnote identifies it as the genuine operative act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAVE

[Law: saving clauses preserve vested rights; tolling suspends limitations]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A statute 'saves' vested rights by a saving clause, and 'saves' limitations by tolling their running. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: saving clauses preserve vested rights; tolling suspends limitations. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAVE, p. 1057; scan anchor: djvu line 176823 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry gives both senses with examples; the footnote names the two genuine doctrines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAVING CLAUSE

[Law: 1 U.S.C. § 109 — repeal does not extinguish incurred liabilities]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The federal general saving statute provides that repeal does not extinguish penalties or liabilities already incurred. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 1 U.S.C. § 109 — repeal does not extinguish incurred liabilities. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAVING CLAUSE, p. 1057; scan anchor: djvu line 176832 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine statute embodying the saving-clause principle the entry defines (saving rights, proceedings, penalties from repeal). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SAY ABOUT

[Law: 'more or less' in conveyances — quantity not warranted]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'More or less' in a deed guards the vendor against warranting the quantity stated. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 'more or less' in conveyances — quantity not warranted. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SAY ABOUT, p. 1057; scan anchor: djvu line 176869 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine conveyancing rule; the entry defines the phrase's function as guarding against implied warranty of quantity. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCANDAL

[Law: scandalous matter stricken from pleadings]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Scandalous matter — allegations unbecoming the court's dignity or needlessly attacking character — is stricken from pleadings. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: scandalous matter stricken from pleadings. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCANDAL, p. 1057; scan anchor: djvu line 176915 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine pleading rule; the entry defines scandal in pleading and the footnote states the remedy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SC AND ALUM MAGNATUM

[Law: De Scandalis Magnatum, 3 Edw. I c. 34]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. De Scandalis Magnatum, the Statute of Westminster I, made slander of great men of the realm actionable. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: De Scandalis Magnatum, 3 Edw. I c. 34. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SC AND ALUM MAGNATUM, p. 1058; scan anchor: djvu line 176950 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine statute; the entry defines scandalum magnatum as actionable words against peers and great officers. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCHEME

[Law: cy-pres — chancery scheme for charitable trusts]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Where a charitable trust's purpose becomes impracticable, chancery settles a scheme under the cy-pres doctrine. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: cy-pres — chancery scheme for charitable trusts. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCHEME, p. 1058; scan anchor: djvu line 177012 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine equity doctrine; the entry defines the chancery scheme for charities whose execution is difficult or impracticable. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCIENTER

[Maxim: Actus non facit reum nisi mens sit rea]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Actus non facit reum nisi mens sit rea — the act does not make one guilty unless the mind is guilty. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Actus non facit reum nisi mens sit rea. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCIENTER, p. 1059; scan anchor: djvu line 177197 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim genuinely illuminating scienter: the entry defines it as the pleading of the defendant's previous knowledge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCINTIIXA

[Law: Statute of Uses 1535, 27 Hen. VIII c. 10]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Statute of Uses 1535 executed uses into legal estates, leaving the 'scintilla juris' fiction to support contingent uses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Uses 1535, 27 Hen. VIII c. 10. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCINTIIXA, p. 1059; scan anchor: djvu line 177234 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. 1535 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine statute; the entry itself invokes it as executing the uses the scintilla fiction supported. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCIRE FACIAS

[Law: writ of scire facias — show cause on a record]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Scire facias commands the party to show cause why the plaintiff should not have advantage of the record — as to revive a judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: writ of scire facias — show cause on a record. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCIRE FACIAS, p. 1059; scan anchor: djvu line 177268 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine writ; the entry defines it and names revival of judgments as the most common application. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCIRE FIERI INQUIRY

[Maxim: Dig. 1.3.17 — scire leges]

Who. The Digest of Justinian (as cited: Maxim: Dig. 1.3.17 — scire leges) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Scire leges non hoc est verba earum tenere, sed vim ac potestatem — to know the laws is to know their force and power, not their mere words (Dig. 1.3.17). [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Dig. 1.3.17 — scire leges. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCIRE FIERI INQUIRY, p. 1060; scan anchor: djvu line 177369 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real Digest maxim quoted in the entry; it genuinely states the interpretive principle against literalism. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCOUNDREL

[Law: slander per se — limited actionable categories]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Slander is actionable per se only in limited categories — imputation of crime, loathsome disease, unchastity, or professional unfitness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: slander per se — limited actionable categories. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCOUNDREL, p. 1061; scan anchor: djvu line 177464 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states 'scoundrel' is not actionable per se; the footnote names the genuine categories that are. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SCRAWL

[Law: scrawl as seal — the instrument becomes a specialty]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A scrawl written as a seal makes the instrument a specialty — a sealed instrument. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: scrawl as seal — the instrument becomes a specialty. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCRAWL, p. 1061; scan anchor: djvu line 177473 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine; the entry states it with Comerford v. Cobb, and the footnote names the operative rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SCRIBA

[Maxim: Scribere est agere — to write is to act]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Scribere est agere — to write is to act: treasonable words set down in writing amount to overt acts of treason. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Scribere est agere — to write is to act. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SCRIBA, p. 1061; scan anchor: djvu line 177479 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim quoted in the entry (4 Bl. Comm. 80; Broom, Max. 312); it genuinely states the treason-law rule for written words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SE SEFENDENDO

[Law: self-defense — excusable homicide]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Homicide committed se defendendo — in self-defense — is excusable. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: self-defense — excusable homicide. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SE SEFENDENDO, p. 1062; scan anchor: djvu line 177662 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine criminal-law doctrine; the entry states the rule in its first line. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEA

[Law: 'beyond sea' tolls the statute of limitations]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Beyond sea' — outside the jurisdiction — tolls the running of the statute of limitations. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 'beyond sea' tolls the statute of limitations. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEA, p. 1062; scan anchor: djvu line 177666 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine limitations doctrine; the entry defines 'beyond sea' in both the English and American senses the tolling rule uses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEAL

[Axiom: a sealed instrument imports consideration]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A sealed instrument imports consideration — no separate proof of consideration is needed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: a sealed instrument imports consideration. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEAL, p. 1062; scan anchor: djvu line 177746 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law principle; the entry's long definition of a seal grounds the specialty's legal effects. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEARCH-WARRANT

[Law: Fourth Amendment — warrants on probable cause, particularly describing]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. No warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, particularly describing the place to be searched. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fourth Amendment — warrants on probable cause, particularly describing. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEARCH-WARRANT, p. 1063; scan anchor: djvu line 177924 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine constitutional rule; the entry defines the warrant as commanding search of 'a specified house, shop, or other premises.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SECONDS

[Law: aiding and abetting — liability of accessories]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Seconds who assist and direct duelists are liable as aiders and abettors of the affray. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: aiding and abetting — liability of accessories. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SECONDS, p. 1064; scan anchor: djvu line 178069 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine criminal doctrine; the entry defines seconds as those who 'assist, direct, and support' the fighters. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SECRETE

[Law: fraudulent conveyance — transfer to hinder creditors]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Putting property beyond creditors' reach — by hiding it or putting title in another's name — is a fraudulent conveyance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: fraudulent conveyance — transfer to hinder creditors. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SECRETE, p. 1065; scan anchor: djvu line 178145 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine; the entry defines secreting as hindering creditors from levying or attaching. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SECUNDUM

[Maxim: Secundum allegata et probata]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Secundum allegata et probata — judgment must be according to what is alleged and proved. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Secundum allegata et probata. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SECUNDUM, p. 1065; scan anchor: djvu line 178292 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim listed in the entry; it genuinely states the pleading-and-proof rule for judgments. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SECURED CREDITOR

[Law: UCC Article 9 — secured transactions]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A creditor holding a mortgage, lien, or other assurance is a secured creditor under UCC Article 9. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC Article 9 — secured transactions. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SECURED CREDITOR, p. 1066; scan anchor: djvu line 178355 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine codification; the entry defines the secured creditor by the mortgage-or-lien assurance Article 9 governs. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SECURITATEM INVENIENDI

[Law: ne exeat — writ restraining departure from the realm]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The writ restraining a subject from leaving the kingdom is ne exeat regno. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: ne exeat — writ restraining departure from the realm. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SECURITATEM INVENIENDI, p. 1066; scan anchor: djvu line 178367 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine writ; the entry describes exactly the ne exeat function — staying subjects from going to foreign parts. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEDATO ANIMO

[Law: malice aforethought — settled purpose to kill]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Acting sedato animo — with settled purpose — is malice aforethought in homicide. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: malice aforethought — settled purpose to kill. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEDATO ANIMO, p. 1067; scan anchor: djvu line 178488 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine criminal-law doctrine; the entry defines sedato animo as 'with settled purpose.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEDERUNT, ACTS OF

[Law: Acts of Sederunt — Court of Session practice rules]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Acts of Sederunt are the Court of Session's ordinances regulating its own practice — a continuing Scots source of court rules. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Acts of Sederunt — Court of Session practice rules. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEDERUNT, ACTS OF, p. 1067; scan anchor: djvu line 178498 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine Scots procedural source; the entry defines them as ordinances conferring power to establish general rules of practice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEDITION

[Brandenburg v. Ohio, 395 U.S. 444 (1969)]

Who. The court deciding Brandenburg v. Ohio (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Advocacy may be punished only where it is directed to inciting imminent lawless action and likely to produce it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Brandenburg v. Ohio, 395 U.S. 444 (1969). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEDITION, p. 1067; scan anchor: djvu line 178510 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1969 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine leading case drawing the sedition/treason-adjacent line for seditious speech; confidently cited. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SEDUCING TO LEAVE SERVICE

[Lumley v. Gye, 2 El. & Bl. 216 (1853)]

Who. The court deciding Lumley v. Gye (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Inducing a servant to break his service founds the action for inducing breach of contract. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Lumley v. Gye, 2 El. & Bl. 216 (1853). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEDUCING TO LEAVE SERVICE, p. 1067; scan anchor: djvu line 178563 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1853 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine leading case; the entry states the master's action on the case for seducing away his servant. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEDUCTION

[Law: tort of seduction — parent's action per quod servitium amisit]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The tort of seduction gave the parent an action per quod servitium amisit for loss of the daughter's services. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: tort of seduction — parent's action per quod servitium amisit. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEDUCTION, p. 1067; scan anchor: djvu line 178568 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law tort; the entry defines the act and the footnote names the action it founded. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEEN

[Law: acceptance of bills of exchange — law merchant]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Writing 'seen' on a bill of exchange is an acceptance by the law merchant. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: acceptance of bills of exchange — law merchant. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEEN, p. 1067; scan anchor: djvu line 178588 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states the rule with cases (Spear v. Pratt); the footnote names the genuine law-merchant doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEISIN A

[Maxim: Seisin facit stipitem — seisin makes the stock]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Seisin facit stipitem — seisin makes the stock — the maxim of descent the entry quotes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Seisin facit stipitem — seisin makes the stock. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEISIN A, p. 1068; scan anchor: djvu line 178774 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Real maxim cited in-entry (2 Bl. Comm. 209; Broom, Max. 525); it genuinely states the descent rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEIZURE

[Law: levy of execution — seizure of property to satisfy judgment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Seizure under a writ to satisfy a judgment is the levy of execution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: levy of execution — seizure of property to satisfy judgment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEIZURE, p. 1068; scan anchor: djvu line 178794 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine execution doctrine; the entry defines seizure as taking property into custody of the law to satisfy a judgment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SELF-REGARDING EVIDENCE

[Law: admissions — statements against interest receivable]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Self-disserving evidence is receivable as an admission — a statement against the party's own interest. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: admissions — statements against interest receivable. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SELF-REGARDING EVIDENCE, p. 1069; scan anchor: djvu line 178877 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine evidence doctrine; the entry states self-disserving evidence is 'invariably receivable' as an admission. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEMBLE

[Law: obiter dictum — statement not necessary to decision]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A 'semble' intimates obiter dictum — a judicial statement not necessary to the decision. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: obiter dictum — statement not necessary to decision. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEMBLE, p. 1069; scan anchor: djvu line 178913 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine of precedent; the entry defines semble as prefacing a point 'not directly decided.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SEMINAUFRAGIUM

[Law: general average — contribution for jettisoned goods]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Goods cast overboard in a storm found general average — contribution by all whose property was saved. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: general average — contribution for jettisoned goods. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEMINAUFRAGIUM, p. 1069; scan anchor: djvu line 178965 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine maritime doctrine; the entry defines semi-naufragium to include jettison in a storm. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEMPER

[Maxim: Semper in dubiis benigniora praeferenda sunt]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Semper in dubiis benigniora praeferenda sunt — in doubtful cases prefer the more favorable construction — the root of the rule of lenity. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Semper in dubiis benigniora praeferenda sunt. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEMPER, p. 1070; scan anchor: djvu line 178988 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real Digest maxim (50.17.56) quoted in-entry; it genuinely grounds strict construction of penal laws. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEMPER P ABATES

[Law: tender — plea of always ready to perform]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The plea of semper paratus — always ready — is the plea of tender of performance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: tender — plea of always ready to perform. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEMPER P ABATES, p. 1070; scan anchor: djvu line 179028 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine pleading doctrine; the entry defines the plea (3 Bl. Comm. 303) and the footnote names it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SENATE

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I — the Senate]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The Senate is the upper chamber of Congress under Article I of the Constitution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I — the Senate. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENATE, p. 1070; scan anchor: djvu line 179079 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine constitutional source; the entry defines the Senate in American law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SENILITY

[Law: incapacity to contract — impairment of mental faculties]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Incapacity to contract from age-impaired faculties is the doctrine of mental incapacity. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: incapacity to contract — impairment of mental faculties. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENILITY, p. 1071; scan anchor: djvu line 179182 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine capacity doctrine; the entry defines senility as incapacity to contract from impaired faculties. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SENDA

[Law: easement — right of way over another's land]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A senda — a right of foot or horse path — is an easement over another's land. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: easement — right of way over another's land. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENDA, p. 1071; scan anchor: djvu line 179209 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine property doctrine; the entry defines the Spanish-law right of path, the easement's civilian cousin. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SENILE DEMENTIA

[Law: testamentary capacity — sound mind required]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Testamentary capacity requires sound mind — senile dementia may destroy the power to make a will. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: testamentary capacity — sound mind required. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENILE DEMENTIA, p. 1071; scan anchor: djvu line 179244 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine wills doctrine; the entry states the incompetence 'to execute a will' from mental decay. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SENSES

[Maxim: Sensus verborum est anima legis — 5 Co. 2]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Sensus verborum est anima legis — the meaning of the words is the spirit of the law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Sensus verborum est anima legis — 5 Co. 2. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENSES, p. 1071; scan anchor: djvu line 179255 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim quoted in-entry (5 Coke, 2); it genuinely states the interpretive principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SENTENCE

[Law: sentence — the criminal judgment awarding punishment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Punishment follows only upon the sentence — the judgment formally pronouncing it after conviction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: sentence — the criminal judgment awarding punishment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENTENCE, p. 1071; scan anchor: djvu line 179284 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry confines 'sentence' to the criminal judgment; the footnote states the genuine principle that punishment requires it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SENTENTIA

[Maxim: Sententia a non judice lata nemini debet nocere]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Sententia a non judice lata nemini debet nocere — a sentence by one not a judge should harm no one. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Sententia a non judice lata nemini debet nocere. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SENTENTIA, p. 22 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 179375 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim quoted in-entry (Fleta); it genuinely states the jurisdiction requirement for judgments. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEPARABLE CONTROVERSY

[Law: 28 U.S.C. § 1441(c) — removal of separable controversies]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. A separable controversy — a separate and independent claim — is removable to federal court. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 28 U.S.C. § 1441(c) — removal of separable controversies. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPARABLE CONTROVERSY, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 179416 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. 1441 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine removal doctrine; the entry defines the phrase from the removal acts. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEPARATIM

[Law: joint and several liability — several covenants]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Separatium' made the covenant several — importing joint-and-several liability rather than joint only. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: joint and several liability — several covenants. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPARATIM, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 179510 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine obligation doctrine; the entry states the word 'made a several covenant' (5 Co. 23a). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEPARATION

[Law: divorce a mensa et thoro — judicial separation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Judicial separation is divorce a mensa et thoro — from bed and board, without dissolving the bond. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: divorce a mensa et thoro — judicial separation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPARATION, p. 1018; scan anchor: djvu line 170423 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine matrimonial remedy; the entry defines judicial separation under decree of court. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEPARATION OP PATRIMONY

[Law: separation of patrimony — succession creditors' preference]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Separation of patrimony keeps the succession's property from confusion with the heir's, preferring succession creditors. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: separation of patrimony — succession creditors' preference. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPARATION OP PATRIMONY, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 179535 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine civilian probate doctrine; the entry defines its object as preventing confusion of the two patrimonies. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SEPARATISTS

[Law: affirmation in lieu of oath]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Those with conscientious objection to oaths may solemnly affirm instead — affirmation in lieu of oath. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: affirmation in lieu of oath. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPARATISTS, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 179550 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine evidence/procedure doctrine; the entry notes Separatists 'solemnly affirm' instead of taking the oath. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEPTENNIAL ACT

[Law: Septennial Act 1715, 1 Geo. I St. 2 c. 38]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Septennial Act 1715 gave parliament continuance for seven years. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Septennial Act 1715, 1 Geo. I St. 2 c. 38. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPTENNIAL ACT, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 179559 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1715 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine statute; the entry names it and states its effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEPULCHRE

[Law: violation of sepulchre — common-law misdemeanor]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Violation of sepulchres is a misdemeanor at common law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: violation of sepulchre — common-law misdemeanor. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEPULCHRE, p. 22; scan anchor: djvu line 179586 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law offense; the entry states the rule and the footnote names it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEQUESTRATION

[Law: sequestration — equity's process against a contemnor]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sequestration takes the contemnor's estate into custody of the law until he purges his contempt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: sequestration — equity's process against a contemnor. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEQUESTRATION, p. 1074; scan anchor: djvu line 179699 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine equity doctrine; the entry defines the writ against a defendant in contempt (3 Bl. Comm. 444). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SERJEANT

[Law: Serjeants-at-law — the ancient order of barristers]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Serjeants-at-law were the ancient select order of English barristers, alone admitted to plead in Common Pleas. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Serjeants-at-law — the ancient order of barristers. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SERJEANT, p. 1075; scan anchor: djvu line 179837 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine legal-historical institution; the entry distinguishes the legal grades of serjeant. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SERJEANT Y

[Law: Statute of Tenures 1660, 12 Car. II c. 24 — abolition of serjeanty]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Tenure by serjeanty — honorary personal service to the king — fell with the military tenures in 1660. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Tenures 1660, 12 Car. II c. 24 — abolition of serjeanty. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SERJEANT Y, p. 1075; scan anchor: djvu line 179888 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1660 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine statute; the entry defines grand and petit serjeanty, and the footnote gives their abolition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEKXENT

[Maxim: Sermones semper accipiendi sunt secundum subjectam materiam — 4 Co. 14]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Sermones semper accipiendi sunt secundum subjectam materiam — language is always understood according to its subject matter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Sermones semper accipiendi sunt secundum subjectam materiam — 4 Co. 14. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEKXENT, p. 1075; scan anchor: djvu line 179904 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim quoted in-entry (4 Coke, 14); it genuinely states the contextual-interpretation rule. Headword copied as OCR'd. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SERRATED

[Law: indenture — deed indented vs. deed poll]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A deed indented — cut in notches — is an indenture, distinguished from a deed poll cut straight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: indenture — deed indented vs. deed poll. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SERRATED, p. 1075; scan anchor: djvu line 179932 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine conveyancing distinction; the entry describes indenture-trimming and the footnote names the doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SERVANT

[Maxim: Respondeat superior]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Respondeat superior — the master answers for the servant's acts within the employment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Respondeat superior. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SERVANT, p. 1075; scan anchor: djvu line 179948 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim genuinely illuminating the master-servant relation the entry defines by control and direction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SERVED UMB RE

[Law: Las Partidas — Spanish law of servitudes]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A servidumbre under Las Partidas is the Spanish-law servitude — the right one man has in another's estate for his own benefit. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Las Partidas — Spanish law of servitudes. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SERVED UMB RE, p. 1076; scan anchor: djvu line 180111 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cites Las Partidas 3,31,1; the footnote names the genuine code grounding the definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SERVIENT

[Law: dominant and servient tenements — easement structure]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Every easement has a servient tenement burdened and a dominant tenement benefited. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: dominant and servient tenements — easement structure. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SERVIENT, p. 1076; scan anchor: djvu line 180130 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine property structure; the entry defines the servient tenement and the footnote states the correlative pair. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SET ASIDE

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 60 — relief from judgment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A judgment procured irregularly may be vacated on motion for relief from the judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 60 — relief from judgment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SET ASIDE, p. 1079; scan anchor: djvu line 180560 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine procedural remedy; the entry defines setting aside as cancelling judgments at the instance of the party unjustly affected. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SET OF EXCHANGE

[Law: bills of exchange drawn in sets — law merchant]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Foreign bills drawn in duplicate or triplicate sets are governed by the law merchant of bills of exchange. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: bills of exchange drawn in sets — law merchant. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SET OF EXCHANGE, p. 1079; scan anchor: djvu line 180573 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine mercantile practice; the entry defines the set and the footnote names the governing law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SET-OFF

[Law: 11 U.S.C. § 553 — setoff in bankruptcy]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. In bankruptcy, mutual debts are set off against each other under the Bankruptcy Code. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 11 U.S.C. § 553 — setoff in bankruptcy. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SET-OFF, p. 1079; scan anchor: djvu line 180582 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine statute; the entry defines set-off as the defendant's cross-demand extinguishing the plaintiff's. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SET UP

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(c) — statute of limitations as affirmative defense]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The statute of limitations must be pleaded as an affirmative defense — 'set up' — or it is waived. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(c) — statute of limitations as affirmative defense. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SET UP, p. 1079; scan anchor: djvu line 180622 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine pleading rule; the entry's own example is setting up limitations as a defense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SETTLOR

[Law: trust law — the settlor creates the trust]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The settlor is the creator of the trust — the grantor whose deed of settlement founds it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: trust law — the settlor creates the trust. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SETTLOR, p. 1080; scan anchor: djvu line 180797 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine trust doctrine; the entry defines the settlor as grantor in a deed of settlement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEVERABLE

[Law: severability — valid parts stand though others fall]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Where the valid can be severed from the invalid, the valid stands — the doctrine of severability. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: severability — valid parts stand though others fall. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEVERABLE, p. 1080; scan anchor: djvu line 180805 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine; the entry defines severable as capable of maintaining 'a complete and independent existence.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEVERALTY

[Law: estate in severalty — sole ownership; 2 Bl. Comm. 179]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Law: estate in severalty — sole ownership; 2 Bl. Comm. 179) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. An estate in severalty is sole ownership — held in one's own right only, as Blackstone states. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: estate in severalty — sole ownership; 2 Bl. Comm. 179. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEVERALTY, p. 1080; scan anchor: djvu line 180834 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry cites 2 Bl. Comm. 179; the footnote names the genuine estate the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEVERANCE

[Law: four unities of joint tenancy — time, title, interest, possession]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Severance destroys a joint tenancy by breaking one of the four unities — time, title, interest, or possession. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: four unities of joint tenancy — time, title, interest, possession. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEVERANCE, p. 1081; scan anchor: djvu line 180870 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine property doctrine; the entry defines severance in estates as destruction of the unities. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEXTUS DECRETALIUM

[Law: Corpus Juris Canonici — the Sext of Boniface VIII (1298)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Sext, published 1298, is part of the Corpus Juris Canonici, the body of canon law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Corpus Juris Canonici — the Sext of Boniface VIII (1298). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEXTUS DECRETALIUM, p. 1081; scan anchor: djvu line 180950 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine canonical collection; the entry describes its place appended to Gregory IX's decretals. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHALL

[Axiom: 'shall' is ordinarily mandatory; 'may' permissive]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Shall' is ordinarily imperative and mandatory, 'may' permissive — the first canon of reading statutes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: 'shall' is ordinarily mandatory; 'may' permissive. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHALL, p. 1081; scan anchor: djvu line 180988 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine canon of construction; the entry states the rule with its directory-exception. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SHAREHOLDER

[Law: shareholder by estoppel — liabilities as if a shareholder]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. One treated as a shareholder is a shareholder by estoppel, bearing a shareholder's liabilities. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: shareholder by estoppel — liabilities as if a shareholder. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHAREHOLDER, p. 1082; scan anchor: djvu line 181046 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine corporate doctrine; the entry defines the estoppel shareholder and the footnote states the consequence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHARP

[Law: power of sale — summary remedy on default]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A 'sharp' clause is a power-of-sale clause — summary remedy on default without foreclosure suit. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: power of sale — summary remedy on default. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHARP, p. 1082; scan anchor: djvu line 181061 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine mortgage doctrine; the entry defines the sharp clause as empowering prompt summary action on default. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHELLET’S CASE, RULE IN

[Law: Rule in Shelley's Case — 1 Co. Rep. 93b]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Where the ancestor takes a freehold and the same conveyance limits an estate to his heirs, 'heirs' are words of limitation, not of purchase. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Rule in Shelley's Case — 1 Co. Rep. 93b. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHELLET’S CASE, RULE IN, p. 1082; scan anchor: djvu line 181132 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states the rule verbatim (quoting 1 Coke); the footnote names the genuine rule in standard form. Headword copied as OCR'd. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHERIFF

[Law: sheriff — chief conservator of the peace]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The sheriff is the chief conservator of the peace within his county — the common-law peace officer. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: sheriff — chief conservator of the peace. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHERIFF, p. 1082; scan anchor: djvu line 181165 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry states the office and its peace-keeping function; the footnote names the genuine common-law office. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHIFTING

[Law: burden of proof — shifting after a prima facie case]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Shifting the burden of proof transfers it after a prima facie case is made, requiring rebuttal evidence. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: burden of proof — shifting after a prima facie case. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHIFTING, p. 1083; scan anchor: djvu line 181294 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine evidence doctrine; the entry defines shifting the burden with the prima-facie mechanism. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHIPPED

[Law: UCC § 2-509 — risk of loss in shipment]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Goods 'shipped' travel at the consignee's risk — the risk of loss passes on shipment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-509 — risk of loss in shipment. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHIPPED, p. 1084; scan anchor: djvu line 181482 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine sales doctrine; the entry defines 'shipped' as placed on board 'to be transported at his risk.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHORE

[Law: public trust — tide lands and navigable waters]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Shore lands where the tide flows and reflows are held under the public trust for navigation and fishery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: public trust — tide lands and navigable waters. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHORE, p. 1086; scan anchor: djvu line 181618 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine doctrine; the entry defines 'shore' in its legal sense as lands adjacent to navigable tidewaters. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SHOW CAUSE

[Law: rule to show cause — order nisi]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A rule to show cause orders the party to appear and show why the rule should not be made absolute. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: rule to show cause — order nisi. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHOW CAUSE, p. 81 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 181716 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine procedural device; the entry defines showing cause against a rule nisi. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SHYSTER

[Maxim: Si a jure discedas, vagus eris — Co. Litt. 227b]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Si a jure discedas, vagus eris — Co. Litt. 227b) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Si a jure discedas, vagus eris, et erunt omnia omnibus incerta — if you depart from the law, you will go astray, and all things will be uncertain to all. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Si a jure discedas, vagus eris — Co. Litt. 227b. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SHYSTER, p. 81 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 181727 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim printed in the entry; it genuinely warns what the shyster's departure from law produces — uncertainty for all. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SI CONSTET BE PERSONA

[Maxim: Id certum est quod certum reddi potest]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Id certum est quod certum reddi potest — that is certain which can be made certain — the rule for identifying the person meant. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Id certum est quod certum reddi potest. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SI CONSTET BE PERSONA, p. 81 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 181779 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Real maxim genuinely illuminating the entry: 'if it be certain who is the person meant.' Headword copied as OCR'd. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIDE

[Law: law and equity sides of the court]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The same court may have a law side and an equity side — distinct provinces of jurisdiction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: law and equity sides of the court. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIDE, p. 1087; scan anchor: djvu line 181983 [basis: citation + host entry record

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine jurisdictional structure; the entry defines the sides, including law vs. equity. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIGHT

[Law: presentment — bills payable at sight]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A bill payable 'at sight' is payable on presentment to the drawee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: presentment — bills payable at sight. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIGHT, p. 1088; scan anchor: djvu line 182079 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine law-merchant doctrine; the entry defines 'at sight' as on presentment (Campbell v. French cited). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIGN

[Law: Statute of Frauds — signed writing required]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Statute of Frauds requires certain contracts to be in a signed writing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Frauds — signed writing required. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIGN, p. 1088; scan anchor: djvu line 182105 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine statute; the entry defines signing as affixing one's name to give an instrument effect as one's act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIMILITER

[Law: joinder in issue — the similiter]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The similiter is the joinder in issue — acceptance of the issue of fact tendered by the opposite party. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: joinder in issue — the similiter. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIMILITER, p. 1089; scan anchor: djvu line 182258 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine common-law pleading; the entry defines it (Steph. Pl. 57, 237) and the footnote names it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SIMONY

[Law: simony — ecclesiastical offense; 2 Bl. Comm. 278]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Law: simony — ecclesiastical offense; 2 Bl. Comm. 278) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Simony — the buying or selling of ecclesiastical preferments — is an ecclesiastical offense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: simony — ecclesiastical offense; 2 Bl. Comm. 278. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIMONY, p. 1089; scan anchor: djvu line 182290 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The entry defines it with Blackstone's authority; the footnote names the genuine offense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIMPLE

[Law: simple (parol) contracts vs. specialties]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A simple contract is one not under seal — distinguished from a specialty, which imports consideration. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: simple (parol) contracts vs. specialties. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIMPLE, p. 1089; scan anchor: djvu line 182304 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine contract distinction; the entry defines 'simple' as 'not evidenced by sealed writing or record.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIMULATE

[Law: sham transactions — fraud on creditors]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A simulated transaction — apparently in good faith but concealing fraud — is a sham defrauding creditors. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: sham transactions — fraud on creditors. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIMULATE, p. 1090; scan anchor: djvu line 182391 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine fraud doctrine; the entry defines simulation as concealing 'a fraudulent purpose... to defraud others.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SITTINGS

[Law: sittings in banc; sittings at nisi prius]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Sittings in banc are the full court's sittings; sittings at nisi prius are trial sittings before judge and jury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: sittings in banc; sittings at nisi prius. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SITTINGS, p. 1090; scan anchor: djvu line 182572 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine court structure; the entry defines both (3 Steph. Comm. 422-423). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SITUS

[Law: lex situs — law of the situs governs immovables]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Lex situs — the law of the place where the thing is — governs immovables for jurisdiction and taxation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: lex situs — law of the situs governs immovables. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SITUS, p. 1090; scan anchor: djvu line 182596 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine conflicts doctrine; the entry frames situs 'with reference to jurisdiction over it, or the right or power to tax it.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIX ACTS, TELE

[Law: the Six Acts, 1819]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Six Acts of 1819 — training to arms, seizure of arms, seditious libel, and the press measures — pacified post-Peterloo England. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: the Six Acts, 1819. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIX ACTS, TELE, p. 1090; scan anchor: djvu line 182613 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1819 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine statutes; the entry enumerates their repressive measures. Headword copied as OCR'd. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SIX ARTICLES, LAWS OF

[Law: Statute of Six Articles 1539, 31 Hen. VIII c. 14]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Statute of Six Articles 1539 enforced conformity to six points of Roman Catholic doctrine under severe penalties. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Six Articles 1539, 31 Hen. VIII c. 14. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIX ARTICLES, LAWS OF, p. 1090; scan anchor: djvu line 182625 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1539 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine statute; the entry names it with chapter and repeal (1 Eliz. c. 1). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SIX CLERKS

[Law: Six Clerks in Chancery — 3 Bl. Comm. 443]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Law: Six Clerks in Chancery — 3 Bl. Comm. 443) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The Six Clerks in Chancery received and filed bills, answers, and replications and kept the records. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Six Clerks in Chancery — 3 Bl. Comm. 443. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SIX CLERKS, p. 1090; scan anchor: djvu line 182633 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine chancery office; the entry defines it with Blackstone's authority and notes abolition (5 Vict. c. 5). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SEMATNE'S CASE

[Semayne's Case, 5 Co. Rep. 91a (1604)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Semayne's Case held every man's house is his castle — officers executing civil process may not break outer doors. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Semayne's Case, 5 Co. Rep. 91a (1604). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SEMATNE'S CASE, p. 1069; scan anchor: djvu line 178903 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1604 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine leading case; the entry reports it (5 Coke, 91, decided 1604) and the footnote states its holding. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SKELETON BILL

[Law: UCC § 3-115 — incomplete instruments]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A bill signed in blank is an incomplete instrument, and under UCC Article 3 it may be completed and enforced according to its terms as completed, when the completion was authorized. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 3-115 — incomplete instruments. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SKELETON BILL, p. 1092; scan anchor: djvu line 182670 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body only names the instrument (drawn, indorsed, or accepted in blank) and says nothing of its legal effect; the footnote supplies the operative doctrine governing blank-signed paper — that authorized completion makes it enforceable — which is genuine illumination, not a restatement of the definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SLAVE

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. XIII, § 1]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The status the entry defines was constitutionally extinguished: 'Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. XIII, § 1. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SLAVE, p. 1092; scan anchor: djvu line 182729 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body gives only a lexicographic definition (Webster) of the condition; the footnote states the governing constitutional bar that now defines the term's legal standing — converting description into law, the same shape as a definition-to-prohibition footnote. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SLAVE-TRADE

[Law: Act of Mar. 2, 1807, prohibiting the importation of slaves, effective Jan. 1, 1808]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The traffic the entry defines was statutorily extinguished in the United States by the federal prohibition of slave importation, effective 1808, long before the Thirteenth Amendment abolished the underlying status. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Act of Mar. 2, 1807, prohibiting the importation of slaves, effective Jan. 1, 1808. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SLAVE-TRADE, p. 1092; scan anchor: djvu line 182743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1807 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body is a bare one-line definition ('the traffic in slaves') with no legal-status information; the footnote supplies the operative federal abolition of the trade itself — distinct from the Thirteenth Amendment's abolition of the status, so this does not duplicate the SLAVE/SLAVERY footnotes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SLA VERT

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. XIII, § 1]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The condition the entry defines — one man's absolute power over another's life, fortune, and liberty — is precisely what the Constitution now forbids to exist: 'Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude ... shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. XIII, § 1. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SLA VERT, p. 1092; scan anchor: djvu line 182747 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body defines 'slavery' as a condition without stating its legal fate; the footnote supplies the constitutional prohibition whose operative word ('shall exist') negates exactly the condition described — genuine illumination of legal standing, not a restatement of the definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

annotation]

SOCAGE

[Law: 12 Car. II c. 24 (1660) — abolition of military tenures, conversion to free socage]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The tenure the entry defines became the universal English tenure when the Tenures Abolition Act 1660 abolished military tenures and converted them into free and common socage. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 12 Car. II c. 24 (1660) — abolition of military tenures, conversion to free socage. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SOCAGE, p. 1093; scan anchor: djvu line 182939 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1660 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body defines socage as a tenure but says nothing of its historical fate; the footnote supplies the 1660 statute that made socage the residual English tenure — genuine added light about the entry's afterlife, not a restatement of the definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SOIL

[Maxim: 'Cujus est solum, ejus est usque ad coelum et ad inferos']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The maxim of ownership states the scope the entry's wider sense describes: 'Cujus est solum, ejus est usque ad coelum et ad inferos' — whoever owns the soil owns up to the sky and down to the depths. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: 'Cujus est solum, ejus est usque ad coelum et ad inferos'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SOIL, p. 1095; scan anchor: djvu line 183161 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body defines the word ('all that is below, upon, or above the surface'); the footnote adds the distinct thing the definition lacks — the axiom of OWNERSHIP scope that makes the definition legally operative, in the maxim's canonical form (cf. 2 Bl. Comm. 18). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SOURCES OF THE LAW

[Law: U.S. Const. art. VI, cl. 2 (Supremacy Clause)]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Among the sources the entry enumerates, the Constitution itself fixes the rank: 'This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. VI, cl. 2 (Supremacy Clause). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SOURCES OF THE LAW, p. 1098; scan anchor: djvu line 183734 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body lists constitutions, treaties, statutes, usages, and customs as sources but says nothing of their order; the footnote adds the one genuine hierarchical axiom governing the listed sources — the Supremacy Clause — which ranks rather than restates the taxonomy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

SOVEREIGN

[Law: U.S. Const. pmbl.]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The entry's 'sovereign people' — the political body possessing the powers of sovereignty — is the actor of the Preamble: 'We the People of the United States ... do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. pmbl.. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SOVEREIGN, p. 1098; scan anchor: djvu line 183771 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body describes the sovereign people in the abstract; the footnote supplies the operative American text in which that sovereign body exercises its sovereignty by ordaining the Constitution — the constitutional anchor the definition lacks, quoted verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SPEEDY TRIAL

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. VI]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The 'constitutional guaranties' the entry invokes are anchored in the Sixth Amendment: 'the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. VI. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SPEEDY TRIAL, p. 1101; scan anchor: djvu line 184202 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body defines speedy trial by reference to 'constitutional guaranties' without quoting any; the footnote supplies the verbatim guarantee — the same definition-to-text shape as a sound annotation — rather than restating the body's own gloss. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

STANDARD

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 5]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The standard 'fixed and prescribed by law' that the entry defines is, in the American system, fixed by Congress, which has power '[t]o coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 5. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry STANDARD, p. 1104; scan anchor: djvu line 184776 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body defines the standard as 'fixed and prescribed by law' without saying by whom; the footnote supplies the constitutional grant of that fixing power — the operative text behind the definition, quoted verbatim, adding rather than restating. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

STOPPAGE IN TRANSITU

[Law: UCC § 2-705 — seller's stoppage of delivery in transit]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The common-law right the entry defines survives in modern uniform law: the seller may stop delivery of goods in a carrier's possession upon discovering the buyer's insolvency. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-705 — seller's stoppage of delivery in transit. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry STOPPAGE IN TRANSITU, p. 1112; scan anchor: djvu line 186099 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body states the 1910 common-law doctrine completely but gives no modern locus; the footnote anchors the doctrine's survival in the current uniform statute — genuine added light about where the rule lives today, not a restatement of its content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

SUBSTITUTED SERVICE

[Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950)]

Who. The court deciding Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The mechanics the entry describes — service by publication or mailing when personal service cannot be had — must satisfy due process: notice 'reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306 (1950). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SUBSTITUTED SERVICE, p. 1118; scan anchor: djvu line 186996 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1950 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body describes how substituted service is made but omits the constitutional standard governing it; Mullane's 'reasonably calculated' test is the controlling precedent on notice by publication — genuine illumination of the doctrine's limit, quoted verbatim from a case I am confident is real (339 U.S. 306, 1950). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TAIL

[Law: Statute De Donis Conditionalibus, 13 Edw. I (1285)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The estate the entry defines was created by the Statute De Donis Conditionalibus (1285), which converted the conditional fee into the inalienable estate in tail, descendible only to the heirs of the donee's body. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute De Donis Conditionalibus, 13 Edw. I (1285). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TAIL, p. 1133; scan anchor: djvu line 189545 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body defines the estate in tail completely but omits its statutory origin; the footnote supplies the 1285 statute that created it as a distinct estate — the legal source behind the definition, not a restatement of it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TELEGRAPH

[Law: Telegraph Act 1863, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 112, § 3 — 'a wire or wires used for the purpose of telegraphic communication ... and any apparatus connected therewith']

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The entry's own definition of 'telegraph' is the statutory definition from the English Telegraph Act of 1863. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Telegraph Act 1863, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 112, § 3 — 'a wire or wires used for the purpose of telegraphic communication ... and any apparatus connected therewith'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TELEGRAPH, p. 1139; scan anchor: djvu line 190608 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1863 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the statute is the entry's own cited source for the definition; the footnote anchors the dictionary definition to the real enactment rather than importing an external fact. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TEMPORIS EXCEPTIO

[Law: plea of prescription; statutes of limitation]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The civil-law plea of lapse of time corresponds in common-law practice to the plea of prescription and to statutes of limitation barring stale actions. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: plea of prescription; statutes of limitation. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TEMPORIS EXCEPTIO, p. 1141; scan anchor: djvu line 190809 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry itself draws this bridge ('Corresponding to the plea of prescription, or the statute of limitations, in our law'); the footnote makes the civil-law/common-law equivalence explicit as a real procedural principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TEMPUS

[Maxim: Tempus enim modus tollendi obligationes et actiones, quia tempus currit contra desides et sui juris contemptores — 'For time is a means of destroying obligations and actions, because time runs against the slothful and contemners of their own rights' (Fleta, l. 4, c. 5, § 12)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Time destroys obligations and actions because it runs against the slothful and those who neglect their own rights. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tempus enim modus tollendi obligationes et actiones, quia tempus currit contra desides et sui juris contemptores — 'For time is a means of destroying obligations and actions, because time runs against the slothful and contemners of their own rights' (Fleta, l. 4, c. 5, § 12). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TEMPUS, p. 1141; scan anchor: djvu line 190816 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the maxim is quoted verbatim in the entry itself with its authority (Fleta); the footnote preserves the maxim's classic formulation of the limitation-policy behind time-bars. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

annotation]

TEMPUS

[Axiom: the four unities of joint tenancy — time, title, interest, possession; survivorship as the grand incident (2 Bl. Comm. 180)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Axiom: the four unities of joint tenancy — time, title, interest, possession; survivorship as the grand incident (2 Bl. Comm. 180)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Joint tenancy requires the four unities — unity of time, title, interest, and possession — and its grand incident is survivorship, the whole tenancy passing to the surviving joint tenants. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: the four unities of joint tenancy — time, title, interest, possession; survivorship as the grand incident (2 Bl. Comm. 180). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TEMPUS, p. 1141; scan anchor: djvu line 190816 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this doctrine (quoting 2 Bl. Comm. 180) as the definition of joint tenancy; the footnote distills it into the classic axiom-form without inventing any citation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TENDER

[Law: 31 U.S.C. § 5103 — United States coins and currency (including Federal Reserve notes) are legal tender for all debts, public charges, taxes, and dues]

Who. The United States Code (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Legal tender is the money the law compels a creditor to accept in satisfaction of a debt when tendered in the right amount — in the United States, coins and currency including Federal Reserve notes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 31 U.S.C. § 5103 — United States coins and currency (including Federal Reserve notes) are legal tender for all debts, public charges, taxes, and dues. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TENDER, p. 1143; scan anchor: djvu line 191198 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry's 'legal tender' definition describes exactly this compulsion-of-acceptance principle, and 31 U.S.C. § 5103 is the real statutory embodiment of it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TENERE

[Axiom: natural possession (fact of detention) vs. civil possession (possession by lawful claim) — tenere denotes the former, habere/possidere the latter]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. In the civil-law doctrine of possession, mere corporal detention (natural possession) is distinct from possession maintained by a lawful claim (civil possession). [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: natural possession (fact of detention) vs. civil possession (possession by lawful claim) — tenere denotes the former, habere/possidere the latter. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TENERE, p. 1144; scan anchor: djvu line 191334 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because this distinction is the substance of the entry itself; the footnote states it as the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

received civil-law axiom with no invented authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TENOR

[Maxim: Tenor est qui legem dat feudo — 'It is the tenor [of the feudal grant] which regulates its effect and extent' (Craiglus, Jus Feud. 66; Broom, Max. 459)]

Who. Broom, Legal Maxims (as cited: Maxim: Tenor est qui legem dat feudo — 'It is the tenor [of the feudal grant] which regulates its effect and extent' (Craiglus, Jus Feud. 66; Broom, Max. 459)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. It is the tenor of the feudal grant which regulates its effect and extent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tenor est qui legem dat feudo — 'It is the tenor [of the feudal grant] which regulates its effect and extent' (Craiglus, Jus Feud. 66; Broom, Max. 459). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TENOR, p. 1144; scan anchor: djvu line 191386 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the maxim is quoted verbatim in the entry with its authorities; the footnote preserves the classical rule that the grant's own terms govern. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TERMINUS

[Maxim: Terminus annorum certus debet esse et determinatus — 'A term of years ought to be certain and determinate' (Co. Litt. 45)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Terminus annorum certus debet esse et determinatus — 'A term of years ought to be certain and determinate' (Co. Litt. 45)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. A term of years must be certain and determinate in its duration. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Terminus annorum certus debet esse et determinatus — 'A term of years ought to be certain and determinate' (Co. Litt. 45). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TERMINUS, p. 1146; scan anchor: djvu line 191764 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is the classic certainty rule for terms of years. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TERMINUS

[Maxim: Terminus et feodum non possunt stare simul in una eademque persona — 'A term and the fee cannot both be in one and the same person at the same time' (Plowd. 29)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. A term of years and the fee cannot both subsist in the same person at the same time — the merger principle. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Terminus et feodum non possunt stare simul in una eademque persona — 'A term and the fee cannot both be in one and the same person at the same time' (Plowd. 29). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TERMINUS, p. 1146; scan anchor: djvu line 191764 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the received merger rule for lesser and greater estates. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TERRA

[Maxim: Terra manens vacua occupanti conceditur — 'Land lying unoccupied is given to the first occupant' (1 Sid. 347)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Land lying unoccupied is given to the first occupant — the first-possession rule for ownerless land. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Terra manens vacua occupanti conceditur — 'Land lying unoccupied is given to the first occupant' (1 Sid. 347). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TERRA, p. 1146; scan anchor: djvu line 191804 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is the classical maxim of first occupancy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TERRITORIAL, TERRITORIALITY

[Axiom: territorial waters — coastal-state sovereignty over the adjacent sea with jurisdiction over offenses committed there, even aboard a foreign ship]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Territorial waters are the part of the sea adjacent to a country's coast deemed by international law to be within that country's sovereignty, so its courts have jurisdiction over offenses committed on those waters. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: territorial waters — coastal-state sovereignty over the adjacent sea with jurisdiction over offenses committed there, even aboard a foreign ship. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TERRITORIAL, TERRITORIALITY, p. 1147; scan anchor: djvu line 191925 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry names this real public-international-law doctrine; the footnote states the principle without inventing a treaty citation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TEST

[Law: Test Act 1673, 25 Car. II. c. 2 — oaths of allegiance and supremacy, declaration against transubstantiation, and reception of the sacrament; sacramental requirement abolished by 9 Geo. IV. c. 17]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Test Act imposed sacramental and oath tests on civil and military officers; its sacramental requirement was abolished in 1828. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Test Act 1673, 25 Car. II. c. 2 — oaths of allegiance and supremacy, declaration against transubstantiation, and reception of the sacrament; sacramental requirement abolished by 9 Geo. IV. c. 17. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TEST, p. 1148; scan anchor: djvu line 192000 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1673 [basis: year carried in the citation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies both statutes; the footnote preserves the real statutory lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTAMENT

[Maxim: Testamenta cum duo inter se pugnantia reperiuntur, ultimum ratum est; sic est, cum duo inter se pugnantia reperiuntur in eodem testamento — 'When two conflicting wills are found, the last prevails; so it is when two conflicting clauses occur in the same will' (Co. Litt. 112)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Testamenta cum duo inter se pugnantia reperiuntur, ultimum ratum est; sic est, cum duo inter se pugnantia reperiuntur in eodem testamento — 'When two conflicting wills are found, the last prevails; so it is when two conflicting clauses occur in the same will' (Co. Litt. 112)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where two conflicting wills are found, the last prevails — and so too where two conflicting clauses occur in the same will. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testamenta cum duo inter se pugnantia reperiuntur, ultimum ratum est; sic est, cum duo inter se pugnantia reperiuntur in eodem testamento — 'When two conflicting wills are found, the last prevails; so it is when two conflicting clauses occur in the same will' (Co. Litt. 112). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTAMENT, p. 1148; scan anchor: djvu line 192086 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the later-in-time rule for wills. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTAMENT

[Maxim: Testamenta latissimam interpretationem habere debent — 'Wills ought to have the broadest interpretation' (Jenk. Cent. 81)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Wills are to receive the broadest interpretation in favor of the testator's intent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testamenta latissimam interpretationem habere debent — 'Wills ought to have the broadest interpretation' (Jenk. Cent. 81). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTAMENT, p. 1148; scan anchor: djvu line 192086 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is the received liberal-construction rule for wills. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTAMENT

[Law: Wills Act 1837, 7 Will. IV & 1 Vict. c. 26, § 11 — soldiers' and mariners' nuncupative wills]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. A soldier's nuncupative (oral) will disposing of goods, pay, and personal chattels is valid without the solemnities required of other wills. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Wills Act 1837, 7 Will. IV & 1 Vict. c. 26, § 11 — soldiers' and mariners' nuncupative wills. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTAMENT, p. 1148; scan anchor: djvu line 192086 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. 1837 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry cites St. 1 Vict. c. 26, § 11 as the source of the military-testament rule; the footnote names the real Act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTAMENTUM

[Maxim: Testamentum est voluntatis nostrae justa sententia, de eo quod quis post mortem suam fieri velit — 'A testament is the just expression of our will concerning that which any one wishes done after his death' (Dig. 28, 1, 1; 2 Bl. Comm. 499)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Maxim: Testamentum est voluntatis nostrae justa sententia, de eo quod quis post mortem suam fieri velit — 'A testament is the just expression of our will concerning that which any one wishes done after his death' (Dig. 28, 1, 1; 2 Bl. Comm. 499)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. A testament is the just expression of our will concerning what we wish done after our death — the Roman-law definition. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testamentum est voluntatis nostrae justa sententia, de eo quod quis post mortem suam fieri velit — 'A testament is the just expression of our will concerning that which any one wishes done after his death' (Dig. 28, 1, 1; 2 Bl. Comm. 499). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTAMENTUM, p. 1149; scan anchor: djvu line 192241 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its Digest and Blackstone authorities; it is Ulpian's received definition of a testament. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTAMENTUM

[Maxim: Testamentum, i.e., testatio mentis, facta nullo praesente metu periculi, sed cogitatione mortalitatis — 'A testament, i.e., the witnessing of one's intention, made under no present fear of danger, but in expectancy of death' (Co. Litt. 322)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Testamentum, i.e., testatio mentis, facta nullo praesente metu periculi, sed cogitatione mortalitatis — 'A testament, i.e., the witnessing of one's intention, made under no present fear of danger, but in expectancy of death' (Co. Litt. 322)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. A testament is the witnessing of one's intention made under no present fear of danger, but in contemplation of mortality. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testamentum, i.e., testatio mentis, facta nullo praesente metu periculi, sed cogitatione mortalitatis — 'A testament, i.e., the witnessing of one's intention, made under no present fear of danger, but in expectancy of death' (Co. Litt. 322). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTAMENTUM, p. 1149; scan anchor: djvu line 192241 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the solemnity-of-intent requirement for testaments. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TESTAMENTUM

[Maxim: Testamentum omne morte consumatur — 'Every will is perfected by death. A will speaks from the time of death only' (Co. Litt. 232)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Testamentum omne morte consumatur — 'Every will is perfected by death. A will speaks from the time of death only' (Co. Litt. 232)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Every will is perfected by death; a will speaks from the time of death only. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testamentum omne morte consumatur — 'Every will is perfected by death. A will speaks from the time of death only' (Co. Litt. 232). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTAMENTUM, p. 1149; scan anchor: djvu line 192241 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the ambulatory nature of wills. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTATOR

[Maxim: Testatoris ultima voluntas est perimplenda secundum veram intentionem suam — 'The last will of a testator is to be thoroughly fulfilled according to his real intention' (Co. Litt. 322)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Testatoris ultima voluntas est perimplenda secundum veram intentionem suam — 'The last will of a testator is to be thoroughly fulfilled according to his real intention' (Co. Litt. 322)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The testator's last will is to be fully carried out according to his real intention. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testatoris ultima voluntas est perimplenda secundum veram intentionem suam — 'The last will of a testator is to be thoroughly fulfilled according to his real intention' (Co. Litt. 322). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTATOR, p. 1149; scan anchor: djvu line 192291 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is the cardinal rule that the testator's intent governs construction of the will. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTES

[Maxim: Testes ponderantur, non numerantur — 'Witnesses are weighed, not numbered']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. In a conflict of evidence, the truth is found by weighing the credibility of the witnesses, not by counting heads on each side. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testes ponderantur, non numerantur — 'Witnesses are weighed, not numbered'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTES, p. 1150; scan anchor: djvu line 192380 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry; it is the classic maxim against mere numerical preponderance of witnesses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TESTES

[Maxim: Testes qui postulat debet dare eis sumptus competentes — 'Whosoever demands witnesses must find them in competent provision']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Whoever demands witnesses must find them competent provision for their attendance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testes qui postulat debet dare eis sumptus competentes — 'Whosoever demands witnesses must find them in competent provision'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTES, p. 1150; scan anchor: djvu line 192380 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry; it states the real rule on procuring witness attendance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTES

[Maxim: Testibus deponentibus in pari numero, dignioribus est credendum — 'Where the witnesses who testify are in equal number, [on both sides,] the more worthy are to be believed' (4 Inst. 279)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Testibus deponentibus in pari numero, dignioribus est credendum — 'Where the witnesses who testify are in equal number, [on both sides,] the more worthy are to be believed' (4 Inst. 279)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where the witnesses on both sides are equal in number, the more worthy are to be believed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testibus deponentibus in pari numero, dignioribus est credendum — 'Where the witnesses who testify are in equal number, [on both sides,] the more worthy are to be believed' (4 Inst. 279). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTES, p. 1150; scan anchor: djvu line 192380 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is Coke's received rule for balanced testimony. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTIFY

[Maxim: Testimonia ponderanda sunt, non numeranda — 'Evidence is to be weighed, not enumerated']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Evidence is to be weighed, not enumerated. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testimonia ponderanda sunt, non numeranda — 'Evidence is to be weighed, not enumerated'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTIFY, p. 1150; scan anchor: djvu line 192415 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry; it is the classic maxim that credibility, not head-count, decides a conflict of evidence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TESTIMONIAL

[Law: 39 Eliz. c. 17, § 3 (1597) — testimonial certificates for soldiers and mariners; repealed by 52 Geo. III. c. 31 (1812)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Under 39 Eliz. c. 17 (1597), a testimonial was a justice's certificate authorizing a soldier or mariner to travel to his dwelling; wandering without one was a felony without benefit of clergy until the Act's repeal in 1812. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 39 Eliz. c. 17, § 3 (1597) — testimonial certificates for soldiers and mariners; repealed by 52 Geo. III. c. 31 (1812). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTIMONIAL, p. 1150; scan anchor: djvu line 192430 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1597 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies both the statute and its repealing Act; the footnote preserves the real statutory lineage. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTIS

[Maxim: Testis de visu praeponderat aliis — 'An eye-witness is preferred to others' (4 Inst. 279)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Testis de visu praeponderat aliis — 'An eye-witness is preferred to others' (4 Inst. 279)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. An eye-witness is preferred to other witnesses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testis de visu praeponderat aliis — 'An eye-witness is preferred to others' (4 Inst. 279). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTIS, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192509 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the received preference for direct over derivative testimony. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTIS

[Maxim: Testis lupanaris sufficit ad factum in lupanari — 'A lewd person is a sufficient witness to an act committed in a brothel' (Moore, 817)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. A lewd person is a sufficient witness to an act committed in a brothel — witness competency follows the place and nature of the fact. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testis lupanaris sufficit ad factum in lupanari — 'A lewd person is a sufficient witness to an act committed in a brothel' (Moore, 817). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTIS, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192509 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is a real (if archaic) maxim on witness competency tied to the locus of the fact. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TESTIS

[Maxim: Testis nemo in sua causa esse potest — 'No one can be a witness in his own cause']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. No one can be a witness in his own cause. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testis nemo in sua causa esse potest — 'No one can be a witness in his own cause'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTIS, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192509 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry; it is the classical maxim of witness disqualification by interest, kin to nemo iudex in causa sua. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTIS

[Maxim: Testis oculatus unus plus valet quam auriti decem — 'One eye-witness is worth more than ten ear-witnesses' (4 Inst. 279)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Testis oculatus unus plus valet quam auriti decem — 'One eye-witness is worth more than ten ear-witnesses' (4 Inst. 279)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. One eye-witness is worth more than ten ear-witnesses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testis oculatus unus plus valet quam auriti decem — 'One eye-witness is worth more than ten ear-witnesses' (4 Inst. 279). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTIS, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192509 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the received ranking of direct over hearsay testimony. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TESTMOIGNE

[Maxim: Testmoignes ne poent testifier le negative, mes l'affirmative — 'Witnesses cannot testify to a negative; they must testify to an affirmative' (4 Inst. 279)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Testmoignes ne poent testifier le negative, mes l'affirmative — 'Witnesses cannot testify to a negative; they must testify to an affirmative' (4 Inst. 279)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Witnesses cannot testify to a negative; they must testify to an affirmative. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Testmoignes ne poent testifier le negative, mes l'affirmative — 'Witnesses cannot testify to a negative; they must testify to an affirmative' (4 Inst. 279). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TESTMOIGNE, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192531 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is the old common-law rule on the form of testimony. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

THALWEG

[Case: Iowa v. Illinois, 147 U.S. 1 (1893)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Iowa v. Illinois (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Where a river is a boundary between states, the boundary follows the thalweg — the middle of the main channel of navigation — not the geographic middle of the river. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Iowa v. Illinois, 147 U.S. 1 (1893). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THALWEG, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192551 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1893 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this case for the thalweg definition, and it is independently the landmark authority establishing the thalweg doctrine for river boundaries. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THE

[Maxim: The fund which has received the benefit should make the satisfaction (4 Bouv. Inst. note 3730)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: The fund which has received the benefit should make the satisfaction (4 Bouv. Inst. note 3730)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The fund which has received the benefit should make the satisfaction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: The fund which has received the benefit should make the satisfaction (4 Bouv. Inst. note 3730). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THE, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192591 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the restitution principle that benefit received grounds the duty to make satisfaction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THEEUSSON ACT

[Law: 39 & 40 Geo. III. c. 98 (1800) (Thellusson Act) — accumulations limited to twenty-one years from the testator's death]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Thellusson Act restricted accumulations of trust property to a term of twenty-one years from the testator's death, passed after the litigation over Thellusson's will. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 39 & 40 Geo. III. c. 98 (1800) (Thellusson Act) — accumulations limited to twenty-one years from the testator's death. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THEEUSSON ACT, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 192682 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1800 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute by regnal citation and purpose; the footnote names the real Act and its rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

THESAURUS, THESAURIUM

[Maxim: Thesaurus competit domino regi, et non domino libertatis, nisi sit per verba specialia — 'A treasure belongs to the king, and not to the lord of a liberty, unless it be through special words' (Fitzh. Coron. 281)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Treasure belongs to the king, not to the lord of a liberty, unless granted by special words. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Thesaurus competit domino regi, et non domino libertatis, nisi sit per verba specialia — 'A treasure belongs to the king, and not to the lord of a liberty, unless it be through special words' (Fitzh. Coron. 281). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THESAURUS, THESAURIUM, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 192743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the crown's prerogative right to treasure-trove. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THESAURUS, THESAURIUM

[Maxim: Thesaurus inventus est vetus dispositio pecuniae, etc., cujus non extat modo memoria, adeo ut jam dominum non habeat — 'Treasure-trove is an ancient hiding of money, etc., of which no recollection exists, so that it now has no owner' (3 Inst. 132)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Thesaurus inventus est vetus dispositio pecuniae, etc., cujus non extat modo memoria, adeo ut jam dominum non habeat — 'Treasure-trove is an ancient hiding of money, etc., of which no recollection exists, so that it now has no owner' (3 Inst. 132)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Treasure-trove is an ancient hiding of money of which no recollection exists, so that it now has no owner. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Thesaurus inventus est vetus dispositio pecuniae, etc., cujus non extat modo memoria, adeo ut jam dominum non habeat — 'Treasure-trove is an ancient hiding of money, etc., of which no recollection exists, so that it now has no owner' (3 Inst. 132). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THESAURUS, THESAURIUM, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 192743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its Coke authority; it is the classical definition of treasure-trove. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THESAURUS, THESAURIUM

[Maxim: Thesaurus non competit regi, nisi quando nemo scit qui abscondit thesaurum — 'Treasure does not belong to the king, unless no one knows who hid it' (3 Inst. 132)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Thesaurus non competit regi, nisi quando nemo scit qui abscondit thesaurum — 'Treasure does not belong to the king, unless no one knows who hid it' (3 Inst. 132)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Treasure does not belong to the king unless no one knows who hid it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Thesaurus non competit regi, nisi quando nemo scit qui abscondit thesaurum — 'Treasure does not belong to the king, unless no one knows who hid it' (3 Inst. 132). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THESAURUS, THESAURIUM, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 192743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the limiting condition on the crown's treasure-trove prerogative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THESAURUS, THESAURIUM

[Maxim: Thesaurus regis est vinculum pacis et bellorum nervus — 'The king's treasure is the bond of peace and the sinews of war' (Godb. 293)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The king's treasure is the bond of peace and the sinews of war. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Thesaurus regis est vinculum pacis et bellorum nervus — 'The king's treasure is the bond of peace and the sinews of war' (Godb. 293). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THESAURUS, THESAURIUM, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 192743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is the received maxim on the public function of the royal treasury. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THINGS

[Maxim: Things accessory are of the nature of the principal (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 25) — accessorium sequitur principale]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Things accessory are of the nature of the principal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Things accessory are of the nature of the principal (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 25) — accessorium sequitur principale. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THINGS, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 192790 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the received principle that accessories follow the nature and disposition of the principal thing. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THIRD

[Maxim: Things are construed according to that which was the cause thereof (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 4)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Things are construed according to that which was the cause thereof. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Things are construed according to that which was the cause thereof (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 4). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THIRD, p. 1153 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 192900 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the construction rule that effect is read in light of cause. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THIRD

[Maxim: Things are dissolved as they be contracted (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 7)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Things are dissolved as they are contracted. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Things are dissolved as they be contracted (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 7). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THIRD, p. 1153 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 192900 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the rule that obligations end by the same formality that created them. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THIRD

[Maxim: Things grounded upon an ill and void beginning cannot have a good perfection (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 8)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Things grounded upon an ill and void beginning cannot have a good perfection. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Things grounded upon an ill and void beginning cannot have a good perfection (Finch, Law, b. 1, c. 3, n. 8). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THIRD, p. 1153 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 192900 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the rule that a void foundation cannot perfect into a valid right. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THIRD

[Law: the common-law rule against assignment of choses in action — 'Things in action, entry, or re-entry cannot be granted over' (Van Rensselaer v. Ball, 19 N.Y. 100, 103, as cited in the entry)]

Who. The court deciding Law: the common-law rule against assignment of choses in action — 'Things in action, entry, or re-entry cannot be granted over' (Van Rensselaer v. Ball (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. At common law, things in action — rights to recover by suit — could not be granted over or assigned. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: the common-law rule against assignment of choses in action — 'Things in action, entry, or re-entry cannot be granted over' (Van Rensselaer v. Ball, 19 N.Y. 100, 103, as cited in the entry). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THIRD, p. 1153 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 192900 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry itself quotes this rule with its case authority; the footnote names the real historical doctrine of non-assignability of choses in action. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

THIRDS

[Maxim: Things incident shall pass by the grant of the principal, but not the principal by the grant of the incident (Co. Litt. 152a, 151b; Broom, Max. 433)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Things incident shall pass by the grant of the principal, but not the principal by the grant of the incident (Co. Litt. 152a, 151b; Broom, Max. 433)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Things incident pass by the grant of the principal, but not the principal by the grant of the incident. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Things incident shall pass by the grant of the principal, but not the principal by the grant of the incident (Co. Litt. 152a, 151b; Broom, Max. 433). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THIRDS, p. 1153; scan anchor: djvu line 192953 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authorities; it is the classical conveyancing rule on incidents and appurtenances. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THREE-DOLLAR PIECE

[Law: Act of February 21, 1853, § 7 (Coinage Act of 1853) — authorization of the three-dollar gold piece]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The three-dollar gold coin of the United States was authorized by the Coinage Act of 1853. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Act of February 21, 1853, § 7 (Coinage Act of 1853) — authorization of the three-dollar gold piece. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THREE-DOLLAR PIECE, p. 1164; scan anchor: djvu line 193073 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1853 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites § 7 of the act of February 21, 1853 as the coin's authority; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TIME

[Axiom: legal memory runs from the beginning of the reign of Richard I; time immemorial = time whereof the memory of man is not to the contrary (2 Bl. Comm. 31; Co. Litt. 860, 866)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Axiom: legal memory runs from the beginning of the reign of Richard I; time immemorial = time whereof the memory of man is not to the contrary (2 Bl. Comm. 31; Co. Litt. 860, 866)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Time of legal memory runs from the beginning of the reign of Richard I (1189); 'time immemorial' is time beyond living memory to the contrary. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: legal memory runs from the beginning of the reign of Richard I; time immemorial = time whereof the memory of man is not to the contrary (2 Bl. Comm. 31; Co. Litt. 860, 866). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TIME, p. 1156; scan anchor: djvu line 193320 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this doctrine with its Blackstone and Coke authorities; the footnote distills the received rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TIME

[Maxim: How long a 'reasonable time' ought to be is not defined in law, but is left to the discretion of the judges (Co. Litt. 50)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: How long a 'reasonable time' ought to be is not defined in law, but is left to the discretion of the judges (Co. Litt. 50)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. How long a 'reasonable time' ought to be is not defined in law, but is left to the discretion of the judges. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: How long a 'reasonable time' ought to be is not defined in law, but is left to the discretion of the judges (Co. Litt. 50). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TIME, p. 1156; scan anchor: djvu line 193320 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it is Coke's classic rule that reasonable time is a question for judicial discretion, not fixed definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TIMOCRACY

[Maxim: Timores vani sunt aestimandi qui non cadunt in constantem virum — 'Fears which do not assail a resolute man are to be accounted vain' (7 Coke 17)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Fears which do not assail a resolute man are to be accounted vain — the duress standard measured against the constant man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Timores vani sunt aestimandi qui non cadunt in constantem virum — 'Fears which do not assail a resolute man are to be accounted vain' (7 Coke 17). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TIMOCRACY, p. 1156; scan anchor: djvu line 193378 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim within this entry's body with its Coke authority; it states the classical duress rule measuring fear against the standard of the resolute man. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TITHES

[Law: Tithe Commutation Act 1836, 6 & 7 Wm. IV. c. 71 — tithes commuted to a rent-charge]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Tithe Commutation Act 1836 replaced tithes in kind with a tithe rent-charge recoverable by distress as rent in arrear. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Tithe Commutation Act 1836, 6 & 7 Wm. IV. c. 71 — tithes commuted to a rent-charge. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TITHES, p. 1157; scan anchor: djvu line 193491 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1836 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this Act as the source of the tithe rent-charge; the footnote names the real statute and its operative mechanism. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TITLE

[Case: Johnson v. McIntosh, 21 U.S. (8 Wheat.) 543 (1823)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Johnson v. McIntosh (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. An absolute title to land cannot exist at the same time in different persons or in different governments. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Johnson v. McIntosh, 21 U.S. (8 Wheat.) 543 (1823). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TITLE, p. 1157; scan anchor: djvu line 193575 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1823 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself quotes this holding from the case, and Johnson v. McIntosh is independently the landmark authority on absolute title and the discovery doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD

[Axiom: the habendum clause defines the estate granted; the tenendum denotes the tenure (Co. Litt. 6a)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Axiom: the habendum clause defines the estate granted; the tenendum denotes the tenure (Co. Litt. 6a)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. In a conveyance, 'to have' (the habendum) denotes the estate to be taken, while 'to hold' (the tenendum) signifies that it is held of some superior lord by way of tenure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: the habendum clause defines the estate granted; the tenendum denotes the tenure (Co. Litt. 6a). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TO HAVE AND TO HOLD, p. 1159; scan anchor: djvu line 193912 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this distinction with its Coke authority; the footnote preserves the classical habendum/tenendum division. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TOBACCONIST

[Law: Act of Congress of July 13, 1866, § 9, 14 Stat. 120 — statutory definition of 'tobacconist']

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Tobacconist' received a statutory definition in the Revenue Act of 1866 as any person, firm, or corporation manufacturing cigars, snuff, or tobacco in any form. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Act of Congress of July 13, 1866, § 9, 14 Stat. 120 — statutory definition of 'tobacconist'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TOBACCONIST, p. 1159; scan anchor: djvu line 193936 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1866 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this Act as the source of its definition; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TOLERATION

[Law: Toleration Act 1689, 1 W. & M. sess. 1, c. 18 — exemption of Protestant dissenters from penalties of certain laws]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Toleration Act exempted Protestant dissenters from the penalties of certain penal laws. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Toleration Act 1689, 1 W. & M. sess. 1, c. 18 — exemption of Protestant dissenters from penalties of certain laws. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TOLERATION, p. 1159; scan anchor: djvu line 193974 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1689 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute as the 'Toleration act'; the footnote names the real Act and its operative effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TONNAGE DUTY

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 10, cl. 3 — 'No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage']

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. No state may, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage — a duty on vessels proportioned to their capacity, extending to any duty on the ship as an instrument of navigation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 10, cl. 3 — 'No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TONNAGE DUTY, p. 1160; scan anchor: djvu line 194142 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry expounds exactly this constitutional prohibition with its case law; the footnote names the real provision. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TORT-FEASOR

[Maxim: Tortura legum pessima — 'The torture or wresting of laws is the worst (kind of torture)' (4 Bacon's Works, 434)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The torture or wresting of laws is the worst kind of torture. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tortura legum pessima — 'The torture or wresting of laws is the worst (kind of torture)' (4 Bacon's Works, 434). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TORT-FEASOR, p. 1161; scan anchor: djvu line 194313 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Bacon authority; it is Bacon's received maxim against strained construction of laws. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TOTTED

[Maxim: Totum praefertur uni cuique parti — 'The whole is preferable to any single part' (3 Coke 41)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The whole is preferable to any single part. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Totum praefertur uni cuique parti — 'The whole is preferable to any single part' (3 Coke 41). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TOTTED, p. 1162; scan anchor: djvu line 194475 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Coke authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TOUT UN SOUND, L

[Maxim: Toute exception non surveillee tend a prendre la place du principe — 'Every exception not watched tends to assume the place of the principle']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Every exception not watched tends to assume the place of the principle. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Toute exception non surveillee tend a prendre la place du principe — 'Every exception not watched tends to assume the place of the principle'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TOUT UN SOUND, L, p. 1163; scan anchor: djvu line 194554 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body; it is the received French maxim on the creeping expansion of exceptions. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRACT

[Maxim: Tractent fabrilia fabri — 'Let smiths perform the work of smiths' (3 Co. Epist.)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Let smiths perform the work of smiths — craft and office belong to those trained to them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tractent fabrilia fabri — 'Let smiths perform the work of smiths' (3 Co. Epist.). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRACT, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 194803 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Coke authority; it is the received maxim of craft deference. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRADE

[Case: Trade-Mark Cases, 100 U.S. 82 (1879)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Congress lacked power under the Commerce Clause to enact the general trademark legislation of 1870. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Trade-Mark Cases, 100 U.S. 82 (1879). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRADE, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor:

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

djvu line 194823 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1879 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites the Trade-Mark Cases as the authority on trade-marks, and it is independently the landmark decision on the constitutional limits of federal trademark power. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRADE

[Law: Trade Marks Registration Act 1875, 38 & 39 Vict. c. 91 (amended 1876, 1877)]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Trade Marks Registration Act 1875 established a register of trade-marks under the commissioners of patents, with registration by classes of goods. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Trade Marks Registration Act 1875, 38 & 39 Vict. c. 91 (amended 1876, 1877). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRADE, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 194823 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1875 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute with its regnal citation; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRADE

[Law: Trade Union Act 1871, 34 & 35 Vict. c. 31]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Trade Union Act 1871 gave legal recognition to trade unions: members are not prosecutable for conspiracy merely because union rules restrain trade, and union agreements are not void on that account. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Trade Union Act 1871, 34 & 35 Vict. c. 31. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRADE, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 194823 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1871 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute and its operative provisions; the footnote names the real Act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRADITIO

[Maxim: Traditio loqui facit chartam — 'Delivery makes a deed speak. Delivery gives effect to the words of a deed' (5 Coke 1a)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Delivery makes a deed speak — delivery gives effect to the words of a deed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Traditio loqui facit chartam — 'Delivery makes a deed speak. Delivery gives effect to the words of a deed' (5 Coke 1a). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRADITIO, p. 1165; scan anchor: djvu line 195001 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the classical rule that a deed takes effect by delivery. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRADITIO

[Maxim: Traditio nihil amplius transferre debet vel potest, ad eum qui accipit, quam est apud eum qui tradit — 'Delivery ought to, and can, transfer nothing more to him who receives than is with him who delivers' (Dig. 41, 1, 20, pr.)]

Who. The Digest of Justinian (as cited: Maxim: Traditio nihil amplius transferre debet vel potest, ad eum qui accipit, quam est apud eum qui tradit — 'Delivery ought to, and can, transfer nothing more to him who receives than is with him who delivers' (Dig. 41, 1, 20, pr.)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Delivery can transfer to the receiver nothing more than is in the deliverer — the Roman-law ancestor of nemo dat quod non habet. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Traditio nihil amplius transferre debet vel potest, ad eum qui accipit, quam est apud eum qui tradit — 'Delivery ought to, and can, transfer nothing more to him who receives than is with him who delivers' (Dig. 41, 1, 20, pr.). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRADITIO, p. 1165; scan anchor: djvu line 195001 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its Digest authority; it is the received Roman-law statement of the nemo-dat principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRANSFERROR

[Maxim: Transferuntur dominia sine titulo et traditione, per usucapionem, scil., per longam continuum et pacificam possessionem — 'Rights of dominion are transferred without title or delivery, by usucaption, to-wit, long and quiet possession' (Co. Litt. 113)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Transferuntur dominia sine titulo et traditione, per usucapionem, scil., per longam continuum et pacificam possessionem — 'Rights of dominion are transferred without title or delivery, by usucaption, to-wit, long and quiet possession' (Co. Litt. 113)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Rights of dominion are transferred without title or delivery, by usucaption — that is, by long, continuous, and peaceful possession. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Transferuntur dominia sine titulo et traditione, per usucapionem, scil., per longam continuum et pacificam possessionem — 'Rights of dominion are transferred without title or delivery, by usucaption, to-wit, long and quiet possession' (Co. Litt. 113). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRANSFERROR, p. 1167; scan anchor: djvu line 195293 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Coke authority; it states the classical usucaption/adverse-possession principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TRANSGRESSIONS

[Maxim: Transgressione multiplicata, crescat poenae inflictio — 'When transgression is multiplied, let the infliction of punishment be increased' (2 Inst. 479)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Transgressione multiplicata, crescat poenae inflictio — 'When transgression is multiplied, let the infliction of punishment be increased' (2 Inst. 479)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. When transgression is multiplied, let the infliction of punishment be increased. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Transgressione multiplicata, crescat poenae inflictio — 'When transgression is multiplied, let the infliction of punishment be increased' (2 Inst. 479). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRANSGRESSIONS, p. 1167; scan anchor: djvu line 195324 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the received rule aggravating punishment for repeated transgression. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRANSIENT

[Axiom: transit in rem judicatam — the cause of action merges into the judgment (U.S. v. Cushman, 2 Sumn. 486, Fed. Cas. No. 14,908, as cited in the entry)]

Who. The court deciding Axiom: transit in rem judicatam — the cause of action merges into the judgment (U.S. v. Cushman (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. A contract or cause of action upon which judgment is obtained passes into a matter adjudged — it merges into the judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: transit in rem judicatam — the cause of action merges into the judgment (U.S. v. Cushman, 2 Sumn. 486, Fed. Cas. No. 14,908, as cited in the entry). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRANSIENT, p. 1167; scan anchor: djvu line 195338 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this doctrine with its case authority; the footnote preserves the classical merger rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRANSIENT

[Maxim: Transit terra cum onere — 'Land passes subject to any burden affecting it' (Co. Litt. 231a; Broom, Max. 495, 706)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Transit terra cum onere — 'Land passes subject to any burden affecting it' (Co. Litt. 231a; Broom, Max. 495, 706)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Land passes subject to any burden affecting it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Transit terra cum onere — 'Land passes subject to any burden affecting it' (Co. Litt. 231a; Broom, Max. 495, 706). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRANSIENT, p. 1167; scan anchor: djvu line 195338 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authorities; it states the received rule that conveyances take land cum onere. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

annotation]

TRANSPORTATION

[Case: Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Fong Yue Ting v. United States (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Deportation/transportation as an exercise of the federal exclusion power — the Chinese Exclusion Case holding. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRANSPORTATION, p. 1108 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 195461 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1893 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this case in its discussion of transportation as punishment, and it is independently the landmark authority on the federal deportation power. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TREASON

[Law: U.S. Const. art. III, § 3, cl. 1 — 'Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort']

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Treason against the United States consists only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. III, § 3, cl. 1 — 'Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TREASON, p. 1169; scan anchor: djvu line 195642 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry quotes this clause verbatim; the footnote anchors the dictionary definition to the constitutional text itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TREASON

[Law: 11 & 12 Vict. c. 12 (1848) — treason-felony]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Treason-felony (1848) enabled the government to treat as felony many offenses formerly amounting to high treason. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 11 & 12 Vict. c. 12 (1848) — treason-felony. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TREASON, p. 1169; scan anchor: djvu line 195642 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1848 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute and its operative effect; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TREATY

[Case: Cherokee Nation v. Georgia, 30 U.S. (5 Pet.) 1 (1831)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Cherokee Nation v. Georgia (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Treaties with Indian nations are agreements between sovereigns — the foundation of the domestic-dependent-nation doctrine. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Cherokee Nation v. Georgia, 30 U.S. (5 Pet.) 1 (1831). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TREATY, p. 1169; scan anchor: djvu line 195802 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1831 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this case in its treaty definition, and it is independently the landmark authority on the treaty status of Indian nations. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRIAL

[Maxim: Triatio ibi semper debet fieri, ubi juratores meliorem possunt habere notitiam — 'Trial ought always to be had where the jurors can have the best information' (7 Coke 1)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Trial ought always to be had where the jurors can have the best information — the venue maxim. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Triatio ibi semper debet fieri, ubi juratores meliorem possunt habere notitiam — 'Trial ought always to be had where the jurors can have the best information' (7 Coke 1). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRIAL, p. 1172; scan anchor: djvu line 196050 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority; it states the classical venue principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRIAL

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. VI — right to a speedy and public trial]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The accused has the right to a speedy and public trial — for his benefit, that the public may see he is fairly dealt with. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. VI — right to a speedy and public trial. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRIAL, p. 1172; scan anchor: djvu line 196050 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry's public-trial exposition (citing Cooley) describes exactly this constitutional guarantee; the footnote names the real provision. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TRIENNIAL ACT

[Law: Triennial Act 1640 (Long Parliament); Septennial Act, 1 Geo. I. St. 2, c. 38]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Triennial Act 1640 limited every parliament to three years unless sooner dissolved; it was later replaced by the Septennial Act fixing seven years. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Triennial Act 1640 (Long Parliament); Septennial Act, 1 Geo. I. St. 2, c. 38. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRIENNIAL ACT, p. 1173; scan anchor: djvu line 196321 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1640 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies both statutes; the footnote preserves the real statutory lineage of parliamentary duration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRUCK ACT

[Law: Truck Act 1831, 1 & 2 Wm. IV. c. 37 — wages to be paid in coin, truck system abolished]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Truck Act abolished the truck system under which employers paid wages in goods or required purchases at company shops. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Truck Act 1831, 1 & 2 Wm. IV. c. 37 — wages to be paid in coin, truck system abolished. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRUCK ACT, p. 1175; scan anchor: djvu line 196563 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1831 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute with its regnal citation; the footnote names the real enactment and its operative rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TRUSTEE

[Law: Trustee Act 1850, 13 & 14 Vict. c. 60; Trustee Act 1852, 15 & 16 Vict. c. 55]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Trustee Acts enabled the Court of Chancery to appoint new trustees in place of those dead, lunatic, absent, or unwilling, and to make vesting orders transferring the legal estate. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Trustee Act 1850, 13 & 14 Vict. c. 60; Trustee Act 1852, 15 & 16 Vict. c. 55. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRUSTEE, p. 1177; scan anchor: djvu line 197035 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1850 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies both statutes with their regnal citations and operative effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TRUSTEE

[Law: Trustee Relief Act 1847, 10 & 11 Vict. c. 96; Trustee Relief Act 1849, 12 & 13 Vict. c. 74]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Trustee Relief Acts enabled a trustee, where title to the trust fund was in doubt, to pay the money into court. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Trustee Relief Act 1847, 10 & 11 Vict. c. 96; Trustee Relief Act 1849, 12 & 13 Vict. c. 74. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRUSTEE, p. 1177; scan anchor: djvu line 197035 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1847 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies both statutes with their regnal citations and operative effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TUMULTUOUS PETITIONING

[Law: 13 Car. II. St. 1, c. 5 (1661) — tumultuous petitioning]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Tumultuous petitioning — more than twenty persons signing a petition to the crown or parliament for alteration of matters established by law, without magisterial approval — was a misdemeanor. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 13 Car. II. St. 1, c. 5 (1661) — tumultuous petitioning. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TUMULTUOUS PETITIONING, p. 1178; scan anchor: djvu line 197170 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1661 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TURPIS

[Maxim: Turpis est pars quae non convenit cum suo toto — 'The part which does not agree with its whole is of mean account' (Plowd. 101; Shep. Touch. 87)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The part which does not agree with its whole is of mean account — entitled to small or no consideration. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Turpis est pars quae non convenit cum suo toto — 'The part which does not agree with its whole is of mean account' (Plowd. 101; Shep. Touch. 87). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TURPIS, p. 1179; scan anchor: djvu line 197258 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authorities; it states the received construction rule that the part is read with the whole. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TWELVE TABLES

[Law: The Twelve Tables (Lex Duodecim Tabularum), c. 450 B.C. — earliest Roman code]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Twelve Tables (c. 450 B.C.) were the earliest statute or code of Roman law, framed by the decemvirs, and formed the source and foundation of the whole later development of Roman jurisprudence. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: The Twelve Tables (Lex Duodecim Tabularum), c. 450 B.C. — earliest Roman code. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TWELVE TABLES, p. 1180; scan anchor: djvu line 197429 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry itself gives this history; the footnote anchors the dictionary account to the real foundational code. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Axiom: uberrima fides — the duty of utmost good faith (cf. Carter v. Boehm, 3 Burr. 1905 (1766))]

Who. The court deciding Axiom: uberrima fides — the duty of utmost good faith (cf. Carter v. Boehm (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Insurance contracts demand uberrima fides — the most abundant good faith: absolute candor with no concealment or deception, however slight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: uberrima fides — the duty of utmost good faith (cf. Carter v. Boehm, 3 Burr. 1905 (1766)). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1905 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry states this doctrine as the definition of uberrima fides; the footnote preserves it as the received insurance-law axiom, anchored to its landmark authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi aliquid conceditur, conceditur et id sine quo res ipsa esse non potest — 'When anything is granted, that also is granted without which the thing granted cannot exist' (Broom, Max. 483; 13 Mees. & W. 706)]

Who. Broom, Legal Maxims (as cited: Maxim: Ubi aliquid conceditur, conceditur et id sine quo res ipsa esse non potest — 'When anything is granted, that also is granted without which the thing granted cannot exist' (Broom, Max. 483; 13 Mees. & W. 706)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. When anything is granted, that also is granted without which the thing granted cannot exist. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi aliquid conceditur, conceditur et id sine quo res ipsa esse non potest — 'When anything is granted, that also is granted without which the thing granted cannot exist' (Broom, Max. 483; 13 Mees. & W. 706). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the rule that a grant carries its necessary incidents. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi aliquid impeditur propter unam causam, ea remota, tollitur impedimentum — 'Where anything is impeded by one single cause, if that be removed, the impediment is removed' (Branch, Princ., citing 5 Coke 77a)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where anything is impeded by one single cause, if that be removed, the impediment is removed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi aliquid impeditur propter unam causam, ea remota, tollitur impedimentum — 'Where anything is impeded by one single cause, if that be removed, the impediment is removed' (Branch, Princ., citing 5 Coke 77a). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the rule that removing the sole cause removes the impediment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi cessat remedium ordinarium, ibi decurritur ad extraordinarium — 'Where the ordinary remedy fails, recourse must be had to an extraordinary one' (4 Coke 92b)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where the ordinary remedy fails, recourse must be had to an extraordinary one. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi cessat remedium ordinarium, ibi decurritur ad extraordinarium — 'Where the ordinary remedy fails, recourse must be had to an extraordinary one' (4 Coke 92b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the rule justifying extraordinary relief when ordinary remedies fail. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi culpa est, ibi poena subesse debet — 'Where the crime is committed, there ought the punishment to be undergone' (Jenk. Cent. 325)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where the crime is committed, there ought the punishment to be undergone. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi culpa est, ibi poena subesse debet — 'Where the crime is committed, there ought the punishment to be undergone' (Jenk. Cent. 325). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the rule linking punishment to the place and fact of the offense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi damna dantur, victus victori in expensis condemnari debet — 'Where damages are given, the vanquished party ought to be condemned in costs to the victor' (2 Inst. 289)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Ubi damna dantur, victus victori in expensis condemnari debet — 'Where damages are given, the vanquished party ought to be condemned in costs to the victor' (2 Inst. 289)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where damages are given, the vanquished party ought to be condemned in costs to the victor. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi damna dantur, victus victori in expensis condemnari debet — 'Where damages are given, the vanquished party ought to be condemned in costs to the victor' (2 Inst. 289). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the received costs-follow-the-event rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi eadem ratio, ibi eadem lex; et de similibus idem est judicium — 'Where the same reason exists, there the same law prevails; and, of things similar, the judgment is similar' (7 Coke 18)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where the same reason exists, there the same law prevails; and, of things similar, the judgment is similar. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi eadem ratio, ibi eadem lex; et de similibus idem est judicium — 'Where the same reason exists, there the same law prevails; and, of things similar, the judgment is similar' (7 Coke 18). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it is the classical ratio-decidendi maxim grounding analogy in law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi et dantis et accipientis turpitudo versatur, non posse repeti dicimus; quoties autem accipientis turpitudo versatur, repeti posse — 'Where there is turpitude on the part of both giver and receiver, we say it cannot be recovered back; but as often as the turpitude is on the side of the receiver [alone] it can be recovered back' (Mason v. Waite, 17 Mass. 562)]

Who. The court deciding Maxim: Ubi et dantis et accipientis turpitudo versatur, non posse repeti dicimus; quoties autem accipientis turpitudo versatur, repeti posse — 'Where there is turpitude on the part of both giver and receiver, we say it cannot be recovered back; but as often as the turpitude is on the side of the receiver [alone] it can be recovered back' (Mason v. Waite (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Where there is turpitude on the part of both giver and receiver, it cannot be recovered back; but where the turpitude is on the receiver's side alone, it can be recovered back. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi et dantis et accipientis turpitudo versatur, non posse repeti dicimus; quoties autem accipientis turpitudo versatur, repeti posse — 'Where there is turpitude on the part of both giver and receiver, we say it cannot be recovered back; but as often as the turpitude is on the side of the receiver [alone] it can be recovered back' (Mason v. Waite, 17 Mass. 562). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the in-pari-delicto rule on recovery of money paid for immoral consideration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi factum nullum, ibi fortia nulla — 'Where there is no principal fact, there can be no accessory' (4 Coke 42b)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is no principal fact, there can be no accessory. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi factum nullum, ibi fortia nulla — 'Where there is no principal fact, there can be no accessory' (4 Coke 42b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the rule that accessory liability depends on a principal fact. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi jus, ibi remedium — 'Where there is a right, there is a remedy' (Broom, Max. 191, 204; 1 Term R. 512; Co. Litt. 197b)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Ubi jus, ibi remedium — 'Where there is a right, there is a remedy' (Broom, Max. 191, 204; 1 Term R. 512; Co. Litt. 197b)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where there is a right, there is a remedy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi jus, ibi remedium — 'Where there is a right, there is a remedy' (Broom, Max. 191, 204; 1 Term R. 512; Co. Litt. 197b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it is the most famous of the Ubi maxims, the foundation of remedial law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi jus incertum, ibi jus nullum — 'Where the law is uncertain, there is no law' (authority cited in the entry)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where the law is uncertain, there is no law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi jus incertum, ibi jus nullum — 'Where the law is uncertain, there is no law' (authority cited in the entry). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the certainty requirement for law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi lex aliquem cogit ostendere causam, necesse est quod causa sit justa et legitima — 'Where the law compels a man to show cause, it is necessary that the cause be just and lawful' (2 Inst. 289)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Ubi lex aliquem cogit ostendere causam, necesse est quod causa sit justa et legitima — 'Where the law compels a man to show cause, it is necessary that the cause be just and lawful' (2 Inst. 289)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where the law compels a man to show cause, it is necessary that the cause be just and lawful. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi lex aliquem cogit ostendere causam, necesse est quod causa sit justa et legitima — 'Where the law compels a man to show cause, it is necessary that the cause be just and lawful' (2 Inst. 289). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the rule governing orders to show cause. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi lex est specialis, et ratio ejus generalis, generaliter accipienda est — 'Where the law is special, and the reason of it general, it ought to be taken as being general' (2 Inst. 43)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Ubi lex est specialis, et ratio ejus generalis, generaliter accipienda est — 'Where the law is special, and the reason of it general, it ought to be taken as being general' (2 Inst. 43)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where the law is special, and the reason of it general, it ought to be taken as being general. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi lex est specialis, et ratio ejus generalis, generaliter accipienda est — 'Where the law is special, and the reason of it general, it ought to be taken as being general' (2 Inst. 43). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the construction rule extending a special law by its general reason. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi lex non distinguit, nec nos distinguere debemus — 'Where the law does not distinguish, neither ought we to distinguish' (7 Coke 5b)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where the law does not distinguish, neither ought we to distinguish. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi lex non distinguit, nec nos distinguere debemus — 'Where the law does not distinguish, neither ought we to distinguish' (7 Coke 5b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the received rule against judicially engrafting distinctions the law omits. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi major pars est, ibi totum — 'Where the greater part is, there the whole is. That is, majorities govern' (Moore 578)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where the greater part is, there the whole is — that is, majorities govern. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi major pars est, ibi totum — 'Where the greater part is, there the whole is. That is, majorities govern' (Moore 578). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the majority-rule principle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non adest norma legis, omnia quasi pro suspectis habenda sunt — 'When the law fails to serve as a rule, almost everything ought to be suspected' (Bac. Aphorisms 25)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. When the law fails to serve as a rule, almost everything ought to be suspected. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non adest norma legis, omnia quasi pro suspectis habenda sunt — 'When the law fails to serve as a rule, almost everything ought to be suspected' (Bac. Aphorisms 25). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states Bacon's caution for cases outside settled rules. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non est annua renovatio, ibi decimae non debent solvi — 'Where there is no annual renovation, there tithes ought not to be paid' (authority cited in the entry)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is no annual renovation, there tithes ought not to be paid. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non est annua renovatio, ibi decimae non debent solvi — 'Where there is no annual renovation, there tithes ought not to be paid' (authority cited in the entry). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the tithe rule tying the charge to annual increase. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non est condendi auctoritas, ibi non est parendi necessitas — 'Where there is no authority for establishing a rule, there is no necessity of obeying it' (Dav. Ir. K. B. 69)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is no authority for establishing a rule, there is no necessity of obeying it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non est condendi auctoritas, ibi non est parendi necessitas — 'Where there is no authority for establishing a rule, there is no necessity of obeying it' (Dav. Ir. K. B. 69). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the authority-requirement for binding rules. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non est directa lex, standum est arbitrio judicis, vel procedendum ad similia — 'Where there is no direct law, the opinion of the judge is to be taken, or references to be made to similar cases' (Ellesm. Post. N. 41)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is no direct law, the opinion of the judge is to be taken, or reference to be made to similar cases. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non est directa lex, standum est arbitrio judicis, vel procedendum ad similia — 'Where there is no direct law, the opinion of the judge is to be taken, or references to be made to similar cases' (Ellesm. Post. N. 41). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the gap-filling rule for cases without direct law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non est lex, ibi non est transgressio, quoad mundum — 'Where there is no law, there is no transgression, so far as relates to the world' (4 Coke 16b)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is no law, there is no transgression, so far as relates to the world. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non est lex, ibi non est transgressio, quoad mundum — 'Where there is no law, there is no transgression, so far as relates to the world' (4 Coke 16b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the nullum-crimen principle that transgression presupposes law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non est manifesta injustitia, indices habentur pro bonis viris, et judicatum pro veritate — 'Where there is no manifest injustice, the judges are to be regarded as honest men, and their judgment as truth' (Gould v. Low, 1 Johns. Cas. (N.Y.) 341, 345)]

Who. The court deciding Maxim: Ubi non est manifesta injustitia, indices habentur pro bonis viris, et judicatum pro veritate — 'Where there is no manifest injustice, the judges are to be regarded as honest men, and their judgment as truth' (Gould v. Low (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Where there is no manifest injustice, the judges are to be regarded as honest men, and their judgment as truth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non est manifesta injustitia, indices habentur pro bonis viris, et judicatum pro veritate — 'Where there is no manifest injustice, the judges are to be regarded as honest men, and their judgment as truth' (Gould v. Low, 1 Johns. Cas. (N.Y.) 341, 345). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the presumption of judicial integrity and the finality of judgments. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi non est principalis, non potest esse accessorius — 'Where there is no principal, there cannot be an accessory' (4 Coke 43)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is no principal, there cannot be an accessory. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi non est principalis, non potest esse accessorius — 'Where there is no principal, there cannot be an accessory' (4 Coke 43). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the principal-accessory dependency rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi nulla est conjectura quae ducat alio, verba intelligenda sunt de proprietate, non grammatica, sed populari ex usu — 'Where there is nothing to call for a different construction, [the] words [of an instrument] are to be understood, not according to their strict grammatical meaning, but according to their popular and ordinary sense' (Grot. de Jure B. lib. 2, c. 16)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where there is nothing to call for a different construction, words are to be understood not in their strict grammatical meaning but in their popular and ordinary sense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi nulla est conjectura quae ducat alio, verba intelligenda sunt de proprietate, non grammatica, sed populari ex usu — 'Where there is nothing to call for a different construction, [the] words [of an instrument] are to be understood, not according to their strict grammatical meaning, but according to their popular and ordinary sense' (Grot. de Jure B. lib. 2, c. 16). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states Grotius's rule of popular-meaning construction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi nullum matrimonium, ibi nulla dos — 'Where there is no marriage, there is no dower' (Bract. fol. 92; 2 Bl. Comm. 130)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Maxim: Ubi nullum matrimonium, ibi nulla dos — 'Where there is no marriage, there is no dower' (Bract. fol. 92; 2 Bl. Comm. 130)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where there is no marriage, there is no dower. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi nullum matrimonium, ibi nulla dos — 'Where there is no marriage, there is no dower' (Bract. fol. 92; 2 Bl. Comm. 130). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the marriage-dependency of dower. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi periculum, ibi et lucrum collocatur — 'He at whose risk a thing is, should receive the profits arising from it' (authority cited in the entry)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. He at whose risk a thing is, should receive the profits arising from it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi periculum, ibi et lucrum collocatur — 'He at whose risk a thing is, should receive the profits arising from it' (authority cited in the entry). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis:

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the risk-reward allocation maxim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi pugnantia inter se in testamento juberentur, neutrum ratum est — 'Where repugnant or inconsistent directions are contained in a will, neither is valid' (Dig. 50, 17, 188, pr.)]

Who. The Digest of Justinian (as cited: Maxim: Ubi pugnantia inter se in testamento juberentur, neutrum ratum est — 'Where repugnant or inconsistent directions are contained in a will, neither is valid' (Dig. 50, 17, 188, pr.)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where repugnant or inconsistent directions are contained in a will, neither is valid. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi pugnantia inter se in testamento juberentur, neutrum ratum est — 'Where repugnant or inconsistent directions are contained in a will, neither is valid' (Dig. 50, 17, 188, pr.). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the Roman-law rule voiding mutually repugnant testamentary directions. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi quid generaliter conceditur inest haec exceptio, si non aliquid sit contra jus fasque — 'Where a thing is conceded generally this exception is implied: that there shall be nothing contrary to law and right' (10 Coke 78)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where a thing is conceded generally this exception is implied: that there shall be nothing contrary to law and right. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi quid generaliter conceditur inest haec exceptio, si non aliquid sit contra jus fasque — 'Where a thing is conceded generally this exception is implied: that there shall be nothing contrary to law and right' (10 Coke 78). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the implied lawfulness-limitation on general grants. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TTBEBBIMA FEDES

[Maxim: Ubi quis delinquit, ibi punietur — 'Where a man offends, there he shall be punished' (6 Coke 47b)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Where a man offends, there he shall be punished — in felony, trial is by the common law in the place of the offense. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi quis delinquit, ibi punietur — 'Where a man offends, there he shall be punished' (6 Coke 47b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TTBEBBIMA FEDES, p. 1181; scan anchor: djvu line 197540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority (Latin normalized from OCR); it states the venue rule for felony trials. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TWELVE-DAY WRIT

[Law: 18 & 19 Vict. c. 67 (1855) — summary procedure on bills of exchange and promissory notes]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The twelve-day writ issued for summary procedure on bills of exchange and promissory notes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 18 & 19 Vict. c. 67 (1855) — summary procedure on bills of exchange and promissory notes. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TWELVE-DAY WRIT, p. 1180; scan anchor: djvu line 197446 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1855 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute as the writ's authority; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TWICE IN JEOPARDY

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. V — the Double Jeopardy Clause: 'nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb']

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. No person shall be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. V — the Double Jeopardy Clause: 'nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TWICE IN JEOPARDY, p. 1180; scan anchor: djvu line 197457 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because this headword is itself the double-jeopardy doctrine; the footnote anchors the cross-reference entry to the real constitutional provision. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UBIQUITY

[Axiom: the legal ubiquity of the sovereign — constructively present in all the courts (1 Bl. Comm. 270)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Axiom: the legal ubiquity of the sovereign — constructively present in all the courts (1 Bl. Comm. 270)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. By the fiction of legal ubiquity, the sovereign is constructively present in all his courts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: the legal ubiquity of the sovereign — constructively present in all the courts (1 Bl. Comm. 270). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UBIQUITY, p. 1182; scan anchor: djvu line 197736 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this fiction with its Blackstone authority; the footnote

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

preserves it as the received rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UMPIRE

[Maxim: Un ne doit prise advantage de son tort demesne — 'One ought not to take advantage of his own wrong' (2 And. 38, 40)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. One ought not to take advantage of his own wrong. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Un ne doit prise advantage de son tort demesne — 'One ought not to take advantage of his own wrong' (2 And. 38, 40). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UMPIRE, p. 1183; scan anchor: djvu line 197864 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority; it states the classical rule against profiting by one's own wrong. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UMPIRE

[Maxim: Una persona vix potest supplere vices duarum — 'One person can scarcely supply the places of two' (7 Coke 11a)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. One person can scarcely supply the places of two. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Una persona vix potest supplere vices duarum — 'One person can scarcely supply the places of two' (7 Coke 11a). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UMPIRE, p. 1183; scan anchor: djvu line 197864 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNCONSCIONABLE BARGAIN

[Case: Hume v. United States, 132 U.S. 406 (1890)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Hume v. United States (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. An unconscionable bargain is a contract which no man in his senses, not under delusion, would make, and which no fair and honest man would accept. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Hume v. United States, 132 U.S. 406 (1890). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNCONSCIONABLE BARGAIN, p. 1183; scan anchor: djvu line 197951 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1890 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself quotes this definition from the case, and Hume is independently the landmark authority on the unconscionable-bargain standard. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

[Case: Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U.S. 425 (1886)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Norton v. Shelby County (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. An unconstitutional act is not a law — it confers no rights, imposes no duties, and affords no protection. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U.S. 425 (1886). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNCONSTITUTIONAL, p. 1183; scan anchor: djvu line 197960 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1886 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this case for the meaning of 'unconstitutional,' and Norton is independently the landmark authority holding an unconstitutional act void ab initio. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNDER-SHERIFF

[Axiom: the sheriff's vicarious civil responsibility for his under-sheriff's acts and omissions]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The sheriff is civilly responsible for the acts or omissions of his under-sheriff. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: the sheriff's vicarious civil responsibility for his under-sheriff's acts and omissions. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNDER-SHERIFF, p. 1184; scan anchor: djvu line 198053 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this liability rule as the operative law of the office; the footnote preserves it as the received respondeat-superior rule for sheriffs. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNFAIR COMPETITION

[Case: Singer Manufacturing Co. v. June Manufacturing Co., 163 U.S. 169 (1896)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Singer Manufacturing Co. v. June Manufacturing Co. (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Unfair competition by simulating a rival's established product so as to mislead the public is restrainable in equity by injunction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Singer Manufacturing Co. v. June Manufacturing Co., 163 U.S. 169 (1896). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNFAIR COMPETITION, p. 1185; scan anchor: djvu line 198202 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1896 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this case in its unfair-competition discussion, and it is independently the landmark authority on trade-simulation and unfair competition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

UNIFORMITY

[Law: Act of Uniformity 1662, 13 & 14 Car. II. c. 4]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Act of Uniformity regulated the terms of membership in the Church of England and the colleges of Oxford and Cambridge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Act of Uniformity 1662, 13 & 14 Car. II. c. 4. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNIFORMITY, p. 1185; scan anchor: djvu line 198264 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1662 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute with its regnal citation; the footnote names the real Act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNIFORMITY OF PROCESS ACT

[Law: Uniformity of Process Act 1832, 2 Will. IV. c. 39]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Uniformity of Process Act established a uniform process for the commencement of actions in all the courts of law at Westminster. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Uniformity of Process Act 1832, 2 Will. IV. c. 39. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNIFORMITY OF PROCESS ACT, p. 1185; scan anchor: djvu line 198291 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1832 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute with its regnal citation and purpose; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNITY

[Maxim: Unius omnino testis responsio non audiatur — 'The answer of one witness shall not be heard at all; the testimony of a single witness shall not be admitted under any circumstances. A maxim of the civil and canon law' (Cod. 4, 20, 9; 3 Bl. Comm. 370)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Maxim: Unius omnino testis responsio non audiatur — 'The answer of one witness shall not be heard at all; the testimony of a single witness shall not be admitted under any circumstances. A maxim of the civil and canon law' (Cod. 4, 20, 9; 3 Bl. Comm. 370)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The answer of one witness shall not be heard at all — under civil and canon law, a single witness's testimony was inadmissible alone. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Unius omnino testis responsio non audiatur — 'The answer of one witness shall not be heard at all; the testimony of a single witness shall not be admitted under any circumstances. A maxim of the civil and canon law' (Cod. 4, 20, 9; 3 Bl. Comm. 370). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNITY, p. 1186; scan anchor: djvu line 198410 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authorities; it is the classical testis-unus rule of the civil and canon law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

UNITY

[Maxim: Uniuscujusque contractus initium spectandum est, et causa — 'The commencement and cause of every contract are to be regarded' (Dig. 17, 1, 8; Story, Bailm. § 56)]

Who. The Digest of Justinian (as cited: Maxim: Uniuscujusque contractus initium spectandum est, et causa — 'The commencement and cause of every contract are to be regarded' (Dig. 17, 1, 8; Story, Bailm. § 56)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The commencement and cause of every contract are to be regarded. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Uniuscujusque contractus initium spectandum est, et causa — 'The commencement and cause of every contract are to be regarded' (Dig. 17, 1, 8; Story, Bailm. § 56). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNITY, p. 1186; scan anchor: djvu line 198410 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authorities; it states the received rule on construing contracts by their inception and causa. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNITY

[Maxim: Universalia sunt notiora singularibus — 'Things universal are better known than things particular' (2 Rolle 294)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Things universal are better known than things particular. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Universalia sunt notiora singularibus — 'Things universal are better known than things particular' (2 Rolle 294). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNITY, p. 1186; scan anchor: djvu line 198410 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNNATURAL OFFENSE

[Maxim: Uno absurdo dato, infinita sequuntur — 'One absurdity being allowed, an infinity follows' (1 Coke 102)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. One absurdity being allowed, an infinity follows. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Uno absurdo dato, infinita sequuntur — 'One absurdity being allowed, an infinity follows' (1 Coke 102). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNNATURAL OFFENSE, p. 1188; scan anchor: djvu line 198660 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Coke authority; it states the received rule against admitting a single absurdity in reasoning. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

UNTIL

[Maxim: Unumquodque dissolvitur eodem ligamine quo ligatur — 'Every obligation is dissolved by the same solemnity with which it is created' (Broom, Max. 884)]

Who. Broom, Legal Maxims (as cited: Maxim: Unumquodque dissolvitur eodem ligamine quo ligatur — 'Every obligation is dissolved by the same solemnity with which it is created' (Broom, Max. 884)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Every obligation is dissolved by the same solemnity with which it is created. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Unumquodque dissolvitur eodem ligamine quo ligatur — 'Every obligation is dissolved by the same solemnity with which it is created' (Broom, Max. 884). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNTIL, p. 1188; scan anchor: djvu line 198713 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority; it states the classical rule that obligations end by the formality that created them. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNTIL

[Maxim: Unumquodque eodem modo quo colligatum est, dissolvitur, — quo constitutum, destruitur — 'Everything is dissolved by the same means by which it is put together, — destroyed by the same means by which it is established' (2 Rolle 39; Broom, Max. 891)]

Who. Broom, Legal Maxims (as cited: Maxim: Unumquodque eodem modo quo colligatum est, dissolvitur, — quo constitutum, destruitur — 'Everything is dissolved by the same means by which it is put together, — destroyed by the same means by which it is established' (2 Rolle 39; Broom, Max. 891)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Everything is dissolved by the same means by which it is put together — destroyed by the same means by which it is established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Unumquodque eodem modo quo colligatum est, dissolvitur, — quo constitutum, destruitur — 'Everything is dissolved by the same means by which it is put together, — destroyed by the same means by which it is established' (2 Rolle 39; Broom, Max. 891). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNTIL, p. 1188; scan anchor: djvu line 198713 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authorities. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNTIL

[Maxim: Unumquodque est id quod est principale in ipso — 'That which is the principal part of a thing is the thing itself' (Hob. 123)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. That which is the principal part of a thing is the thing itself. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Unumquodque est id quod est principale in ipso — 'That which is the principal part of a thing is the thing itself' (Hob. 123). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNTIL, p. 1188; scan anchor: djvu line 198713 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNTIL

[Maxim: Unumquodque principiorum est sibimetipsi fides; et perspicua vera non sunt probanda — 'Every general principle [or maxim of law] is its own pledge or warrant; and things that are clearly true are not to be proved' (Branch; Co. Litt. 11)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Unumquodque principiorum est sibimetipsi fides; et perspicua vera non sunt probanda — 'Every general principle [or maxim of law] is its own pledge or warrant; and things that are clearly true are not to be proved' (Branch; Co. Litt. 11)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Every general principle of law is its own pledge or warrant; and things that are clearly true are not to be proved. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Unumquodque principiorum est sibimetipsi fides; et perspicua vera non sunt probanda — 'Every general principle [or maxim of law] is its own pledge or warrant; and things that are clearly true are not to be proved' (Branch; Co. Litt. 11). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNTIL, p. 1188; scan anchor: djvu line 198713 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authorities; it states the received rule that legal maxims need no proof. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USE

[Law: Statute of Uses 1536, 27 Hen. VIII. c. 10]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The Statute of Uses converted the purely equitable title of the cestui que use into a legal title with right of possession — it 'executes the use.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Statute of Uses 1536, 27 Hen. VIII. c. 10. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USE, p. 1189; scan anchor: djvu line 198910 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1536 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies this statute and its operative mechanism; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USEFUL

[Case: Lowell v. Lewis, 1 Mason 182, Fed. Cas. No. 8,568 (C.C.D. Mass. 1812)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Lowell v. Lewis (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. In patent law, 'useful' means contradistinguished from frivolous and mischievous invention — capable of some beneficial use in society, not injurious to morals, health, or good order. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Lowell v. Lewis, 1 Mason 182, Fed. Cas. No. 8,568 (C.C.D. Mass. 1812). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USEFUL, p. 1190; scan anchor: djvu line 199099 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1812 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself quotes this standard from the case, and Lowell v. Lewis is

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

independently the landmark authority on the patent-utility requirement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USURA

[Maxim: Usura est commodum certum quod propter usum rei mutuatae recipitur — 'Usury is a certain benefit which is received for the use of a thing lent' (Branch, Princ.; 5 Coke 70b)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Usury is a certain benefit which is received for the use of a thing lent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Usura est commodum certum quod propter usum rei mutuatae recipitur — 'Usury is a certain benefit which is received for the use of a thing lent' (Branch, Princ.; 5 Coke 70b). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USURA, p. 1191; scan anchor: djvu line 199269 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authorities; it is the classical definition of usury. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TENTERDEN'S ACT

[Law: 9 Geo. IV. c. 14 (Tenterden's Act) — extension of the Statute of Frauds, 29 Car. II c. 3]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Tenterden's Act extended the Statute of Frauds by requiring certain contracts to be reduced to writing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: 9 Geo. IV. c. 14 (Tenterden's Act) — extension of the Statute of Frauds, 29 Car. II c. 3. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TENTERDEN'S ACT, p. 1144; scan anchor: djvu line 191438 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry itself identifies the Act as 9 Geo. IV. c. 14 and as 'a species of extension of the statute of frauds'; the footnote names the parent statute the Act extends. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

THEATEH

[Law: Act of Congress of July 13, 1866, § 9, 14 Stat. 126 — statutory definition of 'theater']

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. 'Theater' received a statutory definition in the Revenue Act of 1866 as an edifice used for dramatic, operatic, or other representations for admission to which entrance-money is received. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Act of Congress of July 13, 1866, § 9, 14 Stat. 126 — statutory definition of 'theater'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry THEATEH, p. 1151; scan anchor: djvu line 192606 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1866 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this Act as the source of its definition; the footnote names the real enactment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TITULARS OF ERECTION

[Maxim: Titulus est justa causa possidendi id quod nostrum est; dicitur a tuendo — 'A title is the just right of possessing that which is our own; it is so called from "tuendo," defending' (8 Coke 153)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. A title is the just cause of possessing that which is our own; it is so called from 'tuendo,' defending. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Titulus est justa causa possidendi id quod nostrum est; dicitur a tuendo — 'A title is the just right of possessing that which is our own; it is so called from "tuendo," defending' (8 Coke 153). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TITULARS OF ERECTION, p. 1159; scan anchor: djvu line 193879 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body (the TITULUS definition) with its Coke authority; it is the received definition of title. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TOLLDI8H

[Maxim: Tolle voluntatem et exit omnis actus indifferens — 'Take away the will, and every action will be indifferent' (Bract. fol. 2)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Take away the will, and every action will be indifferent — culpability depends on the will. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tolle voluntatem et exit omnis actus indifferens — 'Take away the will, and every action will be indifferent' (Bract. fol. 2). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TOLLDI8H, p. 1160; scan anchor: djvu line 194074 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Bracton authority; it is the classical maxim locating criminal culpability in the will. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TOUBN

[Maxim: Tout ce que la loi ne defend pas est permis — 'Everything is permitted which is not forbidden by law']

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Everything is permitted which is not forbidden by law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tout ce que la loi ne defend pas est permis — 'Everything is permitted which is not forbidden by law'. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TOUBN, p. 1163; scan anchor: djvu line 194534 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body (under TOUT); it is the classical French maxim of legal liberty. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

TRANSGRE8SIO

[Maxim: Transgressio est cum modus non servatur nec mensura, debet enim quilibet in suo facto modum habere et mensuram — 'Transgression is when neither mode nor measure is preserved, for every one in his act ought to have a mode and measure' (Co. Litt. 37)]

Who. Coke on Littleton (as cited: Maxim: Transgressio est cum modus non servatur nec mensura, debet enim quilibet in suo facto modum habere et mensuram — 'Transgression is when neither mode nor measure is preserved, for every one in his act ought to have a mode and measure' (Co. Litt. 37)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Transgression is when neither mode nor measure is preserved, for everyone in his act ought to have a mode and measure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Transgressio est cum modus non servatur nec mensura, debet enim quilibet in suo facto modum habere et mensuram — 'Transgression is when neither mode nor measure is preserved, for every one in his act ought to have a mode and measure' (Co. Litt. 37). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TRANSGRE8SIO, p. 1167; scan anchor: djvu line 195311 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TREMAGIUM, TREMESIUM

[Maxim: Tres faciunt collegium — 'Three make a corporation; three members are requisite to constitute a corporation' (Dig. 60, 16, 8; 1 Bl. Comm. 469)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Maxim: Tres faciunt collegium — 'Three make a corporation; three members are requisite to constitute a corporation' (Dig. 60, 16, 8; 1 Bl. Comm. 469)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Three make a corporation; three members are requisite to constitute a corporation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tres faciunt collegium — 'Three make a corporation; three members are requisite to constitute a corporation' (Dig. 60, 16, 8; 1 Bl. Comm. 469). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TREMAGIUM, TREMESIUM, p. 1171; scan anchor: djvu line 195873 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Digest and Blackstone authorities; it is the received Roman-law rule on corporate formation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TUBP1TUDO

[Maxim: Tuta est custodia quae sibimet creditur — 'That guardianship is secure which is intrusted to itself alone' (Hob. 340)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. That guardianship is secure which is intrusted to itself alone. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tuta est custodia quae sibimet creditur — 'That guardianship is secure which is intrusted to itself alone' (Hob. 340). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TUBP1TUDO, p. 1179; scan anchor: djvu line 197282 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TUTETTR

[Maxim: Tutius erratur ex parte mitiore — 'It is safer to err on the gentler side' (3 Inst. 220)]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Maxim: Tutius erratur ex parte mitiore — 'It is safer to err on the gentler side' (3 Inst. 220)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. It is safer to err on the gentler side. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tutius erratur ex parte mitiore — 'It is safer to err on the gentler side' (3 Inst. 220). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TUTETTR, p. 1179; scan anchor: djvu line 197318 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Coke authority; it states the classical mercy rule in doubtful cases. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

TUTETTR

[Maxim: Tutius semper est errare acquietando, quam in puniendo, ex parte misericordiae quam ex parte justitiae — 'It is always safer to err in acquitting than punishing, on the side of mercy than on the side of justice' (Branch, Princ.; 2 Hale, P.C. 290; Broom, Max. 326; Com. v. York, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 116)]

Who. The court deciding Maxim: Tutius semper est errare acquietando, quam in puniendo, ex parte misericordiae quam ex parte justitiae — 'It is always safer to err in acquitting than punishing, on the side of mercy than on the side of justice' (Branch, Princ.; 2 Hale, P.C. 290; Broom, Max. 326; Com. v. York (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. It is always safer to err in acquitting than in punishing, on the side of mercy than on the side of justice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Tutius semper est errare acquietando, quam in puniendo, ex parte misericordiae quam ex parte justitiae — 'It is always safer to err in acquitting than punishing, on the side of mercy than on the side of justice' (Branch, Princ.; 2 Hale, P.C. 290; Broom, Max. 326; Com. v. York, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 116). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry TUTETTR, p. 1179; scan anchor: djvu line 197318 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its multiple authorities; it is the received maxim preferring acquittal to punishment in doubt. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UBI BE VEKA

[Maxim: Ubi verba conjuncta non sunt sufficit alterutrum esse factum — 'Where words are not conjoined, it is enough if one or other be complied with' (Dig. 50, 17, 110, 3)]

Who. The Digest of Justinian (as cited: Maxim: Ubi verba conjuncta non sunt sufficit alterutrum esse factum — 'Where words are not conjoined, it is enough if one or other be complied with' (Dig. 50, 17, 110, 3)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Where words are not conjoined, it is enough if one or other be complied with. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ubi verba conjuncta non sunt sufficit alterutrum esse factum — 'Where words are not conjoined, it is enough if one or other be complied with' (Dig. 50, 17, 110, 3). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UBI BE VEKA, p. 1182; scan anchor: djvu line 197727

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

[basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its Digest authority; it states the disjunctive-compliance rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ULTIMUM SUFPLICIUM

[Maxim: Ultimum supplicium esse mortem solum interpretamur — 'The extremest punishment we consider to be death alone' (Dig. 48, 19, 21)]

Who. The Digest of Justinian (as cited: Maxim: Ultimum supplicium esse mortem solum interpretamur — 'The extremest punishment we consider to be death alone' (Dig. 48, 19, 21)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The extremest punishment we consider to be death alone. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ultimum supplicium esse mortem solum interpretamur — 'The extremest punishment we consider to be death alone' (Dig. 48, 19, 21). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ULTIMUM SUFPLICIUM, p. 1182; scan anchor: djvu line 197785 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in the entry with its Digest authority; it states the Roman-law ceiling on punishment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ULTBA

[Case: Central Transportation Co. v. Pullman's Palace Car Co., 139 U.S. 24 (1891)]

Who. The court deciding Case: Central Transportation Co. v. Pullman's Palace Car Co. (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. Acts of a corporation beyond the powers conferred by its charter are ultra vires and not binding on it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Case: Central Transportation Co. v. Pullman's Palace Car Co., 139 U.S. 24 (1891). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ULTBA, p. 1182; scan anchor: djvu line 197801 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1891 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. Genuine because the entry itself cites this case in its ultra-vires exposition, and it is independently the landmark authority on corporate ultra vires acts. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

ULTBA

[Maxim: Ultra posse non potest esse, et vice versa — 'What is beyond possibility cannot exist, and the reverse, [what cannot exist is not possible]' (Wing. Max. 100)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. What is beyond possibility cannot exist, and the reverse. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Ultra posse non potest esse, et vice versa — 'What is beyond possibility cannot exist, and the reverse, [what cannot exist is not possible]' (Wing. Max. 100). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ULTBA, p. 1182; scan anchor: djvu line 197801 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its authority. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UNLAW PUL

[Axiom: the common-law progression — unlawful assembly, rout, riot (4 Bl. Comm. 146)]

Who. Blackstone, Commentaries (as cited: Axiom: the common-law progression — unlawful assembly, rout, riot (4 Bl. Comm. 146)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. At common law, three or more persons meeting to the disturbance of the peace with intent to execute an unlawful enterprise commit an unlawful assembly; taking steps toward it is a rout; putting the design into execution is a riot. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: the common-law progression — unlawful assembly, rout, riot (4 Bl. Comm. 146). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UNLAW PUL, p. 1187; scan anchor: djvu line 198564 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this three-stage doctrine with its Blackstone authority; the footnote preserves the received classification. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USUARXUS

[Maxim: Usucapio constituta est ut aliquis litium finis esset — 'Prescription was instituted that there might be some end to litigation' (Dig. 41, 10, 5; Broom, Max. 894, note)]

Who. Broom, Legal Maxims (as cited: Maxim: Usucapio constituta est ut aliquis litium finis esset — 'Prescription was instituted that there might be some end to litigation' (Dig. 41, 10, 5; Broom, Max. 894, note)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. Prescription was instituted that there might be some end to litigation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Usucapio constituta est ut aliquis litium finis esset — 'Prescription was instituted that there might be some end to litigation' (Dig. 41, 10, 5; Broom, Max. 894, note). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USUARXUS, p. 1191; scan anchor: djvu line 199196 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body (under USUCAPIO) with its Digest and Broom authorities; it states the policy ground of prescription. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USUS BEIXICI

[Axiom: usus bellici as the test of contraband (1 Kent, Comm. 141)]

Who. Kent, Commentaries (as cited: Axiom: usus bellici as the test of contraband (1 Kent, Comm. 141)) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. It is the usus bellici — warlike use — which determines an article to be contraband of war. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Axiom: usus bellici as the test of contraband (1 Kent, Comm. 141). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USUS BEIXICI, p. 1192; scan anchor: djvu line 199400 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because the entry states this doctrine with its Kent authority; the footnote preserves the received contraband test. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USUS BEIXICI

[Maxim: Unum est dominium fiduciarium — 'Use is a fiduciary dominion' (Bac. St. Uses)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Use is a fiduciary dominion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Unum est dominium fiduciarium — 'Use is a fiduciary dominion' (Bac. St. Uses). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USUS BEIXICI, p. 1192; scan anchor: djvu line 199400 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Bacon authority; it states Bacon's classical definition of the use. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

USUS BEIXICI

[Maxim: Usus et status sive possessio potius differunt secundum rationem fori, quam secundum rationem rei — 'Use and estate, or possession, differ more in the rule of the court than in the rule of the matter' (Bac. St. Uses)]

Who. The maxim itself, as stated in the citation [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. Use and estate, or possession, differ more in the rule of the court than in the rule of the matter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Maxim: Usus et status sive possessio potius differunt secundum rationem fori, quam secundum rationem rei — 'Use and estate, or possession, differ more in the rule of the court than in the rule of the matter' (Bac. St. Uses). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry USUS BEIXICI, p. 1192; scan anchor: djvu line 199400 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. Genuine because quoted verbatim in this entry's body with its Bacon authority; it states Bacon's rule on the use/estate distinction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UTI POSSIDETIS

[Law: ICJ, Frontier Dispute (Burkina Faso/Mali), 1986 — affirmed uti possidetis juris as a general principle for decolonization boundaries]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. Beyond the civil-law interdict the entry defines, uti possidetis became the modern international-law doctrine (uti possidetis juris) that new states inherit the administrative boundaries of their predecessor, affirmed by the ICJ as a general principle applicable to decolonization. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: ICJ, Frontier Dispute (Burkina Faso/Mali), 1986 — affirmed uti possidetis juris as a general principle for decolonization boundaries. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UTI POSSIDETIS, p. 1193; scan anchor: djvu line 199497 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1986 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body gives the older treaty-peace sense (retain what force acquired) and cites only

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Wheaton; the footnote adds the doctrine's genuine modern life in boundary law — the sense the phrase actually carries today — without restating anything the body says. Citation kept in the looser [Law:] form rather than inventing a reporter page. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

UXOR

[Law: Married Women's Property Acts (e.g., N.Y. Laws of 1848) — married women granted separate property capacity, displacing coverture]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The coverture maxims the entry quotes as live law — 'A wife is not her own mistress, but is under the power of her husband' — were legislatively superseded by the Married Women's Property Acts, beginning in New York in 1848 and spreading state by state. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Married Women's Property Acts (e.g., N.Y. Laws of 1848) — married women granted separate property capacity, displacing coverture. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry UXOR, p. 1193; scan anchor: djvu line 199612 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1848 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body presents these maxims unqualified, with 17th–18th century authorities; a reader today would mistake them for current doctrine. The footnote adds the real statutory reversal, which is genuine illumination rather than echo — the body nowhere hints coverture was abrogated. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VACCINATION

[Jacobson v. Massachusetts, 197 U.S. 11 (1905)]

Who. The court deciding Jacobson v. Massachusetts (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The compulsory-vaccination statutes the entry notes were upheld by the Supreme Court as a valid exercise of the state's police power against smallpox. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jacobson v. Massachusetts, 197 U.S. 11 (1905). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VACCINATION, p. 1195; scan anchor: djvu line 199757 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1905 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body says only 'frequently made compulsory by statute' and cites a single Georgia case; the footnote supplies the controlling federal authority — the canonical precedent on compulsory vaccination — which adds a layer the body lacks rather than restating it. No verbatim quote attempted. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VAGRANT

[Papachristou v. City of Jacksonville, 405 U.S. 156 (1972)]

Who. The court deciding Papachristou v. City of Jacksonville (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The vagrancy statutes the entry catalogues — punishing able-bodied persons with no visible means of support — were struck down as unconstitutionally vague where they gave police unfettered discretion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Papachristou v. City of Jacksonville, 405 U.S. 156 (1972). Host locus: Black's

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VAGRANT, p. 1196; scan anchor: djvu line 199857 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1972 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body treats the American vagrancy statutes as settled, citing only pre-1972 cases; the footnote adds the genuine modern precedent voiding such ordinances, which is illumination (what happened to these laws), not echo. Placed here rather than on the adjacent VAGABOND to avoid duplicating one footnote across two entries. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VARIANCE

[Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(b) — amendment to conform to the evidence; variances disregarded absent prejudice]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The fatal common-law variance the entry describes was largely defanged in modern practice: the federal rule disregards variances between pleading and proof unless the adverse party shows prejudice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(b) — amendment to conform to the evidence; variances disregarded absent prejudice. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VARIANCE, p. 1196; scan anchor: djvu line 200082 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body states only the common-law rule (with five older cases) and nowhere hints the doctrine was transformed; the footnote adds the genuine modern counterpart that determines how variance actually operates today — illumination, not echo. No verbatim quotation attempted. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VENUE

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. VI (vicinage); art. III, § 2, cl. 3 (trial 'in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed')]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. In criminal cases venue is not merely pleading doctrine but a constitutional right: the accused is entitled to trial by 'an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. VI (vicinage); art. III, § 2, cl. 3 (trial 'in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed'). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VENUE, p. 1200; scan anchor: djvu line 200496 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body treats venue purely as common-law pleading (3 Bl. Comm. 294, civil cases) with no hint of its constitutional dimension; the footnote supplies the verbatim constitutional anchor — the reason venue cannot simply be moved at will in criminal prosecutions — which is illumination, not echo. Quoted phrases are verbatim from the Constitution. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

VETO

[Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 2 — presentment, return with objections, and override]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The veto power the entry describes is the Presentment Clause at work: 'Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President,' whose return with objections the two houses may override by two-thirds. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 2 — presentment, return with objections, and override. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VETO, p. 1205; scan anchor: djvu line 201310 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body defines absolute/qualified/suspensive and pocket vetoes with one state case and never names the constitutional source; the footnote supplies it verbatim — the actual authority behind the practice described — adding light rather than restating the definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VEX AM

[Law: U.S. Const. amend. V — Double Jeopardy Clause]

Who. The Constitution of the United States (as cited) [basis: citation, statute/instrument form, closed-table]

What. The maxim the body quotes — 'no one should be twice prosecuted for one and the same cause' — is codified in American law as the Double Jeopardy Clause: 'nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: U.S. Const. amend. V — Double Jeopardy Clause. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VEX AM, p. 1205; scan anchor: djvu line 201343 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body states the Latin maxim with NO authority at all; the footnote attaches it to its real American constitutional home, quoted verbatim. Genuine bridge from maxim to controlling text, not echo. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VINCULUM JURIS

[Law: Inst. 3,13 pr. — the Roman definition of obligation as a bond of law]

Who. The Institutes (as cited) (as cited: Law: Inst. 3,13 pr. — the Roman definition of obligation as a bond of law) [basis: citation, treatise form, closed-table expansion]

What. The definition the entry paraphrases is Justinian's own: 'Obligatio est juris vinculum, quo necessitate adstringimur alicujus solvendae rei secundum nostrae civitatis jura' — an obligation is a legal bond by which we are compelled to perform something according to the laws of our state. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: Inst. 3,13 pr. — the Roman definition of obligation as a bond of law. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VINCULUM JURIS, p. 1208; scan anchor: djvu line 201950 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body gives the substance of the classical definition but names no source; the footnote supplies the verbatim primary text — the single most-cited sentence in the law of obligations — which is genuine illumination, not echo. Quoted Latin is the standard Institutes text. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

VISIT

[Law: UNCLOS art. 110 — right of visit]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The belligerent/peacetime right of visit the entry describes was codified in the modern law of the sea: a warship may board a foreign vessel on the high seas on reasonable ground for suspecting piracy, the slave trade, or statelessness, among other listed grounds. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UNCLOS art. 110 — right of visit. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry VISIT, p. 1210; scan anchor: djvu line 202276 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — no year in citation or insert text

Why. The body states only the doctrine in general terms with no treaty or codified authority; the footnote supplies the controlling modern codification — the provision under which the right actually operates today. Same 'modern counterpart the body lacks' class as VARIANCE. Confident art. 110 is the right-of-visit article; no verbatim quote attempted. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

WHITE

[Ozawa v. United States, 260 U.S. 178 (1922); United States v. Thind, 261 U.S. 204 (1923)]

Who. The court deciding Ozawa v. United States (as cited) [basis: citation, case form]

What. The entry's construction — 'white person' in the naturalization laws limited to the Caucasian race — was carried forward by the Supreme Court's racial-prerequisite cases, which held Japanese and Asian-Indian petitioners alike not to be 'white persons' within the naturalization statutes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ozawa v. United States, 260 U.S. 178 (1922); United States v. Thind, 261 U.S. 204 (1923). Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry WHITE, p. 1228; scan anchor: djvu line 204911 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1922 [basis: year carried in the citation]

Why. The body reports a single 1878 circuit case (In re Ah Yup) as the construction of the statutory term; the footnote adds the two canonical Supreme Court authorities that settled the same question for other groups — the direct doctrinal continuation, 'what happened next' class, not echo. Confident in both case names, volumes, and years. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

WITH ALL FAULTS

[Law: UCC § 2-316(3)(a) — exclusion of implied warranties by 'as is' / 'with all faults' language]

Who. OPEN — citation names no decider, statute, or work in expandable form

What. The 1910 definition states the phrase's effect in general terms; the modern codification makes it operative: unless the circumstances indicate otherwise, all implied warranties are excluded by expressions like 'as is' or 'with all faults.' [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Law: UCC § 2-316(3)(a) — exclusion of implied warranties by 'as is' / 'with all faults' language. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry WITH ALL FAULTS, p. 1229; scan anchor: djvu line 205348 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. 1910 [basis: year stated in the insert's own text]

Why. The body defines the phrase's common-law effect with no statute; the footnote supplies the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

controlling modern provision under which the phrase actually does its work today — the 'modern counterpart the body lacks' class. Confident § 2-316(3)(a) is the correct subsection; the quoted words 'as is' and 'with all faults' are the statute's own examples. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By an authority supplied from the Law well's research — the citation does not appear in the host entry's text [basis: citation absent from host body (mechanical containment check); provenance: Phase 1 worker annotation]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

THE WELL OF SCRIPTURE

1593 inserts, rebuilt to the full scale of inquiries

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

A. S

[Luke 3:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judaea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of Ituraea and of the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the tetrarch of Abilene, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 3:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry A. S; scan anchor: djvu line 579 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the regnal-dating formula ('in the twenty-second year of the reign of Queen Victoria'); Luke opens his Gospel with the same formula — 'in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar' — showing scripture itself reckons time by regnal years. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

A GRATIA

[Ephesians 2:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry A GRATIA, p. 2; scan anchor: djvu line 676 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines 'a gratia' as 'from grace or favor; as a matter of indulgence, not of right' — the verse draws the same line: grace received, not a thing of right or of works. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

A MENS A ET THORO

[1 Corinthians 7:10-11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband: But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:10-11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry A MENS A ET THORO, p. 2; scan anchor: djvu line 706 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is limited divorce — separation 'from bed and board' without dissolving the bond. The verse describes exactly that pattern: the wife departs yet remains unmarried or is reconciled — separation, not a fresh bond. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

A VINCULO MATRIMONII

[Matthew 19:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry A VINCULO MATRIMONII, p. 3; scan anchor: djvu line 853 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is divorce 'from the bond of matrimony' — complete dissolution of the marriage contract. This is Christ's own pronouncement on putting away, the scriptural locus on divorce; the bond's dissolution is the question he answers. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AB INITIO MUNDI

[Matthew 24:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 24:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AB INITIO MUNDI, p. 3; scan anchor: djvu line 925 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the chronological formula 'from the beginning of the world' (as in 'ab initio mundi usque ad hodiernum diem'). Christ's saying uses the identical idiom — 'since the beginning of the world' — showing scripture's own reckoning of that same span. Modest parallel; no doctrine drawn from it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AB INTESTATO

[Numbers 27:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AB INTESTATO, p. 3; scan anchor: djvu line 931 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is succession 'from an intestate' — the default rule for who takes when the decedent leaves no controlling line. The verse is the statutory default in the case: a man dies with no son, and the inheritance passes to his daughter — the scriptural intestacy-type rule. Flagged deity-verbatim as the LORD's spoken command to Moses (borderline: relayed via 'saying'; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

AB IRATO

[Ecclesiastes 7:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 7:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AB IRATO, p. 3; scan anchor: djvu line 954 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is a will or gift made 'by one who is angry' — voidable because anger clouded the disposition. The verse is the direct scriptural warning against acting in the haste of anger: anger 'resteth in the bosom of fools'. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABACTOR

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABACTOR, p. 3; scan anchor: djvu line 962 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'a cattle thief.' The verse names the exact offense — stealing an ox or a sheep — and sets the restitution. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABARNABE

[Leviticus 5:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if a soul sin, and hear the voice of swearing, and is a witness, whether he hath seen or known of it; if he do not utter it, then he shall bear his iniquity. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 5:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABARNABE, p. 5; scan anchor: djvu line 1191 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the duty to detect and disclose a secret crime to a magistrate. The verse states the root duty: one who knows of wrongdoing must utter it, not conceal it, or bear the iniquity — the scriptural ground of the witness/informer's duty to disclose. Flagged deity-verbatim as Levitical statute within God's speech to Moses (borderline; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ABATUDA

[Isaiah 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thy silver is become dross, thy wine mixed with water. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABATUDA, p. 8; scan anchor: djvu line 1320 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'moneta abatuda' — money clipped or diminished in value. The verse uses scripture's own image of diminished-value silver: silver become dross — debased, reduced coin. Modest parallel; no doctrine drawn. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABDUCTION

[Exodus 21:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABDUCTION, p. 8; scan anchor: djvu line 1423 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the unlawful taking of a person (wife, child, ward) by fraud or violence. The verse is the scriptural law on stealing a man — the taking of a person as the offense itself, punished capitally. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABEREMURDER

[Genesis 9:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 9:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABEREMURDER, p. 8; scan anchor: djvu line 1448 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'plain or downright murder' as a capital offense. The verse is the foundational scriptural law on homicide: shedding man's blood answered by blood, grounded in the image of God. Spoken by God to Noah — deity-verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABIGEATUS

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ABIGEATUS, p. 7; scan anchor: djvu line 1578 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ABACTOR (worker-01, batch 1): the entry is the civil-law offense of stealing/driving away cattle — the verse names that exact offense (stealing ox or sheep) and sets the restitution. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABXGERE

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABXGERE, p. 7; scan anchor: djvu line 1582 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ABACTOR (worker-01, batch 1): the entry is the civil-law offense of stealing/driving away cattle — the verse names that exact offense (stealing ox or sheep) and sets the restitution. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABIGEUS

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABIGEUS, p. 7; scan anchor: djvu line 1592 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ABACTOR (worker-01, batch 1): the entry is the civil-law offense of stealing/driving away cattle — the verse names that exact offense (stealing ox or sheep) and sets the restitution. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABILITY

[1 Timothy 5:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABILITY, p. 7; scan anchor: djvu line 1611 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry turns on a husband's duty, 'having the ability,' to provide 'the common necessaries of life' to his wife. The verse states the root duty: one who provides not for his own house 'hath denied the faith' — the scriptural ground of the provider's obligation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABJURATION OF ALLEGIANCE

[Matthew 6:24, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 6:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABJURATION OF ALLEGIANCE, p. 8; scan anchor: djvu line 1656 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the formal renunciation of a former sovereign's allegiance in naturalization. The verse states the principle that makes the renunciation necessary: no man can serve two masters — allegiance cannot be divided, so the old must be abjured when the new is taken. Christ's own words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABORTION

[Exodus 21:22-23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If men strive, and hurt a woman with child, so that her fruit depart from her, and yet no mischief follow: he shall be surely punished, according as the woman's husband will lay upon him; and he shall pay as the judges determine. And if any mischief follow, then thou shalt give life for life, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:22-23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABORTION, p. 8; scan anchor: djvu line 1751 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the criminal-law definition of abortion as premature delivery. The verses are scripture's own legal treatment of a caused premature delivery ('her fruit depart from her') — punished by fine, or life-for-life if mischief follows. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABORTUS

[Exodus 21:22, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If men strive, and hurt a woman with child, so that her fruit depart from her, and yet no mischief follow: he shall be surely punished, according as the woman's husband will lay upon him; and he shall pay as the judges determine. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABORTUS, p. 8; scan anchor: djvu line 1781 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'the fruit of an abortion; the child born before its time.' The verse is the scriptural occurrence of that exact term — 'her fruit depart from her' — for the prematurely delivered child, in the legal passage governing it. Same deity-verbatim borderline as ABORTION; logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABROGATE

[Ephesians 2:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABROGATE, p. 9; scan anchor: djvu line 1869 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is to annul or repeal a law. The verse describes scripture's own instance of legal abrogation: the abolishing of 'the law of commandments contained in ordinances.' Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABROGATION

[Ephesians 2:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABROGATION, p. 9; scan anchor: djvu line 1874 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ABROGATE: the annulment of a law — here 'the law of commandments contained in ordinances' abolished. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABSCONDING DEBTOR

[Psalm 37:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 37:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABSCONDING DEBTOR, p. 9; scan anchor: djvu line 1907 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is a debtor who conceals himself or flees 'with intent unlawfully to delay or defraud his creditors.' The verse states the root condemnation: borrowing and not paying again is the mark of the wicked — the duty to pay one's just debts, which the absconder frustrates. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ABSOLUTION

[John 20:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 20:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABSOLUTION, p. 10; scan anchor: djvu line 2065 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's canon-law sense is the juridical act whereby sins are declared remitted — absolution. The verse is Christ's own commission of the power to remit or retain sins: the scriptural root of absolution. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABSOLUTISM

[1 Samuel 8:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he said, This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and to be his horsemen; and some shall run before his chariots. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 8:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABSOLUTISM, p. 10; scan anchor: djvu line 2082 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is government 'absolutely, and at pleasure, without check or restraint.' The verse is scripture's own portrait of unchecked kingship — the warning given when Israel demanded a king 'like all the nations': the king who takes at pleasure. Samuel speaking God's warning — flag off. Modest illustration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABSTENTION

[Hebrews 12:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 12:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABSTENTION, p. 10; scan anchor: djvu line 2134 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is an heir's renunciation of a succession. The verse names scripture's instance of an heir renouncing his succession right — Esau selling his birthright — held up as the warning against despising the inheritance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABUTTALS

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABUTTALS, p. 12; scan anchor: djvu line 2364 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the 'buttings and boundings of lands' — the boundary description. The verse is the scriptural boundary law: the ancient landmark fixing what each inheritance is bounded by, not to be removed. Moses speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCEPTTLATION

[Matthew 18:27, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCEPTTLATION, p. 13; scan anchor: djvu line 2568 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is a creditor's release of a debt 'without receiving any consideration' — a pure donation. The verse is the parable's instance: the lord, moved with compassion, forgave the debt outright. Spoken by Christ in the parable — flagged deity-verbatim (parable speech = his verbatim words; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCESSARY

[1 Timothy 5:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins: keep thyself pure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCESSARY, p. 13; scan anchor: djvu line 2615 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is one who, not the chief actor, becomes guilty 'as a participator, as by command, advice, instigation, or concealment.' The verse names the same category — the 'partaker of other men's sins' — and warns against it. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCESSORY

[1 Timothy 5:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins: keep thyself pure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCESSORY, p. 14; scan anchor: djvu line 2791 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. For the entry's criminal-law sense ('In criminal law. An accessary'), the same verse as ACCESSARY: the 'partaker of other men's sins' is the accessary's scriptural name. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCESSORY CONTRACT

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCESSORY CONTRACT, p. 14; scan anchor: djvu line 2809 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names suretyship as the type-instance of the accessory contract ('the engagement of a surety'). The verses are scripture's standing warning on becoming surety — being 'snared with the words of thy mouth.' Solomon speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCESSORY OBLIGATION

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCESSORY OBLIGATION, p. 15; scan anchor: djvu line 2839 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'the obligation of a surety.' Same verses as ACCESSORY CONTRACT: scripture's warning on the surety's obligation — 'snared with the words of thy mouth.' Solomon speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCIDENT

[Ecclesiastes 9:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill; but time and chance happeneth to them all. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 9:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCIDENT, p. 15; scan anchor: djvu line 2849 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the unforeseen, undesigned occurrence — 'time and chance.' The verse names the category outright: 'time and chance happeneth to them all' — the casualty that befalls without regard to merit or design. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ACCOMENDA

[Matthew 25:14-15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:14-15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCOMENDA, p. 15; scan anchor: djvu line 2963 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the maritime contract entrusting goods to a master to trade on joint account — one party risking capital, the other labor. The parable opens on the same commercial form: the owner delivers his goods to servants to trade with. Spoken by Christ in the parable — flagged deity-verbatim (parable speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCOMMODATION

[Matthew 5:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCOMMODATION, p. 15; scan anchor: djvu line 2981 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry includes 'a friendly agreement or composition of differences.' The verse is Christ's own direction to compose with an adversary rather than go to judgment — the scriptural ground of settlement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCOMPLICE

[1 Timothy 5:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins: keep thyself pure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCOMPLICE, p. 15; scan anchor: djvu line 3029 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ACCESSARY/ACCESSORY: the entry is one who 'unites in the commission of a crime' — the 'partaker of other men's sins' is the accomplice's scriptural name. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ACCOUNTABLE

[Luke 16:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCOUNTABLE, p. 15; scan anchor: djvu line 3290 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'subject to pay; responsible; liable' — one bound to render an account. The verse is the steward called to 'give an account of thy stewardship': the accountable fiduciary summoned to his reckoning. Spoken by Christ in the parable — flagged deity-verbatim (parable speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCOUNTING

[Matthew 25:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. After a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and reckoneth with them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCOUNTING, p. 18; scan anchor: djvu line 3343 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'the making up and rendition of an account.' The verse is the reckoning itself: the lord comes and 'reckoneth with' his servants — the accounting of the stewardship. Spoken by Christ in the parable — flagged deity-verbatim (parable speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCOUPLE

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCOUPLE, p. 18; scan anchor: djvu line 3350 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to unite; to marry.' The verse is scripture's founding word on the marriage union: the man cleaves unto his wife and 'they shall be one flesh' — the uniting that marriage is. Narrative — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCREDIT

[2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry ACCREDIT, p. 18; scan anchor: djvu line 3353 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is to receive or send as an envoy 'in his public character' with credentials. The verse names the accredited envoy outright: 'we are ambassadors for Christ' — sent in his stead, speaking for him. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACOREDUUTARE

[Numbers 5:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the priest shall charge her by an oath, and say unto the woman, If no man have lain with thee, and if thou hast not gone aside to uncleanness with another instead of thy husband, be thou free from this bitter water that causeth the curse: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 5:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACOREDUUTARE, p. 18; scan anchor: djvu line 3359 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to purge an offense by oath.' The verse is the oath of purgation itself: the woman charged by oath, and if clear, 'be thou free' — purged of the accusation by the oath. The priest speaks the formula within God's prescribed rite — flag off (the priest, not the deity, is the speaker; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACCROACH

[2 Chronicles 26:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Chronicles (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And they withstood Uzziah the king, and said unto him, It appertaineth not unto thee, Uzziah, to burn incense unto the LORD, but to the priests the sons of Aaron, that are consecrated to burn incense: go out of the sanctuary; for thou hast trespassed; neither shall it be for thine honour from the LORD God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Chronicles 26:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACCROACH, p. 18; scan anchor: djvu line 3412 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to exercise power without due authority' — accroachment. The verse is scripture's instance: the king exercising the priestly office, met with 'It appertaineth not unto thee' — power exercised without due authority, and judged trespass. Azariah speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACEPHALI

[Judges 21:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Judges (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Judges 21:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACEPHALI, p. 19; scan anchor: djvu line 3588 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's first sense is those 'who acknowledged no head or superior.' The verse describes exactly that condition: no king in Israel, every man his own head, doing what was right in his own eyes. Narrative — flag off. Modest illustration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACKNOWLEDGE

[1 John 1:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 1:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACKNOWLEDGE, p. 19; scan anchor: djvu line 3610 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to own, avow, or admit; to confess; to recognize one's acts, and assume the responsibility therefor.' The verse is scripture's locus of confession — owning one's sins before God — matching the entry's 'confess' sense. John speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ACTION

[1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ACTION, p. 25; scan anchor: djvu line 4654 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the legal action — 'the legal and formal demand of one's right... in a court of Justice.' The verse addresses the lawsuit itself as an institution ('having a matter against another, go to law'), regulating where believers ought to bring it. Paul speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AD COMPOTUM REDDENDUM

[Luke 16:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AD COMPOTUM REDDENDUM, p. 30; scan anchor: djvu line 5404 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ACCOUNTABLE: the entry is the writ 'to render an account.' The verse is the summons to render it — 'give an account of thy stewardship.' Spoken by Christ in the parable — flagged deity-verbatim (parable speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

AD MORDENDUM ASSUETUS

[Exodus 21:28-29, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If an ox gore a man or a woman, that they die: then the ox shall be surely stoned, and his flesh shall not be eaten; but the owner of the ox shall be quit. But if the ox were wont to push with his horn in time past, and it hath been testified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox shall be stoned, and his owner also shall be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:28-29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AD MORDENDUM ASSUETUS, p. 31; scan anchor: djvu line 5645 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the averment 'accustomed to bite' in dog-bite declarations — the scienter: the animal known to be dangerous. The verses state the same rule for the ox 'wont to push with his horn in time past,' with the owner's knowledge 'testified to his owner': the known-dangerous animal, and the owner's liability. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AD PIOS USUS

[2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AD PIOS USUS, p. 31; scan anchor: djvu line 5673 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is gifts and bequests 'for pious (religious or charitable) uses.' The verse is scripture's rule for such giving: purposed in the heart, not grudgingly or of necessity — 'for God loveth a cheerful giver.' Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AD STUDENDUM ET ORANDUM

[2 Timothy 2:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Timothy 2:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AD STUDENDUM ET ORANDUM, p. 32; scan anchor: djvu line 5790 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the collegiate purpose: 'for studying and praying; for the promotion of learning and religion.' The verse is scripture's own injunction to study — 'study to shew thyself approved' — the studendum half of the formula. Paul speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

AS WABACTUM

[Leviticus 25:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But in the seventh year shall be a sabbath of rest unto the land, a sabbath for the LORD: thou shalt neither sow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AS WABACTUM, p. 33; scan anchor: djvu line 5890 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to fallow' — land left unsown. The verse commands the sabbatical fallow: the seventh year a sabbath of rest unto the land, neither sown nor pruned. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASDICTIO

[2 Kings 4:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant my husband is dead; and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the LORD: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bondmen. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Kings 4:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASDICTIO, p. 33; scan anchor: djvu line 5910 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'the giving up to a creditor of his debtor's person.' The verse shows the practice: the creditor come to take the debtor's sons 'to be bondmen' — the debtor's persons given up to the creditor. Narrative — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADDUCE

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADDUCE, p. 33; scan anchor: djvu line 6001 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is to present or bring forward evidence. The verse is scripture's standing rule of adduced evidence: no matter established but 'at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses.' Moses speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ADHERENCE

[1 Corinthians 7:3-4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let the husband render unto the wife due benevolence: and likewise also the wife unto the husband. The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not power of his own body, but the wife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:3-4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADHERENCE, p. 34; scan anchor: djvu line 6142 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the action enforcing 'the mutual obligation of marriage' (restitution of conjugal rights). The verses state that mutual obligation: husband and wife each to render 'due benevolence,' neither having sole power over the body. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADJURATION

[Numbers 30:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADJURATION, p. 36; scan anchor: djvu line 6435 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'a swearing or binding upon oath.' The verse states the binding force of the sworn oath: 'swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word.' Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADLEGIARE

[Numbers 5:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the priest shall charge her by an oath, and say unto the woman, If no man have lain with thee, and if thou hast not gone aside to uncleanness with another instead of thy husband, be thou free from this bitter water that causeth the curse: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 5:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADLEGIARE, p. 36; scan anchor: djvu line 6477 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ACCREDULITARE: the entry is 'to purge one's self of a crime by oath.' The verse is the oath of purgation — 'be thou free' — purging the accusation by oath. The priest speaks the formula — flag off (logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ADMINICUXATOR

[James 1:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 1:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADMINICUXATOR, p. 37; scan anchor: djvu line 6561 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is an officer 'who administered to the wants of widows, orphans, and afflicted persons.' The verse names the same charge: to visit 'the fatherless and widows in their affliction' — the scriptural ground of that office's work. James speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADMONITION

[Titus 3:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Titus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Titus 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADMONITION, p. 39; scan anchor: djvu line 7024 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is admonition as the ecclesiastical reprimand-and-warning. The verse uses the same term in the same church-discipline frame: the heretic warned by 'first and second admonition' before rejection. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADOPTION

[Romans 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADOPTION, p. 40; scan anchor: djvu line 7149 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the juridical act creating 'relations, purely civil, of paternity and filiation' between adopter and child. The verse speaks of 'the Spirit of adoption' — scripture's own use of the adoption concept: receiving sonship, crying 'Abba, Father.' Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADPROMISSOR

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADPROMISSOR, p. 40; scan anchor: djvu line 7167 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verses as ACCESSORY CONTRACT: the entry is 'a guarantor, surety, or cautioner.' Scripture's standing warning on the surety — 'snared with the words of thy mouth.' Solomon speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADRECTARE

[Luke 19:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord; Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 19:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADRECTARE, p. 40; scan anchor: djvu line 7176 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to set right, satisfy, or make amends.' The verse is scripture's instance of making amends: Zacchaeus restoring fourfold what was taken — satisfaction made to the wronged. Zacchaeus speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADRHAMIRE

[Numbers 30:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADRHAMIRE, p. 40; scan anchor: djvu line 7179 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ADJURATION: the entry is 'to undertake, declare, or promise solemnly; to pledge.' The verse states the binding force of the solemn pledge — 'he shall not break his word.' Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute (borderline; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADROGATION

[Romans 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADROGATION, p. 40; scan anchor: djvu line 7192 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ADOPTION: the entry is adoption in its Roman-law form (of one under puberty). The verse gives scripture's use of the adoption concept — receiving sonship, 'Abba, Father.' Paul

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADSTIFULATOR

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADSTIFULATOR, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7243 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verses as ACCESSORY CONTRACT: the entry is 'an accessory party to a promise' — the surety-like stipulator. Scripture's warning on the surety's bond — 'snared with the words of thy mouth.' Solomon speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTER

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTER, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7267 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue's own prohibition — God's spoken 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' the scriptural root of the offense. Flagged deity-verbatim (first-person divine command). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTERA

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTERA, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7272 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue's own prohibition — God's spoken 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' the scriptural root of the offense. Flagged deity-verbatim (first-person divine command). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTERATION

[Isaiah 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thy silver is become dross, thy wine mixed with water. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ADULTERATION, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7276 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ABATUDA, and here the fit is exact: the entry is 'mixing up with food or drink intended to be sold other matters of an inferior quality' — and the verse names 'thy wine mixed with water,' wine adulteration in scripture's own words. Prophetic rebuke — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTERINE

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTERINE, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7293 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the adulterine bastard's status — treated 'with more severity' in Roman and canon law. The verse is scripture's own rule on the bastard's status: exclusion 'even to his tenth generation.' Moses speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTERIUM

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTERIUM, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7308 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue's own prohibition — God's spoken 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' the scriptural root of the offense. Flagged deity-verbatim (first-person divine command). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTEROUS BASTARDY

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTEROUS BASTARDY, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7312 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ADULTERINE: the entry defines the adulterous bastard; the verse states scripture's rule on the bastard's standing. Moses speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ADULTERY

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTERY, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7320 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue's own prohibition — God's spoken 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' the scriptural root of the offense. Flagged deity-verbatim (first-person divine command). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADULTERY

[John 8:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADULTERY, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7320 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christ's word to the woman taken in adultery — 'go, and sin no more' — the offense named and remitted by the deity himself. Flagged deity-verbatim (Jesus speaking). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVANCEMENT

[Luke 15:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 15:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVANCEMENT, p. 41; scan anchor: djvu line 7211 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is property given by a father to his child 'by way of anticipation of the share which the child will inherit.' The verse is the parable's instance: the younger son taking his portion in advance — 'give me the portion of goods that falleth to me.' The son speaking in the parable — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVENA

[Leviticus 19:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVENA, p. 42; scan anchor: djvu line 7440 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the foreign-born resident settled without citizenship. The verse is the law of the resident stranger: 'the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you.' Flagged deity-verbatim — 'I am the LORD your God' closes it in the first person (borderline: statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVERSARY

[Matthew 5:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVERSARY, p. 42; scan anchor: djvu line 7507 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as ACCOMMODATION, here for the entry's own term: the 'adversary' is the litigation opponent — the opposite party who may 'deliver thee to the judge.' Christ's words — flagged deity-verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVERSARY PROCEEDING

[Deuteronomy 1:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And I charged your judges at that time, saying, Hear the causes between your brethren, and judge righteously between every man and his brother, and the stranger that is with him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 1:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVERSARY PROCEEDING, p. 42; scan anchor: djvu line 7510 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the contested proceeding — opposing parties heard, not ex parte. The verse charges the judges to 'hear the causes between your brethren' — both sides heard, judgment between them. Moses speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVICE

[Proverbs 11:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors there is safety. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVICE, p. 43; scan anchor: djvu line 7591 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'the counsel given by lawyers to their clients; an opinion expressed as to wisdom of future conduct.' The verse is scripture's maxim on counsel: safety 'in the multitude of counsellors.' Solomon speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVOCATE

[1 John 2:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 2:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVOCATE, p. 43; scan anchor: djvu line 7665 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'one who assists, defends, or pleads for another... and pleads the cause of another.' The verse names the Advocate who pleads for another — 'an advocate with the Father.' John speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVOCATIONE DECIMARTJM

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVOCATIONE DECIMARTJM, p. 44; scan anchor: djvu line 7737 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the writ for tithes — the church's due. The verse commands bringing 'all the tithes into the storehouse' — 'saith the LORD of hosts,' first-person divine speech ('prove me now herewith'). Flagged deity-verbatim (borderline: prophetic oracle; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ADVOUTRER

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVOUTRER, p. 44; scan anchor: djvu line 7850 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue's own prohibition — God's spoken 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' the scriptural root of the offense. Flagged deity-verbatim (first-person divine command). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ADVOUTRY

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ADVOUTRY, p. 44; scan anchor: djvu line 7854 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue's own prohibition — God's spoken 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' the scriptural root of the offense. Flagged deity-verbatim (first-person divine command). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JEDELITUM EDICTUM

[Proverbs 20:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Divers weights are an abomination unto the LORD; and a false balance is not good. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JEDELITUM EDICTUM, p. 45; scan anchor: djvu line 7912 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the edict 'providing remedies for frauds in sales.' The verse states scripture's condemnation of the fraudulent measure in trade — 'divers weights' and 'a false balance' — the very fraud the edict remedied. Solomon speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JES

[Romans 13:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JES, p. 45; scan anchor: djvu line 8020 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines aes alienum — a debt, 'borrowed money.' The verse states the scriptural rule of debt: 'owe no man any thing' — the duty not to stand indebted. Paul speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABSTIMATIO CAPITIS

[Exodus 21:30, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If there be laid on him a sum of money, then he shall give for the ransom of his life whatsoever is laid upon him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABSTIMATIO CAPITIS, p. 46; scan anchor: djvu line 8055 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry is the wergild — 'the price or value of a man,' the estimation of the head. The verse sets the monetary 'ransom of his life' — the price laid upon a man's life, to be paid. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AFFECTUS

[Matthew 5:28, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFECTUS, p. 46; scan anchor: djvu line 8123 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry quotes the maxim 'affectus punitur licet non sequatur effectus' — the intention punished though the result never follows. The verse treats the intention as the offense itself: lust 'in his heart' is adultery 'already' — the mind punished without the act. Christ's words — flagged deity-verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AFFIANCE

[Hosea 2:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in lovingkindness, and in mercies. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hosea 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFIANCE, p. 46; scan anchor: djvu line 8159 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the plighting of troth — the agreement to marry. The verse gives the betrothal in God's own first-person speech: 'I will betroth thee unto me for ever.' Flagged deity-verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AFFINAGE

[Malachi 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Malachi (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the LORD an offering in righteousness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFINAGE, p. 47; scan anchor: djvu line 8278 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'a refining of metals.' The verse describes the refiner's craft — sitting 'as a refiner and purifier of silver,' purging 'as gold and silver' — scripture's image of the refining work. Malachi speaking — flag off. Modest illustration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

AFFIRMATION

[Matthew 5:37, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFIRMATION, p. 48; scan anchor: djvu line 8444 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the solemn declaration 'substituted for an oath.' The verse gives the plain affirmation in place of swearing — 'let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay.' Christ's words — flagged deity-verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AFFRANCHXR

[Exodus 21:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou buy an Hebrew servant, six years he shall serve: and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFRANCHXR, p. 48; scan anchor: djvu line 8552 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to set free.' The verse is the law of manumission: the Hebrew servant 'shall go out free' in the seventh year — liberation by operation of law. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AFFRANCHISE

[Exodus 21:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou buy an Hebrew servant, six years he shall serve: and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFRANCHISE, p. 48; scan anchor: djvu line 8393 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as AFFRANCHIR: the entry is 'to liberate; to make free.' The verse states the legal liberation — 'he shall go out free for nothing.' Flagged deity-verbatim (borderline; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AFFRAY

[Proverbs 20:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AFFRAY, p. 49; scan anchor: djvu line 8572 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is fighting in a public place 'to the terror of the people.' The verse gives the moral ground the offense rests on: honour in ceasing from strife, folly in meddling — the brawl condemned at its root. Solomon speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AGENCY

[Proverbs 13:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A wicked messenger falleth into mischief: but a faithful ambassador is health. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AGENCY, p. 60; scan anchor: djvu line 8778 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the relation of one acting for another with discretionary power. The verse states the agent's cardinal virtue: the faithful messenger is 'health' — fidelity in the agency. Solomon speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AGENT

[Proverbs 13:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A wicked messenger falleth into mischief: but a faithful ambassador is health. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AGENT, p. 60; scan anchor: djvu line 8846 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Same verse as AGENCY: the entry is 'one who represents and acts for another.' The verse contrasts the wicked and the faithful messenger — the agent's fidelity. Solomon speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

[Exodus 21:18-19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if men strive together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed: If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit: only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:18-19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AGGRAVATED ASSAULT, p. 51; scan anchor: djvu line 8989 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is assault — unlawfully inflicting bodily harm. The verses are scripture's law of the strife-wounding: the smiter answerable for 'the loss of his time' and the healing — the assault with its restitution. Flagged deity-verbatim as God's spoken statute to Moses (borderline: third-person statute within the divine speech; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AGGREGATIO MENTIUM

[Amos 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Can two walk together, except they be agreed? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AGGREGATIO MENTIUM, p. 51; scan anchor: djvu line 9035 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'the meeting of minds' — the moment a contract is complete. The verse states the same principle in proverb form: no walking together without agreement — the minds meeting as the condition of the joint act. Amos speaking — flag off. Modest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AXNESSE

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AXNESSE, p. 54; scan anchor: djvu line 9586 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines primogeniture, the right of the eldest born; the verse states the scriptural law of the firstborn's right — the double portion and the right itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AXRT AND PAIRT

[Proverbs 29:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Whoso is partner with a thief hateth his own soul: he heareth cursing, and bewrayeth it not. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 29:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AXRT AND PAIRT, p. 54; scan anchor: djvu line 9599 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the accessory — contriver and partner in crime; the proverb states the complicit partner's guilt directly. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALCOHOLISM

[Proverbs 20:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry ALCOHOLISM, p. 54; scan anchor: djvu line 9715 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the medical-jurisprudence of intoxication; the proverb states intoxication's deceit — the moral root of the legal interest in drunkenness. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALEA

[Proverbs 16:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 16:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALEA, p. 56; scan anchor: djvu line 9805 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the civil-law treatment of chance ('the chance of gain or loss in a contract'); the proverb states scripture's doctrine of the lot — decision by chance under providence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALLEGIANCE

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALLEGIANCE, p. 59; scan anchor: djvu line 10350 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the obligation of fidelity and obedience to government; the verse states that very obligation and its ground. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALLIANCE

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALLIANCE, p. 60; scan anchor: djvu line 10433 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Anchored to the entry's intermarriage sense: the verse states the marriage-union that such an alliance contracts. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ALIMONY

[1 Timothy 5:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALIMONY, p. 68; scan anchor: djvu line 10113 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the wife's maintenance allowance; the verse states the scriptural duty of provision that underwrites the maintenance obligation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALLOTMENT

[Numbers 26:55, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Notwithstanding the land shall be divided by lot: according to the names of the tribes of their fathers they shall inherit. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 26:55, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALLOTMENT, p. 61; scan anchor: djvu line 10581 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is partition and distribution of land; the verse states Israel's land-allotment by lot among the tribes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALLY

[Ecclesiastes 4:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if one prevail against him, two shall withstand him; and a threefold cord is not quickly broken. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 4:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALLY, p. 61; scan anchor: djvu line 10698 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is a nation entered into alliance; the proverb states the doctrine of strength in alliance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AMBASSADOR

[2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AMBASSADOR, p. 93; scan anchor: djvu line 11032 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the commissioned officer of a sovereign; the verse displays the office itself in its commissioned-agency character. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AMENDS

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AMENDS, p. 65; scan anchor: djvu line 11286 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the common-law doctrine of satisfaction by the wrong-doer to the injured party; the verse is the scriptural restitution schedule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AMNESTY

[Isaiah 43:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 43:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AMNESTY, p. 66; scan anchor: djvu line 11481 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the sovereign's act of pardon and oblivion for past acts; the verse states that act in the sovereign's own first-person voice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AMOTIO

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AMOTIO, p. 87; scan anchor: djvu line 11569 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the legal threshold of theft (the slightest moving suffices with felonious intent); the verse is the divine prohibition of the act itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ANATHEMATIZE

[1 Corinthians 16:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema Maranatha. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 16:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ANATHEMATIZE, p. 68; scan anchor: djvu line 11755 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines pronouncing accursed by ecclesiastical authority; the verse makes the pronouncement in the very word. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ANARCHY

[Judges 21:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Judges (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Judges 21:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ANARCHY, p. 68; scan anchor: djvu line 11739 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the absence of all political government; the verse is the classic scriptural portrait of that condition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ANATOCISM

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ANATOCISM, p. 68; scan anchor: djvu line 11759 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names usury (repeated/compound interest); the verse is the scriptural prohibition of the practice. Flag off: statute-form within the judgments, not first-person divine speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AN GILD

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AN GILD, p. 69; scan anchor: djvu line 12012 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines weregild, the compensation-price of a man; the verse states the scriptural boundary on it — no ransom for the murderer's life. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ANIMO FELONICO

[Matthew 5:28, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ANIMO FELONICO, p. 70; scan anchor: djvu line 12132 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the intent element of crime — with felonious intent; the verse states the mens rea doctrine that the inward intent itself constitutes the offense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ANNUITIES OF TIENDS

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ANNUITIES OF TIENDS, p. 72; scan anchor: djvu line 12421 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is a legal assessment of tithes; the verse is the tithe doctrine itself, spoken in the LORD's own voice. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APOSTACY

[1 John 2:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APOSTACY, p. 75; scan anchor: djvu line 12997 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the total renunciation of Christianity; the verse is the scriptural portrait of apostasy as going-out. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APOORISARITTS

[Proverbs 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry APOORISARITTS, p. 75; scan anchor: djvu line 12975 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the office of one who answers for another; the proverb states the suretyship doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APOSTATA

[1 John 2:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APOSTATA, p. 75; scan anchor: djvu line 13004 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as APOSTACY: the apostate is the one who has gone out. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APOSTOLUS

[2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APOSTOLUS, p. 75; scan anchor: djvu line 13039 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as AMBASSADOR: the verse displays the commissioned office the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APPEAL

[Luke 18:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 18:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APPEAL, p. 76; scan anchor: djvu line 13145 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is complaint to a superior court of an injustice done; the legal act of appeal is the parable's very vehicle — the widow's appeal to the judge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

APPORT

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APPORT, p. 79; scan anchor: djvu line 13591 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is tax, tallage, tribute; the verse is the tribute doctrine in Jesus' own speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APPOSAL OF SHERIFFS

[Luke 16:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APPOSAL OF SHERIFFS, p. 79; scan anchor: djvu line 13664 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is charging sheriffs with money received upon their exchequer account; the verse states the steward called to account for moneys held in office. Flag off: the clause is the rich man's speech inside the parable. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ABAHO

[Matthew 5:34, 5:37, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne. But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:34, 5:37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ABAHO, p. 83; scan anchor: djvu line 14243 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is oath-making; the verses are the doctrine of oaths in Jesus' own teaching — the Sermon on the Mount governs the very act the entry describes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARBITRATION

[1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARBITRATION, p. 0 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 14341 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the private determination of disputes by chosen judges; the verse commands private resolution of disputes — arbitration's scriptural root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARBITRATOR

[1 Corinthians 6:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARBITRATOR, p. 0 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 14378 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the private, disinterested person chosen to hear contentions; the verse states his office — the wise man who judges between brethren. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

APPROVEMENT

[Proverbs 28:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 28:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry APPROVEMENT, p. 81; scan anchor: djvu line 14019 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the prisoner's confession incident to arraignment, made to obtain pardon; the proverb states the doctrine that confession obtains mercy. Borderline honestly noted: moral confession vs criminal confession — the efficacy-of-confession is the bridge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARDENT SPIRITS

[Proverbs 23:31-32, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 23:31-32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARDENT SPIRITS, p. 85; scan anchor: djvu line 14564 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the legal subject of spirituous liquors; the proverb addresses intoxicating drink in its nature and effect. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ARRA

[2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARRA, p. 87; scan anchor: djvu line 14971 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines earnest as pledge evidencing a completed bargain; the verse uses earnest (arrabon) for the Spirit as the pledge of completion — the legal metaphor in scripture's own mouth. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARLES

[2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARLES, p. 86; scan anchor: djvu line 14804 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines earnest as pledge evidencing a completed bargain; the verse uses earnest (arrabon) for the Spirit as the pledge of completion — the legal metaphor in scripture's own mouth. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARMISTICE

[Matthew 5:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARMISTICE, p. 87; scan anchor: djvu line 14881 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. An armistice is peacemaking formalized between belligerent nations; the beatitude blesses the peacemaker. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARSON

[Exodus 22:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If fire break out, and catch in thorns, so that the stacks of corn, or the standing corn, or the field, be consumed therewith; he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARSON, p. 90; scan anchor: djvu line 15396 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names the malicious burning; the verse states the scriptural law of liability for

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

kindled fire. Borderline honestly noted: the verse covers kindled fire generally, arson is the malicious form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASPORTATION

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASPORTATION, p. 92; scan anchor: djvu line 15838 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as AMOTIO: the carrying-away that constitutes larceny is the act the commandment prohibits. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARRHABO

[2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARRHABO, p. 89; scan anchor: djvu line 15255 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines earnest as pledge evidencing a completed bargain; the verse uses earnest (arrabon) for the Spirit as the pledge of completion — the legal metaphor in scripture's own mouth. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARRH7E

[2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARRH7E, p. 89; scan anchor: djvu line 15258 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines earnest as pledge evidencing a completed bargain; the verse uses earnest (arrabon) for the Spirit as the pledge of completion — the legal metaphor in scripture's own mouth. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ARROGATION

[Romans 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ARROGATION, p. 90; scan anchor: djvu line 15371 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines adoption in the civil law; the verse states the doctrine of adoption in its highest form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ART AND PART

[Proverbs 29:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Whoso is partner with a thief hateth his own soul: he heareth cursing, and bewrayeth it not. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 29:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ART AND PART, p. 90; scan anchor: djvu line 15471 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as AXRT AND PAIRT: the Scotch accessory term for aiding crime. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSAOH

[Matthew 5:34, 5:37, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne. But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:34, 5:37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSAOH, p. 92; scan anchor: djvu line 15851 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is oath-making; the verses are the doctrine of oaths in Jesus' own teaching — the Sermon on the Mount governs the very act the entry describes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSATH

[Matthew 5:34, 5:37, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne. But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:34, 5:37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSATH, p. 98; scan anchor: djvu line 15891 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is clearing by the oaths of three hundred men; the oath doctrine in Jesus' teaching governs this oath-form as directly as ABAHO's. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ASSASSINATION

[Exodus 20:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not kill. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSASSINATION, p. 98; scan anchor: djvu line 15882 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names murder for hire; the verse is the divine prohibition of the act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSAULT

[Matthew 5:39, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:39, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSAULT, p. 98; scan anchor: djvu line 15897 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the unlawful offer of bodily hurt; the verse is the Sermon on the Mount's doctrine governing personal violence — the smiting the entry names. Borderline honestly noted: the verse addresses the blow itself, commanding non-retaliation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSECURARE

[Proverbs 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSECURARE, p. 98; scan anchor: djvu line 16012 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as APOORISARITTS: assuring by pledges is the surety doctrine the proverb states. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AS8ISER

[Deuteronomy 25:13-15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not have in thy bag divers weights, a great and a small. Thou shalt not have in thine house divers measures, a great and a small. But thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have: that thy days may be lengthened in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:13-15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AS8ISER, p. 98; scan anchor: djvu line 16832 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry is the officer with oversight of weights and measures; the verse is the just-weights law his office exists to enforce. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSYTHEMENT

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSYTHEMENT, p. 100; scan anchor: djvu line 17140 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as AN GILD: damages to the murdered person's kin are precisely the satisfaction-payment the verse regulates. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSXTHMENT

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSXTHMENT, p. 98; scan anchor: djvu line 16869 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Distinct headword, same genuine link as AN GILD: weregild compensation bounded by the verse. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASSUMPSIT

[Ecclesiastes 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for he hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSUMPSIT, p. 99; scan anchor: djvu line 16981 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the promise or undertaking; the verse states the binding force of what is undertaken. Borderline honestly noted: vow vs common-law promise — the obligation-of-the-undertaking is the bridge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ASSOILZIE

[Romans 8:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASSOILZIE, p. 99; scan anchor: djvu line 16971 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is acquittal — finding the accused not guilty; the verse states acquittal absolutely: no condemnation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ALTERUM NON LMDERE

[Romans 13:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ALTERUM NON LMDERE, p. 93; scan anchor: djvu line 10982 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is Justinian's second fundamental precept, 'not to injure another'; the apostolic sentence states the same rule in the same form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASTIPULATION

[Amos 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Can two walk together, except they be agreed? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASTIPULATION, p. 100; scan anchor: djvu line 17145 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines astipulation as mutual agreement, assent and consent between parties. Amos 3:3 states the principle that joint action presupposes agreement — the substance of a stipulation. Spoken by the prophet, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ASTRUM

[Exodus 21:13-14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he shall flee. But if a man come presumptuously upon his neighbour, to slay him with guile; thou shalt take him from mine altar, that he may die. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:13-14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ASTRUM, p. 100; scan anchor: djvu line 17177 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. OCR caveat: the chunk body for headword ASTRUM merges the ASTRUM entry with the following ASYLUM entry ('a sanctuary, or place of refuge and protection, where criminals and debtors found shelter'). The verse bears on the asylum portion: God's own institution of a place of refuge for the unintentional slayer, with the altar itself as sanctuary. First-person divine speech ('I will appoint thee a place', 'mine altar'), hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ATHA

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ATHA, p. 101; scan anchor: djvu line 17279 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines atha as an oath and the power of exacting/administering one. Hebrews 6:16 gives the oath's legal function verbatim: sworn by the greater, it ends strife — i.e., confirmation. Author's exposition, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ATHEIST

[Psalm 14:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 14:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ATHEIST, p. 101; scan anchor: djvu line 17283 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines an atheist as one who does not believe in the existence of a God. Psalm 14:1 is the classic scriptural portrait of exactly that denial. Psalmist's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ATXA

[Proverbs 10:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Hatred stirreth up strifes: but love covereth all sins. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 10:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ATXA, p. 101; scan anchor: djvu line 17289 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines atxa as hatred or ill-will. The proverb names hatred's fruit (strife) directly — genuine thematic fit for the legal term's substance. Proverb, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ATTEST

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ATTEST, p. 103; scan anchor: djvu line 17622 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines attest as witnessing an instrument's execution and subscribing as witness. Deut 19:15 is the foundational witness-number rule of biblical law — a matter is established at the mouth of two or three witnesses. Spoken by Moses, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ATTESTATION

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ATTESTATION, p. 103; scan anchor: djvu line 17642 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines attestation as the act of witnessing an instrument at the maker's request. Same foundational verse as ATTEST: the attesting witness is the figure the verse regulates. Moses speaking, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ATTORNEY

[1 John 2:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 2:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ATTORNEY, p. 103; scan anchor: djvu line 17703 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines attorney in the general sense as one appointed to act in the place or stead of another. 1 John 2:1 names Christ as our 'advocate with the Father' — the advocate/intercessor standing in another's stead, the exact office the entry describes. Epistolary, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

AUDIT

[Luke 16:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AUDIT, p. 105; scan anchor: djvu line 18018 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines audit as the official investigation and examination of accounts. Luke 16:2 shows the master demanding exactly that — an account of the stewardship — before removing the steward. The words are Jesus', spoken in the parable of the unjust steward, hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AUTHORITY

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AUTHORITY, p. 106; scan anchor: djvu line 18283 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines authority in governmental law as legal power, the right to command. Romans 13:1 grounds that power's legitimacy: all power is of God, the powers that be ordained of God. Paul's exposition, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AUTREFOIS

[Nahum 1:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Nahum (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. What do ye imagine against the Lord? he will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Nahum 1:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AUTREFOIS, p. 106; scan anchor: djvu line 18357 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's operative sense is autrefois acquit — the plea that the defendant was already tried and acquitted for the same offense (no second jeopardy). Nahum 1:9 states the underlying principle: affliction shall not rise up the second time. Historically cited in double-jeopardy reasoning; the fit is to the principle, stated honestly. Nahum speaking, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AVAL

[Proverbs 11:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AVAL, p. 108; scan anchor: djvu line 18451 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines aval as an act of suretyship on a bill of exchange. Proverbs 11:15 is the classic warning on suretiship itself — the surety shall smart for it — which bears directly on the aval signer's undertaking. Proverb, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AVAKTURE

[Ecclesiastes 9:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. but time and chance happeneth to them all. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 9:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AVAKTURE, p. 108; scan anchor: djvu line 18463 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines avakture (Law French) as chance, hazard, mischance. Ecclesiastes 9:11 names time and chance as the governing force behind outcomes — the same concept. Quoted as the verse's closing clause. Qoheleth speaking, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AVARIA, AVARXE

[Jonah 1:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jonah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jonah 1:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AVARIA, AVARXE, p. 108; scan anchor: djvu line 18466 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines avaria/average as loss and damage suffered in navigation. Jonah 1:5 depicts the paradigmatic general-average act: mariners jettisoning cargo (casting wares into the sea) to lighten the ship and save it — voluntary sacrifice of goods in peril, the very substance of average. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AVOWTERER

[Leviticus 20:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And the man that committeth adultery with another man's wife, even he that committeth adultery with his neighbour's wife, the adulterer and the adulteress shall surely be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 20:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AVOWTERER, p. 109; scan anchor: djvu line 18778 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines avowterer as the adulterer with whom a married woman continues in adultery. Leviticus 20:10 names the adulterer (and adulteress) directly and states the legal consequence. The verse stands inside the 'And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying' speech block (20:1),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

AVOWTRY

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry AVOWTRY, p. 109; scan anchor: djvu line 18782 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines avowtry as adultery in old English law. Exodus 20:14 is the Decalogue's direct prohibition of the act — God's own speech ('And God spake all these words, saying'), hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BAILMENT

[Matthew 25:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BAILMENT, p. 114; scan anchor: djvu line 19411 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines bailment as delivery of goods by one person to another in trust for a special object. The parable of the talents opens with exactly that: the master delivering his goods unto his servants in trust. Jesus' own words in the parable, hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BAILIFF

[Luke 12:42, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 12:42, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BAILIFF, p. 113; scan anchor: djvu line 19304 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's general sense defines bailiff as one to whom care or jurisdiction is delivered — a steward deputed to take charge of another's affairs. Luke 12:42 pictures the faithful and wise steward set over the household. Jesus speaking ('And the Lord said'), hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BANISHMENT

[Genesis 3:23-24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken. So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the garden of Eden Cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 3:23-24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BANISHMENT, p. 116; scan anchor: djvu line 19880 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines banishment as compelling one to quit a place. The expulsion from Eden is the archetypal banishment — driven out and barred from return. Narrative description, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BANKRUPT

[Matthew 18:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BANKRUPT, p. 118; scan anchor: djvu line 20088 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a bankrupt as one liable to seizure and distribution of his entire property among creditors. The parable's debtor who 'had not to pay' faces exactly that: himself, his family, and all that he had sold for payment. Jesus' parable words, hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BANKRUPT LAW

[Deuteronomy 15:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. At the end of every seven years thou shalt make a release. And this is the manner of the release: Every creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour shall release it; he shall not exact it of his neighbour, or of his brother; because it is called the LORD's release. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 15:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BANKRUPT LAW, p. 118; scan anchor: djvu line 20113 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines bankrupt law as providing both the creditors' remedy and the bankrupt's relief and restitution. The sabbatical release is the biblical debt-relief institution: every seven years creditors release what was lent. Moses speaking, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BANS OF MATRIMONY

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BANS OF MATRIMONY, p. 119; scan anchor: djvu line 20312 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the bans as the public announcement of an intended marriage. Genesis 2:24 is the foundational text of the marriage union itself — the institution the bans proclaim. Narrator's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BARRETOR

[Proverbs 6:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Frowardness is in his heart, he deviseth mischief continually; he soweth discord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BARRETOR, p. 121; scan anchor: djvu line 20698 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a barretor as a common mover and exciter of suits and quarrels who spreads calumnies 'whereby discord and disquiet may grow among neighbors.' Proverbs 6:14 portraits exactly that figure: devising mischief continually, sowing discord. Proverb, not deity speech. (BARRATOR and BARRETRT left bare — same verse would be padding.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BASTARD

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BASTARD, p. 122; scan anchor: djvu line 20867 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a bastard as a child born of unlawful intercourse while the parents are unmarried. Deuteronomy 23:2 states the biblical legal disability attaching to that status — exclusion from the congregation to the tenth generation. Moses speaking, not deity speech. (BASTARD A, BASTARDIZE, BASTARDY, BASTARDY PROCESS left bare — same verse would be padding.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BATTERY

[Exodus 21:18-19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if men strive together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed: If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit: only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:18-19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BATTERY, p. 122; scan anchor: djvu line 20988 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines battery as unlawful beating or wrongful physical violence inflicted on a human being. Exodus 21:18-19 is the biblical battery law: smiting with stone or fist, with the smiter's liability for lost time and healing. The verses stand inside the divine-speech block opened at Exodus 20:22 ('the LORD said unto Moses, Thus thou shalt say'), hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BAWD

[Leviticus 19:29, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Do not prostitute thy daughter, to cause her to be a whore; lest the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BAWD, p. 122; scan anchor: djvu line 21032 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a bawd as one who procures opportunities for illicit cohabitation. Leviticus 19:29 prohibits exactly that procuring — causing another to be a whore. The verse stands inside the 'And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying' speech block (19:1-2), hence deity_verbatim. (BAWDY-HOUSE left bare — same verse would be padding.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BEG

[Mark 10:46, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Mark (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples and a great number of people, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the highway side begging. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 10:46, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BEG, p. 125; scan anchor: djvu line 21332 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines beg as soliciting alms. Mark 10:46 shows the act in its classic form: blind Bartimaeus sitting by the highway side begging. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BEGGAR

[Luke 16:20-21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, And desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table: moreover the dogs came and licked his sores. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:20-21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BEGGAR, p. 125; scan anchor: djvu line 21345 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a beggar as one who lives by begging charity, with no other means of support than solicited alms. Lazarus is scripture's named beggar — laid at the gate, desiring crumbs from the rich man's table. Jesus' parable words, hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BEAMS AND BALANCE

[Leviticus 19:35-36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in meteyard, in weight, or in measure. Just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, shall ye have: I am the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:35-36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BEAMS AND BALANCE, p. 124; scan anchor: djvu line 21143 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines beams and balance as instruments for weighing goods and merchandise. Leviticus 19:35-36 regulates exactly those instruments: no unrighteousness in weight or measure; just balances, just weights. Inside the 'And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying' speech block (19:1-2), hence deity_verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BENEVOLENCE

[2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BENEVOLENCE, p. 128; scan anchor: djvu line 21794 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines benevolence as doing a kind or helpful action toward another under no obligation except an ethical one. 2 Corinthians 9:7 describes giving 'not grudgingly, or of necessity' but as purposed in the heart — benevolence's exact definition. Paul's exposition, not deity speech. (BENEVOLENT left bare — same verse would be padding.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BEQUEST

[Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BEQUEST, p. 128; scan anchor: djvu line 21921 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a bequest as a gift by will of personal property. Hebrews 9:16-17 states the essence of the testamentary gift: it takes force only after the testator's death. Author's exposition, not deity speech. (BEQUEATH left bare — same verse would be padding.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BETROTHMENT

[Hosea 2:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in lovingkindness, and in mercies. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hosea 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BETROTHMENT, p. 129; scan anchor: djvu line 22103 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BETROTHMENT is the engagement contract, the solemn promise of marriage to come. Hosea 2:19 uses betrothal itself as the very image of covenant: God's first-person pledge to Israel in the language of a wedding engagement — the verse is the theological archetype of the legal concept. Deity verbatim: first-person divine speech ('I will betroth thee'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BESTIAUTY

[Leviticus 18:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Neither shalt thou lie with any beast to defile thyself therewith: neither shall any woman stand before a beast to lie down thereto: it is confusion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BESTIAUTY, p. 129; scan anchor: djvu line 22051 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BESTIAUTY (bestiality) was a capital crime at common law; Black's 2e treats it as a felony offense. Leviticus 18:23 is the direct scriptural prohibition of the act, within the holiness code's catalogue of forbidden unions. Deity verbatim: spoken by the LORD to Moses (Lev 18:1-2 frame) as divine command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BIGAMY

[Romans 7:2-3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So then if, while her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress: but if her husband be dead, she is free from that law; so that she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 7:2-3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIGAMY, p. 131; scan anchor: djvu line 22412 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BIGAMY — marrying again while a prior marriage subsists — is exactly the case Paul dissects: a woman bound by the marriage law to her husband while he liveth, an 'adulteress' if married to another while he lives, free only by his death. The verse states the legal rule the crime of bigamy criminalizes. Paul's apostolic teaching, not the deity's own speech, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BILATERAL CONTRACT

[Exodus 19:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 19:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BILATERAL CONTRACT, p. 132; scan anchor: djvu line 22501 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A bilateral contract is an exchange of promises — offer and acceptance. The Sinai covenant is its archetype: God offers terms ('if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me') and the people accept ('All that the LORD hath spoken we will do,' Ex 19:8). Mutual obligation founded on mutual assent. Deity verbatim: the LORD's own words to Israel via Moses (Ex 19:3-6 frame). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BIND

[Numbers 30:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIND, p. 136; scan anchor: djvu line 23276 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BIND in its legal sense — to lay oneself under an enforceable obligation — is here in the verse's own vocabulary: 'to bind his soul with a bond,' with the corollary that he 'shall not break his word.' The verse is the scriptural root of the principle that self-imposed obligations are enforceable. Moses reports the LORD's command (Num 30:1) rather than the deity speaking directly in the quoted words, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BISHOP

[1 Timothy 3:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. This is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work. A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BISHOP, p. 136; scan anchor: djvu line 23344 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry BISHOP covers the ecclesiastical office and its qualifications (also civilly cognizable in church courts and offices). 1 Timothy 3:1-2 is the classic charter of the office: the bishop as 'good work' with a stated list of fitness qualifications — the scriptural job description the legal office assumes. Paul's pastoral instruction, not deity speech, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BIAS

[John 7:24, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 7:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BIAS, p. 130; scan anchor: djvu line 22221 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BIAS in legal usage is the prejudgment that disqualifies a judge or juror. Jesus' command is the direct condemnation of judging by outward appearance rather than righteousness — the scriptural definition of the impartiality the legal doctrine of bias protects. Deity verbatim: Jesus' own words to the temple crowd (John 7:21). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BLASPHEMY

[Leviticus 24:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he that blasphemeth the name of the LORD, he shall surely be put to death, and all the congregation shall certainly stone him: as well the stranger, as he that is born in the land, when he blasphemeth the name of the LORD, shall be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 24:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BLASPHEMY, p. 138; scan anchor: djvu line 23637 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BLASPHEMY — 'speaking evil of the Deity' — entered English and American criminal law as an offense; Leviticus 24:16 is the direct scriptural criminalization of the same act, blaspheming the name of the LORD, with the penalty. The verse is the fountainhead of the crime at law. Deity verbatim: spoken by the LORD to Moses (Lev 24:13 frame, 'the LORD spake unto Moses, saying'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BONDAGE

[Exodus 20:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BONDAGE, p. 143; scan anchor: djvu line 24495 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BONDAGE is slavery, involuntary servitude. 'The house of bondage' is scripture's own term for it — Egypt, the archetype of servitude from which deliverance comes, named here by God Himself at the opening of the Decalogue. The KJV's 'bondage' language is the root of the legal term's English usage. Deity verbatim: God's own speech ('And God spake all these words, saying,' Ex 20:1). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BONDSMAN

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, If thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, Thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BONDSMAN, p. 143; scan anchor: djvu line 24503 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BONDSMAN is one who has entered a bond as surety. Proverbs 6:1-2 names the office ('surety for thy friend') and the ancient act of entering it ('stricken thy hand with a stranger') — the hand-strike being the very gesture of bonding oneself — with the warning that the bond is binding ('snared with the words of thy mouth'). The verse is the scriptural anatomy of suretyship. Solomon's instruction, not deity speech, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BOOTY

[Deuteronomy 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the spoil thereof, shalt thou take unto thyself; and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which the LORD thy God hath given thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BOOTY, p. 145; scan anchor: djvu line 24792 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BOOTY is property captured from the enemy in war on land. Deuteronomy 20:14 is the scriptural law of land-warfare spoil: the conqueror may take 'all the spoil' of the city to himself — the legal right of booty stated as statute. Moses' discourse, not the deity's own speech, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BOUNDARY

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BOUNDARY, p. 147; scan anchor: djvu line 25212 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BOUNDARY — the separation marking the confine of estates — is a matter of statute in Deut 19:14: the ancient landmark of the inheritance may not be removed. The verse is the scriptural root of the law against boundary encroachment and the action for removing landmarks. Moses' discourse, not the deity's own speech, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BRIBERY

[Exodus 23:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BRIBERY, p. 152; scan anchor: djvu line 25940 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BRIBERY — the receiving or offering of undue reward to influence official conduct — is directly criminalized in Ex 23:8: the 'gift' that blinds the wise and perverts judgment. The verse states both the prohibition and the mischief the crime works (perversion of judgment). The offense, not the thing (BRIBE), so BRIBE itself stays bare per the anti-padding rule. Divine law relayed in the Book of the Covenant, not first-person divine speech, so deity_verbatim stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BRIBOUR

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BRIBOUR, p. 152; scan anchor: djvu line 25991 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BRIBOUR is 'one that pilfers other men's goods; a thief.' Exodus 20:15 is the direct divine prohibition of the thief's act — the shortest and most absolute criminalization of theft in the tradition the common law grew from. Deity verbatim: God's own speech ('And God spake all these words, saying,' Ex 20:1). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BUGGERY

[Leviticus 18:22, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind: it is abomination. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BUGGERY, p. 155; scan anchor: djvu line 26446 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BUGGERY — carnal copulation against nature — was a capital offense at common law; Lev 18:22 is the direct scriptural prohibition of the act, distinct from Lev 18:23 (already deployed at BESTIAUTY) though in the same chapter. The verse is the fountainhead of the offense. Deity verbatim: spoken by the LORD to Moses (Lev 18:1-2 frame). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BREAKING

[Exodus 22:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BREAKING, p. 160; scan anchor: djvu line 25625 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. BREAKING in the burglary sense — forcibly piercing the dwelling to enter — is the actus reus addressed in Ex 22:2: the thief 'breaking up' (breaking in) by night may be slain without blood-guilt, the law distinguishing the nocturnal housebreaker. The verse is the scriptural root of the burglary doctrine of 'breaking.' Within the LORD's judgments (Ex 21:1 frame), treated as deity verbatim per the same standing call as BATTERY's Ex 21:18-19. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BUL

[1 Kings 6:38, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, was the house finished throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the fashion of it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Kings 6:38, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BUL, p. 155; scan anchor: djvu line 26499 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This verse is the primary scriptural attestation of the term itself — the entry defines the Hebrew month Bul, and the verse names it as the eighth month, anchoring the definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BULLA

[Esther 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Esther (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Esther 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BULLA, p. 155; scan anchor: djvu line 26528 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A bulla is an official seal of authority; this verse states the legal force such sealing carried — an instrument sealed by the sovereign's ring could not be reversed — genuinely illuminating the seal's legal function. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BUNDA

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BUNDA, p. 150 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 26580 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bunda is a bound/boundary; the verse is the biblical landmark law protecting boundaries from removal, directly illuminating the legal concept of a fixed bound. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BURDEN OF PROOF

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BURDEN OF PROOF, p. 150; scan anchor: djvu line 26592 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the duty of affirmatively proving disputed facts; the verse lays down the ancient rule for when a matter is established by evidence — the root concept of the evidentiary burden. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BURGLAR

[Exodus 22:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BURGLAR, p. 150; scan anchor: djvu line 26722 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the night house-breaker with felonious intent; the verse is the biblical law on the thief caught 'breaking up' — the precise act, genuinely illuminating the offense's gravity. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BURGLARY

[Matthew 24:43, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But know this, that if the goodman of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 24:43, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BURGLARY, p. 157; scan anchor: djvu line 26753 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines breaking and entering the house by night; the verse depicts exactly that act — the house broken up by the night thief — illuminating the core wrong of the offense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BURIAL

[Genesis 23:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I am a stranger and a sojourner with you: give me a possession of a buryingplace with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BURIAL, p. 157; scan anchor: djvu line 26788 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry treats burial as a matter of interment rights; the verse is the first legal transaction for burial land in scripture — a purchase of possession of a buryingplace. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BURYING-GROUND

[Genesis 23:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the field, and the cave that is therein, were made sure unto Abraham for a possession of a buryingplace by the sons of Heth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 23:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BURYING-GROUND, p. 157; scan anchor: djvu line 26867 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A burying-ground is land conveyed and set apart for interment; the verse records the formal conveyance of such a ground — 'made sure... for a possession of a buryingplace' — the legal instrument behind the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

BURSAR

[John 13:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For some of them thought, because Judas had the bag, that Jesus had said unto him, Buy those things that we have need of against the feast; or, that he should give something to the poor. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 13:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BURSAR, p. 157; scan anchor: djvu line 26854 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A bursar is the keeper of a college's funds; the verse shows the office of the purse-keeper in the apostolic company — one man holding the common bag — genuinely illuminating the treasurer's office. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

BUY

[Genesis 23:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. That he may give me the cave of Machpelah, which he hath, which is in the end of his field; for as much money as it is worth he shall give it me for a possession of a buryingplace. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 23:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry BUY, p. 158; scan anchor: djvu line 26988 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines buying as acquiring ownership by giving an accepted price; the verse is the biblical archetype of the bargained land purchase — full money paid for a possession — genuinely illuminating the concept of price-for-ownership. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GADUGA

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GADUGA, p. 161; scan anchor: djvu line 27392 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry (headword OCR'd as GADUGA = CADUCA) defines property of inheritable quality descending to an heir; the verse fixes the heir's legal right — the firstborn's double portion — genuinely illuminating heirship by descent. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

C1ESAR

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry C1ESAR, p. 161; scan anchor: djvu line 27409 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry (headword OCR'd as C1ESAR = CÆSAR) defines the Roman imperial title; the verse is Jesus' own ruling on what is owed to that title's bearer — the verse genuinely illuminates Caesar's legal claim on his subjects. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CALUMKIA

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CALUMKIA, p. 162; scan anchor: djvu line 27677 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry (headword OCR'd as CALUMKIA = CALUMNIA) defines false accusation / malicious prosecution; the Ninth Commandment is the root prohibition of false witness, genuinely illuminating the wrong calumnia names. Deity verbatim speech per the classic red-letter convention (the Decalogue spoken by God). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CALUMNIATOR

[Deuteronomy 19:18-19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsely against his brother; Then shall ye do unto him, as he had thought to have done unto his brother: so shalt thou put the evil away from among you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:18-19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CALUMNIATOR, p. 162; scan anchor: djvu line 27745 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A calumniator is one who accuses another without cause; the verses lay down the legal consequence for the false witness — suffering what he meant for his brother — genuinely illuminating the law's treatment of the malicious accuser. Flag off: Deuteronomy's frame is Moses recounting, not divine first-person speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CALUMNY

[Proverbs 19:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false witness shall not be unpunished, and he that speaketh lies shall not escape. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 19:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CALUMNY, p. 162; scan anchor: djvu line 27750 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Calumny is defamation, slander, false accusation; the proverb states the certain consequence for the false witness and the liar — genuinely illuminating the concept. Flag off: wisdom literature, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CAMBIATOR

[Matthew 21:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 21:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAMBIATOR, p. 162; scan anchor: djvu line 27765 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the cambiator as an exchanger of money, a money-changer; the verse shows the moneychangers' tables in the temple — the office and its public standing — genuinely illuminating who a money-changer was. Flag off: narrative description, not Jesus' words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CANCEL

[Colossians 2:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 2:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CANCEL, p. 164; scan anchor: djvu line 27917 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To cancel is to destroy the effect of an instrument by obliteration; the verse depicts exactly that legal image — the handwritten bond blotted out and taken out of the way — genuinely illuminating cancellation as a concept. Flag off: Paul's epistle, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CANDLEMAS-DAY

[Luke 2:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And when the days of her purification according to the law of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Luke 2:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CANDLEMAS-DAY, p. 164; scan anchor: djvu line 28005 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Candlemas-Day is kept in honor of the Virgin Mary's purification forty days after the birth; the verse records the scriptural event the feast commemorates — the purification according to the law of Moses — genuinely illuminating the entry. Flag off: narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CAPTURE

[Deuteronomy 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the spoil thereof, shalt thou take unto thyself; and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which the LORD thy God hath given thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAPTURE, p. 169; scan anchor: djvu line 28705 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's international-law sense is the taking of enemy property by a belligerent; the verse is the biblical law of war-spoil — the enemy's property taken unto the captor — genuinely illuminating capture as a legal concept. Flag off: Deuteronomy's frame is Moses recounting, not divine first-person speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CARNAL

[Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CARNAL, p. 171; scan anchor: djvu line 29155 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines carnal knowledge as sexual bodily connection, the core of rape indictments; the verse is the biblical law on forced lying-with — the legal treatment of the very wrong — genuinely illuminating the concept. Flag off: Deuteronomy's frame is Moses recounting, not divine first-person speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CASUALTY

[Exodus 21:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he shall flee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CASUALTY, p. 175; scan anchor: djvu line 29860 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Casualty is inevitable accident — an event not foreseen or guarded against; the verse is the biblical law separating the accidental slayer from the murderer, genuinely establishing accident as a legal category. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OATALLI8 REDDENDIS

[Exodus 22:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man deliver unto his neighbour an ass, or an ox, or a sheep, or any beast, to keep; and it die, or be hurt, or driven away, no man seeing it: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OATALLI8 REDDENDIS, p. 176; scan anchor: djvu line 29979 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ lies for the return of chattels delivered to a man to keep; the verse opens the biblical law of deposit — goods delivered to a neighbour to keep — genuinely illuminating the bailment behind the writ. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CATCHINGS

[Genesis 1:28, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CATCHINGS, p. 176; scan anchor: djvu line 30001 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Catchings are things caught into a party's possession, custody, power, and dominion; the verse grants dominion over every living thing that moves — the root of capture-by-dominion. Flagged: 'And God said unto them' — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CATTLE

[Psalm 50:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle upon a thousand hills. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 50:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CATTLE, p. 177; scan anchor: djvu line 30091 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cattle are defined as the class of domestic animals used for labor and food — property; the verse treats cattle as ownable property under divine ownership, genuinely illuminating the property concept. Flag off: Psalms are not red-lettered in the classic convention (borderline, in doubt off). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CAUPO

[Luke 10:34-35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:34-35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAUPO, p. 177; scan anchor: djvu line 30122 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A caupo is an innkeeper; the verses show the host receiving the wounded traveler as a charge, with payment and the promise of more — the innkeeper's office made visible. Flagged per red-letter convention: parables are Jesus' verbatim speech and printed red. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CAUTELA

[Proverbs 22:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself: but the simple pass on, and are punished. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAUTELA, p. 179; scan anchor: djvu line 30435 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cautela is care, caution, vigilance, prevision; the proverb makes foresight the ground of caution — genuinely illuminating prevision as the legal mind's posture. Flag off: wisdom literature, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CATJTIO

[Proverbs 11:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CATJTIO, p. 179; scan anchor: djvu line 30438 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cautio (headword OCR'd as CATJTIO) is security given by way of surety, and the surety himself; the proverb is the biblical word on suretyship — the exact concept. Flag off: wisdom literature, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CAVEAT EMPTOR

[Proverbs 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAVEAT EMPTOR, p. 179; scan anchor: djvu line 30540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Caveat emptor is the buyer's duty to examine, judge, and test for himself; the proverb shows the buyer doing exactly that — disparaging the goods before purchase — the biblical portrait of the maxim's duty. Flag off: wisdom literature. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CAVEAT VENDITOR

[Proverbs 11:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAVEAT VENDITOR, p. 179; scan anchor: djvu line 30559 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Caveat venditor casts responsibility for defects on the seller; the proverb condemns the seller's false measure — the biblical root of seller responsibility for what he sells. Flag off: wisdom literature. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CAVEAT VIATOR

[Matthew 10:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 10:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CAVEAT VIATOR, p. 179; scan anchor: djvu line 30573 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Caveat viator is the traveler's duty of due care on the road; the verse is Jesus' own charge to his travelers to beware — wise as serpents on the way. Flagged: Jesus' verbatim words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CEAPGILD

[Exodus 21:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Or if it be known that the ox hath used to push in time past, and his owner hath not kept him in; he shall surely pay ox for ox; and the dead shall be his own. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CEAPGILD, p. 180; scan anchor: djvu line 30623 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Ceapgild is payment or forfeiture of an animal; the verse imposes ox-for-ox as legal payment — the animal-forfeiture institution itself. Flagged: covenant code, God's spoken law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CELEBRATION OF MARRIAGE

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CELEBRATION OF MARRIAGE, p. 180; scan anchor: djvu line 30669 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the formal act of taking husband and wife; the verse is the foundational statement of the marriage union — one flesh — genuinely illuminating the institution. Flag off: narrator's voice in Genesis (borderline noted; Jesus quotes it as divine speech in Matthew 19:5, but the quoted text here is the Genesis narrator). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CELIBACY

[Matthew 19:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother's womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CELIBACY, p. 180; scan anchor: djvu line 30678 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Celibacy is the unmarried state; the verse is the classic text for voluntary celibacy — those who make themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. Flagged: Jesus' verbatim words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OENEGILD

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OENEGILD, p. 180; scan anchor: djvu line 30708 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cenegild (headword OCR'd as OENEGILD) is the expiatory fine paid to the murdered person's kin; the verse addresses exactly this payment — and forbids it, refusing the ransom the Saxon law allowed. The contradiction is the illumination. Flagged: the LORD's spoken command to Moses, per the text's own frame. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CENSUS

[Numbers 1:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Take ye the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 1:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CENSUS, p. 0 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 30820 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A census is the official enumeration of the people; the verse is the commanded biblical census — the institution's archetype. Flagged: the LORD's spoken command to Moses, per the text's own frame. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CENSURE

[Matthew 18:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CENSURE, p. 0 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 30803 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Censure is ecclesiastical spiritual punishment; the verse prescribes church discipline — the exclusion of the unrepentant — genuinely illuminating censure as an institution. Flagged: Jesus' verbatim words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CENTESIMA

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CENTESIMA, p. 0 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 30866 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Centesima is interest reckoned monthly — the law of interest; the verse is the biblical usury law, the root of all interest regulation. Flagged: covenant code, God's spoken law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CESSIO BONORUM

[Deuteronomy 15:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. At the end of every seven years thou shalt make a release. And this is the manner of the release: Every creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour shall release it; he shall not exact it of his neighbour, or of his brother; because it is called the LORD's release. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 15:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CESSIO BONORUM, p. 185; scan anchor: djvu line 31504 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cessio bonorum is the insolvent debtor's surrender of all property for his creditors — the discharge; the verses command the sabbatical release, in which every creditor releases what his neighbour owes — the biblical root of the debtor's discharge. Flag off: Deuteronomy's frame is Moses recounting. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CESTUI, CESTUT

[Leviticus 25:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are strangers and sojourners with me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CESTUI, CESTUT, p. 186; scan anchor: djvu line 31606 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The cestui que trust holds the beneficial interest while legal title is in another; the verse places legal title in God ('the land is mine') and beneficial sojourn in man — the split-ownership structure that is the trust's essence. Flagged: the LORD's spoken law, per the text's own frame. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHAMBER, WIDOW'S

[Deuteronomy 24:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the stranger, nor of the fatherless; nor take a widow's raiment to pledge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHAMBER, WIDOW'S, p. 187; scan anchor: djvu line 31886 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The widow's chamber is the portion of a deceased's effects — her apparel and bed-chamber furniture — reserved to the widow; the verse forbids taking the widow's raiment as pledge, reserving her apparel to her by law. Flag off: Deuteronomy's frame is Moses recounting. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CHAMBERLAIN

[1 Chronicles 27:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Chronicles (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And over the king's treasures was Azmaveth the son of Adiel: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Chronicles 27:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHAMBERLAIN, p. 188; scan anchor: djvu line 31934 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The chamberlain was originally the keeper of the prince's treasure chamber — the treasurer; the verse names the officer set over the king's treasures, genuinely attesting the office. Flag off: narrative roster. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHAMPION

[1 Samuel 17:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And there went out a champion out of the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath, of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 17:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHAMPION, p. 189; scan anchor: djvu line 32083 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A champion is one who fights single combat in his own cause or another's; the verse names Goliath 'a champion' going out to fight for the Philistine host — the word and the institution together. Flag off: narrative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHARACTER

[Proverbs 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHARACTER, p. 190; scan anchor: djvu line 32405 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Character in law is the aggregate of moral qualities distinguishing a person — reputation in evidence; the proverb sets the value of a good name above riches, genuinely illuminating character as a legal asset. Flag off: wisdom literature. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHARITY

[1 Corinthians 13:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 13:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry CHARITY, p. 102 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 32704 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Charity objectively is alms-giving, acts of benevolence; the verse is the biblical locus on bestowing all goods to feed the poor as charity — genuinely illuminating the entry's objective sense. Flag off: Paul's epistle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHASTITY

[1 Thessalonians 4:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Thessalonians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Thessalonians 4:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHASTITY, p. 194; scan anchor: djvu line 33022 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Chastity is abstinence from unlawful sexual connection; the verse commands exactly that abstinence as God's will — the entry's definition in scripture. Flag off: epistle. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHATTEL MORTGAGE

[Deuteronomy 24:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. No man shall take the nether or the upper millstone to pledge: for he taketh a man's life to pledge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHATTEL MORTGAGE, p. 194; scan anchor: djvu line 33088 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A chattel mortgage is the pledge of personalty with defeasance; the verse is the biblical law on taking pledges of personal property — genuinely illuminating the pledge concept. Flag off: Deuteronomy's Moses-frame. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHEAT

[Micah 6:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Shall I count them pure with the wicked balances, and with the bag of deceitful weights? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHEAT, p. 195; scan anchor: djvu line 33200 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cheat is defrauding by wilful device; the verse condemns the wicked balances and the bag of deceitful weights — cheating by device. Flag off: the prophet's voice within the oracle (borderline; in doubt, off). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CHILDREN

[Psalm 127:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lo, children are an heritage of the LORD: and the fruit of the womb is his reward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 127:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHILDREN, p. 197; scan anchor: djvu line 33502 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry treats 'children' in bequests and devises — descent and distribution; the verse names children a heritage — genuinely illuminating the inheritance context. Flag off: Psalms, doubt clause. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHIMIN

[Numbers 20:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. we will go by the king's high way, we will not turn to the right hand nor to the left, until we have passed thy borders. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 20:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHIMIN, p. 197; scan anchor: djvu line 33585 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Chimin is the road or highway, above all the king's highway; the verse shows the king's highway as a public right of passage — the legal concept in use. Flag off: narrative, the messengers' words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHRENEORUDA

[Leviticus 25:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath sold away some of his possession, and if any of his kin come to redeem it, then shall he redeem that which his brother sold. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHRENEORUDA, p. 199; scan anchor: djvu line 33842 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Chreneoruda is the Salic ceremony of the man too poor to pay, applying to a rich kinsman to pay for him; the verse is the kinsman-redeemer law — the kin redeeming the poor brother's sold possession — the biblical form of the same institution. Flagged: the LORD's spoken law, per the text's own frame. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHRISTIANITY

[Acts 11:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 11:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CHRISTIANITY, p. 199; scan anchor: djvu line 33875 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christianity is the religion founded by Jesus Christ; the verse records where its adherents were first called Christians — the naming that defines the entry's subject. Flag off: narrative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHRISTMA 8-DAY

[Luke 2:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 2:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHRISTMA 8-DAY, p. 199; scan anchor: djvu line 33898 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christmas-Day is kept in memory of the birth of Jesus Christ; the verse is the nativity itself — the event the feast commemorates. Flag off: narrative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHURCH

[Matthew 16:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHURCH, p. 199; scan anchor: djvu line 33904 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The church is the religious society founded and established by Jesus Christ; the verse is his own founding word on it — 'I will build my church.' Flagged: Jesus' verbatim words. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CHIROGRAPH

[Jeremiah 32:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And I subscribed the evidence, and sealed it, and took witnesses, and weighed him the money in the balances. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 32:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CHIROGRAPH, p. 197; scan anchor: djvu line 33623 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A chirograph is a deed attested by subscription; the verse shows the subscribed, sealed, and witnessed deed of purchase — the attested written instrument itself. Flag off: the prophet's own account of his act, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CITE

[Romans 14:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 14:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CITE, p. 202; scan anchor: djvu line 34381 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. In its summons sense: 'to command the presence of a person... require his appearance thereto.' The verse is the archetype of the summons — every person commanded to appear before a judgment seat. It illuminates the juridical act of summoning, not merely the word. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CITIZEN

[Ephesians 2:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CITIZEN, p. 202; scan anchor: djvu line 34396 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a citizen as a member of a jural society 'under its constitution and government.' Paul's 'fellowcitizens with the saints' is citizenship language proper — membership in a body politic under a common law — not a loose metaphor. Genuine, not decorative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CITY

[Psalm 127:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Except the LORD keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 127:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CITY, p. 203; scan anchor: djvu line 34494 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's city is an organized body politic under government. The Psalm places that guarded polity inside a higher jurisdiction: watchmen, walls, and municipal order are vain without the LORD's keeping. It illuminates the legal-political notion of the city, not scenery. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CLAM

[Luke 8:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For nothing is secret, that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid, that shall not be known and come abroad. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 8:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CLAM, p. 205; scan anchor: djvu line 34938 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Black's quotes the maxim 'Those sinning secretly are punished more severely than those sinning openly.' The verse bears directly on it: secrecy is only apparent — the hidden will be made manifest, i.e., tried in the open. The verse illuminates the maxim's doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CLEAR

[Acts 24:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 24:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CLEAR, p. 207; scan anchor: djvu line 35185 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry: 'Irreproachable; Innocent of fraud or wrongdoing.' Paul speaks before a Roman tribunal (Felix); a conscience 'void of offence' is the standing of the cleared — the person against whom no charge will lie. The entry is the legal state; the verse is its human bearing. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CLENGE

[Exodus 34:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. and that will by no means clear the guilty. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 34:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CLENGE, p. 207; scan anchor: djvu line 35286 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Old Scots: 'to acquit of a criminal charge.' The entry names the acquitting power; the verse states its divine limit — the LORD will by no means clear the guilty. It illuminates acquittal from the other side: the power to clear is bounded by guilt itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CLUB-LAW

[Matthew 26:52, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 26:52, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CLUB-LAW, p. 210; scan anchor: djvu line 35759 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Club-law is 'rule of violence... the law of arms.' The verse is the higher law's verdict on rule by the sword: the instrument of violence becomes the measure of its judgment. A genuine counterpoint to the entry's concept. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CODICIL

[Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CODICIL, p. 212; scan anchor: djvu line 36061 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A codicil is a testamentary disposition. The verse states the juridical nature of the instrument class: a testament takes force only at the testator's death. Directly illuminates what kind of legal act a codicil is. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COERCION

[Matthew 5:41, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:41, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COERCION, p. 212; scan anchor: djvu line 36103 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines compulsion; the verse presupposes legal compulsion as a fact of life (the Roman impressment right) and prescribes conduct under it. It names the coerced subject the entry defines — kept as an honest edge case, not a word-rhyme. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COGNATION

[Acts 17:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 17:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COGNATION, p. 213; scan anchor: djvu line 36183 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's root concept is the blood-tie as the ground of kindred. The verse states the universal ground — one blood — illuminating the concept's foundation. (Paul's Areopagus address; narrative of his speech, not deity speech.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COHABITATION

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry COHABITATION, p. 213; scan anchor: djvu line 36313 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural charter of the marital household — cleaving, one flesh — which is precisely what 'living together as husband and wife' means in law. (Narrator's ordinance, not deity's verbatim speech.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COINAGE

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COINAGE, p. 214; scan anchor: djvu line 36405 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse presupposes coined money bearing the sovereign's image and stamp — coinage as the sovereign's act — and draws the jurisdiction line from it. (Jesus' own words → deity verbatim.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COED WATER ORDEAL

[Numbers 5:27, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. that the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 5:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COED WATER ORDEAL, p. 214; scan anchor: djvu line 36418 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Mosaic water-ordeal for the suspected wife — a juridical procedure in which water renders the verdict. Different rite, same juridical species (trial by ordeal through water); noted as parallel, not identical. (Spoken within the LORD's direct instruction to Moses, Num 5:11 — deity speech → flagged.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COLLYBISTA

[Matthew 21:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 21:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COLLYBISTA, p. 217; scan anchor: djvu line 36860 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The most famous scriptural scene of the money-changer's office — tables, temple, trade — showing the occupation the entry names in its historical setting. (Narrative about Jesus, not His verbatim speech: no red-letter flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact)

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

[basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COLOR

[Matthew 7:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 7:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COLOR, p. 217; scan anchor: djvu line 36903 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's genus is the assumed exterior concealing the lack of reality — color as pretext. The verse is its archetype: sheep's clothing over the ravening wolf. Genuine bearing on the legal concept. (Jesus' own words: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMMAND

[Exodus 20:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt have no other gods before me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMMAND, p. 219; scan anchor: djvu line 37296 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Decalogue is the archetype of the authoritative imperative — a command in the full legal sense, binding direction from a superior. The verse illuminates what a 'command' is at its most absolute. (Deity's verbatim speech: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMMENDATORY LETTERS

[2 Corinthians 3:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Do we begin again to commend ourselves? or need we, as some others, epistles of commendation to you, or letters of commendation from you? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 3:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMMENDATORY LETTERS, p. 220; scan anchor: djvu line 37468 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse names the exact instrument — letters of commendation — commending travelers to a receiving church: the same juridical-diplomatic function as the entry's bishop-to-bishop letters. (Paul's rhetoric, not deity speech: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

COMMODATUM

[Luke 6:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. and lend, hoping for nothing again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 6:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMMODATUM, p. 225; scan anchor: djvu line 38238 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's essence is gratuitousness — use of the thing 'without any pay or reward.' The verse commends exactly that: lending with no hope of return. It illuminates the moral-legal shape of the gratuitous loan. (Jesus' own words: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMMON

[Acts 2:44, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And all that believed were together, and had all things common. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 2:44, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMMON, p. 226; scan anchor: djvu line 38430 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The legal concept of holding in common — goods owned jointly — stated of the first church. Direct bearing on 'shared amongst several; owned by several jointly.' (Narrative: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMMUNIO BONORUM

[Acts 4:32, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. neither said any of them that ought of the things which he possessed was his own; but they had all things common. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 4:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMMUNIO BONORUM, p. 229; scan anchor: djvu line 39022 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Community of goods as a lived juridical fact — possession held without exclusive claim. The entry's exact concept. (Narrative: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMMUTATION

[James 2:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. and mercy rejoiceth against judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 2:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMMUTATION, p. 230; scan anchor: djvu line 39146 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Commutation is the legal form of mercy operating inside judgment — the sentence softened

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

after conviction. The verse states the principle the entry institutionalizes. (Apostolic: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMPACT

[Genesis 31:44, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now therefore come thou, let us make a covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witness between me and thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 31:44, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPACT, p. 230; scan anchor: djvu line 39193 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A compact between two parties sealed with a witness — Jacob and Laban's covenant is the scriptural type of the inter-party compact the entry defines. (Jacob speaking: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMPASSING

[Psalm 2:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 2:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPASSING, p. 232; scan anchor: djvu line 39402 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Imagine' here is compassing — plotting; and the plot is against the LORD's anointed, the king. The archetypal compassing-the-king passage. (Psalmist: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMPENSATION

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPENSATION, p. 232; scan anchor: djvu line 39452 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The archetypal restitution measure — the injured party restored, with the multiple prescribed by law. The entry's concept in its oldest statutory form. (Book of the Covenant, delivered as the LORD's speech: red-letter, consistent with Numbers 5:27 call.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

COMPLAINANT

[Luke 18:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 18:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPLAINANT, p. 233; scan anchor: djvu line 39657 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The widow is the complainant in parable form — one applying to the tribunal for redress against an adversary. The entry's concept, dramatized. (The widow's speech, not deity speech: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMPLICE

[Proverbs 1:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 1:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPLICE, p. 234; scan anchor: djvu line 39756 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse names the exact formation of the complice — union with others in an ill design, via enticement — and forbids it. Genuine bearing. (Wisdom voice: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMPROMISE

[Matthew 5:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPROMISE, p. 235; scan anchor: djvu line 39914 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse counsels exactly the compromise — settle with the adversary before the judge takes the case. Direct bearing on settling a dispute on equitable terms. (Jesus' own words: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COMPROMISSARITJS

[1 Corinthians 6:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COMPROMISSARITJS, p. 235; scan anchor: djvu line 39945 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paul demands the arbitrator's office — a wise man to judge between brethren instead of going to law. The entry's concept, prescribed. (Apostolic: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONCEPTUM

[Exodus 22:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or ass, or sheep; he shall restore double. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONCEPTUM, p. 236; scan anchor: djvu line 40171 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The thing stolen found in his hand — the Mosaic twin of furtum conceptum, with the double-restitution penalty attached. Genuine parallel, noted as such. (Book of the Covenant, the LORD's speech: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONCESSIO

[Genesis 12:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Unto thy seed will I give this land. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 12:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONCESSIO, p. 236; scan anchor: djvu line 40201 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The archetypal grant — land conveyed by the grantor's word. The entry's concept at its most absolute. (The LORD speaking to Abram: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONCILIATION

[Matthew 5:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONCILIATION, p. 237; scan anchor: djvu line 40254 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Conciliation is institutionalized peacemaking — the judge's office as peacemaker between litigants. The verse blesses the reconciling function the entry describes. (Jesus' words: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CONDEMN

[John 3:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 3:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONDEMN, p. 238; scan anchor: djvu line 40563 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verdict of guilt rendered — 'condemned already' is the adjudication of guilt in its most absolute form; the juridical structure (a finding of guilt with its ground stated) matches the entry's first sense. (Jesus speaking: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONDONATION

[Colossians 3:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 3:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONDONATION, p. 241; scan anchor: djvu line 41035 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Condonation is forgiveness of an offense between parties; the verse prescribes mutual forgiveness grounded in Christ's forgiveness — the moral form of the legal act. (Apostolic: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONFESSION

[Joshua 7:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Joshua (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Joshua said unto Achan, My son, give, I pray thee, glory to the LORD God of Israel, and make confession unto him; and tell me now what thou hast done; hide it not from me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 7:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONFESSION, p. 242; scan anchor: djvu line 41216 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A confession of a crime (Achan's theft) exacted before judgment — the judicial confession the entry defines, in its oldest courtroom. (Joshua speaking: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONFRONTATION

[Matthew 18:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONFRONTATION, p. 245; scan anchor: djvu line 41661 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The face-to-face meeting of the accuser with the accused — confrontation as the entry defines it, prescribed as the first step of the procedure. (Jesus' own words: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONJUGAL RIGHTS

[1 Corinthians 7:3-4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let the husband render unto the wife due benevolence: and likewise also the wife unto the husband. The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not power of his own body, but the wife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:3-4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONJUGAL RIGHTS, p. 246; scan anchor: djvu line 41837 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The mutual, reciprocal rights of husband and wife stated as duty — the entry's concept in apostolic form. (Apostolic: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONJURATIO

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONJURATIO, p. 246; scan anchor: djvu line 41883 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse states the juridical function of the oath — confirmation, the end of strife — which is what the sworn confederacy invokes. It illuminates the oath-element of the entry. (Apostolic exposition: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONNIVANCE

[Acts 17:30, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 17:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONNIVANCE, p. 246; scan anchor: djvu line 41928 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's own gloss is 'a winking at' — and the KJV uses exactly that phrase for connivance: God forebearing to see. The verse illuminates the concept in the Authorized Version's own idiom. (Paul: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CONGREGATION

[Hebrews 10:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 10:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONGREGATION, p. 245; scan anchor: djvu line 41765 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The religious assembly as a commanded practice — the entry's congregation described from the inside. (Apostolic: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONSCIENCE

[Romans 2:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 2:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONSCIENCE, p. 247; scan anchor: djvu line 42092 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse describes exactly the entry's faculty — conscience bearing witness, thoughts accusing or excusing one's own conduct. Direct bearing. (Apostolic: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONSECRATE

[Exodus 28:41, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. and consecrate them, and sanctify them, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 28:41, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONSECRATE, p. 248; scan anchor: djvu line 42181 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The consecration of Aaron and his sons — dedication to sacred office by anointing — is the entry's act in its archetypal form. (The LORD instructing Moses: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONSENT

[Amos 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Can two walk together, except they be agreed? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONSENT, p. 249; scan anchor: djvu line 42279 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse states the principle the entry presupposes — no joint undertaking without

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

concurrence of wills. Genuine bearing on consent as the ground of contract. (Prophetic rhetoric inside the LORD's oracle, not first-person divine speech: flag off per the doubt rule.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONSTRUCTION

[Nehemiah 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Nehemiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So they read in the book in the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Nehemiah 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONSTRUCTION, p. 254; scan anchor: djvu line 43236 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The construction of a written law — reading distinctly, giving the sense, causing understanding — performed on the Book of the Law itself. The entry's art, in its archetypal scene. (Narrative: no flag.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GONSTUPRATE

[Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GONSTUPRATE, p. 255; scan anchor: djvu line 43366 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Mosaic statute on the exact crime the entry names — forced violation, with the penalty. The entry's concept in statutory form. (Moses' exposition, not first-person divine speech: flag off per the doubt rule.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONSUETUDO

[Matthew 15:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 15:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONSUETUDO, p. 255; scan anchor: djvu line 43392 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse adjudicates custom-as-law — tradition weighed against commandment and found wanting where they conflict. It illuminates custom's place and limit as a source of law. (Jesus' own words: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CONTEMPT

[Exodus 22:28, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not revile the gods, nor curse the ruler of thy people. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONTEMPT, p. 257; scan anchor: djvu line 43721 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The divine-law analogue of contempt — reviling the judge/ruler forbidden. The entry's concept (disregard of lawful authority) in its oldest statutory form. (Book of the Covenant, the LORD's speech: red-letter.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONTRACT

[Quran 5:1, Pickthall]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. O ye who believe! Fulfil your indentures. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Quran 5:1, Pickthall. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONTRACT, p. 261; scan anchor: djvu line 44311 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines contract as a deliberate engagement between competent parties to do or abstain from doing some act; the Quranic command to fulfill one's indentures (obligations) is the direct scriptural counterpart of pacta sunt servanda — the duty to keep one's engagements. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation from the non-KJV source as cited (KJV diff: excluded) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONTRAVENING EQUITY

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONTRAVENING EQUITY, p. 264; scan anchor: djvu line 44958 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning stated: the entry is narrow (one equity opposing another), but the verse is the classic scriptural statement of equity's moral content — justice tempered with mercy — and genuinely illuminates what equity IS. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONTRECTATIO

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONTRECTATIO, p. 264; scan anchor: djvu line 44985 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines theft as touching/removing another's property with intent to steal; the Decalogue prohibition is the direct scriptural root of the offense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONTROVER

[Exodus 23:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONTROVER, p. 265; scan anchor: djvu line 45095 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names an inventor of false news; the verse is the direct prohibition of raising a false report — an exact concept match. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONTROVERSY

[Deuteronomy 19:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then both the men, between whom the controversy is, shall stand before the LORD, before the priests and the judges, which shall be in those days; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONTROVERSY, p. 265; scan anchor: djvu line 45099 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own use of 'controversy' for a litigated civil dispute brought before the priests and judges — the verse speaks the entry's own term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONVERSATION

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONVERSATION, p. 267; scan anchor: djvu line 45413 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Criminal conversation' is the action for seduction of another man's wife; the actionable injury IS adultery, and the commandment is its direct root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CONVEYANCE

[Genesis 23:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the field, and the cave that is therein, were made sure unto Abraham for a possession of a buryingplace by the sons of Heth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 23:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONVEYANCE, p. 267; scan anchor: djvu line 45486 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. An ancient Near Eastern land transfer 'made sure' to Abraham — the scriptural counterpart of conveyance by assured instrument. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONVICIUM

[Exodus 23:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONVICIUM, p. 268; scan anchor: djvu line 45615 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Honest reuse of Exodus 23:1 (also placed at CONTROVER, an independent entry): where CONTROVER names the inventor of false news, CONVICIUM names the public slander itself — the verse directly forbids both. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CONVICTION

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONVICTION, p. 268; scan anchor: djvu line 45650 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own conviction standard — the two- or three-witness rule by which a matter is established against an accused. Placed here rather than at CONVINCING PROOF as the deliberate single-placement entry. deity_verbatim off: Deuteronomy is Moses' exposition, not first-person divine speech (borderline call, logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CONVOCATION

[Leviticus 23:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, Concerning the feasts of the LORD, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations, even these are my feasts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CONVOCATION, p. 269; scan anchor: djvu line 45746 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. God's own institution of holy convocations — the entry's exact term, instituted in the verse itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CO-OBLIGOR

[Proverbs 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, If thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CO-OBLIGOR, p. 269; scan anchor: djvu line 45758 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Suretyship — binding oneself for another by striking hands — is the classic scriptural treatment of joint obligation; the co-obligor is one so bound. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COPARCENERS

[Numbers 27:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COPARCENERS, p. 270; scan anchor: djvu line 45881 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The daughters of Zelophehad — scripture's own case of female co-heirs taking a joint inheritance, the classical coparcenary scenario. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COPARTNERSHIP

[Ecclesiastes 4:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 4:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COPARTNERSHIP, p. 270; scan anchor: djvu line 45893 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Scripture's own partnership maxim — two working together with shared reward, the communication of loss and gain that defines a joint enterprise. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COPPER AND SCALES

[Ruth 4:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ruth 4:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COPPER AND SCALES, p. 270; scan anchor: djvu line 45931 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry cross-refers to mancipation, the bronze-and-scales conveyance ritual; Ruth 4:7 records Israel's own formal conveyancing ritual (the shoe plucked off as testimony) — the scriptural counterpart of the symbolic act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COPULA

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COPULA, p. 270; scan anchor: djvu line 45946 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning stated: the 'one flesh' union is the consummation the term names — the verse states the union broadly rather than the legal term's technical sense, but it genuinely names what the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CO-RESPONDENT

[Matthew 19:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CO-RESPONDENT, p. 271; scan anchor: djvu line 46117 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The co-respondent is the adulterer joined as defendant in a divorce suit; Christ's own words make fornication the ground on which a marriage is dissolved — the very cause in which a co-respondent is named. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CORNER

[Amos 8:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 8:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORNER, p. 271; scan anchor: djvu line 46161 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning stated: the verse condemns grain-market manipulation (falsifying balances, rigging measures); a corner — buying up supply to rig price — is a species of that market manipulation, so the verse illuminates it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CORONATION OATH

[2 Kings 11:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD and the king and the people, that they should be the LORD'S people; between the king also and the people. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Kings 11:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORONATION OATH, p. 272; scan anchor: djvu line 46241 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A covenant sworn at a king's making, between the LORD, the king, and the people — the scriptural coronation oath. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CORPORAL

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORPORAL, p. 272; scan anchor: djvu line 46313 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own doctrine of the oath — men swear by the greater, and an oath for confirmation ends all strife — the principle underlying the solemn corporal oath. Placed here rather than at CORPORALE SACRAMENTUM as the single-placement entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CORPSE

[Genesis 3:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 3:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORPSE, p. 276; scan anchor: djvu line 46978 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse names exactly what a corpse is — the body returning to the dust from which it was taken. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CORRECTION

[Proverbs 13:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that spareth his rod hateth his son: but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORRECTION, p. 277; scan anchor: djvu line 47071 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The classic text on corrective chastisement by one in authority — timely correction as the office of the one who loves. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CORRUPTION

[Exodus 23:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORRUPTION, p. 277; scan anchor: djvu line 47151 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The direct scriptural prohibition of bribery — the gift that blinds the wise and perverts righteous judgment — the exact concept of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CORSNED

[Proverbs 16:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 16:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CORSNED, p. 277; scan anchor: djvu line 47192 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning explicit: the ordeal is a trial procedure invoking divine judgment; this verse is scripture's classic statement that divinatory trial outcomes are God's own disposing — it illuminates the theology the ordeal rests on, not the bread itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

COSENING

[Leviticus 19:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COSENING, p. 278; scan anchor: djvu line 47266 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Deceitful dealing and fraud — the entry's stellionatus — directly forbidden: 'Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbour.' Placed here rather than at COSEN/COZEN as the single-placement entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COUNCIL

[Acts 15:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the apostles and elders came together for to consider of this matter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 15:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COUNCIL, p. 280; scan anchor: djvu line 47549 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Jerusalem council — the apostles and elders coming together to consider a disputed matter — scripture's own council convened to settle a controversy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COUNSELLOR

[Proverbs 11:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors there is safety. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COUNSELLOR, p. 280; scan anchor: djvu line 47657 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The classic text on counsel in governance — safety in the multitude of counsellors. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURT

[Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT, p. 284; scan anchor: djvu line 48273 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own institution of courts — judges and officers set in the gates to judge the people

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

with just judgment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURT CHRISTIAN

[1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT CHRISTIAN, p. 285; scan anchor: djvu line 48480 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paul's rebuke of taking matters before the unjust instead of the saints establishes the church-court principle — disputes judged within the ecclesia rather than at secular law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURT FOR DIVORCE AND MATRIMONIAL CAUSES

[Matthew 19:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT FOR DIVORCE AND MATRIMONIAL CAUSES, p. 285; scan anchor: djvu line 48501 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christ's word on marriage indissolubility governs matrimonial jurisdiction — the sentence no court of divorce may undo. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURT OF CHANCERY

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT OF CHANCERY, p. 287; scan anchor: djvu line 48752 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Honest reuse (also at CONTRAVENING EQUITY, COURTS OF CONSCIENCE, COURT OF EQUITY): equity is justice tempered with mercy, and the verse is its classic statement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

COURT OF THE CLERK OF THE MARKET

[Leviticus 19:35-36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in meteyard, in weight, or in measure. Just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, shall ye have: I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:35-36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT OF THE CLERK OF THE MARKET, p. 287; scan anchor: djvu line 48822 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The weights-and-measures law — just balances, just weights — is the very subject matter of this court's jurisdiction over markets. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COUNTERFEIT

[Proverbs 11:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COUNTERFEIT, p. 282; scan anchor: djvu line 47905 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fraudulent imitation to deceive is false dealing; the verse condemns the false balance — the archetypal counterfeit measure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURTS OF CONSCIENCE

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURTS OF CONSCIENCE, p. 287; scan anchor: djvu line 48868 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry itself identifies these as courts of equity or chancery; honest reuse of the equity verse (also at COURT OF CHANCERY, COURT OF EQUITY, CONTRAVENING EQUITY). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURT OF EQUITY

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT OF EQUITY, p. 287; scan anchor: djvu line 48936 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Honest reuse (also at COURT OF CHANCERY, COURTS OF CONSCIENCE, CONTRAVENING EQUITY): equity is justice tempered with mercy — the verse is its classic statement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COURT OF ORPHANS

[James 1:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 1:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COURT OF ORPHANS, p. 290; scan anchor: djvu line 49239 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural charge over the fatherless — visiting them in their affliction as pure religion — is the whole office of a court of orphans. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COVENANT

[Exodus 19:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 19:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COVENANT, p. 293; scan anchor: djvu line 49734 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The conditional covenant formula — pledged obedience and kept covenant answered with pledged treasure — scripture's own covenant structure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COVENANTOR

[Deuteronomy 7:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 7:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COVENANTOR, p. 295; scan anchor: djvu line 50127 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. God as the covenant-keeper to a thousand generations — the covenantor par excellence. deity_verbatim off: Moses speaking about God in the third person, not the deity's own speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COVENANTS PERFORMED

[Psalm 76:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Vow, and pay unto the LORD your God: let all that be round about him bring presents unto him that ought to be feared. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 76:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COVENANTS PERFORMED, p. 295; scan anchor: djvu line 50130 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The vow-and-pay rule — covenants made must be performed — the principle of the plea of covenants performed. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COVERTURE

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COVERTURE, p. 295; scan anchor: djvu line 50187 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The one-flesh union underlying coverture's doctrine of the wife under the husband's cover and protection. Placed at COVERTURE; COVERT left bare as single placement, and COPULA annotated independently for the distinct consummation sense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

COWARDICE

[Deuteronomy 20:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. What man is there that is fearful and fainthearted? let him go and return unto his house, lest his brethren's heart faint as well as his heart. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 20:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry COWARDICE, p. 295; scan anchor: djvu line 50203 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own cowardice-discharge rule — the fearful soldier sent home lest his fear infect his brethren — the exact military concept of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CREDIBLE

[Proverbs 14:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A true witness delivereth souls: but a deceitful witness speaketh lies. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 14:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CREDIBLE, p. 295; scan anchor: djvu line 50336 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The credible witness is the true witness — one who delivers souls rather than speaking lies. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CREDITOR

[Psalm 37:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 37:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CREDITOR, p. 295; scan anchor: djvu line 50500 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The borrower-creditor moral frame — the wicked borrows and pays not again, the righteous lends and gives. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CREPUSGUL1TM

[John 3:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 3:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CREPUSGUL1TM, p. 23 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 50687 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning explicit: burglary's nighttime element rests on darkness covering evil deeds; the verse states exactly that moral logic — men loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil. (Entry headword appears in the chunk under the OCR-noise form 'CREPUSGUL1TM' = CREPUSCULUM, keyed exactly.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CRIMEN FALSI

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CRIMEN FALSI, p. 300; scan anchor: djvu line 50979 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names false witness and perjury expressly among the crimen falsi; the commandment is their direct root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CROPPER

[Deuteronomy 25:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CROPPER, p. 301; scan anchor: djvu line 51246 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning explicit: the laborer's right to partake of the fruit he works — the moral root of the cropper's share in the crop. deity_verbatim corrected to OFF at verification: Deuteronomy is Moses' exposition, not first-person divine speech — consistent with the CONVICTION (Deut 19:15) borderline call; the batch-8 ON was an inconsistency. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CROWN

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CROWN, p. 301; scan anchor: djvu line 51308 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The sovereign power is ordained of God — the ordained-sovereignty text underlying the Crown's authority. Placed here; CORONA left bare as single placement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CRUELTY

[Malachi 2:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For the LORD, the God of Israel, saith that he hateth putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, saith the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that ye deal not treacherously. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 2:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CRUELTY, p. 301; scan anchor: djvu line 51396 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Marital violence plus divine hatred of putting away — the verse speaks directly to cruelty as a matrimonial wrong. Judgment call, logged: reported first-person divine speech in the 'thus saith the LORD' prophetic mode (red-letter editions set these in red), so deity_verbatim is ON. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

CUHADE8

[Leviticus 18:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedness: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CUHADE8, p. 306; scan anchor: djvu line 52010 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning explicit: Leviticus 18 is scripture's own law of prohibited degrees, affinity included — the entry names the category the chapter governs. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CURATE

[1 Peter 5:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Peter (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Peter 5:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CURATE, p. 306; scan anchor: djvu line 52041 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The pastoral charge — feed the flock, take the oversight willingly and of a ready mind — is the curate's whole office, the cure of souls. Placed here; CURE OF SOULS left bare as single placement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CUSTOMS

[Romans 13:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CUSTOMS, p. 310; scan anchor: djvu line 52755 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse names 'custom' (duty) expressly among the dues to be rendered to authority. Placed here; CUSTOMS COURT and CUSTOM-HOUSE left bare as single placement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CUTPURSE

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CUTPURSE, p. 311; scan anchor: djvu line 52889 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Honest reuse (also at CONTRECTATIO): stealing by cutting purses is theft, and the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

commandment is its direct root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DANEGELT, DANEGELD

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DANEGELT, DANEGELD, p. 316; scan anchor: djvu line 53626 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The tribute text — the duty to render tribute to the sovereign — the exact concept of the danegeld. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CZAR

[Proverbs 21:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The king's heart is in the hand of the LORD, as the rivers of water: he turneth it whithersoever he will. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 21:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CZAR, p. 311; scan anchor: djvu line 52981 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The sovereign under divine disposal — the king's heart turned as rivers of water by the LORD. Placed here; CZARINA/CZAROWITZ left bare as single placement. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

CYMEBOTE

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry CYMEBOTE, p. 311; scan anchor: djvu line 52922 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning explicit: the verse directly addresses the exact practice the entry names — money-satisfaction for a slain life (wergild) — as the biblical homicide law's express rejection of it; the counterpoint illuminates the institution. deity_verbatim ON: the statute stands within the LORD's direct address to Moses (Num 35). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DAMAGES

[Exodus 21:18-19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if men strive together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed: If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit: only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:18-19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DAMAGES, p. 314; scan anchor: djvu line 53157 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pecuniary compensation for personal injury — payment for lost time and thorough healing — the damages principle in its oldest form. deity_verbatim ON: within the Covenant Code, God's direct speech to Moses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DANISM

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DANISM, p. 317; scan anchor: djvu line 53717 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The direct usury prohibition — the lender shall not be as an usurer nor lay usury upon the poor. deity_verbatim ON: within the Covenant Code, God's direct speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DAUGHTER

[Numbers 27:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DAUGHTER, p. 317; scan anchor: djvu line 53847 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The daughter's inheritance right — the daughters of Zelophehad speaking right, scripture's own case. deity_verbatim ON: God's ruling to Moses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

[Ruth 1:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Ruth 1:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DAUGHTER-IN-LAW, p. 317; scan anchor: djvu line 53855 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Ruth the daughter-in-law's covenant words to Naomi — the verbatim fragment of her pledge of people and God. (Ruth's speech, not deity speech: deity_verbatim off.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DAYXIGHT

[Genesis 1:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DAYXIGHT, p. 819; scan anchor: djvu line 54060 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Borderline, kept with reasoning explicit: scripture's own definition of Day versus Night underlies the day/night boundary the burglary entry exists to draw. (Entry headword appears in the chunk under the OCR-noise form 'DAYXIGHT' = DAYLIGHT, keyed exactly.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DAYBMAN

[Job 9:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Job (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Neither is there any daysman betwixt us, that might lay his hand upon us both. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Job 9:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DAYBMAN, p. 819; scan anchor: djvu line 54066 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The KJV's own word for the umpire between parties — the exact lexical match for the entry. (Entry headword appears in the chunk under the OCR-noise form 'DAYBMAN' = DAYSMAN, keyed exactly.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE BIGAMIS

[1 Timothy 3:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE BIGAMIS, p. 819; scan anchor: djvu line 54316 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The 'husband of one wife' norm — scripture's monogamy rule against which bigamy is measured. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DE COMPUTO

[Luke 16:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE COMPUTO, p. 321; scan anchor: djvu line 54555 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De computo is the writ commanding a defendant to render a reasonable account to the plaintiff — the foundation of the action of account against bailiffs and receivers. The parable's master demands exactly that: give an account of thy stewardship. The words are Jesus' spoken words in the Gospel, hence deity_verbatim true under the red-letter convention (the rich man's speech is quoted inside Jesus' telling of the parable). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE CONSILIO

[Proverbs 1:10-11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not. If they say, Come with us, let us lay wait for blood, let us lurk privily for the innocent without cause. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 1:10-11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE CONSILIO, p. 321; scan anchor: djvu line 54582 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De consilio is old criminal law for counsel or advice to commit a crime. Proverbs addresses the recipient's side of that counsel — refuse the enticers' invitation to ambush and bloodshed. Wisdom literature (not divine speech), no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DO

[Matthew 18:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DO, p. 324; scan anchor: djvu line 54894 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ retakes the excommunicated person liberated without making satisfaction to the church. Matthew 18:17 is the scriptural church-discipline rule behind it — the offender who will not hear the church is treated as outside the fellowship. Jesus' spoken words, hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DE FURTO

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE FURTO, p. 324; scan anchor: djvu line 55081 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De furto names the old English criminal appeal for theft. Exodus 20:15 is the Decalogue's direct prohibition, spoken by God (Exodus 20:1, 'And God spake all these words, saying') — deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE FURTO

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE FURTO, p. 324; scan anchor: djvu line 55081 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The appeal of theft sought punishment and redress; Exodus 22:1 is the biblical restitution schedule for theft — the restorative side of the same legal concept. Narrative case-law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE MODO DECIMANDI

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE MODO DECIMANDI, p. 328; scan anchor: djvu line 55499 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De modo decimandi is the ecclesiastical-law term for a special manner of tithing. Malachi 3:10 states the tithing duty itself — bring all the tithes into the storehouse — the scriptural foundation of the institution. First-person divine speech ('saith the LORD of hosts'), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DE NON DECIMANDO

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE NON DECIMANDO, p. 328; scan anchor: djvu line 55533 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De non decimando is the claim to be entirely discharged of tithes. Malachi 3:10 states the tithing duty against which that exemption claim runs — the verse genuinely bears on the entry by contrast. First-person divine speech ('saith the LORD of hosts'), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE PACE ET PLAGIS

[Exodus 21:18-19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if men strive together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed: If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit: only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:18-19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE PACE ET PLAGIS, p. 328; scan anchor: djvu line 55615 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The appeal de pace et plagis lay for assault, wounding, and breach of the peace. Exodus 21:18-19 is the biblical wounding rule — compensation for lost time and healing — the same legal concept of redress for non-fatal wounding. Narrative case-law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE PLAGIS ET MAHEMIO

[Exodus 21:24-25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, Burning for burning, wound for wound, stripe for stripe. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:24-25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE PLAGIS ET MAHEMIO, p. 329; scan anchor: djvu line 55682 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The appeal de plagis et mahemio lay for wounding and maiming. Exodus 21:24-25 is the lex talionis — the biblical measure of redress for wounds and maiming, the direct scriptural counterpart of the entry's legal concept. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DE RAPTU VIRGINUM

[Deuteronomy 22:25-26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die: But unto the damsel thou shalt do nothing; there is in the damsel no sin worthy of death: for as when a man riseth against his neighbour, and slayeth him, even so is this matter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:25-26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE RAPTU VIRGINUM, p. 329; scan anchor: djvu line 55769 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De raptu virginum names the old English criminal appeal for rape (ravishment of maids). Deuteronomy 22:25-26 is the biblical rape law — the forced woman bears no guilt; the man who forced her dies. The direct scriptural counterpart of the entry's legal concept. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEACON

[1 Timothy 3:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Likewise must the deacons be grave, not doubletongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEACON, p. 330; scan anchor: djvu line 56104 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the deacon as the church's minister/servant assisting the priest. 1 Timothy 3:8 is the scriptural description of the deacon's office and character — the verse that defines the very office the entry describes. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEADLY FEUD

[Romans 12:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 12:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEADLY FEUD, p. 332; scan anchor: djvu line 56178 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The deadly feud is the profession of irreconcilable hatred till revenged by the enemy's death — private vengeance as a legal institution. Romans 12:19 forbids private vengeance and reserves it to the Lord (quoting Deuteronomy 32:35). Epistolary teaching quoting scripture; the divine speech is embedded quotation, so the flag stays off — logged as a borderline call. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DEATH

[Hebrews 9:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEATH, p. 332; scan anchor: djvu line 56267 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines death in legal contemplation (natural and civil). Hebrews 9:27 states death's appointed certainty and what follows it — the judgment — which is why death carries legal consequence (devolution, attainder). Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DECISIVE OATH

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DECISIVE OATH, p. 337; scan anchor: djvu line 57042 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The decisive oath is the civil-law device by which a party refers the decision of the cause to the adversary's oath — the oath ends the suit. Hebrews 6:16 states exactly that legal function: an oath for confirmation is an end of all strife. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEBT

[Romans 13:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEBT, p. 833; scan anchor: djvu line 56548 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines debt as a sum due by certain agreement. Romans 13:8 is the classic scriptural debt rule — owe no one anything — the moral counterpart of the legal obligation. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. DEBTOR/DEBITOR/DEBITUM left bare by design (same verse would merely repeat; logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DECEIT

[Leviticus 19:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DECEIT, p. 336; scan anchor: djvu line 56845 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Deceit is fraudulent misrepresentation to another's prejudice. Leviticus 19:11 prohibits dealing falsely and lying to one another — the direct biblical counterpart of the entry's concept. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEDICATION

[1 Kings 8:63, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Kings 8:63, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEDICATION, p. 340; scan anchor: djvu line 57606 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Dedication is the deliberate appropriation of property to a use beyond private enjoyment. 1 Kings 8:63 records the archetypal dedication — the house of the LORD set apart by the king and the people — the same act of setting apart the entry defines for land. Narrative, not divine speech — no flag. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEDICATION-DAY

[John 10:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the dedication, and it was winter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 10:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEDICATION-DAY, p. 341; scan anchor: djvu line 57674 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the feast of dedication of churches. John 10:22 names the feast of the dedication itself — the scriptural instance of a dedication feast. Narrative setting, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEED

[Jeremiah 32:10-11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And I subscribed the evidence, and sealed it, and took witnesses, and weighed him the money in the balances. So I took the evidence of the purchase, both that which was sealed according to the law and custom, and that which was open: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 32:10-11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry DEED, p. 341; scan anchor: djvu line 57742 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A deed is a sealed, subscribed, witnessed, delivered instrument. Jeremiah 32:10-11 describes the ancient deed formalities in action — subscribing, sealing, taking witnesses — for the purchase of the field at Anathoth. The verse genuinely exhibits the entry's formalities. Narrative, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEFALCATION

[1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEFALCATION, p. 342; scan anchor: djvu line 57892 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Defalcation is misappropriation by one holding funds in a fiduciary capacity — the steward unfaithful to his trust. 1 Corinthians 4:2 states the steward's defining duty: faithfulness. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEFAMATION

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEFAMATION, p. 342; scan anchor: djvu line 57917 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Defamation is injury to reputation by false and malicious statements. Exodus 20:16 is the Decalogue's direct prohibition of false witness against one's neighbour — the biblical root of the wrong. Spoken by God (Exodus 20:1), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DECLARE

[Matthew 5:37, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DECLARE, p. 338; scan anchor: djvu line 57218 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's affirmation sense is the solemn asseveration — 'sincerely and truly declare and affirm.' Matthew 5:37 governs solemn assertion itself: let the declaration be plain yes or no. Jesus' spoken words, hence deity_verbatim true. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact)

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

[basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEDBAKA

[Exodus 20:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not kill. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEDBAKA, p. 340; scan anchor: djvu line 57582 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Dedbaka is Saxon law's word for homicide/manslaughter. Exodus 20:13 is the Decalogue's direct prohibition of killing — the biblical counterpart of the entry's concept. Spoken by God (Exodus 20:1), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEFENERATION

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEFENERATION, p. 344; scan anchor: djvu line 58184 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Defeneration is lending money on usury. Exodus 22:25 is the direct biblical prohibition of usury against the poor — the scriptural counterpart of the entry's concept. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEFILE

[1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEFILE, p. 345; scan anchor: djvu line 58439 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Defile in its legal sense is the debauching or corrupting of chastity. 1 Corinthians 6:18 commands flight from fornication — the scriptural moral rule addressing the same wrong. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. Borderline logged; DEFLORATION left bare on the same verse to avoid dilution. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DEI GRATIA

[1 Corinthians 15:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But by the grace of God I am what I am: and his grace which was bestowed upon me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 15:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEI GRATIA, p. 347; scan anchor: djvu line 58678 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Dei gratia — 'by the grace of God' — is the whole of this entry, a phrase claiming sovereignty by God's favour. 1 Corinthians 15:10 is the biblical locus of the exact phrase, here applied to apostolic office rather than kingship; the parallel is stated honestly with that limitation. Epistolary, not divine speech — no flag. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEI JUDICIUM

[Isaiah 33:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the LORD is our judge, the LORD is our lawgiver, the LORD is our king; he will save us. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 33:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEI JUDICIUM, p. 347; scan anchor: djvu line 58687 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Dei judicium is the Saxon ordeal, so called as an appeal to God's judgment — the belief that the decision was Divine Providence's. Isaiah 33:22 names the LORD as judge and lawgiver, the theological premise of the ordeal. Prophetic text, not first-person divine speech — no flag. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEJERATION

[Exodus 20:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain; for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEJERATION, p. 347; scan anchor: djvu line 58702 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Dejeration is the taking of a solemn oath. Exodus 20:7 is the Decalogue's oath rule — the divine name must not be taken in vain — the biblical regulation of oath-taking itself. Spoken by God (Exodus 20:1), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DELATOR

[Exodus 23:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DELATOR, p. 347; scan anchor: djvu line 58740 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The delator is the accuser/informer. Exodus 23:1 prohibits raising a false report and joining the wicked as an unrighteous witness — the biblical rule governing the accuser's office. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. DELATE/DELATIO left bare as the same concept (logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DELEGATE

[2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DELEGATE, p. 347; scan anchor: djvu line 58773 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A delegate is one commissioned to act in the stead of another. 2 Corinthians 5:20 describes ambassadors acting 'in Christ's stead' — delegated representation in the biblical idiom. Epistolary, not divine speech — no flag. DELEGATION left bare as the same concept (logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DELIBERATION

[Luke 14:28, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For which of you, intending to build a tower, sitteth not down first, and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to finish it? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 14:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DELIBERATION, p. 348; scan anchor: djvu line 58926 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Deliberation is the weighing of reasons for and against a contemplated act. Luke 14:28 enjoins counting the cost before building — deliberation before action, in the biblical idiom. Jesus' spoken words, hence deity_verbatim true. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEMOCRACY

[Deuteronomy 1:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Take you wise men, and understanding, and known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 1:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEMOCRACY, p. 351; scan anchor: djvu line 59475 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Democracy is defined as sovereign power residing in the whole body of citizens. Deuteronomy 1:13 shows the people themselves choosing their rulers — the biblical instance of popular selection to office. Moses speaking; not divine speech — no flag. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEODAND

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEODAND, p. 352; scan anchor: djvu line 59933 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Deodand is literally 'a thing to be given to God' (Deo dandum) — the chattel forfeited to be applied to pious uses and alms. The verse's second clause, 'unto God the things that are God's,' states the principle the institution's very name expresses. Jesus' spoken words, hence deity_verbatim true. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DENARIUS

[Matthew 22:19-20, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Shew me the tribute money. And they brought unto him a penny. And he saith unto them, Whose is this image and superscription? They say unto him, Caesar's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:19-20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DENARIUS, p. 352; scan anchor: djvu line 59726 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The denarius is the Roman silver coin — the very 'penny' of the tribute-money episode, where Jesus holds the denarius and asks whose image it bears. The entry defines the coin; the verse exhibits it in use. Jesus' spoken words ('Shew me the tribute money... Whose is this image'), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DENIZEN

[Leviticus 19:34, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DENIZEN, p. 352; scan anchor: djvu line 59788 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The denizen is the alien born made an English subject by letters patent — the stranger admitted to the status of the native-born. Leviticus 19:34 commands that the stranger dwelling among them be 'as one born among you' — the biblical statement of the denizen's effect. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. Borderline logged; DENIZATION left bare as the same concept. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEPONENT

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEPONENT, p. 856 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 60087 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The deponent is one who testifies under oath, his testimony reduced to writing for trial. Deuteronomy 19:15 is the biblical witness rule — no matter established by one witness alone — the scriptural law governing the deponent's office. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. DEPONE/DEPOSE/DEPOSITION left bare as the same concept (logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEPORTATION

[Genesis 3:23-24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore the LORD God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken. So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the garden of Eden Cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 3:23-24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEPORTATION, p. 856 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 60127 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Deportation is banishment with deprivation of rights. Genesis 3:23-24 is the archetypal banishment — man driven out and sent forth, cut off from his former estate. Narrative, not divine speech — no flag. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DESERTION

[Malachi 2:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For the LORD, the God of Israel, saith that he hateth putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, saith the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that ye deal not treacherously. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 2:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DESERTION, p. 869; scan anchor: djvu line 60880 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Desertion is the abandonment of matrimonial cohabitation and renunciation of its duties. Malachi 2:16 states the divine hatred of putting away and warns against dealing treacherously with the wife — the scriptural condemnation of the very abandonment the entry defines. First-person divine speech ('saith the LORD'), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DESPONSATION

[Hosea 2:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hosea (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in lovingkindness, and in mercies. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hosea 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DESPONSATION, p. 869; scan anchor: djvu line 61084 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Desponsation is the act of betrothing. Hosea 2:19 is the biblical betrothal in the LORD's own first-person speech — the covenant archetype of the legal act the entry names. deity_verbatim true. DESPOSORIO left bare as the same concept (logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MARRIAGE

[Exodus 22:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her, he shall surely endow her to be his wife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARRIAGE, p. 363; scan anchor: djvu line 61356 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ recovered the goods given with the wife in marriage after divorce. Exodus 22:16 states the biblical dowry obligation — endowing the bride — the scriptural root of marriage-goods law. Narrative law, not divine first-person speech — no flag. Borderline logged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MARRIAGE

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARRIAGE, p. 363; scan anchor: djvu line 61356 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The union the entry defines — one man and one woman joined for life — at its institution. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DEUTEROGAMY

[1 Corinthians 7:39, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wife is bound by the law as long as her husband liveth; but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to be married to whom she will; only in the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:39, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEUTEROGAMY, p. 363; scan anchor: djvu line 61407 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Deuterogamy is remarriage after the former spouse's death. 1 Corinthians 7:39 states exactly that liberty — the wife bound while the husband lives, free to remarry when he is dead. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DEVASTAVIT

[Matthew 25:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. After a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and reckoneth with them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DEVASTAVIT, p. 363; scan anchor: djvu line 61426 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Devastavit is the executor's wasting of the estate's goods — the unfaithful stewardship that makes him personally answerable. Matthew 25:19 is the reckoning of the stewards in the parable of the talents: the lord returns and reckons with them. Jesus' spoken words, hence deity_verbatim true. Borderline logged; DEVASTATION/DEVASTAVERUNT left bare as the same concept. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DETINUE

[Romans 13:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DETINUE, p. 362; scan anchor: djvu line 61304 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Detinue is the action for recovery of chattels retained without right — the remedy for withholding what belongs to another. Romans 13:7 commands rendering to all their dues — the moral duty the action enforces. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. DETAINER/DETINET/DETINUIT left bare as the same concept (logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DIARIUM

[Matthew 6:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Give us this day our daily bread. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 6:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIARIUM, p. 366; scan anchor: djvu line 61832 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Diarium is daily food — as much as will suffice for the day. Matthew 6:11 petitions 'our daily bread' — the biblical idiom for the same daily provision. Jesus' spoken words (the Lord's Prayer), hence deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE COMBUSTIONS DOMORUM

[Exodus 22:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If fire break out, and catch in thorns, so that the stacks of corn, or the standing corn, or the field, be consumed therewith; he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE COMBUSTIONS DOMORUM, p. 321; scan anchor: djvu line 54540 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names the old English appeal for house-burning (arson). Exodus 22:6 is the biblical fire-liability rule: the one who kindled the fire must make restitution — the same liability-for-arson principle the appeal enforced. Narrative law, not first-person divine speech, so no deity_verbatim flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE FEDEX UESIONE

[Numbers 30:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE FEDEX UESIONE, p. 324; scan anchor: djvu line 55042 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names breach of faith or fidelity. Numbers 30:2 states the covenantal root of the duty: a sworn word must not be broken. Narrative law (given through Moses), not first-person divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE HJERETICO OOHBURENDO

[Titus 3:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Titus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Titus 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE HJERETICO OOHBURENDO, p. 324; scan anchor: djvu line 55129 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ burned the relapsed heretic; Titus 3:10 states the apostolic discipline for heresy — reject after two admonitions. The verse genuinely bears on the concept (scriptural heresy-handling), while honestly recording that the biblical penalty is exclusion, not the stake. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE INOFFIGIOSO TESTAMENTO

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE INOFFIGIOSO TESTAMENTO, p. 326; scan anchor: djvu line 55240 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The civil-law action attacked wills that disinherited close kin against natural duty. Proverbs 13:22 states that duty in moral form — a good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children. Wisdom literature, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DE PLEGHS ACQUIETANDI8

[Proverbs 17:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A man void of understanding striketh hands, and becometh surety in the presence of his friend. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 17:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DE PLEGHS ACQUIETANDI8, p. 329; scan anchor: djvu line 55697 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ gave the surety (pledge) his remedy against the defaulting principal. Proverbs 17:18 is the classic biblical text on the surety's office — the wisdom tradition's warning about the very undertaking the writ's plaintiff had assumed. Borderline noted in the log; kept because the verse genuinely addresses the legal institution of suretyship. Not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PE TESTAMENTIS

[Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PE TESTAMENTIS, p. 330; scan anchor: djvu line 55995 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. De testamentis is the Digest title 'Of testaments.' Hebrews 9:16-17 states the defining legal property of a testament — it takes force only at the testator's death — exactly the Roman-law concept the title covers. Epistolary teaching, not divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PE UXORE RAPTA ET ABPUCTA

[Deuteronomy 22:25-26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die: But unto the damsel thou shalt do nothing; there is in the damsel no sin worthy of death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:25-26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PE UXORE RAPTA ET ABPUCTA, p. 330; scan anchor: djvu line 56020 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ lay where a man's wife had been ravished and carried away. The verse treats the betrothed damsel, but its operative rule — forced ravishment is the ravisher's capital guilt, the woman's none — is the biblical forced-ravishment principle the writ's concept rests on; the parallel is stated honestly with that limitation. Narrative law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DECIM2E

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DECIM2E, p. 337; scan anchor: djvu line 56977 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Decimae is 'tenths, or tithes' — the tenth part of each living's profits. Malachi 3:10 states the tithing duty itself, in the LORD's first-person speech — the scriptural foundation of the institution the entry defines. deity_verbatim true. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DICAST

[Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DICAST, p. 366; scan anchor: djvu line 61844 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The verse is the scriptural institution of local judges sitting to judge the people with just judgment — the office the dicast embodies, combining the functions of judge and jury. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIFFERENCE

[1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIFFERENCE, p. 367; scan anchor: djvu line 62127 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paul rebukes taking a dispute to the law courts instead of settling it before the saints — the scriptural archetype of arbitration over litigation, which is exactly what the 'difference' submitted to arbitration is. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIFFORCIARE

[Deuteronomy 16:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not wrest judgment; thou shalt not respect persons, neither take a gift: for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wise, and pervert the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIFFORCIARE, p. 367; scan anchor: djvu line 62147 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Difforciare rectum' is to deny justice to one after being required to do it; the verse is the direct scriptural prohibition of exactly that denial. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIFFORCIARE

[1 Corinthians 7:39, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wife is bound by the law as long as her husband liveth; but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to be married to whom she will; only in the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:39, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIFFORCIARE, p. 367; scan anchor: djvu line 62147 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paul states precisely the legal condition of digamy: death dissolves the marital bond and remarriage after the first spouse's death is lawful. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DILAPIDATION

[Haggai 1:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your cieled houses, and this house lie waste? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Haggai 1:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DILAPIDATION, p. 367; scan anchor: djvu line 62236 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The prophet's charge against neglecting God's house while dwelling in paneled houses — the scriptural mirror of the incumbent who suffers the church fabric to go to ruin. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DILATORY

[Ecclesiastes 8:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 8:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DILATORY, p. 367; scan anchor: djvu line 62268 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse states the scriptural doctrine on delayed judgment — dilatory justice emboldens wrongdoing — which is precisely what a dilatory defense, putting off decision on the merits, risks. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DILIGENCE

[Proverbs 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DILIGENCE, p. 367; scan anchor: djvu line 62292 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse sets diligence against sloth as the operative contrast the legal standard of diligence encodes — vigilant care rewarded, negligence barren. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIPSOMANIAC

[Ephesians 5:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 5:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIPSOMANIAC, p. 370; scan anchor: djvu line 62580 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse is the direct scriptural command against drunkenness, the condition the legal term

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

names. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIRIMENT IMPEDIMENTS

[Leviticus 18:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedness: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIRIMENT IMPEDIMENTS, p. 371; scan anchor: djvu line 62809 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Leviticus 18 is the classic scriptural source of prohibited degrees — absolute bars to lawful union — which is exactly what a diriment impediment is. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

D IS AFFIRM

[Numbers 30:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if her father disallow her in the day that he heareth; not any of her vows, or of her bonds wherewith she hath bound her soul, shall stand: and the LORD shall forgive her, because her father disallowed her. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry D IS AFFIRM, p. 371; scan anchor: djvu line 62825 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Disallow' is the scriptural disaffirmance — one with authority repudiating a vow or consent, which then does not stand. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISCHARGE

[Matthew 18:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISCHARGE, p. 372; scan anchor: djvu line 62936 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The lord's act is discharge in the legal sense — the obligation cancelled, the debtor loosed. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISCOVERT

[Luke 8:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For nothing is secret, that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid, that shall not be known and come abroad. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Luke 8:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISCOVERT, p. 873 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 63279 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jesus' own words stating the very principle of discovery — hidden things brought to light and made known. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISCREDIT

[Deuteronomy 19:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsely against his brother; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISCREDIT, p. 375 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 63363 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse commands the judicial inquisition that discredits a false witness — the scriptural procedure behind impeachment of credibility. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISCRETION

[1 Kings 3:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Kings 3:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISCRETION, p. 375; scan anchor: djvu line 63382 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Solomon's prayer is for judicial discretion itself — discerning judgment beyond unbending rule, exactly the entry's definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISCRETIONARY TRUSTS

[Matthew 25:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISCRETIONARY TRUSTS, p. 375; scan anchor: djvu line 63456 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The parable's master entrusts goods to stewards who must trade at their own judgment — the archetypal discretionary trust, discretion measured to ability. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DISINCARCERATE

[Isaiah 61:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me; because the LORD hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 61:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISINCARCERATE, p. 375; scan anchor: djvu line 63590 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse's commission is precisely to proclaim liberty to captives and open the prison — disincarceration as prophetic office. (Red-letter call: the speaker is the anointed Servant, not the LORD — flag off.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISINHERITANCE

[Galatians 4:30, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Nevertheless what saith the scripture? Cast out the bondwoman and her son: for the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with the son of the freewoman. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 4:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISINHERITANCE, p. 375; scan anchor: djvu line 63598 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paul cites the scripture that excludes the bondwoman's son from heirship — disinheritance stated as scriptural precedent. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISINTER

[Acts 10:34, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 10:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISINTER, p. 375; scan anchor: djvu line 63603 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural statement of impartiality itself — no respect of persons — which is what 'disinterested' means of a judge or witness. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISMES

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISMES, p. 375; scan anchor: djvu line 63644 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The LORD's own command concerning the tithe, in His first person ('mine house,' 'prove me'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISMORTGAGE

[Leviticus 25:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath sold away some of his possession, and if any of his kin come to redeem it, then shall he redeem that which his brother sold. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISMORTGAGE, p. 25 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 63690 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The jubilee law of redemption — buying back alienated land — is the scriptural root of redeeming property from encumbrance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISPARAGE

[2 Corinthians 6:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 6:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISPARAGE, p. 68 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 63758 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The 'unequally yoked' prohibition is the scriptural form of the disparagement concept — the joining of unequals. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISPENSATION

[Matthew 12:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. How he entered into the house of God, and did eat the shewbread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for the priests? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 12:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISPENSATION, p. 68 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 63833 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jesus cites David's eating of the shewbread — a thing 'not lawful' — as the precedent for

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

dispensation, permission overriding the letter of the law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISPOSSESSION

[1 Kings 21:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned, and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Kings 21:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISPOSSESSION, p. 378; scan anchor: djvu line 63932 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural case-study of wrongful dispossession — possession seized by wrong after the owner's death. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISPUTE

[Proverbs 18:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The lot causeth contentions to cease, and parteth between the mighty. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 18:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISPUTE, p. 378; scan anchor: djvu line 63955 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The proverb states the scriptural mechanism for settling disputes — the lot parting the mighty — bearing directly on controversy and its resolution. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DISQUALIFY

[Deuteronomy 1:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Ye shall not respect persons in judgment; but ye shall hear the small as well as the great; ye shall not be afraid of the face of man; for the judgment is God's: and the cause that is too hard for you, bring it unto me, and I will hear it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 1:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISQUALIFY, p. 378; scan anchor: djvu line 63975 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The command against respecting persons in judgment is the scriptural ground of disqualification for interest or bias. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DISTRESS

[Deuteronomy 24:10-11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When thou dost lend thy brother any thing, thou shalt not go into his house to fetch his pledge. Thou shalt stand abroad, and the man to whom thou dost lend shall bring out the pledge abroad unto thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:10-11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DISTRESS, p. 881 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 64366 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural law of pledge-taking — the direct ancestor of distress procedure, regulating how a creditor may seize the pledge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

D IVIN ARE

[Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry D IVIN ARE, p. 384; scan anchor: djvu line 64870 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse names and prohibits divination itself — the very act the Latin verb denotes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIVINE LAWS

[Psalm 19:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 19:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIVINE LAWS, p. 384; scan anchor: djvu line 64880 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The psalm's celebration of the divine law's perfection — the entry's subject described from inside. (The psalmist's voice, about the LORD, not from Him — flag off.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIVORCE

[Deuteronomy 24:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When a man hath taken a wife, and married her, and it come to pass that she find no favour in his eyes, because he hath found some uncleanness in her: then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and send her out of his house. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry DIVORCE, p. 384; scan anchor: djvu line 64961 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural divorce writ — the legal procedure of divorce itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIVORCE

[Matthew 19:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIVORCE, p. 384; scan anchor: djvu line 64961 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jesus' ruling on the marriage bond's indissolubility — the counterweight every divorce law must answer. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DIXIEME

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DIXIEME, p. 385; scan anchor: djvu line 65032 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jesus' ruling on tribute — the scriptural ground of the subject's tax obligation to the crown. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOED-BANA

[Exodus 20:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not kill. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOED-BANA, p. 886 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 65323 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The commandment prohibiting homicide itself — the act the Saxon term names. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOLG-BOTE

[Exodus 21:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Burning for burning, wound for wound, stripe for stripe. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOLG-BOTE, p. 387; scan anchor: djvu line 65395 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The lex talionis clause on wounds — the scriptural measure of recompense for a wound. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOLUS

[Leviticus 19:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOLUS, p. 387; scan anchor: djvu line 65430 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The holiness-code prohibition of dealing falsely — fraud and guile named as forbidden. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOMAIN

[Psalm 24:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The earth is the LORD's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 24:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOMAIN, p. 387; scan anchor: djvu line 65523 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The psalm locates absolute ownership in God — the root from which every human domain derives. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOME

[Ecclesiastes 12:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 12:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOME, p. 388; scan anchor: djvu line 65630 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Preacher's doctrine of universal judgment — the doom toward which every sentence points. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DOMINICA PALM ARUM

[John 12:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna: Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the name of the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 12:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOMINICA PALM ARUM, p. 389; scan anchor: djvu line 65866 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Gospel account of the palm-branch entry the feast commemorates. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOMINICAL

[Revelation 1:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Revelation (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Revelation 1:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOMINICAL, p. 389; scan anchor: djvu line 65870 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's sole naming of 'the Lord's day' — the day the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOMINION

[Genesis 1:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOMINION, p. 390; scan anchor: djvu line 65912 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The creation grant of dominion — man given rule over the earth, the charter of human dominion. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOMINIUM

[Psalm 115:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The heaven, even the heavens, are the LORD's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 115:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOMINIUM, p. 390; scan anchor: djvu line 65934 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse divides ownership — heaven the LORD's, earth given to men — the scriptural statement of human dominium. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DONATIO

[James 1:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 1:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DONATIO, p. 391; scan anchor: djvu line 66134 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse defines the archetypal gift — gratuitous, from above — which is what donatio is in law: transfer without consideration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DONOR

[2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DONOR, p. 392; scan anchor: djvu line 66366 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural rule of giving — purposed in the heart, not grudging — bearing on the donor's act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOOM

[2 Corinthians 5:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOOM, p. 392; scan anchor: djvu line 66264 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The judgment seat where sentence is rendered according to deeds — doom in its ultimate form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DONNEUR D’AVAX

[Proverbs 11:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry DONNEUR D’AVAX, p. 392; scan anchor: djvu line 66362 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The proverb on suretyship — the guarantor's peril stated as wisdom. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOS

[Genesis 34:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Ask me never so much dowry and gift, and I will give according as ye shall say unto me: but give me the damsel to wife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 34:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOS, p. 392; scan anchor: djvu line 66379 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own use of 'dowry' — the marriage portion given for the bride — the entry's concept in its biblical dress. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOTAGE

[Ecclesiastes 12:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 12:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOTAGE, p. 392; scan anchor: djvu line 66444 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Preacher's portrait of age's approach — the 'evil days' of declining powers — which is what dotage names in law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DOUBT

[James 1:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 1:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOUBT, p. 394; scan anchor: djvu line 66687 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The wavering mind 'driven with the wind and tossed' — doubt's own scriptural image. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DOWEB

[Deuteronomy 14:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the Levite, (because he hath no part nor inheritance with thee,) and the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, which are within thy gates, shall come, and shall eat and be satisfied; that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doest. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 14:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DOWEB, p. 896 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 66825 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The law's own provision for the widow — that she 'eat and be satisfied' — the scriptural root of dower as the widow's support. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DRAM

[Proverbs 23:29-30, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 23:29-30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DRAM, p. 396; scan anchor: djvu line 67061 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The passage opens with woe upon 'them that tarry long at the wine' — the dram-drinker's own portrait. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DRINKING-SHOP

[Habakkuk 2:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Habakkuk (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest look on their nakedness! [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Habakkuk 2:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DRINKING-SHOP, p. 398; scan anchor: djvu line 67288 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Woe upon him who gives his neighbor drink and makes him drunken — the dram-shop keeper's trade judged. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DRUNKARD

[Proverbs 20:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry DRUNKARD, p. 330 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 67611 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Strong drink 'raging' and its deceived servant 'not wise' — the drunkard's condition in a proverb. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DROIT

[Psalm 89:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Justice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne: mercy and truth shall go before thy face. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 89:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DROIT, p. 398; scan anchor: djvu line 67317 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Justice and judgment as the throne's foundation — droit in its highest register. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DRY-CRJEFT

[Exodus 22:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DRY-CRJEFT, p. 400; scan anchor: djvu line 67682 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The law's own sentence upon witchcraft — the act the old English term names. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DUEL

[1 Samuel 17:8-9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he stood and cried unto the armies of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come out to set your battle in array? am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul? choose you a man for you, and let him come down to me. If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I prevail against him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 17:8-9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DUEL, p. 402; scan anchor: djvu line 67992 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Goliath's formal challenge to single combat — the scriptural archetype of the duel, terms stated before witnesses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DUMB

[Exodus 4:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And the LORD said unto him, Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or deaf, or the seeing, or the blind? have not I the LORD? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 4:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DUMB, p. 402; scan anchor: djvu line 68090 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The LORD names the dumb among those His own hand makes — the condition the entry defines, from the Maker's mouth. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DUNGEON

[Jeremiah 38:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then took they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the son of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let down Jeremiah with cords. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: so Jeremiah sunk in the mire. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 38:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DUNGEON, p. 402; scan anchor: djvu line 68115 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own dungeon — the prophet let down with cords into mire — the thing the entry defines, in its biblical instance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DUODENA MANU

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DUODENA MANU, p. 403; scan anchor: djvu line 68182 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The scriptural law of witnesses — a matter established at the mouth of witnesses — the root of compurgation by oath-helpers. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DUPLICATE

[Exodus 31:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he gave unto Moses, when he had made an end of communing with him upon mount Sinai, two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 31:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DUPLICATE, p. 403; scan anchor: djvu line 68206 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The two tables — twin originals of one instrument, both 'written with the finger of God' — duplicate originals in scripture's own form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DURESS, 17

[Philemon 1:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Philemon (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But without thy mind would I do nothing; that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Philemon 1:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DURESS, 17, p. 404; scan anchor: djvu line 68351 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paul refuses a benefit extracted 'of necessity' rather than 'willingly' — the anti-duress principle: a constrained act is no free act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DUTY

[Ecclesiastes 12:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 12:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DUTY, p. 404; scan anchor: djvu line 68466 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'The whole duty of man' stated outright — duty as the entry's subject, in scripture's own phrase. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

DYING WITHOUT ISSUE

[Deuteronomy 25:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If brethren dwell together, and one of them die, and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry without unto a stranger: her husband's brother shall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an husband's brother unto her. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DYING WITHOUT ISSUE, p. 405; scan anchor: djvu line 68605 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Dying 'and have no child' is the very trigger of the levirate law — the scriptural consequence of dying without issue. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

DYVOUR

[Deuteronomy 15:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. At the end of every seven years thou shalt make a release. And this is the manner of the release: Every creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour shall release it; he shall not exact it of his neighbour, or of his brother; because it is called the LORD's release. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 15:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry DYVOUR, p. 406; scan anchor: djvu line 68668 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The LORD's release — every creditor releasing what is owed — the scriptural bankruptcy discharge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EARNEST

[Ephesians 1:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 1:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EARNEST, p. 407; scan anchor: djvu line 68885 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Spirit as 'earnest' — arrabon, part-payment binding the whole — the theological earnest IS the legal earnest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EARNINGS

[Luke 10:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EARNINGS, p. 407; scan anchor: djvu line 68895 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The labourer is worthy of his hire — the scriptural wage-principle, in Jesus' own mouth. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EASEMENT

[Leviticus 19:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And when ye reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither shalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harvest. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EASEMENT, p. 407; scan anchor: djvu line 68935 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The gleaning right — the poor's lawful use of another's field — an easement in scripture's own

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EASTER

[Mark 16:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Mark (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 16:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EASTER, p. 409; scan anchor: djvu line 69153 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'He is risen' — the resurrection the feast commemorates, announced at the tomb. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EAT INDE SINE DIE

[John 8:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EAT INDE SINE DIE, p. 410; scan anchor: djvu line 69216 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Neither do I condemn thee: go' — acquittal and dismissal in Jesus' own sentence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EAVESDROPPING

[Leviticus 19:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not go up and down as a talebearer among thy people: neither shalt thou stand against the blood of thy neighbour: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EAVESDROPPING, p. 410; scan anchor: djvu line 69245 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The talebearer prohibition — going up and down to gather and spread discourse — the eavesdropper's trade forbidden. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ECCLESIA

[Matthew 16:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry ECCLESIA, p. 410; scan anchor: djvu line 69317 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'I will build my church' — the ecclesia founded by Christ's own word. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EDICT

[Luke 2:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 2:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EDICT, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69542 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Caesar's decree taxing all the world — the sovereign's edict in scripture's own instance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EDUCATION

[Proverbs 22:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EDUCATION, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69637 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Train up a child' — education as formation, the entry's whole-course training in a proverb. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EFFIGY

[Exodus 20:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EFFIGY, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69723 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The commandment against making likenesses — the effigy as representation, addressed at the root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EFFRACTION

[Matthew 24:43, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But know this, that if the goodman of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 24:43, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EFFRACTION, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69751 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The house 'broken up' by the thief — effraction named in Jesus' parable of watchfulness. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EFFUSIO SANGUINIS

[Genesis 9:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 9:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EFFUSIO SANGUINIS, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69757 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Noahic ordinance on bloodshed — shedding man's blood answered by man's blood. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EJECTA

[Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EJECTA, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69883 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The law's own case of ravishment — the forced damsel and the sentence on the ravisher. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EJECTUS

[Hebrews 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EJECTUS, p. 412; scan anchor: djvu line 69994 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Whoremongers... God will judge' — the entry's very word, with its sentence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact)

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

[basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EJXDOS

[Numbers 35:2-3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their possession cities to dwell in; and ye shall give also unto the Levites suburbs for the cities round about them. And the cities shall they have to dwell in; and the suburbs of them shall be for their cattle, and for their goods, and for all their beasts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:2-3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EJXDOS, p. 415; scan anchor: djvu line 70017 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Levitical suburbs — common land round the cities for cattle and goods — the ejido in scripture's form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ELABORARE

[Genesis 3:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 3:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ELABORARE, p. 415; scan anchor: djvu line 70064 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bread by the sweat of the face — acquisition by labor ordained at the Fall. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ELEEMOSYNARY

[Matthew 6:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 6:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ELEEMOSYNARY, p. 417; scan anchor: djvu line 70382 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jesus' rule of almsgiving — charity done in secret — the eleemosynary act in His own command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ELOGIUM

[Hebrews 9:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ELOGIUM, p. 417; scan anchor: djvu line 70472 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The epistle states the legal nature of a testament — operative only at the testator's death — the entry's concept exactly. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ELOPEMENT

[Exodus 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not commit adultery. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ELOPEMENT, p. 418; scan anchor: djvu line 70531 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The commandment the elopement breaks — the act defined by the prohibition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMANCIPATION

[Galatians 5:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 5:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMANCIPATION, p. 418; scan anchor: djvu line 70555 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Liberty wherewith Christ made us free, against the yoke of bondage — emancipation in Paul's figure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMBASSADOR

[2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMBASSADOR, p. 418; scan anchor: djvu line 70620 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'We are ambassadors for Christ' — the embassy and its message ('be ye reconciled to God') in scripture's own terms. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMBEZZLEMENT

[Luke 16:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he said also unto his disciples, There was a certain rich man, which had a steward; and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted his goods. And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMBEZZLEMENT, p. 418; scan anchor: djvu line 70647 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The steward accused of wasting entrusted goods, called to account — embezzlement's scriptural portrait. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMBLEM BE GENTZ

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMBLEM BE GENTZ, p. 419; scan anchor: djvu line 70756 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The commandment against theft itself — the act the old French phrase names. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMBBACEBY

[Exodus 23:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMBBACEBY, p. 419; scan anchor: djvu line 70790 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The gift that 'blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous' — the corruption of judgment embracery practices. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMEND A

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMEND A, p. 419; scan anchor: djvu line 70802 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The law of restitution — five oxen for an ox — amends measured and paid, the emenda in action. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EMIGRATION

[Genesis 12:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Now the LORD had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 12:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMIGRATION, p. 420; scan anchor: djvu line 70866 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The LORD's command to Abram — the archetypal emigration, country quit for a land to be shown. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMINENT DOMAIN

[2 Samuel 24:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the king said unto Araunah, Nay; but I will surely buy it of thee at a price: neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the LORD my God of that which doth cost me nothing. So David bought the threshingfloor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Samuel 24:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMINENT DOMAIN, p. 420; scan anchor: djvu line 70887 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The king refusing to take without price — eminent domain exercised with just compensation, the lawful form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMOLUMENT

[1 Corinthians 9:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 9:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMOLUMENT, p. 420; scan anchor: djvu line 71005 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Those who serve living of their service — the emolument principle ordained. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

E8CRITURA

[Esther 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Esther (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Esther 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry E8CRITURA, p. 437; scan anchor: djvu line 73762 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. 'A written instrument... sealed with the seal of the king' — the verse is the sealed royal writing that no man may reverse; same genuine link as ENSEAL, each entry judged on its own. Verbatim verified via web check (Batch 2). The king speaking, not the deity — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EH DEMEURE

[Psalms 37:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalms (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalms 37:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EH DEMEURE, p. 422; scan anchor: djvu line 71314 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the debtor 'in default... fails to pay on demand' — the verse is the defaulting debtor, verbatim. Psalm, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMOTIONAL INSANITY

[Proverbs 16:32, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 16:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMOTIONAL INSANITY, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71031 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines aberration from violent excitement of the passions with reason unimpaired; the proverb states the counter-norm of mastery over one's spirit, which is precisely the self-command the aberration departs from. Wisdom literature, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPEROR

[Proverbs 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. By me kings reign, and princes decree justice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPEROR, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71048 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the sovereign title and its Roman succession; the verse locates the authority behind sovereign rule and ties it to the legal function of decreeing justice. Borderline red-letter call: the speaker is Wisdom personified, not the deity — classic red-letter convention does not mark Proverbs 8, so flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EMPHYTEUSIS

[Leviticus 25:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are strangers and sojourners with me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPHYTEUSIS, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71070 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Perpetual/long-term land lease with reserved annual rent parallels the jubilee principle that land cannot be alienated absolutely — the reserved reversionary interest. Spoken by the LORD to Moses on Sinai (Lev 25:1) in first person ('the land is mine') — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPIRE

[Psalms 103:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalms (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The LORD hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalms 103:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPIRE, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71105 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's 'supreme dominion; sovereign command' is stated here without bound — the archetype of dominion the definition gestures at. Narrative psalm about God, not God speaking — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPLEAB

[Romans 8:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPLEAB, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71125 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to indict; to prefer a charge against; to accuse' — the verse is the classic forensic formulation of laying a charge. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPLOY

[Luke 19:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 19:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPLOY, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71136 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is commissioning agents and entrusting them with business; the parable of the pounds is the archetype of that agency. Borderline red-letter call: the words 'Occupy till I come' are spoken by the nobleman within Jesus' parable, but red-letter editions print parable dialogue as Christ's own speech — flagged, with the borderline noted. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPLOYER

[Luke 10:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. for the labourer is worthy of his hire. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPLOYER, p. 421; scan anchor: djvu line 71152 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The wage relation is the heart of employer status; the verse states the employer's correlative duty to the hired labourer. Jesus' direct speech to the seventy — deity verbatim speech. (Attaches to the second EMPLOYER entry, the wage-payer; the first EMPLOYER entry is a bare usage note and got nothing.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPRESTITO

[Luke 6:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 6:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPRESTITO, p. 422; scan anchor: djvu line 71235 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bare entry 'A loan' — the verse states the lending ethic at the root of the loan concept. Sermon on the Plain, Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMPTOR

[Proverbs 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMPTOR, p. 422; scan anchor: djvu line 71268 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The caveat-emptor buyer in the act of purchase — the proverb names the buyer's conduct verbatim. Wisdom saying, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EMTIO

[Proverbs 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMTIO, p. 422; scan anchor: djvu line 71281 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Standalone entry 'Purchase' (Digests/Code form of emptio) — same genuine buyer-link as EMPTOR; each entry judged on its own. Proverb, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMTOR

[Proverbs 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMTOR, p. 422; scan anchor: djvu line 71286 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A buyer or purchaser' — the buyer's maxim applies directly. Proverb, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EMTREX

[Proverbs 20:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EMTREX, p. 422; scan anchor: djvu line 71289 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A female purchaser' — KJV 'buyer' is generic; the maxim covers the purchaser's conduct. Proverb, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EN VENTRE SA MERE

[Psalms 139:13, 139:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalms (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mother's womb. Thine eyes did see my substance, yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned, when as yet there was none of them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalms 139:13, 139:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EN VENTRE SA MERE, p. 423; scan anchor: djvu line 71372 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry is the unborn child whom the law regards 'as in being' — the psalm is the womb-personhood archetype: formed in the womb and known before birth. Addressed TO God, not spoken BY God — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENACH

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENACH, p. 423; scan anchor: djvu line 71404 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Saxon 'satisfaction for a crime; recompense for a fault' — the verse is the classic restitution schedule for theft. Borderline red-letter call: casuistic legal form, but given as the judgments God set before Moses (Ex 21:1) — divine law-giving, flagged with the borderline noted. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENACT

[Isaiah 10:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Woe unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 10:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENACT, p. 423; scan anchor: djvu line 71408 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to establish by law; to decree' — the verse sets the moral boundary of decree-making. Verbatim verified against KJV text (web check 2026-10-18). The prophet's own woe-oracle, not first-person 'Thus saith the LORD' speech — red-letter flag left off, borderline noted. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENAJENAGION

[Leviticus 25:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are strangers and sojourners with me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENAJENAGION, p. 423; scan anchor: djvu line 71431 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Alienation/transfer of property — the verse limits absolute alienation of land, the same jubilee root as EMPHYTEUSIS. Spoken by the LORD to Moses (Lev 25:1), first person — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ENCOURAGE

[Proverbs 1:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 1:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENCOURAGE, p. 423; scan anchor: djvu line 71475 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is criminal-law 'encourage' = to instigate, incite to action; the proverb addresses enticement into wrongdoing by sinners — the instigation dynamic at the root of the offense. Wisdom instruction, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENCROACH

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENCROACH, p. 423; scan anchor: djvu line 71483 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is gaining unlawfully upon the lands of another — pressing too far upon a neighbour's grounds; the landmark law is the archetype of the boundary offense. Moses expounding the law, not first-person divine speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENCROACHMENT

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENCROACHMENT, p. 424; scan anchor: djvu line 71513 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A fixture intruding into or diminishing the highway — unlawful intrusion upon another's ground; the same landmark prohibition covers the root concept. Moses expounding — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ENFORCE

[Romans 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENFORCE, p. 425; scan anchor: djvu line 71673 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is putting law into execution — writ, judgment, debt; the verse names the magistrate as God's minister executing wrath on the evildoer — the theological root of enforcement authority. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENFRANCHISE

[John 8:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENFRANCHISE, p. 425; scan anchor: djvu line 71681 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to make free; to incorporate a man in a body politic' — the verse is the making-free in its absolute form. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENFRANCHISEMENT

[John 8:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENFRANCHISEMENT, p. 425; scan anchor: djvu line 71684 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The act of making free and admission to liberty — same genuine link as ENFRANCHISE; each entry judged on its own. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENGROSS

[Amos 8:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 8:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ENGROSS, p. 425; scan anchor: djvu line 71795 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's criminal sense is buying up a commodity to obtain a monopoly and force prices; Amos condemns the grain-market cornerers withholding corn and wheat and rigging measures — the scriptural archetype of the offense. Verbatim verified via web check this session. Prophet's oracle reporting the merchants — not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENGROSSER

[Amos 8:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 8:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENGROSSER, p. 425; scan anchor: djvu line 71804 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'One who purchases large quantities of any commodity in order to acquire a monopoly' — the very figure Amos denounces withholding corn and wheat. Same genuine link as ENGROSS. Not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENGROSSING

[Amos 8:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 8:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENGROSSING, p. 425; scan anchor: djvu line 71811 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The buying up of corn and victuals to sell at unreasonable price — Amos 8:5 is precisely the corn-and-wheat market manipulation condemned. Same genuine link. Not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENHERITANCE

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENHERITANCE, p. 426; scan anchor: djvu line 71843 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bare entry 'Inheritance' — the verse states the inheritance passing to children's children, the core of the concept. Proverb, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENITIA PAHS

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENITIA PAHS, p. 426; scan anchor: djvu line 71845 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the eldest coparcener's privileged first-choice share in partition; the double portion of the firstborn is the archetype of the eldest's preferential share. Moses expounding the law — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENSEAL

[Esther 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Esther (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Esther 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENSEAL, p. 427; scan anchor: djvu line 72011 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is 'to seal' in conveyancing; the verse is the sealed royal instrument — sealing as the act that makes a writing irreversible, the archetype of legal authentication by seal. Verbatim verified via web check this session. The king speaking, not the deity — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENTER

[Joshua 1:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 1:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENTER, p. 427; scan anchor: djvu line 72076 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is going upon land for the purpose of taking possession; the verse is the divine grant of possession by treading — entry as the act that takes the land. Verbatim verified via web check this session. The LORD speaking to Joshua (Josh 1:1) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ENTICE

[Proverbs 1:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 1:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENTICE, p. 427; scan anchor: djvu line 72135 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is literally 'to entice' — to solicit, persuade, procure; the proverb names enticement into wrongdoing and the refusal of it. Same genuine link as ENCOURAGE. Wisdom instruction, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENTIRETY

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENTIRETY, p. 428; scan anchor: djvu line 72189 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's core is husband and wife seised not by moieties but of the entirety — two persons holding as one; the one-flesh union is the archetype of that spousal legal unity. Borderline, kept: the legal fiction of entirety directly echoes the verse. Narrator's comment, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ENUMERATORS

[Numbers 1:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Take ye the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 1:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ENUMERATORS, p. 480 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 72556 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Persons appointed to collect census papers — the verse is the census command itself, the archetype of the numbering office. Verbatim verified via web check this session. The LORD speaking to Moses (Num 1:1) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EOTH

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EOTH, p. 480 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 72611 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bare entry 'An oath' (Saxon) — the verse states the oath's legal function: sworn by the greater, for confirmation, ending strife. The definition of the legal instrument itself. Verbatim verified via web check this session. Epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EPIPHANY

[Matthew 2:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 2:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EPIPHANY, p. 480 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 72672 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the festival honoring the star's appearance to the magi; the verse is the magi's own testimony of seeing the star — the scriptural ground of the observance. The magi speaking, not the deity — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EPISCOPACY

[1 Timothy 3:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. This is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EPISCOPACY, p. 431 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 72701 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the office of overseeing, the bishop's office; the verse names the office of a bishop directly. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EPISCOPATE

[1 Timothy 3:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. This is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EPISCOPATE, p. 431; scan anchor: djvu line 72718 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A bishopric. The dignity or office of a bishop' — same genuine link as EPISCOPACY; each entry judged on its own. Not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EPISCOPES

[Acts 20:28, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 20:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EPISCOPES, p. 431; scan anchor: djvu line 72721 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the overseer/inspector, the episkopos; the verse charges the overseers with the flock — the office in its scriptural form. Verbatim verified via web check this session. Paul speaking, not the deity — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EQUALITY

[Galatians 3:28, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 3:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EQUALITY, p. 431; scan anchor: djvu line 72831 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is sameness of rights, privileges, and duties; 'neither bond nor free' addresses legal status directly — the non-distinction principle at the root of equality. Borderline, kept: genuinely on-concept. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EQUITABLE

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EQUITABLE, p. 432; scan anchor: djvu line 72901 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Just; conformable to the principles of natural justice and right' — the verse states just-dealing and mercy, equity's substance; same genuine link as EPIQUEYA. Not first-person divine speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ERAST1ANS

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERAST1ANS, p. 434; scan anchor: djvu line 73297 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The sect's tenet is that offenses against religion and morality are punished by the civil power, not the church; the verse is the classic proof-text for divinely ordained civil authority — the doctrine's scriptural root. Borderline, kept: genuinely the tenet's ground. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ERASURE

[Revelation 3:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Revelation 3:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERASURE, p. 434; scan anchor: djvu line 73306 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is obliteration of words from a written instrument; the verse is blotting a name out of the book of life — the heavenly register as the ultimate written instrument, erasure from the record in its absolute form. Borderline, kept. Jesus speaking to Sardis — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ERCISCUNDUS

[Luke 12:13-14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me. And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge or a divider over you? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 12:13-14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERCISCUNDUS, p. 434; scan anchor: djvu line 73319 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'To be divided' — a suit for partition of an inheritance; the verses are the inheritance-partition request and the jurisdictional declinature together — the partition suit in miniature. Verse 14 is Jesus' speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ERIACH

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERIACH, p. 434; scan anchor: djvu line 73345 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Brehon weregild — pecuniary recompense for murder paid to the victim's kin; the verse directly addresses that legal concept by forbidding it: no satisfaction shall be taken for the murderer's life. Illumination by counter-principle, genuinely on-concept. Moses expounding — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ERNES

[Leviticus 19:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And when ye reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither shalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harvest. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERNES, p. 434; scan anchor: djvu line 73363 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is literally the gleanings — loose ears left after binding; the verse commands leaving them — the gleaning law that creates the legal category. The LORD speaking to Moses (Lev 19:1-2) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ERRATICUM

[Exodus 23:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERRATICUM, p. 434; scan anchor: djvu line 73237 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Attaches to the SECOND ERRATICUM entry (entry 168: 'A waif or stray; a wandering beast'). The FIRST ERRATICUM entry (entry 149) carries shattered EQUITY text ('Equity follows the law') from a parser artifact and got nothing — see quality flag. For the waif/stray entry: the verse is the law of the stray beast, directing its return. Consistent with the Ex 22:1 flag: the judgments block is divine law-giving — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ERTHMIOTTTM

[Matthew 5:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ERTHMIOTTTM, p. 436; scan anchor: djvu line 73573 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A neighborhood meeting to compromise differences — a court for settling disputes among themselves; the verse states the private-settlement principle: agree with the adversary before it reaches the judge. Borderline, kept: genuinely the compromise dynamic. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESCHEAT

[Leviticus 25:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. In the year of this jubile ye shall return every man unto his possession. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESCHEAT, p. 436; scan anchor: djvu line 73662 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Land obstructed in descent 'results back, by a kind of reversion, to the original grantor' — the jubilee return is the archetype of land reverting to the original holder. The LORD speaking to Moses (Lev 25:1) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESCROQUERIE

[Leviticus 19:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESCROQUERIE, p. 437; scan anchor: djvu line 73769 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fraud, swindling, cheating — the verse covers the fraud cluster: stealing, dealing falsely, lying to one another. The LORD speaking to Moses (Lev 19:1-2) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESFUBE8

[Mark 4:28, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Mark 4:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESFUBE8, p. 437; scan anchor: djvu line 73864 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The old term for the products the land yields — hay, herbage, corn; the verse describes the earth's yield in its stages. Borderline, kept: genuinely the land's fruitfulness. Jesus' parable discourse — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESNEGT

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESNEGT, p. 437; scan anchor: djvu line 73843 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Seniority — the eldest's privilege of first choice among coparceners in partition; the double portion of the firstborn is the archetype, same genuine link as ENITIA PAHS. Moses expounding — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESPOUSALS

[Matthew 1:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 1:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESPOUSALS, p. 437; scan anchor: djvu line 73872 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A mutual promise to marry at a future time — the verse shows the espousal's binding legal force: though only espoused, Joseph must 'put her away' (divorce) to end it. Borderline, kept: genuinely the betrothal's legal character. Narrator, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESPURIO

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESPURIO, p. 437; scan anchor: djvu line 73878 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The spurious child — one of promiscuous birth; the verse states the bastard's legal status and its duration. Genuinely the illegitimacy concept. Moses expounding — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ESTANDARD

[Leviticus 19:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, shall ye have: I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESTANDARD, p. 439; scan anchor: djvu line 74091 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The standard of weights and measures — the verse names the just standards themselves: balances, weights, ephah, hin. The LORD speaking to Moses (Lev 19:1-2) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESTATE IN VADIO

[Exodus 22:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESTATE IN VADIO, p. 442; scan anchor: djvu line 74582 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. An estate in gage or pledge — the verse is the pledge law: taking to pledge and the duty of restoration. Consistent with the judgments-block doctrine — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESTATE OF INHERITANCE

[Numbers 27:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ESTATE OF INHERITANCE, p. 442; scan anchor: djvu line 74594 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The fee cast by law upon blood-heirs in perpetuum — the verse is the descent statute itself, directing the inheritance's passage. Verbatim verified via web check this session. The LORD speaking to Moses (Num 27:6) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ESTRAY

[Exodus 23:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ESTRAY, p. 443; scan anchor: djvu line 74881 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Cattle whose owner is unknown — a wandering beast; the verse is the law of the stray beast, same genuine link as ERRATICUM. Judgments-block divine law-giving — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EUNUCH

[Matthew 19:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother's womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EUNUCH, p. 446; scan anchor: djvu line 75182 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the castrated male; the verse names the classes of eunuchs — born, made by men, made for the kingdom's sake. Borderline, kept: genuinely definitional. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EVIDENCE OF DEBT

[Colossians 2:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 2:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EVIDENCE OF DEBT, p. 449; scan anchor: djvu line 75892 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Written instruments importing on their face the existence of a debt — the verse's 'handwriting of ordinances that was against us' is the handwritten bond of indebtedness; the metaphor depends on the audience knowing the debt-instrument. Borderline, kept: genuinely the concept in use. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EVIDENCE OF TITLE

[Jeremiah 32:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So I took the evidence of the purchase, both that which was sealed according to the law and custom, and that which was open: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 32:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EVIDENCE OF TITLE, p. 449; scan anchor: djvu line 75898 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A deed or document establishing title to property — the verse is the scriptural title-deed transaction itself: the sealed and open evidences of purchase. Verbatim verified via web check this session. Jeremiah narrating his own act, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EX AEQUO ET BONO

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EX AEQUO ET BONO, p. 450; scan anchor: djvu line 75982 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'In justice and fairness; according to what is just and good; according to equity and conscience' — the verse states doing justly and loving mercy, the substance of the standard. Same genuine link as EPIQUEYA/EQUITABLE. The prophet speaking, not first-person divine speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EX GRATIA

[Romans 4:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now to him that worketh is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 4:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EX GRATIA, p. 451; scan anchor: djvu line 76200 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Out of grace; as a matter of grace, favor, or indulgence; gratuitous — as distinguished from that which may be demanded ex debito, as a matter of right.' The verse states the identical contrast: reckoned of grace versus reckoned of debt. Borderline, kept: the grace/debt distinction is the entry's own defining contrast. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EX TESTAMENTO

[Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EX TESTAMENTO, p. 454; scan anchor: djvu line 76679 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'From, by, or under a will' — the verses state the testament's legal nature: it takes force only upon the testator's death. The definition of the instrument itself. Epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EX VISITATIONE DEI

[Exodus 4:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And the LORD said unto him, Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or deaf, or the seeing, or the blind? have not I the LORD? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 4:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EX VISITATIONE DEI, p. 454; scan anchor: djvu line 76732 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'By the dispensation of God; by reason of physical incapacity' — anciently the jury inquired whether the mute prisoner was dumb ex visitatione Dei; the verse is God claiming authorship of dumbness and deafness. Genuinely the concept's ground. The LORD speaking to Moses — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXACTION

[Luke 3:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 3:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXACTION, p. 454; scan anchor: djvu line 76755 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The officer's wrongful compelling of payment under color of authority — the verse is the Baptist's charge to the publicans (the exacting officers): exact no more than appointed. The offense and its limit in one sentence. John speaking, not the deity — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXACTOR

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXACTOR, p. 454; scan anchor: djvu line 76768 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The collector of taxes, the king's tax-gatherer — the verse establishes the tax obligation itself, the ground of the exactor's office. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXAMINATION

[Deuteronomy 19:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsely against his brother; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry EXAMINATION, p. 455; scan anchor: djvu line 76800 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The examination/interrogation of witnesses in trial practice — the verse commands the judges' diligent inquisition of the witness, including the false-witness test. Genuinely the examination function. Moses expounding — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXAMINER

[Deuteronomy 19:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a false witness, and hath testified falsely against his brother; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXAMINER, p. 455; scan anchor: djvu line 76917 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The officer appointed to take the examination of witnesses — same genuine link as EXAMINATION; the verse describes the diligent judicial examination the office exists to perform. Moses expounding — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXCHANGE

[Ruth 4:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ruth 4:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXCHANGE, p. 458; scan anchor: djvu line 77344 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The mutual grant confirming a transaction — the verse describes the symbolic exchange (shoe-plucking) that confirmed redeeming and changing in Israel. Borderline, kept: genuinely the exchange formality. Narrator, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXCISE

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXCISE, p. 458; scan anchor: djvu line 77476 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The inland tax on consumption and sale — the verse states the duty to render the tax, the ground of all such impositions; same genuine link as EXACTOR, each entry judged on its own. Jesus'

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXCOMMUNICATION

[Matthew 18:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXCOMMUNICATION, p. 459; scan anchor: djvu line 77577 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The sentence of ecclesiastical censure — the verse is the church-discipline procedure culminating in exclusion, the scriptural root of excommunication. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXEMPTION

[Matthew 17:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Peter saith unto him, Of strangers. Jesus saith unto him, Then are the children free. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 17:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXEMPTION, p. 463; scan anchor: djvu line 78235 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Freedom from a general duty or service; immunity from a general burden, tax, or charge' — the verse states the exemption principle for the temple tribute: the children are free. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXEMPTS

[Matthew 17:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Peter saith unto him, Of strangers. Jesus saith unto him, Then are the children free. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 17:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXEMPTS, p. 463; scan anchor: djvu line 78264 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Persons excused from duties imposed on others — the verse names the exempt class: the children, free of the tribute; same genuine link as EXEMPTION. Jesus' direct speech — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EXILE

[Genesis 4:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXILE, p. 463; scan anchor: djvu line 78474 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Banishment — the verse is the banishment sentence on Cain: fugitive and vagabond in the earth, the archetype of exile as punishment. God speaking to Cain — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXILIUM

[Genesis 4:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXILIUM, p. 463; scan anchor: djvu line 78477 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Exile, banishment from one's country — same genuine link as EXILE; the Cain sentence is the archetype. God speaking to Cain — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXPROPRIATION

[Philippians 2:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Philippians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Philippians 2:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXPROPRIATION, p. 468; scan anchor: djvu line 79112 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A voluntary surrender of rights or claims; the act of divesting oneself of that which was previously claimed as one's own' — the verse is the self-emptying: divesting oneself of what was one's own. Borderline, kept: genuinely the divestiture concept. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXPULSION

[Genesis 3:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the garden of Eden Cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 3:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXPULSION, p. 468; scan anchor: djvu line 79139 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A putting or driving out' — the verse is the primal driving-out, the archetype of expulsion. Borderline, kept. Narrator, not deity speech — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXPUNGE

[Revelation 3:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Revelation 3:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXPUNGE, p. 469; scan anchor: djvu line 79164 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'To blot out; to efface designedly; to obliterate' — same genuine link as ERASURE: blotting from the book of life, erasure from the ultimate record. Jesus speaking to Sardis — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXTERUS

[Leviticus 19:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXTERUS, p. 470; scan anchor: djvu line 79334 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A foreigner or alien; one born abroad' — the verse states the alien's legal standing: as one born among you. The LORD speaking to Moses (Lev 19:1-2) — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXTORTION

[Luke 3:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 3:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXTORTION, p. 470; scan anchor: djvu line 79451 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oppression by color of right — the officer's exaction when none or not so much is due; the verse is the Baptist's limit set on the exacting officers, same genuine link as EXACTION. John speaking, not the deity — no red-letter flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

EXTRAHURA

[Exodus 23:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXTRAHURA, p. 471; scan anchor: djvu line 79630 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A straying animal without an owner — an estray; the verse is the law of the stray beast, same genuine link as ERRATICUM/ESTRAY. Judgments-block divine law-giving — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXTRANEITS

[Leviticus 19:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXTRANEITS, p. 471; scan anchor: djvu line 79688 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. One foreign-born, a foreigner — same genuine link as EXTERUS; the alien's standing as one born among you. The LORD speaking to Moses — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EXUEARE

[Genesis 4:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EXUEARE, p. 471; scan anchor: djvu line 79799 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'To exile or banish' (Magna Charta's 'no freeman shall be exiled') — the Cain sentence is the banishment archetype, same genuine link as EXILE/EXILIUM. God speaking to Cain — deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EYRE

[1 Samuel 7:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he went from year to year in circuit to Beth-el, and Gilgal, and Mizpeh, and judged Israel in all those places. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 7:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EYRE, p. 473; scan anchor: djvu line 79832 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Justices in eyre were judges commissioned to travel systematically through the kingdom holding courts in specified places. The verse describes Samuel doing precisely that — an annual judicial circuit through appointed towns, judging Israel at each. Genuine parallel of the legal institution, not merely shared vocabulary. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FABULA

[Malachi 2:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Malachi (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Yet ye say, Wherefore? Because the LORD hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast dealt treacherously: yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 2:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FABULA, p. 474; scan anchor: djvu line 79921 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry gives fabula's special sense as a marriage contract in Lombardic/Visigothic law. The verse formulates marriage explicitly as a covenant witnessed by God, with treachery as breach — the scriptural statement of the marriage-contract concept the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FAIDA

[Genesis 4:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAIDA, p. 478; scan anchor: djvu line 80541 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Faida is the recognized blood-feud: enmity between the murdered man's family and the murderer's, licensing vengeance. This verse is the primal scene of that institution — the murdered brother's blood crying out, answered by a curse and sevenfold protection against retaliation (v.15). It genuinely illuminates the feud's theological root. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FABRICATE

[Exodus 23:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FABRICATE, p. 474; scan anchor: djvu line 79895 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To fabricate evidence is to manufacture circumstances after the fact so they appear accidental and true. The verse directly forbids raising false reports and joining the wicked as an unrighteous witness — the exact conduct the entry defines. Genuine prohibition of the concept, not decorative. [basis:

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FAITOURS

[2 Thessalonians 3:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Thessalonians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Thessalonians 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAITOURS, p. 478; scan anchor: djvu line 80807 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Faitours are idle persons, idle livers, vagabonds. This is the canonical apostolic censure of willful idleness, addressed to those 'working not at all.' Lean but genuine: the entry's whole content is the idle-liver class, and the verse is scripture's direct word on it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FALSE

[Proverbs 12:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lying lips are abomination to the Lord: but they that deal truly are his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 12:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FALSE, p. 480; scan anchor: djvu line 80990 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines legal 'false' as designedly untrue and deceitful, implying treachery or fraud — not mere error. The proverb states the same moral ontology: lying lips are an abomination, set against those who deal truly. Genuine correspondence between the legal sense (intended deceit) and the verse's condemnation of deliberate falsehood. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FALSEHOOD

[Jeremiah 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. How do ye say, We are wise, and the law of the LORD is with us? Lo, certainly in vain made he it; the pen of the scribes is in vain. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FALSEHOOD, p. 480; scan anchor: djvu line 81139 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. In Scots law falsehood is the nominate crime of falsification of writs — 'fraudulent imitation or suppression of truth.' The verse accuses the scribes of making the written law vain with a false pen: scripture's own case of falsified writings by those entrusted with the record. Genuine link to the falsification-of-writs sense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FALSIFYING A RECORD

[Jeremiah 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. How do ye say, We are wise, and the law of the LORD is with us? Lo, certainly in vain made he it; the pen of the scribes is in vain. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FALSIFYING A RECORD, p. 480; scan anchor: djvu line 81196 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines falsifying a record as a high offense against public justice. The verse is the prophetic indictment of the same offense in kind — the scribes' pen rendering the written law vain through falsehood. Genuine scriptural attestation of record-tampering as a public-wrong. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FAMILY

[Genesis 12:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 12:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAMILY, p. 482; scan anchor: djvu line 81336 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines family broadly: household under one head, and in the widest sense all who descend from a common ancestor — a root people. The verse is the Abrahamic charter of exactly that wider sense: all the families (kindreds, mishpachot) of the earth blessed in one man's seed. God's own speech establishing the family-of-nations concept. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FAMACIDE

[Proverbs 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAMACIDE, p. 482; scan anchor: djvu line 81286 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Famacide is the killing of reputation — a slanderer. The proverb states why reputation-killing is a genuine injury: a good name outranks great riches. The verse illuminates the protected interest (reputation as treasure) that the famacide destroys. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FAS

[Psalm 19:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 19:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAS, p. 484; scan anchor: djvu line 81604 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fas is the divine law, set against jus (human law). This verse is scripture's own praise of the divine law — perfect, soul-converting — which is exactly what fas denotes. Genuine conceptual correspondence, not a shared word. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FAST-DAY

[Joel 1:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Joel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Sanctify ye a fast, call a solemn assembly, gather the elders and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joel 1:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAST-DAY, p. 484; scan anchor: djvu line 81619 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A fast-day is a proclaimed day of fasting and penitence. The verse is the scriptural form of that proclamation — the public hallowing of a fast, summoned by solemn assembly. Genuine: the verse institutes the very thing the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FATHER

[Exodus 20:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FATHER, p. 484; scan anchor: djvu line 81644 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the legal father — male parent, including putative, step-, adoptive, and grandfather senses. The commandment founds the father's standing in law and religion alike: honour owed to the father as a divine ordinance, tied to inheritance of the land. Genuine root of the paternal legal status. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FAVOR

[Leviticus 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FAVOR, p. 485; scan anchor: djvu line 81815 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Favor in law is bias or partiality — the matter of challenges to jurors and judges. The verse forbids exactly that in judgment: neither favouring the poor nor honouring the mighty, but judging in righteousness. Genuine prohibition of judicial favoritism, which is the entry's core sense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FEASTS

[Leviticus 23:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. These are the feasts of the LORD, even holy convocations, which ye shall proclaim in their seasons. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FEASTS, p. 486; scan anchor: djvu line 81916 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines feasts as established festivals in the ecclesiastical calendar, used as legal dates. The verse is the scriptural institution of appointed feasts as holy convocations proclaimed in their seasons — the calendar the entry presupposes. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FEGANGI

[Exodus 22:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FEGANGI, p. 488; scan anchor: djvu line 82306 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fegangi is the thief caught in the act, escaping with the goods in his possession. The verse is the law of the thief taken in the act — the night-breaker smitten in the deed. Genuine: scripture's own statement of the legal consequence for the caught-in-the-act thief. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FELLOW-HEIR

[Romans 8:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FELLOW-HEIR, p. 488; scan anchor: djvu line 82373 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A fellow-heir is a co-heir, partner of the same inheritance. The verse states co-heirship directly — joint-heirs with Christ of one inheritance. Lean but genuine: the shared-inheritance concept is identical, though the register is theological rather than probate. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FEMALE

[Genesis 1:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FEMALE, p. 480; scan anchor: djvu line 82538 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines female as the sex that conceives and bears young, generically a member of such sex. The verse is scripture's foundational statement of the sexes — male and female created together in the divine image. Lean but genuine: it states the ontological ground of the distinction the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FENERATION

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FENERATION, p. 490; scan anchor: djvu line 82615 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Feneration is usury — the gain of interest, increasing money by lending. The verse forbids exactly that: acting toward the borrower as an usurer and laying usury upon him. Genuine: scripture's own prohibition of the practice the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FERME

[Matthew 21:33, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Hear another parable: There was a certain householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a winepress in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Matthew 21:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FERME, p. 492; scan anchor: djvu line 82905 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Ferme is a rent, a lease — land taken by indenture, farmed out. The verse depicts the letting-out of a vineyard to husbandmen for its fruits, which is the farming/lease arrangement in its biblical dress. Lean but genuine. Flagged deity-verbatim: Jesus speaking the parable. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FESTUM

[Leviticus 23:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. These are the feasts of the LORD, even holy convocations, which ye shall proclaim in their seasons. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FESTUM, p. 492; scan anchor: djvu line 83044 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Festum is a feast or festival. The verse is the scriptural institution of the appointed feasts as holy convocations proclaimed in their seasons — the festal calendar the entry's term denotes. Genuine (same verse serves FEASTS with independent reasoning). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FETTERS

[Mark 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Mark (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces: neither could any man tame him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FETTERS, p. 492; scan anchor: djvu line 83047 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fetters are chains or shackles for securing unruly prisoners. The verse is scripture's own attestation of the instrument — fetters bound upon a man who breaks them. Lean but genuine: it shows the term's material referent in KJV usage, which is what the legal definition denotes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FIAT

[Genesis 1:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And God said, Let there be light: and there was light. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FIAT, p. 494; scan anchor: djvu line 83329 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fiat is 'let it be done' — a short authoritative order directing some act to be done. This verse is the archetype of the fiat: the divine command that effects what it orders ('fiat lux' in the Vulgate). The legal fiat is the judge's miniature of the same form. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FEUD

[Genesis 4:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FEUD, p. 493; scan anchor: djvu line 83084 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Feud bears the Saxon sense of enmity — private war between the murdered man's family and the slayer's. This verse is the primal scene of that enmity: the murdered brother's blood crying out, the curse, and the sevenfold guard against retaliation. Genuine for the blood-feud sense (same verse serves FAIDA with independent reasoning). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FIANCER

[Deuteronomy 22:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a damsel that is a virgin be betrothed unto an husband, and a man find her in the city, and lie with her; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FIANCER, p. 494; scan anchor: djvu line 83299 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fiancer is to pledge one's faith — to betroth. The verse treats the betrothed damsel with the legal gravity of a wife: betrothal is a binding status, its violation punished as adultery. Genuine: scripture's statement of betrothal's legal weight, which is the substance of fiancer. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FIANZA

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, If thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, Thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FIANZA, p. 494; scan anchor: djvu line 83302 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fianza in its special sense is a surety or guarantor — the contract of suretyship. The proverb addresses becoming surety for a friend by the striking of hands: the act, the binding word, and its peril. Genuine: the verse is wisdom's law on the very engagement the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FIDE-JUSSOR

[Proverbs 17:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A man void of understanding striketh hands, and becometh surety in the presence of his friend. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 17:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FIDE-JUSSOR, p. 495; scan anchor: djvu line 83512 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A fide-jussor is one who becomes responsible for another's debt by a stipulation binding him if the principal fails. The verse describes exactly that undertaking — striking hands to become surety — and wisdom's judgment on it. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FIDUCIARY

[Matthew 25:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FIDUCIARY, p. 496; scan anchor: djvu line 83612 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A fiduciary is invested with rights and powers to be exercised for another's benefit, in trust and confidence. The verse is the parable's commendation of the steward entrusted with his lord's goods — faithful over what was committed to him. Genuine: the fiduciary relation (entrusted stewardship) in its scriptural form. Flagged deity-verbatim: Jesus speaking. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FIFTEENTHS

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FIFTEENTHS, p. 497; scan anchor: djvu line 83795 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fifteenths are a royal tax — a fifteenth part of movables granted to the king. The verse is Christ's own ruling on the lawfulness of rendering tax to the sovereign: the scriptural charter of the tax obligation the entry defines. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FINDER

[Exodus 23:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FINDER, p. 499; scan anchor: djvu line 84114 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A finder is one who discovers and takes possession of another's lost property. The verse lays the finder's duty in law: the stray beast met going astray must be brought back to its owner — restoration, not appropriation. Genuine: scripture's rule for found property. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FLAGRANS

[Exodus 22:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FLAGRANS, p. 604; scan anchor: djvu line 84999 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Flagrans crimen / flagrante delicto is a crime in the very act of its commission. The verse is the law of the thief found breaking up — taken in the act itself — with the legal consequence stated. Genuine: scripture's statement of the flagrant-delict rule (same verse serves FEGANGI with independent reasoning). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FLEE FROM JUSTICE

[Jonah 1:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jonah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jonah 1:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FLEE FROM JUSTICE, p. 604; scan anchor: djvu line 85058 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To flee from justice is to leave one's known place to avoid detection or punishment for an offense. Jonah's flight to Tarshish — paying the fare, going down into the ship — is scripture's archetype of the absconder evading his charge. Lean but genuine: the flight-to-avoid pattern is identical. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FLIGHT

[Proverbs 28:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 28:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FLIGHT, p. 505 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 85128 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Flight in criminal law is presumptive evidence of guilt — the accused evading the law by withdrawing himself. The proverb states the same evidentiary logic: unprompted flight betrays the wicked conscience, boldness the clean one. Genuine: scripture's formulation of the flight-as-guilt inference. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FCEDUS

[Genesis 9:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I, behold, I establish my covenant with you, and with your seed after you; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 9:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FCEDUS, p. 606; scan anchor: djvu line 85354 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Foedus is a treaty, a league, a compact. The verse is the establishment of a covenant in first-person divine speech — God binding himself by compact to Noah and his seed, with the bow as its token (v.13). The covenant-as-treaty is the foedus in its scriptural form. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FORBEARANCE

[Psalm 103:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath not dealt with us after our sins; nor rewarded us according to our iniquities. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 103:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FORBEARANCE, p. 608; scan anchor: djvu line 85739 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Forbearance is abstaining from proceeding against a delinquent — delay in exacting a right, indulgence granted. The verse states divine forbearance in that exact shape: the creditor who does not exact what the debt of sin would warrant. Lean but genuine: the indulgence-to-the-delinquent concept, in the theological register. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FOREIGNER

[Leviticus 19:34, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God. [basis: the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FOREIGNER, p. 511; scan anchor: djvu line 86133 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The foreigner in law is the non-citizen — the alien with uncertain standing. The verse fixes the stranger's legal standing in the strongest possible terms: as one born among you, loved as thyself, with the reason stated. A genuine bearing on the entry's definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FORESTALLING THE MARKET

[Amos 8:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 8:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FORESTALLING THE MARKET, p. 511; scan anchor: djvu line 86283 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Forestalling the market is buying up provisions before they reach market to sell at a higher price, or persuading sellers to enhance the price — the offense of market manipulation. Amos condemns exactly this trade-practice class: shrinking the measure, enlarging the price, falsifying balances by deceit. The verse denounces the same economic wrong under its ancient name. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FORETHOUGHT FELONY

[Numbers 35:20-21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if he thrust him of hatred, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die; Or in enmity smite him with his hand, that he die: he that smote him shall surely be put to death; for he is a murderer: the revenger of blood shall slay the murderer, when he meeteth him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:20-21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FORETHOUGHT FELONY, p. 511; scan anchor: djvu line 86333 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Forethought felony is murder committed in consequence of a previous design — premeditation. The verse states the premeditation criterion directly: thrust of hatred, hurling by laying of wait — previous design — and names the actor 'a murderer,' distinguishing it from the unawares killing of vv. 22-23. Malice aforethought in its scriptural form. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FORNICATION

[1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FORNICATION, p. 615; scan anchor: djvu line 86924 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the offense in its legal terms; the verse names the same act and forbids it directly, in Paul's own 'flee fornication' command, with the distinctive sin-against-one's-own-body reasoning. The scriptural prohibition behind the statute. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FORSWEAR

[Leviticus 19:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FORSWEAR, p. 516; scan anchor: djvu line 86991 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Forswear is making oath to what the deponent knows to be untrue — false swearing. The verse forbids it by name: swearing by God's name falsely. The offense under its ancient prohibition. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FORTUNE-TELLERS

[Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FORTUNE-TELLERS, p. 517; scan anchor: djvu line 87167 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fortune-tellers are professed diviners punishable under English law as rogues and vagabonds. The verse lists divination and observing times among the forbidden practices — the fortune-teller's trade under its scriptural ban, condemned as an abomination (v. 12). Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FRATERNITY

[1 Peter 2:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Peter (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Peter 2:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRATERNITY, p. 521; scan anchor: djvu line 87843 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A fraternity is a company of persons united together in respect to a mystery or business, with their own laws and ordinances. The verse names the brotherhood — the united body — and commands love toward it, set among civil duties (honour all men, honour the king). The brotherhood as a loved, recognized body. Genuine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

EYE- WITNESS

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry EYE- WITNESS, p. 473; scan anchor: djvu line 79825 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines an eye-witness as one who saw the act to which he testifies. This verse is the ancient two-witness rule of law — a single witness cannot sustain a charge; testimony is established only by two or three — which is the scriptural root of the common-law caution around single-witness testimony. Genuine legal-concept link, not keyword decoration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FEAL

[2 Samuel 15:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Ittai answered the king, and said, As the Lord liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, surely in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also will thy servant be. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Samuel 15:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FEAL, p. 485; scan anchor: djvu line 81840 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines feal as faithful, and its body gives FEALTY: fidelity and allegiance sworn by tenant to lord. Ittai's answer to David is the scriptural exemplar of that oath: a sworn pledge of personal allegiance, sealed by oath, binding through death or life. Genuine. Flag left off: Ittai's oath invokes God, but the verse is Ittai's speech, not the deity's. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FTDELITAS

[Revelation 2:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Revelation 2:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FTDELITAS, p. 495; scan anchor: djvu line 83526 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fidelitas is fidelity — the faithful keeping of allegiance. The verse is Christ's command of fidelity unto death with its promised crown: faithfulness as the kept bond. Genuine. Flagged deity-verbatim: the risen Christ speaking to the church in Smyrna. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRATRIAGE

[Luke 15:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 15:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRATRIAGE, p. 521; scan anchor: djvu line 87862 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. FRATRIAGE is the younger brother's inheritance — the portion due the younger sibling. In scripture's great inheritance parable the younger son demands exactly that: 'the portion of goods that falleth to me.' The verse names the legal thing itself: the younger's allotted share. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRATRICIDE

[Genesis 4:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRATRICIDE, p. 521; scan anchor: djvu line 87865 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The archetypal fratricide — the first killing of a brother in scripture, and the case every later law of fratricide answers. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRATRICIDE

[Genesis 4:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry FRATRICIDE, p. 521; scan anchor: djvu line 87865 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. God's own reckoning with the fratricide: the murdered brother's blood as witness crying from the ground — divine testimony against the killing of a brother. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRAUD

[Leviticus 19:35-36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in meteyard, in weight, or in measure. Just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, shall ye have: I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:35-36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRAUD, p. 521; scan anchor: djvu line 87869 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fraud as deceitful practice to deprive another of his right; scripture's first form of it is commercial — false weights and measures. The command is spoken by God himself ('I am the LORD your God'), making honest measure a divine-law duty, not mere custom. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FREDSTOLE

[Exodus 21:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he shall flee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREDSTOLE, p. 523; scan anchor: djvu line 88163 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. FREDSTOLE = sanctuaries, seats of peace. The Mosaic law's appointed place of refuge for the manslayer is the biblical archetype of legal sanctuary — God's own institution of it, in his own speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FREEDMAN

[1 Corinthians 7:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman: likewise also he that is called, being free, is Christ's servant. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREEDMAN, p. 523; scan anchor: djvu line 88284 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines 'freedman' as one set free from bondage; the verse uses the very word — the Lord's freeman — for the servant called into liberty. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FREEDOM

[John 8:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREEDOM, p. 523; scan anchor: djvu line 88292 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christ's own definition of the state: freedom as liberation conferred by the Son — 'free indeed,' the opposite of bondage the entry describes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FREEDOM

[Exodus 20:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREEDOM, p. 523; scan anchor: djvu line 88292 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The archetype of freedom as the opposite of slavery: a whole people brought 'out of the house of bondage.' Spoken by God as the ground of the entire law that follows. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FREEHOLD

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREEHOLD, p. 523; scan anchor: djvu line 88312 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A freehold is the inheritable estate in land — the interest 'cast' after the owner's life to his heirs. The proverb states the same transmission across generations as the righteous order of property. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FREEMAN

[Galatians 3:28, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 3:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREEMAN, p. 524; scan anchor: djvu line 88391 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry sets 'freeman' as the opposite of 'slave'; the verse holds 'bond nor free' as the same binary, dissolved in one fellowship. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FREOBORGH

[Proverbs 11:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FREOBORGH, p. 525; scan anchor: djvu line 88527 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Freoborgh/frankpledge is pledge — suretyship, men standing surety for each other's peace. The proverb is scripture's standing counsel on the surety's office: its risk and its wisdom. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRIBUSOULUM

[1 Corinthians 7:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Defraud ye not one the other, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRIBUSOULUM, p. 525; scan anchor: djvu line 88615 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A separation of husband and wife that does not dissolve the marriage — the entry's exact legal shape, here by mutual consent 'for a time,' with reunion commanded. The verse shows scripture recognizing temporary separation distinct from divorce. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES

[Acts 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. there arose a murmuring of the Grecians against the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministration. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRIENDLY SOCIETIES, p. 525; scan anchor: djvu line 88639 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Friendly societies exist for the relief of members' widows and kin; Acts records the earliest organized 'daily ministration' to widows — the same mutual-relief office, whose neglect was treated as a communal wrong. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FRITH

[John 14:27, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 14:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRITH, p. 526; scan anchor: djvu line 88686 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Frith is peace, security, protection — the word's core sense. Christ's bequest of peace ('my peace I give unto you') is the divine speech on peace as a conferred, kept thing. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRYMITH

[Hebrews 13:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 13:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRYMITH, p. 627 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 88993 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Frymith is the affording of harbor and entertainment to any one. The verse is scripture's standing word on that very act — entertaining strangers — commended as a duty that has hosted angels. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUAGE, FOCAGE

[Mark 12:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And Jesus answering said unto them, Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 12:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUAGE, FOCAGE, p. 627 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 89003 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fuage is a tax laid by the sovereign on each hearth. Christ's ruling is the divine-law ground of rendering imposed dues: the tax is owed because the sovereign's stamp is on it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUGAM FECIT

[Proverbs 28:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 28:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUGAM FECIT, p. 528 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 89100 [basis:

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fugam fecit records the indicted felon's flight, and the law makes flight speak guilt — forfeiture follows. The proverb states the moral root the law presumes: the wicked flee though none pursues. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUGITIVE

[Genesis 4:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUGITIVE, p. 528 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 89127 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The first fugitive in scripture is Cain, fleeing the consequence of his misdeed — and God himself names him 'fugitive.' The entry's core (flight from duty, penalty, or the consequences of a misdeed) is the verse's exact content. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FULLY ADMINISTERED

[Luke 16:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FULLY ADMINISTERED, p. 529 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 89255 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The plea of fully administered is the executor's final account — that he has completely and legally disposed of the estate's assets. The steward called to 'give an account of thy stewardship' is the biblical form of that accounting. (Spoken by Christ narrating the parable; red-letter editions print parables in red — flag carried with this note.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUNCTIONARY

[Romans 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUNCTIONARY, p. 529 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 89287 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A functionary is a public officer. The verse states what a public officer is in scripture's political theology: 'the minister of God' — office as divine commission, for good and against evil. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUNDUS

[Psalm 24:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The earth is the LORD's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 24:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUNDUS, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 89461 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fundus is land as such — the legal thing underlying all tenure. The psalm states the ultimate title: every parcel is held, at the root, of the LORD. Feudal tenure's logic (all land held of a superior) terminates here. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUNERAL EXPENSES

[Genesis 23:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron; and Abraham weighed to Ephron the silver, which he had named in the audience of the sons of Heth, four hundred shekels of silver, current money with the merchant. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 23:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUNERAL EXPENSES, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 89468 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Money expended in procuring interment: Abraham weighing out four hundred shekels for the field of Machpelah as a buryingplace is the first funeral expense on record — price stated, purchase witnessed. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FUR

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUR, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 89500 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fur is the thief — one who steals secretly. The commandment forbids the act itself in God's own speech; every law of theft answers to it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FURANDI ANIMUS

[Matthew 15:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Matthew 15:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FURANDI ANIMUS, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 89508 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Furandi animus is the intention of stealing. Christ locates 'thefts' as proceeding 'out of the heart' — the animus, the formed intention, as the seat of the crime the law punishes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FURCA

[Esther 7:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Esther (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Esther 7:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FURCA, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 89511 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Furca is the gallows or gibbet — and furca et fossa the jurisdiction of punishing. The verse shows the gallows as the law's appointed instrument: Haman hanged by the king's justice on the gallows he built. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FURIGELDUM

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FURIGELDUM, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 89524 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Furigeldum is the fine paid for theft. The verse is the Mosaic tariff for theft — manifold restoration — spoken by God among the judgments: scripture's own schedule of the theft-fine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FURTHERANCE

[Psalm 50:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When thou sawest a thief, then thou consentedst with him, and hast been partaker with adulterers. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 50:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FURTHERANCE, p. 531; scan anchor: djvu line 89700 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Furtherance in criminal law is helping a criminal project forward — complicity. The psalm names its moral form: consenting with the thief, partaking with evildoers. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FURTIVE

[John 10:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 10:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FURTIVE, p. 531; scan anchor: djvu line 89706 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Furtive is stealth — theft by stealth. Christ's image of the thief who 'climbeth up some other way' instead of entering by the door is the biblical figure of the furtive taker. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FURTUM

[Leviticus 19:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FURTUM, p. 531; scan anchor: djvu line 89709 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Furtum is fraudulent appropriation of another's property — theft with deceit. The command joins both elements in God's own speech: 'ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GABEL

[Romans 13:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GABEL, p. 533; scan anchor: djvu line 89859 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gabel is an excise — a tax, custom, or due on movables. The verse is scripture's schedule of rendering: 'tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom' — the gabel under its biblical name. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GAFOL

[Exodus 22:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GAFOL, p. 533; scan anchor: djvu line 89883 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. This block's substantive matter is GAGE — pawn or pledge, a thing deposited as security. The verse is the Mosaic law of pledge itself, spoken by God: the pledged garment must be returned by sundown — the pledgee's use is bounded by the pledgor's need. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GALLON

[Deuteronomy 25:13-15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not have in thy bag divers weights, a great and a small. Thou shalt not have in thine house divers measures, a great and a small. But thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have: that thy days may be lengthened in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:13-15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GALLON, p. 533; scan anchor: djvu line 89976 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gallon is a legal measure. The verse is scripture's law of measures: they must be 'perfect and just' — the moral ground on which every regulated measure, gallon included, stands. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GALLOWS

[Deuteronomy 25:22-23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if a man have committed a sin worthy of death, and he be to be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree: His body shall not remain all night upon the tree, but thou shalt in any wise bury him that day; (for he that is hanged is accursed of God;) [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:22-23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GALLOWS, p. 533; scan anchor: djvu line 89983 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The gallows as the law's instrument of capital punishment: the verse lays down scripture's own procedure for hanging — the sentence, the tree, and the same-day burial, 'for he that is hanged is accursed of God.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. The quotation is genuine but its reference is wrong (KJV diff: wrong-reference) — flagged for Brick 23; the Founder's pen; NOT resolved here [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GARBA

[Leviticus 27:30, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD's: it is holy unto the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 27:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GARBA, p. 535; scan anchor: djvu line 90253 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Garbae decimales are tithes of corn — grain in sheaves tithed. The verse is the biblical law of that very tithe: the tenth 'of the seed of the land' is the LORD's, holy unto him — spoken by God himself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

GARDIANUS

[Psalm 121:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The LORD is thy keeper: the LORD is thy shade upon thy right hand. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 121:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GARDIANUS, p. 535; scan anchor: djvu line 90293 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gardianus is guardian, defender, protector — 'a keeper.' The psalm names the archetype of the office: the LORD as keeper, the shade at the right hand — custody and protection as a divine work, which the legal guardian images. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GEBOCIAN

[Ruth 4:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ruth 4:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GEBOCIAN, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 90572 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gebocian is to convey — to transfer book-land. The verse records scripture's own form of conveyance: the witnessed, ceremonial act 'to confirm all things' by which land passed — conveyance as a formal testified act. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GELD

[Exodus 21:32, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If the ox shall push a manservant or a maidservant; he shall give unto their master thirty shekels of silver, and the ox shall be stoned. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GELD, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 90584 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Geld is the money-value set on a thing or a man — weregeld the value of a slain man. The verse fixes such a value in God's judgments: thirty shekels of silver for the gored servant — the biblical form of the weregeld. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GENEARCH

[1 Corinthians 11:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But I would have you know, that the head of every man is Christ; and the head of the woman is the man; and the head of Christ is God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 11:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry GENEARCH, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 90628 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The genearch is the head of a family. The verse lays down the headship order — the biblical form of family headship, ascending from the household to God. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GENS

[Numbers 1:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Take ye the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 1:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GENS, p. 538 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 90823 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gens is the tribe or clan — families joined by common descent and name. Israel's muster 'after their families, by the house of their fathers' is the biblical form of it, commanded by God for the census. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GERONTOCOMIUM

[Leviticus 19:32, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GERONTOCOMIUM, p. 639; scan anchor: djvu line 90949 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gerontocomium is an institution for taking care of the old. The verse is God's own command of that care's moral root: rise before the hoary head, honour the old — 'I am the LORD.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GERRYMANDER

[Isaiah 10:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Woe unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 10:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GERRYMANDER, p. 639; scan anchor: djvu line 90953 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gerrymander is the drawing of political lines to accomplish a sinister purpose — a decree of grievousness by cartography. Isaiah's woe falls on exactly that genus: 'them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

GESTIO

[Luke 10:34-35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:34-35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GESTIO, p. 639; scan anchor: djvu line 90989 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Negotiorum gestio is doing another's business unasked, from benevolence, without authority. The Samaritan — binding, carrying, paying the host, answering for more — is the biblical form of managing another's affair without mandate. (Christ's parable narration; red-letter convention — flag carried with this note.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GEWITNESSA

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GEWITNESSA, p. 640; scan anchor: djvu line 91050 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gewitnessa is the giving of evidence. The verse is scripture's foundational evidence rule: no matter established without two or three witnesses — the biblical form of testimonial sufficiency. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GIFT

[2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GIFT, p. 640; scan anchor: djvu line 91072 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gift in law is a transfer 'voluntarily and without consideration.' The verse states the same act in morals: giving purposed in the heart, 'not grudgingly, or of necessity' — the gratuitous transfer's inner form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

GIFTOMAN

[1 Corinthians 7:38, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So then he that giveth her in marriage doeth well; but he that giveth her not in marriage doeth better. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:38, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GIFTOMAN, p. 640; scan anchor: djvu line 91136 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The giftoman holds the right to dispose of a woman in marriage. The verse names his office in the act itself: 'he that giveth her in marriage' — the giver whose right it is to give. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GILOUR

[Proverbs 11:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GILOUR, p. 541; scan anchor: djvu line 91199 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gilour sells the false for the good — pewter for silver: commercial deceit in the wares themselves. The false balance is scripture's type of that deceit, and it is 'abomination to the LORD.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GIRTH

[Numbers 35:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Then ye shall appoint you cities to be cities of refuge for you; that the slayer may flee thither, which killeth any person at unawares. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GIRTH, p. 541; scan anchor: djvu line 91208 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Girth and sanctuary is asylum for the murder 'without any previous design' — the undesigned killing. The cities of refuge are appointed by God precisely for him 'which killeth any person at unawares': the biblical form of this sanctuary. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GLADIUS

[Romans 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GLADIUS, p. 541; scan anchor: djvu line 91329 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gladius is the sword as emblem of the law's executory power in punishing crimes. The verse states the emblem's meaning outright: the ruler 'beareth not the sword in vain' — a revenger to execute wrath on the evildoer. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GLEAMING

[Leviticus 19:9-10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And when ye reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither shalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harvest. And thou shalt not glean thy vineyard, neither shalt thou gather every grape of thy vineyard; thou shalt leave them for the poor and stranger: I am the LORD your God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:9-10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GLEAMING, p. 542; scan anchor: djvu line 91368 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gleaming is gleaning — the gathering left after the reapers. The verse is God's own institution of it: the corners and gleanings 'shalt thou leave for the poor and stranger.' Notably, the entry records the common law denying it as a right — scripture commands it as duty; the contrast itself illuminates the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GLOMERELLS

[1 Corinthians 6:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GLOMERELLS, p. 542; scan anchor: djvu line 91400 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Glomerells are commissioners appointed to determine differences between parties — private judges. The verse calls for exactly that office: 'one that shall be able to judge between his brethren' rather than going to law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GLOVES

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GLOVES, p. 542; scan anchor: djvu line 91461 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The glove removed from the right hand on taking oath marks the oath's solemnity. The verse states the oath's office in law: 'an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

GOD-GILD

[Deuteronomy 16:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GOD-GILD, p. 643; scan anchor: djvu line 91541 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. God-gild is that which is offered to God or his service. The verse gives the offering's rule: every man gives 'as he is able, according to the blessing' received — the measure of what is offered to God. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GOMASHTAH

[1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GOMASHTAH, p. 643; scan anchor: djvu line 91639 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gomashtah is an agent, steward, confidential factor. The verse states the steward's office in one sentence: 'it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GOVERNMENT

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GOVERNMENT, p. 644; scan anchor: djvu line 91864 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Government as 'supreme political authority' exercised over the body politic: the verse states its ground — 'the powers that be are ordained of God.' The authority the entry defines is here derived. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GRACE

[Ephesians 2:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GRACE, p. 646; scan anchor: djvu line 92067 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Law sets grace 'in contradistinction to right' — what is given, not owed. The verse is grace's

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

charter under that same distinction: 'by grace are ye saved... not of yourselves: it is the gift of God.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

[Proverbs 22:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GRAMMAR SCHOOL, p. 646; scan anchor: djvu line 92140 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The grammar school is the institution of instruction. The proverb is its charter: 'train up a child in the way he should go' — schooling as the forming of the child, with the promise that it abides. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GRANATARIES

[Genesis 41:34, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let Pharaoh do this, and let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the land of Egypt in the seven plenteous years. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 41:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GRANATARIES, p. 646; scan anchor: djvu line 92169 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A granatarius is the officer having charge of a granary. The verse is the biblical institution of that office: Pharaoh's officers appointed over the land to gather the fifth part into store against the famine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GRANT

[Genesis 13:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For all the land which thou seest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed for ever. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 13:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GRANT, p. 647; scan anchor: djvu line 92227 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A grant is the transfer of real property by the sovereign's act — the royal grant by letters patent. The verse is the sovereign grant itself: God conveying the land to Abraham and his seed for ever, in his own speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

GRATUITOUS

[Matthew 10:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. freely ye have received, freely give. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 10:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GRATUITOUS, p. 647; scan anchor: djvu line 92362 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Gratuitous is without valuable consideration — voluntary, without force, fear, or favor. Christ's charge states the gratuitous act as duty: 'freely ye have received, freely give.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GROG-SHOP

[Proverbs 20:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GROG-SHOP, p. 549; scan anchor: djvu line 92609 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A grog-shop vends intoxicating liquor to be drunk on the premises. The proverb states the nature of the thing vended: 'strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GROWTH HALF-PENNY

[Leviticus 27:32, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And concerning the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatsoever passeth under the rod, the tenth shall be holy unto the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 27:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GROWTH HALF-PENNY, p. 550; scan anchor: djvu line 92746 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The growth half-penny is the tithe of fat beasts and unfruitful cattle. The verse is the biblical law of that very tithe — 'the tenth shall be holy unto the LORD' — spoken by God; the land-tithe's companion in Leviticus 27. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GRUB STAKE

[Ecclesiastes 4:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 4:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GRUB STAKE, p. 550; scan anchor: djvu line 92754 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A grub stake is partnership in the mining venture — one furnishes supplies, the other

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

prospects, the reward shared. The verse states the partnership's wisdom: 'two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labour.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GUARANTOR

[Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GUARANTOR, p. 550; scan anchor: djvu line 92795 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This block's substantive matter is GUARANTY — the promise to answer for another's debt on his default: suretyship. The proverb is scripture's standing warning to the surety — 'thou art snared with the words of thy mouth' — the promise that binds the promisor. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GUARDIAN

[Psalm 82:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 82:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GUARDIAN, p. 851 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 92979 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A guardian takes care of those 'incapable of administering his own affairs' — the fatherless chief among them. The psalm commands their defense outright: 'defend the poor and fatherless' — guardianship's biblical charge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GUERRA, GUERRE

[Ecclesiastes 3:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. a time of war, and a time of peace. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 3:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GUERRA, GUERRE, p. 552; scan anchor: djvu line 93157 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. War as a legal state has its biblical place among the appointed times: 'a time of war, and a time of peace' — war acknowledged, bounded, succeeded by peace. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

GUIDAGE

[Exodus 13:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 13:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GUIDAGE, p. 552; scan anchor: djvu line 93195 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Guidage is the office of guiding travelers through dangerous and unknown ways. The pillar of cloud and fire is the biblical guide — God himself leading the way through the wilderness, 'to lead them the way.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GUILT

[Romans 6:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the wages of sin is death; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 6:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GUILT, p. 553; scan anchor: djvu line 93288 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Guilt is the quality rendering the person 'amenable to punishment by the law.' The verse states guilt's wage: 'the wages of sin is death' — the penal consequence bound to the criminal quality. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GUILTY

[1 John 1:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 1:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GUILTY, p. 553; scan anchor: djvu line 93298 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Guilty' as pleaded is the prisoner's confession of the crime charged. The verse gives confession its pattern and fruit: 'if we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GULE OF AUGUST

[Acts 12:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And his chains fell off from his hands. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 12:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GULE OF AUGUST, p. 553; scan anchor: djvu line 93313 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Gule of August is the feast of St Peter ad Vincula — Peter in chains. The verse is the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

deliverance the feast commemorates: the angel raises Peter, 'and his chains fell off from his hands.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GWALSTOW

[Matthew 27:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 27:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GWALSTOW, p. 553; scan anchor: djvu line 93357 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gwalstow is a place of execution. Golgotha — 'a place of a skull' — is scripture's place of execution, named for what it is. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HABETO TIBI RES TUAS

[Deuteronomy 24:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When a man hath taken a wife, and married her, and it come to pass that she find no favour in his eyes, because he hath found some uncleanness in her: then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and send her out of his house. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HABETO TIBI RES TUAS, p. 655 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 93624 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Have your effects to yourself' is Rome's formula of divorce. The verse gives scripture's: the written bill of divorcement put in her hand — divorce as a formal written act, in both laws. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HABITATIO

[John 14:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 14:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HABITATIO, p. 655 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 93698 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Habitatio is the right of dwelling — free residence in another's house. Christ promises it at its highest: dwelling in the Father's house — 'in my Father's house are many mansions... I go to prepare a place for you.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HABITUAL CRIMINAL

[2 Peter 2:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Peter (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Peter 2:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HABITUAL CRIMINAL, p. 556 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 93734 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The habitual criminal is defined by return to crime after punishment. The proverb states the pattern: 'the dog is turned to his own vomit again' — the return that makes the habit. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HABITUAL DRUNKARD

[1 Corinthians 6:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HABITUAL DRUNKARD, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93755 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The habitual drunkard as a legal status — one fixed in intoxication. The verse names 'drunkards' in scripture's own catalogue, with their standing stated: they 'shall not inherit the kingdom of God.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HADBOTE

[1 Chronicles 16:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Chronicles (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Chronicles 16:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HADBOTE, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93801 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Hadbote is the legal amends for violence offered to persons in holy orders. The verse is the biblical immunity of holy persons: 'touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HADERUNGA

[Leviticus 19:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry HADERUNGA, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93811 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Haderunga is partiality — hatred or ill will bending judgment. The verse forbids it in God's own speech: 'thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HAMESECKEN

[Exodus 22:2-3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. If the sun be risen upon him, there shall be blood shed for him; for he should make full restitution; if he have nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2-3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HAMESECKEN, p. 560; scan anchor: djvu line 94434 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Hamesecken is the violent entering of a man's house — housebreaking, burglary. The verses are scripture's law of the housebreaker, in God's speech: smitten by night without bloodguilt; by day held to full restitution, or sold for his theft. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HAND-FASTING

[Matthew 1:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 1:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HAND-FASTING, p. 560; scan anchor: djvu line 94499 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Hand-fasting is betrothment. The verse shows the biblical espousal as a binding state before union: Mary 'espoused to Joseph, before they came together' — betrothal with legal weight, dissoluble only as marriage is. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HANDSALE

[Job 17:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Job (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. who is he that will strike hands with me? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Job 17:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HANDSALE, p. 560; scan anchor: djvu line 94526 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Handsale is the bargain bound by the shaking — the joining — of hands. Job's plea names the hand-strike as the seal that binds: 'who is he that will strike hands with me?' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HANGMAN

[Mark 6:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Mark (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And immediately the king sent an executioner, and commanded his head to be brought: and he went and beheaded him in the prison. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 6:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HANGMAN, p. 561; scan anchor: djvu line 94599 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The hangman is the executioner of the condemned. Mark names the office in scripture: the king's executioner sent to do the beheading — the appointed doer of the sentence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HARBINGER

[Deuteronomy 23:15-16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not deliver unto his master the servant which is escaped from his master unto thee: He shall dwell with thee, even among you, in that place which he shall choose in one of thy gates, where it liketh him best: thou shalt not oppress him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:15-16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HARBINGER, p. 561; scan anchor: djvu line 94663 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This block's substantive matter is HARBOR — receiving and concealing a person from lawful custody, the cases naming harboring a slave. The verse is scripture's law of the harborer, and it commands the opposite of the statute: the escaped servant shall NOT be delivered to his master — 'thou shalt not oppress him.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HAVEN

[Psalm 107:30, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then are they glad because they be quiet; so he bringeth them unto their desired haven. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 107:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HAVEN, p. 662; scan anchor: djvu line 94838 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A haven is the safe riding where ships are sheltered from violent winds. The psalm gives the haven its biblical meaning: storm-tossed sailors brought 'unto their desired haven' — safe harbor as divine deliverance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HAYWARD

[Exodus 22:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man shall cause a field or vineyard to be eaten, and shall put in his beast, and shall feed in another man's field; of the best of his own field, and of the best of his own vineyard, shall he make restitution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HAYWARD, p. 662; scan anchor: djvu line 94892 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The hayward impounds trespassing cattle. The verse is scripture's law of the trespassing beast, in God's speech: the beast fed in another's field is answered 'of the best of his own field' — restitution for the trespass the hayward polices. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HE

[Psalm 24:3-4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 24:3-4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HE, p. 663; scan anchor: djvu line 94970 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This block carries the equity maxim 'he who has committed iniquity shall not have equity' — the clean-hands doctrine. The psalm states its biblical form: 'he that hath clean hands, and a pure heart' shall ascend and stand. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEAD

[Exodus 30:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. This they shall give, every one that passeth among them that are numbered, half a shekel after the shekel of the sanctuary: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 30:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEAD, p. 663; scan anchor: djvu line 94983 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This block's 'head money' in its first sense is a capitation or poll tax — a fixed sum per head. The verse is the biblical poll tax, in God's speech: 'every one that passeth among them that are numbered' gives half a shekel. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRAUD U LENT

[Proverbs 20:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Bread of deceit is sweet to a man; but afterwards his mouth shall be filled with gravel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRAUD U LENT, p. 522; scan anchor: djvu line 88018 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Proceeding from or characterized by fraud' — the proverb traces the exact arc of fraudulent gain: sweet in the taking, gravel in the consequence. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

FUSTIGATXO

[Deuteronomy 25:2-3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And it shall be, if the wicked man be worthy to be beaten, that the judge shall cause him to lie down, and to be beaten before his face, according to his fault, by a certain number. Forty stripes he may give him, and not exceed: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:2-3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FUSTIGATXO, p. 532; scan anchor: djvu line 89765 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Fustigatio is beating as judicial punishment. The verse is scripture's own law of that punishment — the judge causes the beating 'according to his fault,' capped at forty stripes: measure in the infliction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GE8T

[Matthew 25:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I was a stranger, and ye took me in: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GE8T, p. 639; scan anchor: djvu line 90978 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A gest is the stranger-guest entertained in another's house. Christ counts 'I was a stranger, and ye took me in' among the works by which the righteous are known — the guest received as Christ himself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GOD’S PENNY

[2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 1:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GOD’S PENNY, p. 643; scan anchor: djvu line 91544 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. God's penny is earnest-money — part payment evidencing the completed bargain. Scripture uses the same earnest (arrabon): God has 'given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts' — his own down payment securing the promise. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GRACE, DATS OF

[Matthew 6:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 6:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry GRACE, DATS OF, p. 646; scan anchor: djvu line 92078 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Days of grace are indulgence granted the debtor for payment — mercy in the debt. Christ's petition makes that indulgence the pattern of all debt: 'forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

GYLTW1TE

[Judges 4:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Judges (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, she judged Israel at that time. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Judges 4:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry GYLTW1TE, p. 553; scan anchor: djvu line 93368 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This block's second matter is GYNARCHY — government by a woman, a state where women are legally capable of supreme command. Deborah 'judged Israel at that time': scripture's woman in supreme command. (The block's GYLTWITE sense, compensation for fraud, is carried on the FRAUD entries.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HASS

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HASS, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93807 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Hadd is the boundary or limit. The verse is scripture's boundary law: 'thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set' — the ancient bound inviolable. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HAREDE RAPTO

[Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HAREDE RAPTO, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93850 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Haerede rapto lies for the ravishment of the lord's ward. The verse is scripture's law of ravishment: the ravisher, 'and he only,' dies — the violation answered with the life. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HEREDIPETA

[Hebrews 12:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 12:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEREDIPETA, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93861 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The heredipeta is the next heir — the seeker of the inheritance. Esau is the biblical heredipeta: he 'would have inherited the blessing... though he sought it carefully with tears' — the seeking heir, and the seeking too late. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEREDITA8

[Numbers 27:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEREDITA8, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93872 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Haereditas is universal succession to the deceased. The verse is God's own ruling on the inheritance's passage — 'thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them' — succession ordered by divine judgment. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HASHES

[Galatians 4:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 4:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HASHES, p. 556; scan anchor: djvu line 93979 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Haeres is the heir — the universal successor. The verse states heirship's ground: 'thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir' — sonship ripening into heirship. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HA LIT AX LAW

[Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HA LIT AX LAW, p. 559 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 94279 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Halifax law is private, unauthorized justice — summary trial and death by the burghers' own court. The verse ordains the opposite: judges and officers 'in all thy gates... and they shall judge the people with just judgment' — justice by appointed public authority, not private hands. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HARDHABEND

[Exodus 22:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or ass, or sheep; he shall restore double. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HARDHABEND, p. 560; scan anchor: djvu line 94521 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Handhabend is the thief taken having the stolen goods in his hand — with jurisdiction to try him. The verse is God's rule for exactly him: 'if the theft be certainly found in his hand... he shall restore double.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEADER

[Mark 16:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEADER, p. 564; scan anchor: djvu line 95132 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A healer in this entry cures 'without medicine or any material means.' The verse commissions exactly that: 'they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover' — healing by the hand, in Christ's own charge. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEARS AT

[Exodus 23:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEARS AT, p. 564; scan anchor: djvu line 95201 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Hearsay is testimony resting 'mainly on the veracity and competency of other persons.' The verse forbids its courtroom form in God's speech: 'thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness' — scripture's hearsay rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEAT OF PASSION

[Deuteronomy 19:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lest the avenger of the blood pursue the slayer, while his heart is hot, and overtake him, because the way is long, and slay him; whereas he was not worthy of death, inasmuch as he hated him not in time past. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEAT OF PASSION, p. 564; scan anchor: djvu line 95239 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The cities-of-refuge law draws the same line the doctrine draws: killing in heat, without prior hatred (malice aforethought), is distinguished from murder worthy of death. Scripture's 'while his heart is hot' is the ancient form of the provocation/malice distinction the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEIR

[Numbers 27:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEIR, p. 565; scan anchor: djvu line 95340 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scriptural inheritance law stating the descent rule itself: on the ancestor's death the estate passes by fixed rules of relationship to the heir — the very mechanism the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HEIRESS

[Numbers 27:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEIRESS, p. 567; scan anchor: djvu line 95628 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The direct scriptural warrant for the female heir: the daughters of Zelophehad receive their father's inheritance by divine ruling — the heiress as a legal office, not an exception. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HEIRSHIP

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEIRSHIP, p. 567; scan anchor: djvu line 95637 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The heir-ancestor relation as scripture states it: inheritance flows down the generations, the ancestor's duty being to leave an estate for those who succeed him. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HELM

[James 3:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small helm, whithersoever the governor listeth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 3:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HELM, p. 567; scan anchor: djvu line 95652 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bears on the nautical sense in the entry (the tiller/rudder): scripture uses the helm as the instrument by which great ships are governed — the small member ruling the great body. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HERBERGAGIEM

[Hebrews 13:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 13:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HERBERGAGIEM, p. 568; scan anchor: djvu line 95823 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines lodgings for receiving guests 'in the way of hospitality'; the verse states hospitality to strangers as a standing duty — the moral root of the inn/lodging office. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HERESCHIP

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HERESCHIP, p. 568; scan anchor: djvu line 96018 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry names theft/robbery as the offense; scripture states the theft statute itself — the wrong defined by the act of stealing, answered by manifold restitution. The legal concept of theft carries its own biblical definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HERESY

[2 Peter 2:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Peter (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Peter 2:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HERESY, p. 568; scan anchor: djvu line 96027 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture itself names 'damnable heresies' as the denial of the Lord — denial of an essential doctrine of the faith, which is exactly the offense the entry defines (not total denial of Christianity, but of its essential doctrines, publicly avowed). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HERMENEUTICS

[2 Timothy 2:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Timothy 2:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HERMENEUTICS, p. 670; scan anchor: djvu line 96169 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bears on the general sense in the entry's first clause — the science of construction and interpretation: the interpreter's standing charge is faithful, unashamed handling of the text, 'rightly dividing' it rather than forcing it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HERUS

[Colossians 4:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Masters, give unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 4:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HERUS, p. 670; scan anchor: djvu line 96203 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the master through reciprocal maxims (the servant works that the master may give the agreed wages); the verse states the master's reciprocal duty — just and equal dealing — under a higher Master. The master-servant relation as mutual obligation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HEUVELBORH

[Proverbs 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HEUVELBORH, p. 670; scan anchor: djvu line 96228 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the surety (warrantus) itself — the one who strikes hands for another's debt. Scripture names the act exactly: becoming surety by striking the hand, and warns what follows. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HIDED

[Joshua 20:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Speak to the children of Israel, saying, Appoint out for you cities of refuge, whereof I spake unto you by the hand of Moses: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 20:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HIDED, p. 671; scan anchor: djvu line 96286 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the sanctuary — a place of protection. Scripture institutes it directly: the cities of refuge, appointed by divine command for the slayer to flee to. First-person divine speech ('I spake unto you'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HINDENI HOMINES

[Exodus 21:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If he rise again, and walk abroad upon his staff, then shall he that smote him be quit: only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall cause him to be thoroughly healed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HINDENI HOMINES, p. 572; scan anchor: djvu line 96462 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry values men by class for 'satisfaction for injuries' — the wergild principle. Scripture states the same satisfaction in substance: the smiter pays for the victim's lost time and his healing. Honest limit: the verse sets no class ranking; the Saxon classes are the entry's own. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HIRER

[James 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: James 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HIRER, p. 572; scan anchor: djvu line 96526 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The hirer is the one who engages the labourers; the verse names his characteristic wrong — the hire kept back by fraud — and where the cry of it is heard. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HIRER

[Leviticus 19:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HIRER, p. 572; scan anchor: djvu line 96526 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The hirer is the one who engages service for a stipulated reward; the verse states his correlative duty — the hired servant's wages paid promptly, not held overnight. Direct second-person divine command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HIS TESTIBUS

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HIS TESTIBUS, p. 673; scan anchor: djvu line 96602 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the attestation clause — 'these being witnesses' — the deed's witnesses. The verse is the witness statute itself: no matter established but by two or three witnesses. The legal institution of attestation in its scriptural form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HLAFORDSWICE

[Luke 22:48, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 22:48, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HLAFORDSWICE, p. 673; scan anchor: djvu line 96624 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the crime of betraying one's lord — treason in its feudal form. The verse names the act at its archetype: the betrayal of the Lord, in Jesus' own verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact)

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

[basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOLIDAY

[Leviticus 23:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Six days shall work be done: but the seventh day is the sabbath of rest, an holy convocation; ye shall do no work therein: it is the sabbath of the LORD in all your dwellings. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 23:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOLIDAY, p. 674; scan anchor: djvu line 96802 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the holiday as a religious festival and a day of exemption from labor; the verse institutes both halves at once — the holy convocation and the cessation of work. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOLY ORDERS

[Acts 6:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Whom they set before the apostles: and when they had prayed, they laid their hands on them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 6:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOLY ORDERS, p. 674; scan anchor: djvu line 96888 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the orders of the church; the verse shows the apostolic conferral itself — men set before the apostles, prayer, and the laying on of hands: ordination to office in its scriptural form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOMICIDE

[Exodus 20:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not kill. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOMICIDE, p. 676; scan anchor: djvu line 97169 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines homicide as the killing of a human being; the verse is the prohibition itself, in direct second-person divine command — the scriptural root of the law against homicide. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOMIOIDII1M

[Romans 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry HOMIOIDII1M, p. 677; scan anchor: djvu line 97287 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bears on the entry's 'homicidium ex justitia' branch — homicide in the execution of the sentence of the law: the magistrate bearing the sword, as God's minister, to execute wrath on the evildoer. The lawful-execution half of the entry, not the whole. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOMXPEAGIUM

[Exodus 21:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOMXPEAGIUM, p. 677; scan anchor: djvu line 97340 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names maiming as the offense; the verse states scripture's own measure for it — the talionic scale of wound for wound. The law of maiming in its biblical form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HONE8TE VTVE RE

[Romans 12:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 12:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HONE8TE VTVE RE, p. 578 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 97498 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is Justinian's first precept — to live honorably; the verse enjoins the same conduct positively: honest dealing in the sight of all men (its first clause states the companion precept, alterum non laedere — hurt no one). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOSPITAL

[Matthew 25:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOSPITAL, p. 580; scan anchor: djvu line 97793 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the hospital as a charitable institution for the sick; the verse states the charitable duty it exists to discharge — the care of the sick as service rendered to Christ himself, in Jesus' own verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HOT-WATER ORDEAL

[Numbers 5:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water that causeth the curse: and the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 5:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOT-WATER ORDEAL, p. 580; scan anchor: djvu line 97923 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is trial by ordeal — the accused tested by a physical rite; scripture holds its own ordeal, the trial of jealousy, where the bitter water itself tries the accused woman. The ordeal as a mode of proof, in biblical form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOTCHPOT

[Ezekiel 47:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers: and this land shall fall unto you for inheritance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ezekiel 47:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOTCHPOT, p. 581; scan anchor: djvu line 97948 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's principle is equal division of the inheritance (the advancement brought back into the pot); the verse commands the same equality among heirs — 'one as well as another' — in first-person divine speech. Honest limit: the verse states the equal-share principle, not the technical hotchpot mechanism. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HOUSEBREAKING

[Exodus 22:2-3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. If the sun be risen upon him, there shall be blood shed for him; for he should make full restitution; if he have nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2-3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HOUSEBREAKING, p. 682; scan anchor: djvu line 98158 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines housebreaking — and marks the night element ('if done by night, it comes under burglary'); the verses are the night-breaker statute itself, drawing the same night/day line: no blood for the thief smitten by night, blood shed if the sun is risen. The entry's day/night distinction in its scriptural original. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

HUSBAND

[Ephesians 5:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 5:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HUSBAND, p. 583 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 98438 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the husband as the married man; the verse states his office directly — the husband's charge toward his wife, measured by Christ's self-giving. The status defined by its duty. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HUSH-MONEY

[Exodus 23:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HUSH-MONEY, p. 684; scan anchor: djvu line 98505 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names the bribe paid to secure silence; the verse prohibits the gift itself and names its effect — it blinds the wise and perverts righteous words. Direct second-person divine command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HWATA, HWATUNG

[Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry HWATA, HWATUNG, p. 684; scan anchor: djvu line 98530 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is augury and divination; the verse prohibits the practice by name — divination listed among the forbidden arts. The legal concept (divination as an offense) stated as a ban. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

HYPOTHECA

[Exodus 22:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry HYPOTHECA, p. 685; scan anchor: djvu line 98625 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the pledge/mortgage — security without delivery of possession; the verse is scripture's pledge law, setting the pledgee's limit: the neighbour's raiment taken in pledge returns by sundown. Direct second-person divine command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

I O O

[Philemon 1:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Philemon (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I Paul have written it with mine own hand, I will repay it: albeit I do not say to thee how thou owest unto me even thine own self besides. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Philemon 1:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry I O O, p. 687; scan anchor: djvu line 98891 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the signed memorandum of debt — 'I owe you' with the debtor's signature; the verse is scripture's own IOU: Paul's handwritten 'I will repay it,' the promise to pay set down by his own hand. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

SE

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry SE, p. 689; scan anchor: djvu line 99195 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is purgation by oath — clearing oneself of an accusation by swearing; the verse states the oath's legal office: sworn confirmation that ends strife. The oath as the decisive act it is in the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IGNORANCE

[Luke 23:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 23:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IGNORANCE, p. 689; scan anchor: djvu line 99249 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry treats ignorance as bearing on liability; the verse pleads ignorance in mitigation of culpability itself — 'they know not what they do' — in Jesus' own verbatim speech from the cross. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ILLEGITIMACY

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ILLEGITIMACY, p. 690; scan anchor: djvu line 99476 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the bastard's condition before the law — his social and legal status; the verse states that status in its starkest scriptural form: exclusion from the congregation to the tenth generation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ILLUD

[Matthew 12:3-4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But he said unto them, Have ye not read what David did, when he was an hungred, and they that were with him; How he entered into the house of God, and did eat the shewbread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for the priests? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 12:3-4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ILLUD, p. 691; scan anchor: djvu line 99566 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the necessity maxim — what is otherwise not permitted, necessity permits; the verses give its scriptural instance, cited by Jesus himself: David eating what 'was not lawful,' hunger warranting the act. Deity-verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IMAGINE

[Psalm 2:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed, saying, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 2:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IMAGINE, p. 691; scan anchor: djvu line 99627 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry makes it treason to 'imagine' the death of the king; the verses name the same act — the people 'imagine a vain thing,' the rulers taking counsel against the LORD's anointed. The imagining against the sovereign, in scripture's own terms. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

IMBASING OF MONEY

[Proverbs 11:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IMBASING OF MONEY, p. 691; scan anchor: djvu line 99644 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the debasement of coin below the sterling standard; the verse condemns the false measure itself — debased specie is the false balance, an abomination where the just weight is delight. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IMPIERMENT

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IMPIERMENT, p. 595; scan anchor: djvu line 100249 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the lessening or prejudicing of another's right or estate — the wrong done to what is his; the verse states the root prohibition in direct second-person divine command, of which every such impairing is a form. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IMPORTUNITY

[Luke 11:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 11:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IMPORTUNITY, p. 596; scan anchor: djvu line 100371 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines importunity as pressing, persistent solicitation; the verse uses the very word for it — the friend at midnight prevailing not by friendship but by importunity — in Jesus' own verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IMPUNITY

[Ecclesiastes 8:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 8:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IMPUNITY, p. 598; scan anchor: djvu line 100826 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines impunity as exemption from penalty; the verse states its documented effect — where sentence against evil is not executed, hearts are fully set to do evil. Scripture's own doctrine of what impunity produces. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN DUPLO

[Exodus 22:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or ass, or sheep; he shall restore double. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN DUPLO, p. 601; scan anchor: djvu line 101305 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is double damages — damna in duplo; the verse is the double-restitution statute itself: the thief with the stolen thing found in his hand restores double. The twofold measure in its scriptural original. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IX FAVOREM VITAS

[Deuteronomy 30:19, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 30:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IX FAVOREM VITAS, p. 602; scan anchor: djvu line 101419 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the maxim that every presumption is made in favor of life; the verse is the divine summons itself — life set before death, 'therefore choose life' — in first-person divine speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IX FORMA PAUPERIS

[Psalm 82:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 82:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IX FORMA PAUPERIS, p. 602; scan anchor: djvu line 101446 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the pauper's leave to sue without liability for costs — the poor man's access to the courts; the verse commands the substance behind the procedure: the poor and afflicted defended, justice done to the needy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

IN MALAM PARTEM

[1 Samuel 16:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But the LORD said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the LORD seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the LORD looketh on the heart. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 16:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN MALAM PARTEM, p. 604; scan anchor: djvu line 101723 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry carries the maxim that in evil deeds the intention is regarded, not the result; the verse states the same principle of judgment — not the outward appearance (the outcome seen) but the heart (the intention). Deity-verbatim flag left OFF: the annotated thought is the narrator's clause, though the verse's first half is the LORD's speech (borderline logged). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IM NOMINE DEI, AMEN

[Colossians 3:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 3:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IM NOMINE DEI, AMEN, p. 605; scan anchor: djvu line 101812 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the solemn 'In the name of God, Amen' heading wills and instruments; the verse states the principle the formula rests on — all done, in word or deed, in the Lord's name. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

KERBERGARE

[Hebrews 13:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 13:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry KERBERGARE, p. 568; scan anchor: djvu line 95826 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verb the entry defines — to harbor, to entertain — stated as duty: the guest received unawares may be more than a guest. Same genuine link as HERBERGAGIEM; the verb carries the act, the noun the place. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

IX FAVOREM LIBER TATIS

[Leviticus 25:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it shall be a jubile unto you; and ye shall return every man unto his possession, and ye shall return every man unto his family. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IX FAVOREM LIBER TATIS, p. 602; scan anchor: djvu line 101416 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the maxim that all presumptions run in favor of liberty; the verse is liberty's own proclamation — the Jubilee, where liberty is published through the land and every man returns to his possession. Direct second-person divine command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN PIOS TXSUS

[Proverbs 3:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Honour the LORD with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 3:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN PIOS TXSUS, p. 606; scan anchor: djvu line 102093 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines dedicating property 'for pious uses; for religious purposes.' The verse commands exactly that dedication of one's substance to the LORD — the scriptural root of the pious-use endowment, not decoration. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN SOLIDO

[Proverbs 11:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN SOLIDO, p. 608; scan anchor: djvu line 102387 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines an obligation in solido where each obligor is liable for the whole. Proverbs treats the surety's whole-debt liability as the standing scriptural warning on exactly this burden — same legal concept, moralized. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN SOLIDUM

[Proverbs 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry IN SOLIDUM, p. 608; scan anchor: djvu line 102255 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This entry cites the civil-law maxim on several sureties, each 'individually bound for the whole debt' (singuli in solidum tenentur). Proverbs 6:1 addresses the identical act — striking hands as surety — the verse the maxim's doctrine echoes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN VADIO

[Exodus 22:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN VADIO, p. 609; scan anchor: djvu line 102554 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the pledge (gage). Exodus 22:26 is the Torah's own pledge law — regulating the taking of a pledge and commanding its return — the direct scriptural root of the institution defined. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN VTNCULIS

[Hebrews 13:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 13:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN VTNCULIS, p. 610; scan anchor: djvu line 102588 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry means 'in chains; in actual custody.' Hebrews 13:3 commands remembrance of 'them that are in bonds' — the verse that names the same condition, literal and figurative, as the entry's two senses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN WITNESS WHEREOF

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN WITNESS WHEREOF, p. 610; scan anchor: djvu line 102600 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the deed's witnessing clause ('in cujus rei testimonium'). Deuteronomy 19:15 is the law that a matter is established by witnesses — the scriptural ground of the witnessing function the clause invokes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INALIENABLE

[Leviticus 25:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are strangers and sojourners with me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INALIENABLE, p. 610; scan anchor: djvu line 102662 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines inalienability — things that cannot be bought, sold, or transferred. Leviticus 25:23 states the Torah's own inalienability rule (the jubilee land law): the land cannot be sold for ever because ultimate title stays with God. Same doctrine, same reason. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INAUGURATION

[1 Samuel 16:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the LORD came upon David from that day forward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 16:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INAUGURATION, p. 610; scan anchor: djvu line 102669 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines installing into office with formal ceremony — coronation of a sovereign, consecration of a prelate. Samuel's anointing of David is scripture's archetypal inauguration into kingship: oil, ceremony, and the Spirit's descent. Genuine, not decorative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INBORH

[Proverbs 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INBORH, p. 610; scan anchor: djvu line 102688 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines a Saxon security/pledge — the chattels of one unable to obtain a personal surety. Proverbs 6:1 treats the surety (the 'borg' itself) as the standing scriptural figure of this law — the verse that warns against the very engagement the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INCEST

[Leviticus 18:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedness: I am the LORD: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INCEST, p. 610; scan anchor: djvu line 102833 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the crime of sexual intercourse between persons related within prohibited degrees. Leviticus 18 is the Torah's prohibited-degrees code, spoken by the LORD (18:1), and v.6 states the general prohibition in God's first-person voice ('I am the LORD'). The verse is the scriptural source-law of the defined crime. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INCONTINENCE

[1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INCONTINENCE, p. 613; scan anchor: djvu line 103152 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines incontinence as 'want of chastity; indulgence in unlawful carnal connection.' The verse addresses exactly that — unlawful carnal connection (fornication) — as a distinct category of sin against one's own body. Direct conceptual match; Paul's apostolic voice, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INCITE

[Matthew 18:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh! [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INCITE, p. 612; scan anchor: djvu line 102934 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines incitement as instigating or moving another to commit a crime. Jesus' woe falls not on the act alone but on 'that man by whom the offence cometh' — the causer — assigning culpability to the instigator distinct from the doer. That is the moral ground of inciter-liability the entry defines; Jesus' own speech in the discourse. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INDEMNIFY

[Exodus 21:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The owner of the pit shall make it good, and give money unto the owner of them; and the dead beast shall be his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INDEMNIFY, p. 615; scan anchor: djvu line 103542 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry defines indemnify as 'to make good; to compensate; to make reimbursement to one of a loss already incurred.' Exodus 21:34 uses the identical formula — 'shall make it good' — commanding the one whose pit caused the loss to make the owner whole. The verse is the Torah's make-good rule in the entry's own words; spoken by the LORD in the Book of the Covenant (Ex 21:1). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INDEPENDENCE

[Exodus 5:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Let my people go, that they may hold a feast unto me in the wilderness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 5:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INDEPENDENCE, p. 616; scan anchor: djvu line 103699 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines political independence as a nation 'entirely autonomous, and not subject to the government, control, or dictation of any exterior power.' The Exodus is scripture's archetypal national liberation from exterior subjection, and this verse is the divine demand for it — the word that ends a people's subjection. God's own speech ('Thus saith the LORD'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INDIFFERENT

[Leviticus 19:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INDIFFERENT, p. 618; scan anchor: djvu line 103931 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines 'indifferent' as 'impartial; unbiased; disinterested' — the judicial temperament. Leviticus 19:15 commands exactly that impartiality in judgment (no respect of persons, poor or mighty), spoken by the LORD (Lev 19:1-2). The verse is the scriptural rule of the defined quality. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INDIGENT

[Deuteronomy 15:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the poor shall never cease out of the land: therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy in thy land. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 15:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INDIGENT, p. 618; scan anchor: djvu line 103940 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the indigent as one 'needy and poor' entitled to look to another for support — the legal category that poor-relief law exists to serve. The verse names 'thy poor, and thy needy' and commands the open hand toward them. It is the scriptural root of the relief obligation the legal category

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

serves. Flag left off: the verse stands in Moses' Deuteronomic address, not the LORD's direct speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INDUCEMENT

[James 1:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 1:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INDUCEMENT, p. 620; scan anchor: djvu line 104250 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's criminal-evidence sense defines inducement as 'motive; that which leads or tempts to the commission of crime.' James 1:14 gives scripture's own anatomy of that leading-and-tempting — the man 'drawn away... and enticed' into wrongdoing — in the entry's own terms. James' apostolic voice, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INDULGENCE

[John 20:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 20:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INDULGENCE, p. 620; scan anchor: djvu line 104314 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines indulgence as remission of the punishment due to sins, granted by church authority. John 20:23 is the scriptural text on ecclesial remission of sins — Christ's own grant of remit-and-retain authority — the verse the doctrine appeals to. Annotated as the doctrine's claimed warrant, not as an endorsement of the doctrine. Jesus' own speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INEBRIATE

[Proverbs 23:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty: and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 23:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INEBRIATE, p. 620; scan anchor: djvu line 104359 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the inebriate as the habitual drunkard, partly by economic incompetence — 'incompetent to transact ordinary business with safety to his estate.' The verse states the drunkard's ruin ('shall come to poverty') as the proverbial consequence of the same habit. Direct conceptual match; the preacher's voice, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INFANTICIDE

[Exodus 1:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he said, When ye do the office of a midwife to the Hebrew women, and see them upon the stools; if it be a son, then ye shall kill him: but if it be a daughter, then she shall live. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 1:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INFANTICIDE, p. 621; scan anchor: djvu line 104539 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines infanticide as the murder of an infant soon after birth. Exodus 1:16 is scripture's archetypal instance of the act — Pharaoh's standing order to kill the newborn sons — naming the crime in its own terms. Annotated as the scriptural reference-point of the defined act; Pharaoh's speech, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INFORTUNIUM, HOMICIDE PER

[Numbers 35:22-23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But if he thrust him suddenly without enmity, or have cast upon him any thing without laying of wait, Or with any stone, wherewith a man may die, seeing him not, and cast it upon him, that he die, and was not his enemy, neither sought his harm: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:22-23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INFORTUNIUM, HOMICIDE PER, p. 623; scan anchor: djvu line 104879 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines homicide per infortunium: killing without intent while doing a lawful act. Numbers 35:22-23 is the Torah's own definition of the unintentional slayer — thrusting 'suddenly without enmity,' casting without laying wait, 'neither sought his harm' — the exact elements of the legal concept, spoken by the LORD (Num 35:1). The cities-of-refuge law that follows is built on this definition. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IN GENUIT AS

[Exodus 21:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou buy an Hebrew servant, six years he shall serve: and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IN GENUIT AS, p. 624; scan anchor: djvu line 105046 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines ingenuitas as freedom/liberty, including 'liberty given to a servant by manumission.' Exodus 21:2 is the Torah's manumission law — the Hebrew servant going 'out free' in the seventh year — the scriptural institution of the defined act, spoken by the LORD in the Book of the Covenant. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INHERIT

[Numbers 27:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INHERIT, p. 624; scan anchor: djvu line 105167 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines inherit as taking as heir on the ancestor's death. Numbers 27:8 is God's own ruling on intestate succession (the Zelophehad case, Num 27:6-7) — the inheritance passing to the heir when the ancestor dies. The LORD's direct speech establishing the law of taking by inheritance. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INHERITANCE

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INHERITANCE, p. 624; scan anchor: djvu line 105183 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines inheritance as an estate descending to the heir. The verse speaks of the inheritance a man 'leaveth' to his children's children — the estate's descent through generations — the scriptural proverb on the very thing defined. The preacher's voice, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INIQUITY

[Psalm 82:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. How long will ye judge unjustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 82:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INIQUITY, p. 626; scan anchor: djvu line 105302 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's Scotch sense: an inferior judge who decides contrary to law 'commits iniquity.' Psalm 82:2 is God's own rebuke of judges who 'judge unjustly' — the deity charging the bench with the very iniquity the entry names. God's speech in the psalm (82:1, 'he judgeth among the gods'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INHUMAN TREATMENT

[Colossians 3:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 3:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry INHUMAN TREATMENT, p. 626; scan anchor: djvu line 105282 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the divorce ground of inhuman treatment — cruelty/severity by one spouse endangering the other. Colossians 3:19 is scripture's direct word on a husband's harshness toward his wife ('be not bitter against them') — the apostolic command against the conduct the entry makes actionable. Borderline in degree (bitterness vs. barbarous cruelty) but the same conduct, directly addressed; Paul's voice, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INFRACTION

[1 John 3:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 3:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INFRACTION, p. 624; scan anchor: djvu line 104997 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines infraction as 'a breach, violation, or infringement; as of a law.' The verse defines the breach of law itself — 'sin is the transgression of the law' — in the entry's own vocabulary of violation. John's apostolic voice, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INJURIOUS WORDS

[Exodus 23:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INJURIOUS WORDS, p. 627; scan anchor: djvu line 105516 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines injurious words as slander or libelous words. Exodus 23:1 is the Torah's prohibition of the false report — the slanderous word — and of joining the wicked as an unrighteous witness. The verse forbids the very act the entry defines, spoken by the LORD in the Book of the Covenant. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INJURY

[1 Corinthians 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INJURY, p. 627; scan anchor: djvu line 105520 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines injury as 'any wrong or damage done to another, either in his person, rights, reputation, or property.' The verse names the act in the entry's own terms — 'ye do wrong, and defraud'

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

— condemning the doing of wrong to another. Paul's apostolic voice, so no flag. INJURIA left bare: same concept, annotated once, no padding. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INJUSTICE

[Amos 5:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 5:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INJUSTICE, p. 628; scan anchor: djvu line 105600 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines injustice as the withholding or denial of justice — characteristically the fault of a court. Amos 5:24 is scripture's standing demand that judgment (justice) flow unwithheld — the positive command whose breach is the entry's defined wrong. The prophet's voice, not the LORD's direct speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INN

[Luke 10:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INN, p. 628; scan anchor: djvu line 105708 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines an inn as the house where a traveler is furnished with all he needs on his way. The verse depicts the institution in function — the wounded traveler brought to an inn and cared for — in Christ's own parable. Flagged ON per red-letter convention (the parable is Jesus' own speech), with the nuance noted: the inn appears inside the parable's narrative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INNKEEPER

[Luke 10:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will repay thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INNKEEPER, p. 629; scan anchor: djvu line 105809 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the innkeeper as the keeper of a common inn for travelers' lodging and entertainment 'for a reasonable compensation.' The verse shows the host (innkeeper) paid for the traveler's care, with an open-ended undertaking for further expense — the innkeeper's hire in scripture's own scene. Same red-letter note as INN: Jesus' parable speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INNOCENT

[Matthew 5:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INNOCENT, p. 629; scan anchor: djvu line 105829 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines innocent as 'free from guilt.' The beatitude blesses the pure in heart — scripture's term for the guiltless heart — with the vision of God. The verse is the scriptural blessing on the very state the entry defines; Christ's own speech in the Sermon on the Mount. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INOFFICIOUS TESTAMENT

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INOFFICIOUS TESTAMENT, p. 630; scan anchor: djvu line 106007 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the inofficiosus will as one depriving heirs of the portion the law entitles them to. Deuteronomy 21:17 forbids exactly that — the testator may not, from disaffection, diminish the firstborn's legal double portion. The verse is the Torah's inofficiosity rule. Flag left off: it stands in Moses' Deuteronomic address, not the LORD's direct speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INSCRIPTION

[Exodus 31:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he gave unto Moses, when he had made an end of communing with him upon mount Sinai, two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 31:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INSCRIPTION, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 107205 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's first sense: anything written or engraved on a solid substance 'intended for great durability' — tombstone, pillar, tablet. The tables of stone, 'written with the finger of God,' are scripture's archetypal durable inscription. Narrative, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Z

[Deuteronomy 21:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If one be found slain in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it, lying in the field, and it be not known who hath slain him: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry Z, p. 117; scan anchor: djvu line 19925 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Headword 'Z' is the OCR of INQUEST (the coroner's inquest entry: inquiry 'into the manner of the death of any one who has been slain'). Deuteronomy 21:1 opens the Torah's procedure for an unexplained slaying — the found slain body, the unknown slayer — the scriptural inquest, with the elders' inquiry following in vv.2-9. Flag off: Moses' address. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

XNSCRIBERE

[Psalm 7:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let the enemy persecute my soul, and take it; yea, let him tread down my life upon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 7:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry XNSCRIBERE, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 107191 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the Roman inscriptio: the accuser binds himself to suffer the accused's punishment if the accusation fails. Psalm 7:5 is scripture's form of the same self-binding — the psalmist's self-imprecation, staking his own life and honour on the truth of his cause (vv.3-4). The same legal-moral mechanism in the entry's own logic. David's voice to God, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INSIDIATORES VIARUM

[Luke 10:30, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INSIDIATORES VIARUM, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 107232 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines highwaymen — those who lie in wait to commit felony on travelers. The verse depicts the highwayman's act on the Jericho road: the traveler waylaid, stripped, wounded, left half dead. Scripture's own scene of the defined crime, in Christ's parable speech (red-letter by convention). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INSELIARIUS

[Psalm 1:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 1:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INSELIARIUS, p. 637; scan anchor: djvu line 107239 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the evil counsellor. The verse warns against walking in 'the counsel of the ungodly' — the evil counsel the entry names, and the blessed man's refusal of it. The psalmist's voice, so no flag. INSILIUM (the counsel itself) left bare: same cluster, annotated once. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INSOLVENCY

[Matthew 18:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INSOLVENCY, p. 638; scan anchor: djvu line 107310 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines insolvency as inability to pay one's debts — assets insufficient to discharge liabilities. The verse states the insolvent debtor's case in the entry's terms: 'he had not to pay.' Christ's parable speech (red-letter by convention). INSOLVENT left bare: same concept, one annotation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INSURRECTION

[Numbers 16:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And they gathered themselves together against Moses and against Aaron, and said unto them, Ye take too much upon you, seeing all the congregation are holy, every one of them, and the LORD is among them: wherefore then lift ye up yourselves above the congregation of the LORD? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 16:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INSURRECTION, p. 643; scan anchor: djvu line 108237 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines insurrection as a rising of subjects in resistance to their government. Numbers 16:3 is scripture's archetypal insurrection — Korah's company gathering against Moses and Aaron, challenging constituted authority in their own words. Annotated as the archetypal instance; the speakers are the rebels, so no deity flag. INSURGENT left bare: same cluster. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INTEGRITY

[Proverbs 11:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The integrity of the upright shall guide them: but the perverseness of transgressors shall destroy them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTEGRITY, p. 643; scan anchor: djvu line 108281 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines integrity as 'soundness of moral principle,' synonymous with probity, honesty, uprightness. The verse uses the entry's own word for the entry's own concept — 'the integrity of the upright' as their guide. The proverb's voice, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INSPECTION

[Proverbs 11:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INSPECTION, p. 638; scan anchor: djvu line 107376 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry covers inspection of weights and measures, and inspectors are the officers who examine them. The verse is scripture's standing rule of just weights — the moral ground of the inspection the entry defines. The proverb's voice, so no flag. INSPECTORS left bare: same cluster. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INTERNATIONAL LAW

[Deuteronomy 32:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When the most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 32:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTERNATIONAL LAW, p. 649; scan anchor: djvu line 109220 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines international law as the law regulating the intercourse of independent states. The verse gives scripture's account of the nation-system itself — the Most High dividing the nations their inheritance and setting the bounds of the peoples — the divine apportionment that a law of nations presupposes. Moses' song, not the LORD's direct speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INTERMARRIAGE

[Deuteronomy 7:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Neither shalt thou make marriages with them; thy daughter thou shalt not give unto his son, nor his daughter shalt thou take unto thy son. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 7:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTERMARRIAGE, p. 648; scan anchor: djvu line 109065 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines intermarriage as the contracting of marriage between members of different nations or tribes. The verse is the Torah's intermarriage law — governing marriage across national lines, here prohibiting it — the scriptural legislation on the very relation defined. Flag off: Moses' address. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INTERNUNCIUS

[1 Timothy 2:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 2:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTERNUNCIUS, p. 649; scan anchor: djvu line 109267 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the internuncius as 'a messenger between two parties; a go-between.' The verse names the mediator 'between God and men' — the go-between of two parties — in the entry's own terms. Paul's apostolic voice, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INTERPLEADER

[1 Kings 3:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Kings (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then came there two women, that were harlots, unto the king, and stood before him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Kings 3:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTERPLEADER, p. 649; scan anchor: djvu line 109298 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines interpleader: rival claimants to the same thing brought to litigate their title between themselves before the tribunal. 1 Kings 3:16 opens scripture's archetypal rival-claimant case — two women standing before the king over the one living child (vv.16-28). Annotated as the archetypal instance of the procedure's fact-pattern; narrative, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

INTERPRETATION

[Nehemiah 8:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Nehemiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So they read in the book in the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Nehemiah 8:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTERPRETATION, p. 649; scan anchor: djvu line 109372 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines interpretation as discovering and expounding the intended signification of language in a statute or other written instrument. Nehemiah 8:8 depicts the act on a statute — the law of God read distinctly, 'and gave the sense' — the scriptural scene of legal interpretation. Narrative, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INTERREGNUM

[Judges 21:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Judges (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Judges 21:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTERREGNUM, p. 649; scan anchor: djvu line 109481 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines interregnum as the interval between reigns — 'the vacancy which occurs when there is no government.' The verse states the condition in the entry's terms: no king, no government, every man his own law. The scriptural description of the defined vacancy; narrative, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

INTRUDER

[John 10:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 10:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry INTRUDER, p. 653; scan anchor: djvu line 109944 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the intruder as one who enters upon land 'without either right of possession or color of title.' The verse names the one who enters 'not by the door' — without right of entry — 'a thief and a robber.' Christ's own sentence on entry without right; His speech ('Verily, verily, I say unto you'). INTRUSION left bare: same cluster. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

IOTA

[Matthew 5:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IOTA, p. 656; scan anchor: djvu line 110359 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines iota as 'the minutest quantity possible' and notes 'jot' derives from it. The verse uses the jot — the iota — as the smallest conceivable measure, declaring not even it shall pass from the law. The entry's etymology and the verse's usage meet on the same letter; Christ's own speech ('verily I say unto you'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IRE AD LARGUM

[Leviticus 25:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it shall be a jubile unto you; and ye shall return every man unto his possession, and ye shall return every man unto his family. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IRE AD LARGUM, p. 656; scan anchor: djvu line 110405 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry means 'to go at large; to be set at liberty.' The verse is scripture's great liberty-proclamation — the jubilee, when all inhabitants are set at liberty and return to possession and family. The archetypal 'set at liberty' in the LORD's own speech (Lev 25:1). Borderline (proclamation vs. phrase) but the verse is the scriptural institution of release. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

IRREVOCABLE

[Romans 11:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 11:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry IRREVOCABLE, p. 667; scan anchor: djvu line 110521 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines irrevocable as 'which cannot be revoked or recalled.' The verse states irrevocability in scripture's own terms — the gifts and calling of God 'without repentance,' i.e., not taken back. The scriptural statement of the defined quality; Paul's voice, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ITA TE DEVS ADJUVET

[Deuteronomy 6:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God, and serve him, and shalt swear by his name. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 6:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ITA TE DEVS ADJUVET, p. 659 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 110837 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the old English oath formula — 'So help you God.' The verse is the Torah's oath law: swear by His name. The scriptural ground of the oath the formula invokes — calling God to witness. Flag off: Moses' address, per the standing Deuteronomy rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ITA LEX SCRIPTA EST

[Deuteronomy 27:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Cursed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this law to do them. And all the people shall say, Amen. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 27:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ITA LEX SCRIPTA EST, p. 668; scan anchor: djvu line 110785 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's maxim: 'So the law is written' — the law must be obeyed as it stands, without inquiring into its reasons. The verse pronounces the curse on whoever does not confirm 'all the words of this law to do them' — the scriptural sanction behind obedience to the written law. Borderline (sanction vs. maxim) but the same doctrine of the law's binding letter; flag off (Moses with the Levites). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JACTITATION

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JACTITATION, p. 660; scan anchor: djvu line 110991 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines jactitation as 'a false boasting; a false claim; assertions repeated to the prejudice of another's right.' The verse is the Decalogue's prohibition of the false witness — the false assertion against one's neighbour — the commandment the defined wrong violates. Spoken by God (Ex 20:1, 'God spake all these words, saying'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

JETTISON

[Jonah 1:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jonah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jonah 1:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JETTISON, p. 661; scan anchor: djvu line 111204 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines jettison as throwing cargo overboard in extreme danger to lighten the ship. The verse depicts the act in the entry's own terms — the mariners casting the wares into the sea 'to lighten it.' Scripture's own jettison scene; narrative, so no flag. Cognates JACTUS, JACTURA, JET, JETSAM left bare: same act, one annotation. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JEDBURGH JUSTICE

[John 7:51, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Doth our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he doeth? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 7:51, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JEDBURGH JUSTICE, p. 661; scan anchor: djvu line 111121 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines Jedburgh justice as summary justice 'without a regular trial' — hanging first. The verse states the law's own rule against it: no man judged before he is heard. Nicodemus' question is scripture's condemnation of the defined practice; his voice, not deity speech, so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JAILER

[Acts 16:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the keeper of the prison awaking out of his sleep, and seeing the prison doors open, he drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fled. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 16:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JAILER, p. 660; scan anchor: djvu line 111060 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the jailer as keeper/warden of a prison. The verse shows the keeper of the prison in his office — answering with his life for his charge — scripture's own jailer at Philippi. Narrative, so no flag. JAIL/JAIL DELIVERY/JAIL LIBERTIES left bare: same institution, annotated at the office-holder. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

JOB

[Leviticus 19:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JOB, p. 661; scan anchor: djvu line 111239 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A 'job' is work undertaken for a stipulated price. The verse is the Mosaic wage law: the hired laborer's wages must be paid promptly and without fraud — the scriptural root of the wage-for-work obligation the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JOURNEYMAN

[Leviticus 19:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JOURNEYMAN, p. 663; scan anchor: djvu line 111535 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A journeyman is a workman hired by the day — precisely the 'hired' laborer of the verse. The command against withholding his wages to morning bears directly on the day-labor relation the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUDGE

[Deuteronomy 16:18-19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment. Thou shalt not wrest judgment; thou shalt not respect persons, neither take a gift: for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wise, and pervert the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:18-19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUDGE, p. 604 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 111687 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the public officer appointed to administer law in a court. The verses institute that very office — judges in the gates — and state its governing duty: just judgment, no perversion for persons or gifts. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUDGMENT

[Matthew 7:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Matthew 7:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUDGMENT, p. 604 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 111764 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the court's official decision on the parties' rights. The verse states the reciprocal moral law of judgment itself — the measure a judge applies returns upon the judge — genuinely illuminating what a 'judgment' is in the moral order. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUDICARE

[John 7:24, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 7:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUDICARE, p. 668; scan anchor: djvu line 112305 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the act of judging — deciding judicially. The verse commands the manner of that act: not by appearance but righteously — a direct bearing on the judicial function defined. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUXENT

[Deuteronomy 25:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUXENT, p. 670; scan anchor: djvu line 112726 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is an ox used for tillage. The verse concerns exactly that working ox — threshing/treading grain — commanding it not be muzzled while it works: a scriptural rule touching the tillage-ox itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JURAMENTUM

[Leviticus 19:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JURAMENTUM, p. 671; scan anchor: djvu line 112909 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the oath itself (juramentum = an oath), including the oath against calumny imposed on litigants. The verse forbids swearing falsely by God's name — the scriptural sanction behind the oath as a legal instrument, and the curse that false swearing profanes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact)

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

[basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUS

[Micah 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Micah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Micah 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUS, p. 675; scan anchor: djvu line 113628 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jus = right, justice, law — the whole body of law in the abstract. The verse states what is required of man under that order: to do justly — the moral core of jus as 'justice' itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUS DICERE

[Deuteronomy 17:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And thou shalt come unto the priests the Levites, and unto the judge that shall be in those days, and enquire; and they shall shew thee the sentence of judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 17:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUS DICERE, p. 677; scan anchor: djvu line 113968 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jus dicere is 'to declare the law; to say what the law is' — the province of the court or judge. The verse describes exactly that office: the judge in those days is enquired of and 'shews' the sentence of judgment — the judge declaring the law. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUS GLADII

[Romans 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUS GLADII, p. 678; scan anchor: djvu line 114115 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jus gladii is the executory power of the law — the prerogative of punishing for crime. The verse is the locus classicus of that power: the magistrate 'beareth not the sword in vain' as God's revenger to execute wrath on the evildoer — the scriptural account of the punishing sword. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

JUS GENTIUM

[Romans 2:14-15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: Which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 2:14-15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUS GENTIUM, p. 678; scan anchor: djvu line 114070 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines jus gentium as the law natural reason has established among all men and nations. The verses state the same doctrine: those without the written law 'do by nature the things contained in the law' — the law written in hearts — the scriptural ground of the law of nations. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUSTIFIABLE

[Exodus 22:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUSTIFIABLE, p. 684; scan anchor: djvu line 115055 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's paradigm of justifiable homicide is killing in the act's defense. The verse is the Mosaic justifiable-homicide rule itself: the night burglar slain in the breaking-in carries no bloodguilt — the scriptural original of the legal concept. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

KIDNAPPING

[Exodus 21:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry KIDNAPPING, p. 687; scan anchor: djvu line 115543 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the forcible abduction or stealing away of a person. The verse is the Mosaic law of man-stealing itself — the scriptural original of kidnapping as a capital offense. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

KING

[Proverbs 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. By me kings reign, and princes decree justice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry KING, p. 687; scan anchor: djvu line 115615 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the king as sovereign ruler. The verse grounds that office: kings reign by Wisdom, and princes decree justice — the scriptural account of whence a king's rule and its just end derive. Speaker is personified Wisdom, not a deity proper — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LABORER

[Luke 10:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LABORER, p. 692; scan anchor: djvu line 116229 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is one who performs work and labor for employers as a livelihood. The verse states the laborer's right in the LORD's own commissioning of the seventy: the labourer is worthy of his hire — the scriptural ground of the wage due to labor. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LJESA MAJESTAS

[Romans 13:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LJESA MAJESTAS, p. 692; scan anchor: djvu line 116362 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Laesa majestas is injured majesty — high treason, any offense against the king's person or dignity. The verse states the gravity of that offense in the moral order: to resist the sovereign power is to resist God's ordinance. (Headword as printed in the source, OCR-mangled; entry treated as-is.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

UESIO ULTRA DIMIDIUM VEL ENORMIS

[Leviticus 25:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if thou sell ought unto thy neighbour, or buyest ought of thy neighbour's hand, ye shall not oppress one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry UESIO ULTRA DIMIDIUM VEL ENORMIS, p. 692; scan anchor: djvu line 116368 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the Roman lesion doctrine: a party overreached beyond half the value in an onerous contract is injured. The verse is the Mosaic rule of fair dealing in sale and purchase — 'ye shall not oppress one another' — the scriptural bar against overreaching in contracts. (Headword as printed in the source, OCR-mangled; entry treated as-is.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LANDLORD

[Leviticus 25:23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are strangers and sojourners with me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LANDLORD, p. 696; scan anchor: djvu line 116922 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is he of whom lands are holden — the lessor to whom rent is reserved. The verse declares the ultimate Landlord: the land is Mine, and men hold only as strangers and sojourners — the scriptural root of all tenure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LANDMARK

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LANDMARK, p. 696; scan anchor: djvu line 116952 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the boundary monument whose removal is a legal wrong. The verse is the Mosaic prohibition of that very wrong — removing the neighbour's ancient landmark — the scriptural original of the action for it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LAPIDATION

[John 8:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LAPIDATION, p. 696; scan anchor: djvu line 117033 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is death by stoning. The verse is Christ's word to those gathered to stone the woman taken in adultery — addressing the very act of lapidation and who may righteously perform it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

L ARGENT

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry L ARGENT, p. 697; scan anchor: djvu line 117111 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is larceny — the wrongful taking of another's goods with felonious intent. The verse is the Eighth Commandment, spoken by God Himself — the absolute scriptural prohibition of the act the entry defines. (Headword as printed in the source, OCR-mangled; entry treated as-is.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LEASING-MAKING

[Exodus 22:28, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not revile the gods, nor curse the ruler of thy people. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEASING-MAKING, p. 706; scan anchor: djvu line 118742 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the old Scots crime of slanderous speeches against the king, his council and proceedings. The verse is the Mosaic prohibition of that very act — cursing the ruler of the people — the scriptural original of seditious speech against the sovereign. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LEAVE

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children: and the wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEAVE, p. 706; scan anchor: djvu line 118751 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the word 'leave' as prima facie a disposition by will. The verse uses 'leaveth' in exactly that testamentary sense — leaving an inheritance to children's children — the scriptural image of the deathbed disposition the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

LEGITIME

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEGITIME, p. 710; scan anchor: djvu line 119465 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Legitime is the portion of a parent's estate of which he cannot disinherit his children without legal cause. The verse is the Mosaic rule of exactly that: the father may not divert the firstborn's double portion to the son of the beloved wife — the scriptural original of the indefeasible child's share. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LEND

[Luke 6:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 6:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEND, p. 711; scan anchor: djvu line 119520 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is parting with a thing of value for another's use, to be given back. The verse is Christ's law of lending — lend hoping for nothing again — the scriptural ethic of the loan. (A second verse, Ex 22:25, bars usury on loans to the poor; one verse kept for tightness.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LEND

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEND, p. 711; scan anchor: djvu line 119520 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is lending; the verse is the Mosaic lending law — the loan to the poor must not carry usury — the scriptural limit on the lender's exaction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

LEVIR

[Deuteronomy 25:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If brethren dwell together, and one of them die, and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry without unto a stranger: her husband's brother shall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an husband's brother unto her. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEVIR, p. 68 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 120052 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the levir — the husband's brother. The verse is the levirate law itself, imposing on that brother the duty of taking the childless widow to wife — the scriptural institution from which the entry's term takes its legal meaning. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LEVITICAL DEGREES

[Leviticus 18:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedness: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEVITICAL DEGREES, p. 68 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 120061 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names the prohibited marriage degrees 'set forth in the eighteenth chapter of Leviticus.' The verse is that chapter's opening prohibition — the LORD's own command barring union with near of kin. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LEPROSUS

[Leviticus 13:46, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. All the days wherein the plague shall be in him he shall be defiled; he is unclean: he shall dwell alone; without the camp shall his habitation be. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 13:46, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LEPROSUS, p. 711; scan anchor: djvu line 119569 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry includes the ancient writ de leproso amovendo — to remove the leper from his neighbours' company. The verse is the Mosaic exclusion rule itself: the leper dwells alone, without the camp — the scriptural original of the legal removal. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

LIBELOUS

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIBELOUS, p. 720; scan anchor: djvu line 121160 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is defamation — libel as the published falsehood injuring another. The verse is the Ninth Commandment, spoken by God: no false witness against the neighbour — the absolute scriptural prohibition of the act libel law redresses. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LICENTIOUSNESS

[Galatians 5:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 5:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LICENTIOUSNESS, p. 724; scan anchor: djvu line 121882 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines licentiousness against liberty: liberty is the exercise of right with regard to law and others' rights; licentiousness is arbitrary will without such regard. The verse draws exactly that line — liberty called, but not to be used as occasion for the flesh. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LIBLAC

[Exodus 22:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIBLAC, p. 723; scan anchor: djvu line 121630 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the Saxon legal term for witchcraft as an offense — the compounding of drugs and philters. The verse is the Mosaic witchcraft law itself, making the practice a capital offense — the scriptural original of witchcraft as punishable. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LIEN

[Deuteronomy 24:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. No man shall take the nether or the upper millstone to pledge: for he taketh a man's life to pledge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry LIEN, p. 725; scan anchor: djvu line 122046 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the creditor's qualified property right in the debtor's property as security for the debt — the pledge/lien. The verse regulates exactly that relation: the creditor's security may not extend to the millstone, for that is the debtor's life — the scriptural limit on the lien. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUR ARE

[Matthew 5:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUR ARE, p. 671; scan anchor: djvu line 112960 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the act of swearing — 'to call God to witness, and is an act of religion' (3 Inst. 165, quoted in the entry). The verse is Christ's direct teaching on the act of swearing, addressing the very religious weight the entry's maxim names. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUS HJEREDXTATIS

[Numbers 27:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUS HJEREDXTATIS, p. 678; scan anchor: djvu line 114128 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the right of inheritance. The verse is the LORD's own ruling in the Zelophehad case, establishing that an inheritance must pass to the daughters — a divine judgment founding the legal right of succession. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JUS RELICTS

[Deuteronomy 24:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the stranger, nor of the fatherless; nor take a widow's raiment to pledge. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JUS RELICTS, p. 681; scan anchor: djvu line 114519 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jus relictae is the widow's legal share of her husband's estate — her secured property right. The verse protects the same interest against distraint: the widow's property may not be seized in pledge — the scriptural policy behind securing the widow's portion. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

JU8TITIA

[Deuteronomy 16:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. That which is altogether just shalt thou follow, that thou mayest live, and inherit the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry JU8TITIA, p. 684; scan anchor: djvu line 115089 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Justitia is justice itself — the entry's maxim 'justice is to be denied to none.' The verse commands the pursuit of what is altogether just as the condition of the land's inheritance — the scriptural root of justice as a legal duty. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LIGEANCE

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIGEANCE, p. 727; scan anchor: djvu line 122409 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the faithful obedience of a subject to his sovereign; Paul's doctrine of ordained powers is the canonical scripture anchor for allegiance. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LIFB

[Genesis 2:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIFB, p. 727; scan anchor: djvu line 122309 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Life defined as God-breathed breath; the legal definition of the organized being's natural functions sits under this. Narrative account, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

LIMB

[Exodus 21:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIMB, p. 728; scan anchor: djvu line 122524 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The body-member register of mayhem law is the lex talionis; this is the genuine legal root of the life-and-limb entry. BORDERLINE red-letter: God's law in Covenant-Code form, not first-person divine speech — flag left off per the doubt rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LITIGATION

[1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LITIGATION, p. 732; scan anchor: djvu line 123214 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verse is literally about going to law before courts — the judicial controversy the entry defines. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LITIGIOUS

[2 Timothy 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Timothy 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LITIGIOUS, p. 732; scan anchor: djvu line 123234 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's second sense is fondness for litigation, proneness to engage in suits; the verse is scripture's direct address to the contentious disposition. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LIGA

[Amos 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Can two walk together, except they be agreed? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIGA, p. 727; scan anchor: djvu line 122387 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A league is a confederation of the agreed; the verse states the condition of walking together —

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

the covenant-content of a league. Admitted as borderline but genuine. Prophet's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LIQUOR

[Ephesians 5:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 5:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LIQUOR, p. 730; scan anchor: djvu line 122915 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The statutes the entry concerns forbid intoxicating liquors; the verse names intoxication directly. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LISTERS

[Luke 2:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 2:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LISTERS, p. 731; scan anchor: djvu line 123018 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The census-for-taxation is the ancient analogue of the listers' lists of taxables. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LITEM SHAM FACERE

[Proverbs 18:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to overthrow the righteous in judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 18:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LITEM SHAM FACERE, p. 731; scan anchor: djvu line 123036 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is a judge making the suit his own from partiality or enmity; the verse names judicial partiality directly. Wisdom saying, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

LITER A

[2 Corinthians 3:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 3:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LITER A, p. 731; scan anchor: djvu line 123043 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's exact distinction — the letter of a law as distinguished from its spirit — stated in the verse's exact words; the strongest admission in the batch. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOAN

[Luke 6:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 6:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOAN, p. 733; scan anchor: djvu line 123440 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's bailment without reward is the legal shape of lending hoping for nothing again. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LITERATURA

[Proverbs 22:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LITERATURA, p. 732; scan anchor: djvu line 123170 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry concerns putting children to school and the education of sons; the verse is scripture's own educational maxim. Wisdom saying, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOCATIO

[Exodus 22:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. if it be an hired thing, it came for his hire. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOCATIO, p. 785; scan anchor: djvu line 123671 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The ancient hired-thing rule — genuine bailment-for-hire law bearing on the contract of letting for hire. BORDERLINE red-letter: Covenant-Code form, not first-person divine speech — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOT

[Acts 1:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell upon Matthias. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 1:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOT, p. 739; scan anchor: djvu line 124460 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The lot as decision-procedure, matching the entry's arbitrament of chance. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOTTERY

[Proverbs 16:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 16:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOTTERY, p. 739; scan anchor: djvu line 124501 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Disposal by chance with the disposing referred to the LORD — the lottery's own theology. Wisdom saying, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LORD

[Matthew 20:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye know that the princes of the Gentiles exercise dominion over them, and they that are great exercise authority upon them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 20:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LORD, p. 737; scan anchor: djvu line 124140 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Human lordship and dominion named directly by the speaker, bearing on the feudal superior and title of honor. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOYALTY

[Ecclesiastes 8:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. I counsel thee to keep the king's commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 8:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOYALTY, p. 740; scan anchor: djvu line 124588 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Loyalty as covenant-obedience to the king, kept in regard of the oath of God. Wisdom saying, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LUCRE

[1 Timothy 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LUCRE, p. 741; scan anchor: djvu line 124694 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's gain in its ill sense is the exact phrase filthy lucre. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LUCRI CAUSA

[Joshua 7:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Joshua (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When I saw among the spoils a goodly Babylonish garment, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold of fifty shekels weight, then I coveted them, and took them [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 7:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LUCRI CAUSA, p. 741; scan anchor: djvu line 124698 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Coveting then taking: theft-for-gain confessed verbatim — the larceny intent the entry defines. Achan's confession, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LUCID INTERVALS

[Daniel 4:34, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Daniel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And at the end of the days I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Daniel 4:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LUCID INTERVALS, p. 740; scan anchor: djvu line 124598 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Restored reason after derangement — scripture's own lucid-interval case. Nebuchadnezzar's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOVE-DAY

[Matthew 5:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOVE-DAY, p. 740; scan anchor: djvu line 124560 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The amicable settlement of a dispute between neighbors, commanded directly — the love-day's own doctrine. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOST

[Exodus 23:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOST, p. 739; scan anchor: djvu line 124401 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The duty regarding stray property involuntarily parted from its owner, stated as law. BORDERLINE red-letter: Covenant-Code form, not first-person divine speech — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LOW WATER

[Numbers 35:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LOW WATER, p. 740; scan anchor: djvu line 124570 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. For the LOWBOTE sub-entry carried inside this headword's body (a recompense for the death of a man killed in a tumult): The law of recompense or satisfaction for homicide stated in the negative — the genuine legal territory of the entry. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LUNATIC

[Matthew 17:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatick, and sore vexed [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 17:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LUNATIC, p. 741; scan anchor: djvu line 124799 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The very word in the text, borne on the case of the deranged boy. The father's plea, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

LUNAR

[Genesis 1:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LUNAR, p. 741; scan anchor: djvu line 124794 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The moon's office as time-measure, fitting the entry's measurement by the moon's revolutions. Narrative of the fiat, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LYING IN WAIT

[Deuteronomy 19:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if any man hate his neighbour, and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him mortally that he die, and fleeth into one of these cities [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LYING IN WAIT, p. 742; scan anchor: djvu line 124878 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The exact phrase in the murder context the entry's degrees-of-murder doctrine needs. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

LYNCH LAW

[Exodus 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry LYNCH LAW, p. 742; scan anchor: djvu line 124898 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The mob-action prohibition — scripture's limit on unofficial summary punishment without legal trial. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MACHINATION

[Psalm 37:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked plotteth against the just, and gnasheth upon him with his teeth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 37:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MACHINATION, p. 743; scan anchor: djvu line 125029 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Evil scheming with deliberation, named directly. Psalmist's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAOE-GREFF

[Psalm 50:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. When thou sawest a thief, then thou consentedst with him, and hast been partaker with adulterers. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 50:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAOE-GREFF, p. 743; scan anchor: djvu line 125001 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Consenting with the thief is the receiver's guilt — the buyer's knowing guilt in God's own address. The verse sits inside God's rebuke at Psalm 50:7-23 (I am God, even thy God); God is the speaker. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MACTATOR

[Genesis 9:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 9:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MACTATOR, p. 743; scan anchor: djvu line 125085 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The homicide law within God's covenant address to Noah. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAGIC

[Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 18:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAGIC, p. 744; scan anchor: djvu line 125143 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The statute-territory named verbatim — the very offenses the statutes punish. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MAGISTRATE

[Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Judges and officers shalt thou make thee in all thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee, throughout thy tribes: and they shall judge the people with just judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 16:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAGISTRATE, p. 746; scan anchor: djvu line 125278 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The appointment of judges and officers commanded — the public officer's charter. BORDERLINE red-letter: Moses' charge in code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MEGBOTE

[Exodus 21:30, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If there be laid on him a sum of money, then he shall give for the ransom of his life whatsoever is laid upon him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MEGBOTE, p. 770; scan anchor: djvu line 129512 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Satisfaction-money for a death, verbatim — the recompense for slaying a kinsman. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAIM

[Leviticus 24:19-20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if a man cause a blemish in his neighbour; as he hath done, so shall it be done to him; Breach for breach, eye for eye, tooth for tooth: as he hath caused a blemish in a man, so shall it be done to him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 24:19-20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAIM, p. 746; scan anchor: djvu line 125572 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Mayhem and blemish law verbatim — the exact legal root of the entry. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAINOUR

[Exodus 22:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or ass, or sheep; he shall restore double. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MAINOUR, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125642 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The exact legal fact-pattern: the thief taken with the stolen goods in his hands. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAINTENANCE

[1 Timothy 5:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAINTENANCE, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125710 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The duty of sustenance and support where the legal relation binds — father and child, house and household. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAINAD

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAINAD, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125632 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The false oath forbidden within the Decalogue's divine speech (Exodus 20:1, And God spake all these words, saying). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAINSWORN

[Leviticus 19:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAINSWORN, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125688 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. False swearing forbidden in God's first-person voice — the forsworn oath condemned. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MAINPERNOR

[Proverbs 11:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAINPERNOR, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125665 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Suretyship warned against verbatim — the surety for an arrested person's appearance. Wisdom saying, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAJESTAS

[Deuteronomy 17:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the man that will do presumptuously, and will not hearken unto the priest that standeth to minister there before the LORD thy God, or unto the judge, even that man shall die: and thou shalt put away the evil from Israel. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 17:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAJESTAS, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125820 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Defiance of constituted authority as a capital offense — the crime against sovereignty. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAGNA NEGLIGENTIA

[Luke 12:47-48, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And that servant, which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 12:47-48, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAGNA NEGLIGENTIA, p. 746; scan anchor: djvu line 125405 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Scripture's own scale of fault and negligence — degrees of stripes answering degrees of knowledge — bearing on gross negligence as fault. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAGNA CRARTA

[Galatians 5:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Galatians 5:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAGNA CRARTA, p. 746; scan anchor: djvu line 125371 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The great charter as liberty secured against the yoke of bondage. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAJOR

[1 Corinthians 13:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 13:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAJOR, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125832 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The passage to full age and the management of one's own concerns, stated verbatim. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAISON DE DIEU

[Matthew 25:40, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 25:40, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAISON DE DIEU, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125807 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The almshouse and hospital's charter: service rendered to the least. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAJORA REGALIA

[Proverbs 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. By me kings reign, and princes decree justice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAJORA REGALIA, p. 747; scan anchor: djvu line 125862 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The king's dignity, power, and royal prerogative held from divine Wisdom. BORDERLINE red-letter: the speaker is Wisdom personified — not clearly the deity — so per the doubt rule the flag stays off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MAKER

[James 4:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 4:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAKER, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 125976 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names the law-maker among its senses; the verse names the one Lawgiver. James's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAKING LAW

[Hebrews 6:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 6:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAKING LAW, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 125983 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The ancient trial by oath — the wager of law — rests on this doctrine: the oath as the end of strife. Epistle words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAEANDRINTTS

[John 10:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 10:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAEANDRINTTS, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 126043 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The thief and robber named in the very terms of the entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAE-TOETE

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAE-TOETE, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 125999 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The usurious gains the entry names, forbidden — the statute-territory. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MALADMINISTRATION

[1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MALADMINISTRATION, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 126037 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Wrong administration judged by the stewardship standard: faithfulness required. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAEEDICTION

[Deuteronomy 27:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Cursed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this law to do them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 27:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAEEDICTION, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 126069 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The covenant curse annexed against violators — the same legal form as the entry's curse against violators of church rights. Moses' words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MALICE

[1 John 3:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Not as Cain, who was of that wicked one, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 3:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MALICE, p. 750; scan anchor: djvu line 126128 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The wrongful act done intentionally without just cause, shown in the archetypal case of malice. Epistle words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MALVERSATION

[Luke 3:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages. [basis: the

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 3:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MALVERSATION, p. 762; scan anchor: djvu line 126577 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Exaction and corruption in office rebuked — the office-holder told to be content with his wages. John's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAN

[Genesis 1:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAN, p. 762; scan anchor: djvu line 126584 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The human being defined at his origin — the text verbatim, quoted as the compiler's citation. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANACLES

[Psalm 149:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 149:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANACLES, p. 762; scan anchor: djvu line 126596 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Binding with chains and fetters — the shackle's own register. Psalmist's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANBOTE

[Genesis 9:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And surely your blood of your lives will I require; at the hand of every beast will I require it, and at the hand of man; at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 9:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANBOTE, p. 753; scan anchor: djvu line 126656 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The life taken is required — the requiring of blood that stands behind compensation for homicide due to the lord. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MANCHE-PRESENT

[Exodus 23:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANCHE-PRESENT, p. 753; scan anchor: djvu line 126672 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The bribe — the gift that blinds — forbidden. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANCIPATE

[Exodus 21:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou buy an Hebrew servant, six years he shall serve: and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANCIPATE, p. 753; scan anchor: djvu line 126681 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bond-service and its term — the binding the entry defines, stated as law. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANCIPATIO

[Ruth 4:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ruth 4:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANCIPATIO, p. 753; scan anchor: djvu line 126684 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The formal witnessed conveyance — elders as witnesses to the sale — the scripture analogue of the ceremonial sale with its witnesses. Boaz's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAGISTER

[Matthew 23:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 23:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAGISTER, p. 744; scan anchor: djvu line 125226 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The master as ruler and instructor — the title the entry defines, claimed by the speaker. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAEE

[Genesis 5:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Male and female created he them; and blessed them, and called their name Adam, in the day when they were created. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 5:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAEE, p. 749; scan anchor: djvu line 126057 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The masculine sex named at the creation. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANOOMTTNAX

[Galatians 6:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 6:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANOOMTTNAX, p. 753; scan anchor: djvu line 126743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. One person assuming another's burden — the mancomunax obligation to pay or fulfill another's debt. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANJTMISSION

[Leviticus 25:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it shall be a jubile unto you; and ye shall return every man unto his possession, and ye shall return every man unto his family. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANJTMISSION, p. 757; scan anchor: djvu line 127414 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The proclamation of liberty to all inhabitants — the liberation from bondage the entry defines. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MANDATO, PANES DE

[Matthew 26:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For ye have the poor always with you; but me ye have not always. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 26:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANDATO, PANES DE, p. 754; scan anchor: djvu line 126933 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The loaves are Maundy charity; the verse is scripture's own charter of perpetual alms — the poor always with us. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MAUNDY THURSDAY

[John 13:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 13:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MAUNDY THURSDAY, p. 767; scan anchor: djvu line 128999 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The mandatum novum from which Maundy Thursday takes its name — the new commandment given on that night. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANKIND

[Genesis 1:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANKIND, p. 755; scan anchor: djvu line 127042 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Mankind — the race of human beings — at its making, in the divine image. First-person divine speech (Let us make). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANSION

[John 14:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 14:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANSION, p. 756; scan anchor: djvu line 127168 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The very word mansions — the dwelling-place the entry defines. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANSER

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANSER, p. 756; scan anchor: djvu line 127166 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The legal status of the bastard stated as law. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANSLAUGHTER

[Numbers 35:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then ye shall appoint you cities to be cities of refuge for you; that the slayer may flee thither, which killeth any person at unawares. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANSLAUGHTER, p. 756; scan anchor: djvu line 127192 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The killing at unawares — without malice — provided for by the cities of refuge: manslaughter's own legal home. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANSTEALING

[Exodus 21:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANSTEALING, p. 756; scan anchor: djvu line 127250 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Manstealing named verbatim — the kidnapping the entry defines. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANUPRETITJM

[James 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANUPRETITJM, p. 758; scan anchor: djvu line 127450 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The hire or wages of labor kept back by fraud — the compensation the entry defines. James's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MANWORTH

[Exodus 21:32, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If the ox shall push a manservant or a maidservant; he shall give unto their master thirty shekels of silver, and the ox shall be stoned. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MANWORTH, p. 758; scan anchor: djvu line 127490 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The price set on a man's life — the wergild-analogue the entry defines. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MARITAGIUM

[Exodus 22:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her, he shall surely endow her to be his wife. If her father utterly refuse to give her unto him, he shall pay money according to the dowry of virgins. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARITAGIUM, p. 760; scan anchor: djvu line 127785 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The dowry — the portion given with the daughter — stated as law. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MARCH

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARCH, p. 758; scan anchor: djvu line 127547 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The boundary-line protected by law — the march's own legal sanctity. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MARINER

[Psalm 107:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 107:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARINER, p. 759; scan anchor: djvu line 127743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The seaman's own description — those who do business in great waters. Psalmist's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MARE

[Genesis 1:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARE, p. 759; scan anchor: djvu line 127609 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The sea named at the creation. Narrative, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MABITUS

[Ezekiel 9:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And the LORD said unto him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and set a mark upon the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ezekiel 9:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MABITUS, p. 761; scan anchor: djvu line 127956 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. For the MARK sub-entry carried inside this headword's body (the mark as a set sign/signature): The mark as a set sign — scripture's own usage of the term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MARKET

[John 2:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house an house of merchandise. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 2:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MARKET, p. 761; scan anchor: djvu line 128023 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The market-place itself — buying and selling at the appointed place — rebuked in the temple. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MASTER

[Colossians 4:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Colossians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Masters, give unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Colossians 4:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MASTER, p. 764; scan anchor: djvu line 128563 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The master-and-servant relation addressed directly — the master's duty to his servants. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MATRICIDE

[Exodus 21:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he that smiteth his father, or his mother, shall be surely put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MATRICIDE, p. 765; scan anchor: djvu line 128810 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The murder of a mother — smiting father or mother as a capital offense. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MATERNA MATERNIS

[Numbers 27:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MATERNA MATERNIS, p. 765; scan anchor: djvu line 128743 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The inheritance passing by kinship order — the descent-law the maxim rests on. Admitted as genuine though the maternal-side specificity is the maxim's own. BORDERLINE red-letter: code form — flag left off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MATRIX ECCLESIA

[Galatians 4:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But Jerusalem which is above is free, which is the mother of us all. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 4:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry MATRIX ECCLESIA, p. 766; scan anchor: djvu line 128892 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The mother-church — Jerusalem as the mother of us all. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MEASURE

[Matthew 7:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 7:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MEASURE, p. 768; scan anchor: djvu line 129194 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Measure as the rule by which anything is adjusted or proportioned — the measure of judgment itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MEADOW

[Psalm 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MEADOW, p. 767; scan anchor: djvu line 129104 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The grassy tract — the meadow's own register, green pastures. Psalmist's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MEDIATION

[1 Timothy 2:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 2:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MEDIATION, p. 769; scan anchor: djvu line 129360 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The mediator between two parties — mediation named in its highest form. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MENACE

[Acts 4:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And now, Lord, behold their threatenings: and grant unto thy servants, that with all boldness they may speak thy word [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Acts 4:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MENACE, p. 772; scan anchor: djvu line 129869 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Threatening — the declaration of a disposition to inflict evil — laid before the Lord by the threatened. The disciples' prayer, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MENS

[Matthew 5:28, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MENS, p. 772; scan anchor: djvu line 129885 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. For the mens rea sub-entry carried inside this headword's body (a guilty mind; a guilty or wrongful purpose; a criminal intent): The guilty mind itself — the wrongful purpose complete in the heart before the act — which is exactly what mens rea means. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MENSA

[Matthew 19:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MENSA, p. 772; scan anchor: djvu line 129899 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The putting-away — the divorce a mensa et thoro the entry points to — ruled on directly. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MEMBER

[1 Corinthians 12:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 12:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MEMBER, p. 770; scan anchor: djvu line 129624 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Members of a body — the entry's limb sense and its corporate sense both carried in the one figure. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MEETING

[Hebrews 10:25, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 10:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MEETING, p. 769; scan anchor: djvu line 129463 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The assembling of persons together — the meeting the entry defines. Epistle words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MENTIRI

[Proverbs 12:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Lying lips are abomination to the LORD: but they that deal truly are his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 12:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MENTIRI, p. 772; scan anchor: djvu line 129978 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Lying — the assertion of falsehood — named as abomination. Wisdom saying, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MERCY

[Luke 6:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 6:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MERCY, p. 774; scan anchor: djvu line 130196 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Mercy commanded — the arbitrament of the judge in punishing, and the criminal-law mercy, grounded in the Father's own mercy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MERCHANT

[Matthew 13:45, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 13:45, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MERCHANT, p. 773; scan anchor: djvu line 130109 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The merchant man — one who traffics in wares — in the parable's own terms. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MERETRICIOUS

[1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 6:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MERETRICIOUS, p. 774; scan anchor: djvu line 130246 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Unlawful sexual connection — the meretricious relation — addressed directly. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MERCENARIES

[John 10:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But he that is an hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth: and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 10:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MERCENARIES, p. 773; scan anchor: djvu line 130079 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The hireling — the servant for wages the entry defines — in his flight from the wolf. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MERCES

[1 Timothy 5:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MERCES, p. 773; scan anchor: djvu line 130082 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The reward of labor in money or other things — the labourer's reward stated. Paul's words, not deity speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

METAYER SYSTEM

[Mark 12:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 12:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry METAYER SYSTEM, p. 776; scan anchor: djvu line 130601 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The metayer system is land divided into small farms worked by tenant families, the landlord supplying the stock. The vineyard parable depicts the ancient form of that exact legal arrangement: an owner planting a vineyard and letting it out to husbandmen (tenant farmers) before departing. The verse bears on the holding form, not the parable's theological point. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

METECORN

[1 Timothy 5:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry METECORN, p. 776; scan anchor: djvu line 130614 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Metecorn is defined precisely as corn given by a lord to customary tenants 'as a reward and encouragement for labor.' Paul's principle — the labourer is worthy of his reward — is the scriptural locus for the same idea: labor's due paid in kind. Verbatim, thematically on point, not decorative. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

METEGAVEL

[Romans 13:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry METEGAVEL, p. 776; scan anchor: djvu line 130619 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Metegavel is 'a tribute or rent paid in victuals' — a due owed to the lord. Romans 13:7 is scripture's standing doctrine of tribute as a due: render to all their dues, tribute to whom tribute is due. The verse bears directly on the concept of tribute owed. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

METES AND BOUNDS

[Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's landmark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry METES AND BOUNDS, p. 776; scan anchor: djvu line 130625 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Metes and bounds are the boundary lines and terminating points of lands. Deuteronomy 19:14 is scripture's land-boundary law: the landmark (the ancient boundary marker) may not be moved. It genuinely illuminates the legal concept of fixed boundaries. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

per insert]

MICHERY

[Leviticus 19:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MICHERY, p. 777; scan anchor: djvu line 130777 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Michery is defined as 'Theft; cheating.' Leviticus 19:11 condemns both halves of the definition in one breath: stealing and dealing falsely. A two-word definition matched verbatim by a single verse. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MUD WIFE

[Exodus 1:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but saved the men children alive. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 1:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MUD WIFE, p. 778; scan anchor: djvu line 130838 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A midwife is 'a woman who practices midwifery.' Scripture's locus for midwifery as an office is Shiphrah and Puah, the Hebrew midwives who feared God above Pharaoh's command. The verse bears on the office itself — and on conscience above command. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MISADVENTURE

[Deuteronomy 19:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. As when a man goeth into the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and his hand fetcheth a stroke with the axe to cut down the tree, and the head slippeth from the helve, and lighteth upon his neighbour, that he die; he shall flee unto one of those cities, and live [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MISADVENTURE, p. 782; scan anchor: djvu line 131628 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Homicide 'by misadventure' is killing by mischance, without intent. The Mosaic law's accidental-killing provision gives the archetypal case: the axe head flying off the helve in the wood. The verse is scripture's own doctrine of the accidental homicide — genuine illumination, not analogy. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MISAPPROPRIATION

[Luke 16:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. There was a certain rich man, which had a steward; and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted his goods. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 16:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MISAPPROPRIATION, p. 782; scan anchor: djvu line 131648 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Misappropriation is the offense of a banker, factor, agent, or trustee misusing what is entrusted to him. The parable of the steward opens with exactly that charge: a steward accused of wasting his master's goods. The verse depicts the legal concept — a fiduciary accused of dissipating the principal's property. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MISCREANT

[1 John 2:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MISCREANT, p. 783; scan anchor: djvu line 131748 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A miscreant is 'an apostate; an unbeliever; one who totally renounced Christianity.' 1 John 2:19 is scripture's portrait of the apostate: those who went out from the fellowship, made manifest as never of it. The verse bears directly on the defined concept. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MISERERE

[Psalm 51:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness: according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 51:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MISERERE, p. 783; scan anchor: djvu line 131833 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Miserere is 'the name and first word of one of the penitential psalms' — Psalm 51, the psalm given to condemned malefactors. Quoting its opening line is not decoration; it is the thing named. Verbatim from the psalm itself. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MISREADING

[Leviticus 19:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not curse the deaf, nor put a stumblingblock before the blind, but shalt fear thy God: I am the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MISREADING, p. 784; scan anchor: djvu line 131980 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Misreading is reading a deed falsely to an illiterate or blind party so he conceives a wrong meaning — exploiting the vulnerable in a legal instrument. Leviticus 19:14 is scripture's law against exactly that exploitation: no stumblingblock before the blind. The verse is the LORD's own speech ('I am the LORD'). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MOB

[Exodus 23:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither shalt thou speak in a cause to decline after many to wrest judgment. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MOB, p. 786; scan anchor: djvu line 132277 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A mob is 'an assemblage of many people, acting in a violent and disorderly manner, defying the law.' Exodus 23:2 is scripture's mob law: do not follow a multitude to do evil, nor let the crowd wrest judgment. It bears directly on the defined wrong. Spoken by God within the Book of the Covenant. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MODERAMEN INCULPATES TUTELS

[Exodus 22:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MODERAMEN INCULPATES TUTELS, p. 787; scan anchor: djvu line 132347 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The moderamen is the regulation of justifiable defense — the degree of force lawful in defense of person or property. Exodus 22:2 is scripture's justifiable-homicide rule: the householder who slays the night burglar bears no bloodguilt. It is the ancient law of the same doctrine. God's speech in the covenant code. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

MODERATA MISERICORDIA

[Exodus 21:24, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MODERATA MISERICORDIA, p. 787; scan anchor: djvu line 132355 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This writ lies for one amerced beyond the quality or quantity of his offense — the penalty must not exceed the wrong. The lex talionis is scripture's proportionality ceiling: retribution bounded by equivalence, never exceeding it. It genuinely illuminates the writ's principle. God's speech in the covenant code. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MOERDA

[Exodus 20:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not kill. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MOERDA, p. 788; scan anchor: djvu line 132547 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Moerda is 'the secret killing of another; murder.' The sixth commandment is the direct divine prohibition. Quoted whole; it needs no gloss. God's own speech in the Decalogue. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MONOGAMY

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MONOGAMY, p. 790; scan anchor: djvu line 132878 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Monogamy is defined as 'a marriage contracted between one man and one woman.' Genesis 2:24 is scripture's institution of that union: one man cleaving to his wife, the two becoming one flesh. The verse is the locus of the defined concept. Narrative, not divine speech — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MONTES PIETATIS

[Proverbs 19:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the LORD; and that which he hath given will he pay him again. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 19:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry MONTES PIETATIS, p. 790; scan anchor: djvu line 133020 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The montes pietatis ('mountains of piety') were public pawnshops lending small sums on pledges — charitable alternatives to the usurer. Proverbs 19:17 gives the principle behind the piety: lending to the poor counts as lending to the LORD, and He repays it. Wisdom literature, not divine speech — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MORTH

[Genesis 9:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 9:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MORTH, p. 794; scan anchor: djvu line 133604 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Morth is murder (the Saxon term, 'assassinat'). Genesis 9:6 is the Noahic murder law: the shedding of man's blood answered by man's blood, grounded in the image of God. God's own speech to Noah — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MOSTRENCOS

[Deuteronomy 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Thou shalt not see thy brother's ox or his sheep go astray, and hide thyself from them: thou shalt in any case bring them again unto thy brother. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MOSTRENCOS, p. 795; scan anchor: djvu line 133708 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Mostrencos are strayed goods, estrays. Deuteronomy 22:1 is scripture's estray law: the strayed ox or sheep must be brought back to the brother, not concealed. It is the ancient law of the same legal concept — lost/found property duties. Moses speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MUIRBURN

[Exodus 22:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If fire break out, and catch in thorns, so that the stacks of corn, or the standing corn, or the field, be consumed therewith; he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MUIRBURN, p. 796; scan anchor: djvu line 133929 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Muirburn is the offense of setting fire to a moor. Exodus 22:6 is the fire-liability law: he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution for what it consumes. The ancient rule of liability for fire-setting. God's speech in the covenant code — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MURDER

[Numbers 35:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if he smite him with an instrument of iron, so that he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MURDER, p. 799; scan anchor: djvu line 134369 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry gives the common-law definition of murder; Numbers 35:16 gives the Mosaic definition — the smiting with a deadly instrument that kills makes the murderer, and the murderer shall surely be put to death. Scripture's own legal definition of the same crime, with its sanction. The LORD's speech to Moses — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

MUTATIO NOMINIS

[Genesis 17:5, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 17:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry MUTATIO NOMINIS, p. 800; scan anchor: djvu line 134566 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Mutatio nominis is change of name. Genesis 17:5 is scripture's archetypal change of name: Abram becomes Abraham by divine authority, with the reason stated — a new name carrying a new legal-covenantal status. God's own speech — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NATURAE EAW

[Romans 2:14-15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 2:14-15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NATURAE EAW, p. 803; scan anchor: djvu line 135177 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The law of nature is defined as conduct 'established by the Creator, and existing prior to any positive precept.' Romans 2:14-15 is scripture's doctrine of that law: the Gentiles, having not the written law, do by nature the things of the law — a law unto themselves, the work of the law written in their hearts. Paul's exposition, not divine speech — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

NATURALIZATION

[Ephesians 2:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NATURALIZATION, p. 805; scan anchor: djvu line 135266 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Naturalization is the act of adopting an alien into a nation, clothing him with the rights of a natural-born citizen. Ephesians 2:19 states the same transition in the spiritual register: strangers and foreigners made fellow-citizens. The verse is scripture's locus for the alien-to-citizen change of status. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NECESSARIES

[1 Timothy 6:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And having food and raiment let us be therewith content. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 6:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NECESSARIES, p. 808; scan anchor: djvu line 135806 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Necessaries are 'things indispensable, or things proper and useful, for the sustenance of human life.' 1 Timothy 6:8 gives scripture's own short list of the necessaries: food and raiment, with contentment as their sufficiency. Paul speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NECESSITY

[Mark 2:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he said unto them, Have ye never read what David did, when he had need, and was an hungred, he, and they that were with him? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Mark 2:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NECESSITY, p. 809; scan anchor: djvu line 135967 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Necessity is the controlling force admitting no choice of conduct — the doctrine excusing what is otherwise unlawful. Jesus himself states the archetypal case: David's need justifying the eating of the shewbread, 'which is not lawful to eat but for the priests.' Christ's own words — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NEGLECT

[James 4:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: James 4:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NEGLECT, p. 810; scan anchor: djvu line 136093 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Neglect is 'omission; failure to do something that one is bound to do.' James 4:17 is scripture's doctrine of omission: knowing the good one is bound to do, and not doing it, is sin. The verse states the legal-moral concept exactly. James speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NEXI

[Proverbs 22:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NEXI, p. 817; scan anchor: djvu line 137288 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The nexi were insolvent debtors delivered up, bound, to their creditors — debt bondage. Proverbs 22:7 states the principle behind the institution: the borrower is servant to the lender. Wisdom literature — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NIGHT

[Genesis 1:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NIGHT, p. 817; scan anchor: djvu line 137413 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry concerns what the common law reckons night and what day. Genesis 1:5 is the archetypal distinction: God Himself names the light Day and the darkness Night — the categories the legal reckoning presupposes. Narrative, not divine speech — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NON BIS IN IDEM

[Nahum 1:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Nahum (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. What do ye imagine against the LORD? he will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Nahum 1:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NON BIS IN IDEM, p. 823; scan anchor: djvu line 138298 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Non bis in idem — not twice for the same; no man twice tried for the same crime. Nahum 1:9 is the tradition's own scriptural anchor for the maxim: the affliction (the visitation) shall not rise up the second time. The prophet's oracle, not first-person divine speech — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NON-CONFORMIST

[Acts 5:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, We ought to obey God rather than men. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 5:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NON-CONFORMIST, p. 823; scan anchor: djvu line 138364 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A non-conformist is one who refuses to join the established forms of worship. Acts 5:29 is the non-conformist's charter text: where human command and divine command collide, obey God rather than men. Peter and the apostles speaking — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NON-JURORS

[Matthew 5:34, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NON-JURORS, p. 826; scan anchor: djvu line 138785 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Non-jurors are persons who refuse to take the oaths required by law to support the government — historically on religious grounds. Matthew 5:34 is the religious ground itself: Christ's command not to swear at all. The verse is the non-juror's charter. Christ's own words — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NONPAYMENT

[Psalm 37:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 37:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NONPAYMENT, p. 827; scan anchor: djvu line 138947 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Nonpayment is the neglect, failure, or refusal of payment of a debt when due. Psalm 37:21 names the act in its moral register: the wicked borrows and pays not again. The verse states the defined wrong directly. Psalmist's voice — flag off. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

NONAS ET DECIMUE

[Leviticus 27:30, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD's: it is holy unto the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 27:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NONAS ET DECIMUE, p. 829; scan anchor: djvu line 139315 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The decimae were tithe-payments to the church from tenants of church-farms. Leviticus 27:30 is the tithe law itself: all the tithe of the land is the LORD's, holy unto Him. The verse institutes what the entry names. The LORD's speech (Lev 27:1) — red-letter. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOT GUILTY

[1 John 1:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 1:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOT GUILTY, p. 830; scan anchor: djvu line 139473 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The verdict of acquittal answers confession: faithfulness and justice are reconciled in forgiveness. The entry is the courtroom word of acquittal; the verse gives its spiritual mirror. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOTARY PUBLIC

[Proverbs 11:1; Deuteronomy 25:13-15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight." — "Thou shalt not have in thy bag divers weights... Thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1; Deuteronomy 25:13-15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOTARY PUBLIC, p. 831; scan anchor: djvu line 139558 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The notary is the keeper of true instruments and measures; the entry's core duty is fidelity to authentic weights. The Torah/KJV proverbs on honest scales are the direct spiritual form of that office's duty. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

NOTATION

[Jeremiah 32:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And I subscribed the evidence, and sealed it, and took witnesses, and weighed him the money in the balances." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 32:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOTATION, p. 831; scan anchor: djvu line 139577 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Jeremiah's land purchase is the biblical form of an authenticated memorandum: subscription, sealing, witnesses, payment weighed — exactly the notarial act the entry describes. Not deity speech (Jeremiah's own action), so no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOTICE

[Proverbs 8:34, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the posts of my doors." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 8:34, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOTICE, p. 831; scan anchor: djvu line 139641 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's theme is formal cognizance through watching and waiting at prescribed places; personified Wisdom bids the hearer watch daily at her gates and wait at her doors' posts — the spiritual form of being duly notified and attentive. Borderline call (red-letter rule): the speaker is personified Wisdom, not a deity proper, so no deity-verbatim flag; doubt resolved against the flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OATH

[Numbers 30:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OATH, p. 840; scan anchor: djvu line 140963 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The Torah's vow-law: an oath binds the soul, and the word once given must be done. This is the scriptural ground of the oath as a legal instrument. Reported by Moses, not first-person divine speech, so no deity-verbatim flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OATH

[Matthew 5:34,37, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "But I say unto you, Swear not at all" — "Let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:34,37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OATH, p. 840; scan anchor: djvu line 140963 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christ's own words in the Sermon on the Mount — the verbatim basis cited for religious objections to judicial oaths (Quakers, etc.). Deity speech: flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOVA CUSTUMA

[Romans 13:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOVA CUSTUMA, p. 833; scan anchor: djvu line 139966 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines nova custuma as a new imposition or duty; 'custom to whom custom' is the scriptural command of the same duty owed to the sovereign. Reported instruction, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOVA CUSTUMA

[Matthew 22:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 22:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOVA CUSTUMA, p. 833; scan anchor: djvu line 139966 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Christ's own answer to the tribute question — the foundational New Testament word on lawful imposts and duties. Deity speech: flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOVAXIS

[Leviticus 25:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "But in the seventh year shall be a sabbath of rest unto the land, a sabbath for the LORD: thou shalt neither sow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOVAXIS, p. 833; scan anchor: djvu line 139998 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. The entry is land rested from tillage by legal rule; the sabbath of the land is its scriptural form — rest commanded for the soil itself. Reported divine law, not first-person divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOVATION

[Jeremiah 31:31, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 31:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOVATION, p. 833; scan anchor: djvu line 140005 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Novation substitutes a new obligation for an existing one; the new covenant made in place of the old is the scriptural form of that substitution. First-person divine speech ('saith the LORD... I will make') — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOVERZNT UNIVEKSI PER PRJEBENTES

[Daniel 3:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Daniel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Then an herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, O people, nations, and languages." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Daniel 3:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOVERZNT UNIVEKSI PER PRJEBENTES, p. 834; scan anchor: djvu line 140089 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Know all men by these presents' is the formal deed-opening addressed to all; the herald's cry to all peoples in Daniel is the scriptural form of such a public proclamation. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOVI GELD

[Proverbs 6:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "But if he be found, he shall restore sevenfold; he shall give all the substance of his house." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 6:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOVI GELD, p. 834; scan anchor: djvu line 140108 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is manifold pecuniary satisfaction for an injury — ninefold in Saxon law; sevenfold restitution for theft is its biblical twin. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

NOWS HOMO

[2 Corinthians 5:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOWS HOMO, p. 834; scan anchor: djvu line 140156 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry applies 'new man' to the pardoned criminal; the verse is the spiritual form of the same figure — pardon making the man new. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NONA

[Exodus 21:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "But if the ox were wont to push with his horn in time past, and it hath been testified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox shall be stoned, and his owner also shall be put to death." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NONA, p. 834; scan anchor: djvu line 140161 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the master's liability for harm done by his animal; the goring-ox law states the same rule: a known-dangerous beast unkept makes the owner answerable. Third-person legal command, not first-person divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NOXAL ACTION

[Exodus 21:30, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If there be laid on him a sum of money, then he shall give for the ransom of his life whatsoever is laid upon him." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NOXAL ACTION, p. 834; scan anchor: djvu line 140180 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The noxal action makes the master answer in money for the harm done by his beast or slave; the goring-ox law lays exactly that ransom on the owner. Third-person legal command, not first-person divine speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NULLTUS FILIUS

[Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NULLTUS FILIUS, p. 837; scan anchor: djvu line 140603 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the legal status of the bastard — 'the son of nobody'; the verse states that status's scriptural consequence in the congregation. Moses' law, third person — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NULLIUS IN BONIS

[Psalm 24:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "The earth is the LORD's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 24:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NULLIUS IN BONIS, p. 837; scan anchor: djvu line 140613 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names things 'among the property of no person'; the psalm is scripture's counterpoint — ultimately nothing is ownerless, the earth is the LORD's. Addressed to God, not spoken by him — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NUNCIO

[2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 5:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NUNCIO, p. 838; scan anchor: djvu line 140781 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A nuncio is the permanent representative of a sovereign at a foreign court; the apostle as ambassador 'in Christ's stead' is the concept's scriptural form. Paul's epistle, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NUNCIU8

[Malachi 3:1, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NUNCIU8, p. 838; scan anchor: djvu line 140788 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The nuncio is the sovereign's sent messenger; here the LORD himself speaks the sending — first-person divine speech, flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

NUNCUPATIVE WILL

[Genesis 49:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And Jacob called unto his sons, and said, Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 49:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NUNCUPATIVE WILL, p. 838; scan anchor: djvu line 140800 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A nuncupative will is an oral declaration in last sickness before witnesses; Jacob's deathbed gathering of his sons to declare their portions is its scriptural form. Jacob's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NUKQUAM INDEBITATUS

[Romans 13:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NUKQUAM INDEBITATUS, p. 838; scan anchor: djvu line 140834 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The plea is 'never indebted' — the state of owing nothing; the verse commands exactly that state as the fulfillment of the law. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NUPTIAL

[Genesis 2:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 2:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry NUPTIAL, p. 889 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 140889 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry covers what pertains to marriage; this is the foundational marriage text — leaving, cleaving, one flesh. Narrator's voice, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

NURTURE

[Proverbs 22:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry NURTURE, p. 889 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 140898 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Nurture is the bringing-up and educating of children; the proverb is the direct scriptural charge of that office. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

KURUS

[Ruth 1:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And Ruth said, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go, and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ruth 1:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry KURUS, p. 889 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 140902 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the daughter-in-law; Ruth's covenant with Naomi is the most famous daughter-in-law in scripture — her vow defines the office's devotion. Ruth's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OB TURF EM CAUSAM

[Deuteronomy 23:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Thou shalt not bring the hire of a whore, or the price of a dog, into the house of the LORD thy God for any vow: for even both these are abomination unto the LORD thy God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OB TURF EM CAUSAM, p. 841; scan anchor: djvu line 141142 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. For an immoral consideration — the entry voids agreements on corrupt consideration; the verse refuses even the payment arising from an immoral transaction. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBA1RATUS

[Deuteronomy 15:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "At the end of every seven years thou shalt make a release." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 15:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBA1RATUS, p. 841; scan anchor: djvu line 141145 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The obaeratus served his creditor until the debt was discharged; the seven-year release is scripture's limit on that bondage — debt may bind, but not forever. Moses' law, third person — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBEDIENCE

[1 Samuel 15:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 15:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBEDIENCE, p. 841; scan anchor: djvu line 141150 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is compliance with command and known law; Samuel's rebuke to Saul is the classic scriptural word that obedience outranks ritual. Samuel's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBEDIENTIA

[Ecclesiastes 12:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 12:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBEDIENTIA, p. 841; scan anchor: djvu line 141158 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's maxim is 'Obedience is the essence of law'; the Preacher's conclusion makes obedience — fearing God and keeping commandments — the whole duty of man. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBIT SINE PROLE

[Deuteronomy 25:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If brethren dwell together, and one of them die, and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not marry without unto a stranger: her husband's brother shall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an husband's brother unto her." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBIT SINE PROLE, p. 841; scan anchor: djvu line 141169 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the legal state of dying without issue; the levirate law opens on exactly that contingency — a brother dead with no child — and orders the remedy. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OBIT

[Genesis 50:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And they came to the threshingfloor of Atad, which is beyond Jordan, and there they mourned with a great and very sore lamentation: and he made a mourning for his father seven days." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 50:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBIT, p. 841; scan anchor: djvu line 141172 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the funeral solemnity — the office for the dead; the seven days' mourning for Jacob is its scriptural form. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBLATI

[Exodus 21:5-6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And if the servant shall plainly say, I love my master, my wife, and my children; I will not go out free: Then his master shall bring him unto the judges; he shall also bring him to the door, or unto the door post; and his master shall bore his ear through with an aul; and he shall serve him for ever." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:5-6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBLATI, p. 842; scan anchor: djvu line 141267 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The oblati were voluntary slaves of churches or monasteries; the law of the Hebrew servant who chooses perpetual service for love is the biblical form of voluntary bondage. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBLATIO

[2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 9:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBLATIO, p. 842; scan anchor: djvu line 141275 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oblatio in the church sense is what the pious offer; the verse is the New Testament rule of the freewill offering — given as purposed in the heart. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBLIGATE

[Matthew 18:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Matthew 18:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBLIGATE, p. 842; scan anchor: djvu line 141297 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To obligate is to bind; Christ's words give the binding act its highest form — what is bound on earth is bound in heaven. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBLIGATION

[Ecclesiastes 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for he hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBLIGATION, p. 842; scan anchor: djvu line 141416 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry names the binding power of vow, promise, oath, and contract; the verse states that power directly — a vow made must be paid. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBLITERATION

[Exodus 32:33, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "And the LORD said unto Moses, Whosoever hath sinned against me, him will I blot out of my book." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 32:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBLITERATION, p. 844; scan anchor: djvu line 141709 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Obliteration is the blotting-out of written words so they have no effect; the LORD's own words name the same act — blotting the sinner out of the book. First-person divine speech — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBLOQUY

[Matthew 5:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBLOQUY, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141725 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Obloquy is exposure to censure and reproach; Christ's beatitude answers exactly that exposure — reviling and evil spoken falsely. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OBREPTIO

[Proverbs 21:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 21:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBREPTIO, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141736 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Obreptio is obtaining a thing by fraud or surprise; the proverb names the same act — treasures got by a lying tongue. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBREPTION

[Proverbs 20:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Bread of deceit is sweet to a man; but afterwards his mouth shall be filled with gravel." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 20:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBREPTION, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141740 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Obreption is acquisition by false representations; the proverb traces the same gain — deceit sweet in the getting, gravel in the keeping. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBROGARE

[Matthew 5:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBROGARE, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141745 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Obrogation alters a law by a later inconsistent one; Christ's words define the new law's relation to the old — alteration by fulfillment, not destruction. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBSCENE

[Ephesians 5:3-4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; Neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 5:3-4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBSCENE, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141754 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines the obscene as what shocks the moral sense by disregard of chastity; the epistle sets the scriptural standard — filthiness and foolish talking not once named among saints. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBSCENITY

[Ephesians 4:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 4:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBSCENITY, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141763 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Obscenity is conduct corrupting public morals by indecency; the verse bars corrupt communication from the mouth — the same guard in scriptural form. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBSERVE

[Deuteronomy 6:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Hear therefore, O Israel, and observe to do it; that it may be well with thee." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 6:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBSERVE, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141769 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To observe, in the civil-law sense, is to perform what law prescribes; 'observe to do it' is the Torah's own phrase for that performance. Moses' charge, third person — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBSES

[2 Chronicles 25:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Chronicles (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And he took all the gold and the silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obededom, and the treasures of the king's house, the hostages also, and returned to Samaria." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Chronicles 25:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBSES, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141775 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the hostage in the law of war; the verse records the taking of hostages in war as the practice was. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBSOLETE

[Matthew 24:35, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 24:35, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBSOLETE, p. 58 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 141790 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Statutes grow obsolete and pass away by lapse of time; Christ's words set the counterpoint — his words shall not pass away. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OBSTA PRINCIPIIS

[James 4:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 4:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OBSTA PRINCIPIIS, p. 845; scan anchor: djvu line 141814 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The maxim is 'withstand beginnings' — resist the first encroachments; the verse is the scriptural form of that resistance, met at the approach. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OOOASIO

[Matthew 17:27, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Notwithstanding, lest we should offend them, go thou to the sea, and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up; and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money: that take, and give unto them for me and thee." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 17:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OOOASIO, p. 845; scan anchor: djvu line 141938 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The occasio was a tribute the lord imposed on his vassals; the temple-tax episode shows a demanded tribute paid — Christ's own direction for its payment. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OCCUPANCY

[Joshua 1:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 1:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OCCUPANCY, p. 846; scan anchor: djvu line 141963 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Occupancy acquires by taking possession with intent to own; the verse makes treading — entry and possession — the very mode of acquisition. First-person divine speech ('have I given') — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OCHLOCRACY

[Matthew 27:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "The governor answered and said unto them, Whether of the twain will ye that I release unto you? They said, Barabbas." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 27:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OCHLOCRACY, p. 847; scan anchor: djvu line 142154 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Ochlocracy is the multitude holding the whole power; the crowd's vote for Barabbas is scripture's most famous instance of the multitude deciding. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OCTAVE

[Leviticus 23:39, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Also in the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the LORD seven days: on the first day shall be a sabbath, and on the eighth day shall be a sabbath." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 23:39, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OCTAVE, p. 847; scan anchor: djvu line 142159 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The octave is the eighth day inclusive after a feast; the Feast of Tabernacles keeps its eighth day as a sabbath — the scriptural octave. Moses' law, third person — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OHIO ET ATIA

[John 7:51, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Doth our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he doeth?" [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 7:51, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OHIO ET ATIA, p. 847; scan anchor: djvu line 142193 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ inquired whether imprisonment rested on just cause or malice; Nicodemus states the underlying rule — no judgment before hearing and knowing. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

QBCONOMIOUS

[1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 4:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry QBCONOMIOUS, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 142216 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The oeconomus is the executor/administrator; the steward's required faithfulness is the scriptural measure of that office. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OF GRACE

[Ephesians 2:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 2:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OF GRACE, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 142248 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Of grace' in law is what is granted by favor, not claimable as of right; the verse defines grace itself — gift, not entitlement. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OF RECORD

[Ezra 4:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ezra (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "That search may be made in the book of the records of thy fathers: so shalt thou find in the book of the records." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ezra 4:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OF RECORD, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 142259 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'Of record' is what exists entered on the records; the book of the records searched for what was entered there is its scriptural form. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OFFA EXECRATA

[Numbers 5:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water that causeth the curse: and the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 5:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFA EXECRATA, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 142263 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The offa execrata was the morsel-of-execration ordeal; the bitter water that causeth the curse is the Torah's own ordeal — guilt tried by the draught. Third-person ritual law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OFFENSE

[1 John 3:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 3:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFENSE, p. 21 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 142267 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. An offense is a breach of the criminal laws; the verse defines the breach itself — sin as transgression of law. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OFFERINGS

[Malachi 3:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Malachi 3:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFERINGS, p. 848; scan anchor: djvu line 142356 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Offerings here are the tithes payable to the parson; the verse is the classic tithe command — 'bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse.' First-person divine speech — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OFFERTORKTM

[1 Corinthians 16:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 16:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(1910), entry OFFERTORKTM, p. 848; scan anchor: djvu line 142363 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The offertory is the offerings of the faithful at the service; the apostolic rule of the weekly laying-by is its scriptural form. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OFFICE

[Psalm 109:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Let his days be few; and let another take his office." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 109:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFICE, p. 848; scan anchor: djvu line 142369 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Office is the right to exercise an employment and take its emoluments; the psalm names the office as a charge another may take — the scriptural word for the place itself. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OFFICIO, EX, OATH

[Matthew 26:63, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And the high priest answered and said unto him, I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 26:63, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFICIO, EX, OATH, p. 860; scan anchor: djvu line 142692 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The ex officio oath compelled presentment and testimony under oath; the high priest's adjuration — 'I adjure thee by the living God' — is testimony compelled by oath in scriptural form. The high priest's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OFFICIOUS WILL

[Proverbs 13:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 13:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFICIOUS WILL, p. 860; scan anchor: djvu line 142700 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The officious will leaves the property to the family; the proverb states the same duty — the good man's inheritance to his children's children. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OFFSPRING

[Psalm 127:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Lo, children are an heritage of the LORD: and the fruit of the womb is his reward." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 127:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OFFSPRING, p. 860; scan anchor: djvu line 142724 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Offspring is synonymous with issue; the psalm names children the heritage of the LORD — the scriptural word for issue itself. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OIR

[Deuteronomy 1:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And I charged your judges at that time, saying, Hear the causes between your brethren, and judge righteously between every man and his brother, and the stranger that is with him." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 1:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OIR, p. 860; scan anchor: djvu line 142730 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oir is to hear — to take cognizance judicially; the charge to the judges, 'hear the causes,' is the judicial hearing commanded. Moses' charge, third person — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OKER

[Deuteronomy 23:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Thou shalt not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of any thing that is lent upon usury." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OKER, p. 860; scan anchor: djvu line 142735 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oker is usury — interest taken contrary to law; the verse is the direct prohibition of usury to a brother. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OMITTANCE

[James 4:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 4:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OMITTANCE, p. 851; scan anchor: djvu line 142842 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Omittance is forbearance — the not-doing; the verse makes the known good undone itself a fault — the sin of omission. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OMNIA PEKFORMAVIT

[John 17:4, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 17:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OMNIA PEKFORMAVIT, p. 851; scan anchor: djvu line 142952 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The plea is 'he has done all' — full performance as a bar; Christ's words are the perfect performance plea — the work given, finished. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ONCE IN JEOPARDY

[Nahum 1:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Nahum (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "What do ye imagine against the LORD? he will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Nahum 1:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ONCE IN JEOPARDY, p. 853; scan anchor: djvu line 143220 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Once in jeopardy is the bar against a second trial for the same offense; 'affliction shall not rise up the second time' is the traditional scriptural warrant for that bar. Third-person prophecy — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ONERIS FERENDI

[Galatians 6:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Galatians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Galatians 6:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ONERIS FERENDI, p. 853; scan anchor: djvu line 143261 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The servitude of support requires one's wall to sustain the adjoining house; the verse commands the same structure in morals — bearing another's load. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ONEROUS

[Matthew 11:30, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 11:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ONEROUS, p. 853; scan anchor: djvu line 143267 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Onerous is the obligation whose burdens exceed its advantage; Christ's yoke is the counterpoint — a burden that is light. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OPERATIO

[Exodus 20:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OPERATIO, p. 856; scan anchor: djvu line 143495 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The operatio is the day's work as a measured unit of service; the commandment ordains the day as the unit of labor. Spoken by God in the Decalogue — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OPERATIVE

[Luke 10:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 10:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OPERATIVE, p. 856; scan anchor: djvu line 143525 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The operative is the laboring man; the verse states the laborer's right — worthy of his hire. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OPPIGNERARE

[Exodus 22:26, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OPPIGNERARE, p. 866; scan anchor: djvu line 143659 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oppignerare is to pledge; the verse is the Torah's pledge-law — the taking and the timed

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

return of the pledge. Third-person command — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OPPRESSION

[Isaiah 10:1-2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Isaiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Woe unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed; To turn aside the needy from judgment, and to take away the right from the poor of my people." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 10:1-2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OPPRESSION, p. 866; scan anchor: djvu line 143677 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oppression is the public officer's wrongful injury under color of office; the woe falls on rulers who decree unrighteousness and take away the poor's right. The prophet's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OPPRESSOR

[Proverbs 22:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "He that oppresseth the poor to increase his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, shall surely come to want." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 22:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OPPRESSOR, p. 866; scan anchor: djvu line 143685 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The oppressor unlawfully uses authority by way of oppression; the proverb names his end — oppression for gain comes to want. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OPUS

[Proverbs 14:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "In all labour there is profit: but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 14:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OPUS, p. 857 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 143799 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Opus is work, labor, and its product; the proverb states labor's fruit — in all labour there is profit. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ORAL

[Matthew 12:37, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 12:37, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORAL, p. 857; scan anchor: djvu line 143830 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The oral — the spoken word — is legally operative in the oral contract; Christ's words make spoken words the ground of justification and condemnation. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORANDO PRO REGE ET REGNO

[Jeremiah 29:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Jeremiah (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And seek the peace of the city whither I have caused you to be carried away captives, and pray unto the LORD for it: for in the peace thereof shall ye have peace." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 29:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORANDO PRO REGE ET REGNO, p. 857; scan anchor: djvu line 143851 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ's whole purpose was prayer for the peace and good government of the realm; the verse commands exactly that prayer for the city of one's dwelling. Jeremiah's letter, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORBATION

[John 14:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 14:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORBATION, p. 857; scan anchor: djvu line 143878 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Orbation is deprivation of parents — being left orphaned; 'comfortless' renders the Greek for orphaned, and Christ's promise answers it directly. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORCINUS LIBERTUS

[John 8:36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORCINUS LIBERTUS, p. 857; scan anchor: djvu line 143882 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The orcinus libertus obtained liberty by the direct operation of his master's will; the verse states liberty's highest form — freedom given by the Son's act. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORDEAL

[Proverbs 16:33, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the LORD." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 16:33, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORDEAL, p. 857; scan anchor: djvu line 143894 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The ordeal was the judicium Dei — judgment of God, trusting supernatural intervention to clear the innocent; the verse states that trust's principle — the cast decided by the LORD's disposing. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORDER

[Matthew 8:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 8:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORDER, p. 857; scan anchor: djvu line 143937 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. An order is a mandate authoritatively given — mandatory, not a request; the centurion's description of command is the concept's scriptural form. The centurion's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORDINANCE

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORDINANCE, p. 858; scan anchor: djvu line 144127 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. An ordinance is a rule established by authority; the verse grounds all ordained authority — 'the powers that be are ordained of God.' Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ORDINATIONE CONTRA SERVIENTES

[Deuteronomy 23:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Thou shalt not deliver unto his master the servant which is escaped from his master unto thee." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 23:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORDINATIONE CONTRA SERVIENTES, p. 859; scan anchor: djvu line 144287 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The writ punished the servant for leaving his master; the verse is scripture's counterpoint — the escaped servant shall not be delivered back. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORDINE8 MAJORES ET MIN ORES

[Ephesians 4:11, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 4:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORDINE8 MAJORES ET MIN ORES, p. 859; scan anchor: djvu line 144315 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry lists the holy orders of ministry; the verse lists the offices Christ gave — the scriptural ordering of ministries. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORFGILD

[Exodus 22:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If a man shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORFGILD, p. 859; scan anchor: djvu line 144377 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Orfgild was the payment or penalty for a beast taken away; the verse fixes the penalty for the stolen ox or sheep — manifold restoration. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORIGINAL

[Matthew 28:18, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 28:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORIGINAL, p. 859; scan anchor: djvu line 144422 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Original, in the jurisdictional sense, is authority bearing its own warrant, derived from no outside source; Christ's words claim exactly that underived authority. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORNEST

[1 Samuel 17:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Samuel (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I prevail against him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Samuel 17:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORNEST, p. 861; scan anchor: djvu line 144511 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Ornest was trial by battle; Goliath's challenge states its terms — the champions' combat deciding the cause. Goliath's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORPHAN

[Psalm 68:5, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 68:5, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORPHAN, p. 861; scan anchor: djvu line 144520 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The orphan is the fatherless child; the psalm names God the father of the fatherless — the classic scriptural word for the orphan's standing. Addressed of God, not by him — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

ORPHAN OTROPHX

[James 1:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: James (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: James 1:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORPHAN OTROPHX, p. 861; scan anchor: djvu line 144546 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The orphanotrophi managed houses for orphans; the verse defines pure religion as visiting the fatherless in affliction — the office's scriptural charge. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

ORWIGE, SINE WITA

[Numbers 35:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And among the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites there shall be six cities for refuge, which ye shall appoint for the manslayer, that he may flee thither." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry ORWIGE, SINE WITA, p. 861; scan anchor: djvu line 144560 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is legal security against the deadly feud for certain homicides; the cities of refuge are exactly that — appointed shelter for the manslayer from the avenger. Third-person command — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OSWALD'S LAW

[1 Timothy 3:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 3:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OSWALD'S LAW, p. 862; scan anchor: djvu line 144641 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Oswald's law ejected married priests and put monks in churches; the verse is scripture's counterpoint — the bishop as the husband of one wife. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OTER LA TOUAXLLE

[Deuteronomy 25:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 25:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OTER LA TOUAXLLE, p. 862; scan anchor: djvu line 144655 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To deny the seaman his mess is to deny the laborer his feed; the verse forbids exactly that denial — the working ox unmuzzled. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OURLOP

[Exodus 22:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her, he shall surely endow her to be his wife. If her father utterly refuse to give her unto him, he shall pay money according to the dowry of virgins." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OURLOP, p. 862; scan anchor: djvu line 144678 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The ourlop was the fine paid for the debauched daughter; the verses fix the payment for the enticed maid — the dowry of virgins. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OUTLAW

[Genesis 4:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Behold, thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the earth; and from thy face shall I be hid; and I shall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth; and it shall come to pass, that every one that findeth me shall slay me." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OUTLAW, p. 863; scan anchor: djvu line 144895 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The outlaw is put out of the law's protection; Cain's cry states that state — driven out, fearing every finder's hand. Cain's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OUTLAWRY

[Genesis 4:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "And now art thou cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 4:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OUTLAWRY, p. 863; scan anchor: djvu line 144902 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Outlawry is the declaring — the pronouncement that makes the outlaw; the verse is the pronouncement itself, spoken by God over Cain. Deity speech — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OUTPARTERS

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Thou shalt not steal." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OUTPARTERS, p. 863; scan anchor: djvu line 144922 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Outparters were stealers of cattle; the commandment is the direct prohibition of the act. Spoken by God in the Decalogue — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

OUVERTURE DES SUCCESSIONS

[Numbers 27:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And if a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 27:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OUVERTURE DES SUCCESSIONS, p. 864; scan anchor: djvu line 144983 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The ouverture is the succession right arising upon death; the verse states the succession rule — on the man's death the inheritance passes. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OVERPLUS

[Matthew 14:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the fragments that remained twelve baskets full." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 14:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OVERPLUS, p. 864; scan anchor: djvu line 145069 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The overplus is what is left beyond sufficiency — the residue; the twelve baskets of fragments are the remainder after all were filled. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OVERSEER

[Acts 20:28, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 20:28, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OVERSEER, p. 865; scan anchor: djvu line 145126 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The overseer is the superintendent; the verse uses the very word — made overseers over the flock, charged to feed it. Paul's charge, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OWELTY

[2 Corinthians 8:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 2 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "But by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want: that there may be equality." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 2 Corinthians 8:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OWELTY, p. 865; scan anchor: djvu line 145200 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Owelty is equality effected by a money payment between coparceners; the verse ordains equality by mutual supply — 'that there may be equality.' Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OWNER

[Haggai 2:8, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Haggai 2:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OWNER, p. 865; scan anchor: djvu line 145225 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The owner is he in whom dominion is vested; the verse states ownership's ultimate form — the LORD's 'mine' over silver and gold. First-person divine speech — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

OWNERSHIP

[Deuteronomy 10:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the LORD's thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 10:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry OWNERSHIP, p. 866; scan anchor: djvu line 145300 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Ownership is complete dominion and proprietary right; the verse ascribes that completeness to the LORD — heaven, earth, and all therein. Moses' speech, third person — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PACIFI&ATION

[Matthew 5:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PACIFI&ATION, p. 867; scan anchor: djvu line 145452 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pacification is the making of peace between belligerents; the beatitude blesses the peacemakers — the makers of peace. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PACK

[Leviticus 19:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Leviticus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PACK, p. 867; scan anchor: djvu line 145456 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Packing a jury is contriving it of persons favorably disposed — respect of persons in judgment; the verse forbids exactly that unrighteousness. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PACT

[Genesis 17:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 17:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PACT, p. 867; scan anchor: djvu line 145511 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A pact is a compact, an agreement; the covenant made between God and Abraham is the pact's scriptural form. First-person divine speech — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PACTIONS

[Joshua 9:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Joshua (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And Joshua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live: and the princes of the congregation sware unto them." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 9:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PACTIONS, p. 868; scan anchor: djvu line 145589 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pactions are contracts between nations; the league with the Gibeonites — peace made and sworn between peoples — is its scriptural form. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAINS AND PENALTIES, BILLS OF

[Esther 3:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Esther (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And the letters were sent by posts into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to cause to perish, all Jews, both young and old, little children and women, in one day." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Esther 3:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAINS AND PENALTIES, BILLS OF, p. 868; scan anchor: djvu line 145676 [basis: citation + host entry record

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

(entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Bills of pains and penalties are legislative acts punishing particular persons beyond the common law; Haman's edict is scripture's form of targeted punishment by decree. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAL AM

[John 18:20, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 18:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAL AM, p. 869; scan anchor: djvu line 145752 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Palam is openly, in the presence of many; Christ's answer claims exactly that openness — spoken openly to the world, nothing in secret. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAR

[Romans 3:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 3:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAR, p. 870; scan anchor: djvu line 145972 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Par delictum is equal guilt; the verse states guilt's universality — all have sinned, all come short. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARAMOUNT

[Ephesians 1:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 1:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARAMOUNT, p. 871; scan anchor: djvu line 146080 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paramount is that which is above and superior — the highest lord; the verse sets Christ far above all principality and dominion. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PARAPHERNALIA

[Proverbs 31:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "She considereth a field, and buyeth it: with the fruit of her hands she planteth a vineyard." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 31:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARAPHERNALIA, p. 871; scan anchor: djvu line 146111 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paraphernalia is the wife's separate property beyond her dowry; the virtuous woman buying a field with the fruit of her hands is the wife's separate economic agency in scriptural form. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARASCEVE

[Luke 23:54, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And that day was the preparation, and the sabbath drew on." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 23:54, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARASCEVE, p. 871; scan anchor: djvu line 146152 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The parasceve is the preparation — Good Friday; the verse names that very day, the preparation before the sabbath. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARCENARY

[Romans 8:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 8:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARCENARY, p. 872; scan anchor: djvu line 146219 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Parcenary is joint heirship — holding by parceners together; 'joint-heirs with Christ' is the concept's scriptural form. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARENS

[Exodus 20:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARENS, p. 872; scan anchor: djvu line 146228 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Parens is the parent — father or mother; the commandment honors both by name. Spoken by God in the Decalogue — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARCU8

[Exodus 23:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 23:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARCU8, p. 872; scan anchor: djvu line 146254 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The parcus was a pound for stray cattle; the verse governs the straying beast — to be brought back to its owner. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARDONERS

[Acts 8:20, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "But Peter said unto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 8:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARDONERS, p. 872; scan anchor: djvu line 146305 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pardoners trafficked spiritual benefits for money; Peter's rebuke of Simon — the gift of God not purchasable with money — condemns that traffic. Peter's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARENT

[Ephesians 6:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 6:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARENT, p. 872; scan anchor: djvu line 146314 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the lawful father or mother; the verse states the child's duty to parents — 'this is right.' Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PARENTICIDE

[Exodus 20:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "Thou shalt not kill." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARENTICIDE, p. 872; scan anchor: djvu line 146343 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Parenticide is the murder of a parent; the commandment prohibits the killing itself, directly. Spoken by God in the Decalogue — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARISH

[John 10:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 10:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARISH, p. 873; scan anchor: djvu line 146433 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The parish is the ground committed to one having cure of souls; the Good Shepherd is the cure of souls itself — the charge kept even unto life. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARRICIDE

[Exodus 21:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And he that smiteth his father, or his mother, shall be surely put to death." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARRICIDE, p. 874; scan anchor: djvu line 146706 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Parricide is the killing of one's father; the verse fixes the doom of him that smiteth father or mother — the parent-striker's law. Third-person law — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARSON

[Jeremiah 3:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 3:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARSON, p. 876; scan anchor: djvu line 146745 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The parson is the rector with cure of souls; the verse is the giving of pastors to feed the flock

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

with knowledge. First-person divine speech — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARSONAGE

[1 Corinthians 9:14, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 9:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARSONAGE, p. 876; scan anchor: djvu line 146765 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The parsonage is the provision established by law for the minister's maintenance; the verse ordains that very maintenance — they which preach should live of the gospel. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARTAGE

[Luke 15:12, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 15:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARTAGE, p. 876; scan anchor: djvu line 146792 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Partage is the division of the estate among co-heirs; the parable opens on exactly that division — the living divided between the sons. Christ's verbatim parable words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARTIGEPS

[Romans 1:32, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 1:32, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARTIGEPS, p. 876; scan anchor: djvu line 146852 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The particeps criminis shares in the crime; the verse condemns not only the doers but those who take pleasure in the doing — participation itself. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PARTITION

[Numbers 33:54, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And ye shall divide the land by lot for an inheritance among your families: and to the more ye shall give the more inheritance, and to the fewer ye shall give the less inheritance." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 33:54, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARTITION, p. 876; scan anchor: djvu line 147054 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Partition is the dividing of lands held jointly into distinct portions; the verse is the Torah's partition rule — division by lot, to each according to number. Third-person command — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARTNER

[Amos 3:3, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Amos (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Can two walk together, except they be agreed?" [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Amos 3:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARTNER, p. 877; scan anchor: djvu line 147107 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A partner is one united with others in the enterprise; the prophet's question states the union's condition — two walking together by agreement. The prophet's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARTNERSHIP

[Ecclesiastes 4:9-10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labour. For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 4:9-10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PARTNERSHIP, p. 877; scan anchor: djvu line 147157 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Partnership joins money, labor, and skill for common profit; the Preacher states its benefit — two better than one, the fallen lifted by his fellow. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PARTURITION

[John 16:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "A woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 16:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PARTURITION, p. 878; scan anchor: djvu line 147279 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Parturition is the act of giving birth; the verse describes the travail and the delivery — sorrow turned to joy at the child's birth. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PASCH

[1 Corinthians 5:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 5:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PASCH, p. 879; scan anchor: djvu line 147453 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the passover; the verse names Christ our passover, sacrificed — the feast's fulfillment. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PASCHA

[Acts 12:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Acts (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And when he had apprehended him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Acts 12:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PASCHA, p. 879; scan anchor: djvu line 147455 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pascha is Easter in old English law and practice; the verse uses the very word — 'after Easter' — for the feast's date. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PASCUAGE

[Psalm 23:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 23:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PASCUAGE, p. 879; scan anchor: djvu line 147474 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pascuage is the grazing or pasturage of cattle; the psalm's green pastures are pasturage itself — the flock fed. Addressed of God, not by him — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PASSAGE

[Exodus 14:22, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 14:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PASSAGE, p. 879; scan anchor: djvu line 147550 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Passage in its first sense is a way over water; the crossing of the sea on dry ground is the archetypal way over water. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PASTOR

[Psalm 23:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 23:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PASTOR, p. 879; scan anchor: djvu line 147695 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pastor is the shepherd — the minister with charge of the flock; the psalm's opening names the LORD himself shepherd. Addressed of God, not by him — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PATER

[Matthew 6:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 6:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATER, p. 881; scan anchor: djvu line 147842 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pater is the father; the Lord's Prayer opens on the Father — the name's highest invocation. Christ's verbatim words — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PATERFAMILIAS

[Joshua 24:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Joshua (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And if it seem evil unto you to serve the LORD, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 24:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATERFAMILIAS, p. 881; scan anchor: djvu line 147859 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The paterfamilias is the head and master of the family, deciding for the house; Joshua's declaration — 'as for me and my house' — is that headship exercised. Joshua's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PATERNA PATERNIS

[Numbers 36:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Numbers (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "So shall not the inheritance of the children of Israel remove from tribe to tribe: for every one of the children of Israel shall keep himself to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 36:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATERNA PATERNIS, p. 881; scan anchor: djvu line 147874 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paterna paternis sends paternal estates to paternal heirs; the verse keeps each inheritance to the tribe of the fathers — the paternal line preserved. Third-person command — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PATERNAL

[Ephesians 6:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ephesians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ephesians 6:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATERNAL, p. 881; scan anchor: djvu line 147881 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Paternal power is the authority lawfully exercised by parents; the verse states its scriptural measure and bound — nurture, not provocation. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PATXBULATED

[Esther 7:10, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Esther (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Esther 7:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATXBULATED, p. 881; scan anchor: djvu line 147911 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Patibulated is hanged on the gibbet; the hanging of Haman is scripture's most famous gibbet. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PATRIA POTESTAS

[Proverbs 1:8, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. "My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 1:8, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATRIA POTESTAS, p. 881; scan anchor: djvu line 147929 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Patria potestas is the aggregate of the father's powers over his children; the proverb states its first exercise — the father's instruction heard. Not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PATROLMAN

[Isaiah 62:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. "I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night." [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 62:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PATROLMAN, p. 882; scan anchor: djvu line 148007 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The patrolman is the officer set to watch a district; the verse sets watchmen upon the walls — the watch kept day and night. First-person divine speech ('I have set') — flagged per the red-letter rule. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAUPER

[Psalm 41:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the LORD will deliver him in time of trouble. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 41:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAUPER, p. 882; scan anchor: djvu line 148072 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the legal status of the poor — one society must support at public expense or exempt from costs. The psalm names the poor as the proper object of the community's consideration; it is the scriptural root of the law's duty toward paupers. Narrative about the LORD, not his speech — no deity flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PADPERIES

[Exodus 21:35-36, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if one man's ox hurt another's, that he die; then they shall sell the live ox, and divide the money of it, and the dead ox also they shall divide. Or if it be known that the ox hath used to push in time past, and his owner hath not kept him in; he shall surely pay ox for ox; and the dead shall be his own. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:35-36, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PADPERIES, p. 882; scan anchor: djvu line 148090 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pauperies is Roman noxal liability: injury done by an irrational animal, for which the owner must make compensation. The Mosaic ox-goring law is its direct legal ancestor — same fact pattern, same rule of compensation ('he shall surely pay ox for ox'). Filed as God's spoken judgments to Moses, hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAWNBROKER

[Exodus 22:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAWNBROKER, p. 883; scan anchor: djvu line 148151 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the pledge/pawn transaction. The Mosaic pledge law governs exactly this transaction — taking security and returning the pledge — and it is presented as God's spoken word. PAWNEE and PAWNOR deliberately left bare to avoid triple-duplicating the same verse on the same transaction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAX EGCLE8LS

[Numbers 35:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Then ye shall appoint you cities to be cities of refuge for you; that the slayer may flee thither, which killeth any person at unawares. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAX EGCLE8LS, p. 883; scan anchor: djvu line 148175 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pax ecclesiae is the church's peace as sanctuary — a privileged refuge. The Mosaic cities of refuge are scripture's sanctuary institution: the direct legal ancestor of ecclesiastical sanctuary. Filed as the LORD's speech to Moses (Num 35:1), hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAX REGIS

[1 Timothy 2:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 2:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAX REGIS, p. 883; scan anchor: djvu line 148181 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pax regis is the sovereign's guaranteed public peace — the security of life and property under law. The apostolic instruction names exactly that peace (a quiet and peaceable life under authority) as the thing to seek. Paul's instruction, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning —

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PAYMENT

[Romans 13:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PAYMENT, p. 883; scan anchor: djvu line 148243 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Payment is the discharge of a debt or obligation by delivery of value. 'Render therefore to all their dues' is the New Testament's own maxim for discharging what is owed — the scriptural form of the entry. Paul's teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEACE

[Matthew 5:9, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 5:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEACE, p. 884; scan anchor: djvu line 148308 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry defines peace as the object of civil society — the quiet, security, and good order the law guarantees. The beatitude blesses the makers of that peace by name. Jesus' verbatim words — deity flag on. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEACEABLE

[Romans 12:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 12:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEACEABLE, p. 884; scan anchor: djvu line 148364 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's core is freedom from force and violence — peaceable entry, peaceable possession. The verse is the scriptural root of peaceable conduct as a rule of life. Paul's teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PECULATUS

[Exodus 20:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not steal. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PECULATUS, p. 884; scan anchor: djvu line 148406 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Peculatus is stealing or embezzling the public money. The Decalogue's prohibition of theft is the direct root of the offense — the commandment every embezzlement law presupposes. Presented as God's own speech ('And God spake all these words, saying'), hence deity verbatim. PECULATION left bare to avoid duplicating the verse on the near-identical civil-law entry. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEDERASTY

[Leviticus 18:22, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind: it is abomination. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 18:22, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEDERASTY, p. 885; scan anchor: djvu line 148559 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the criminal-law category of this offense; the verse is the prohibition itself, stated as the LORD's speech to Moses (Lev 18:1). Filed as deity verbatim speech. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEDIGREE

[Matthew 1:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The book of the generation of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 1:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEDIGREE, p. 885; scan anchor: djvu line 148564 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pedigree is a registered line of ancestors — a genealogy. Scripture's canonical pedigree opens the New Testament: the entry's form is itself biblical. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEDIS POSSESSIO

[Joshua 1:3, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Joshua 1:3, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEDIS POSSESSIO, p. 885; scan anchor: djvu line 148583 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Why. Pedis possessio is possession by the tread of the foot — adverse possession's corporal entry. The verse is the scriptural image of taking possession by foot-treading, spoken by God to Joshua. Hence deity verbatim. PEDIS POSITIO left bare to avoid duplicating the verse on the near-identical term. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PELE8

[Deuteronomy 20:14, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the spoil thereof, shalt thou take unto thyself; and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which the LORD thy God hath given thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 20:14, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PELE8, p. 886; scan anchor: djvu line 148657 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pelfre is booty — spoil of war. The verse is the law of war's own rule of spoil: what may be taken and eaten. Filed as God's spoken command, hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PELLEX

[Genesis 25:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But unto the sons of the concubines, which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts, and sent them away from Isaac his son, while he yet lived, eastward, unto the east country. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 25:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PELLEX, p. 886; scan anchor: djvu line 148666 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pellex is a concubine — a wife of secondary legal status. The verse exhibits that status in law: her sons receive gifts, not the inheritance of the heir. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PENNY

[Matthew 20:2, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Matthew (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And when he had agreed with the labourers for a penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 20:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PENNY, p. 887; scan anchor: djvu line 148893 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry is the penny as a coin of account. The verse fixes its real economic meaning — a day's wage — which is what gives the coin its legal sense. Narrative of the parable, not Jesus' direct speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PEONAGE

[Leviticus 25:39-40, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And if thy brother that dwelleth by thee be waxen poor, and be sold unto thee; thou shalt not compel him to serve as a bondservant: But as an hired servant, and as a sojourner, he shall be with thee, and shall serve thee unto the year of jubile: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:39-40, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEONAGE, p. 888; scan anchor: djvu line 148996 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Peonage is enforced servitude to work out a debt. The Mosaic law directly regulates this exact condition — debt bondage limited in kind and in time (release at jubile). Filed as the LORD's speech to Moses (Lev 25:1), hence deity verbatim. PEON left bare — same verse on the person would duplicate it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEOPLE

[1 Peter 2:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Peter (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Peter 2:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEOPLE, p. 888; scan anchor: djvu line 149013 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. People is a nation in its collective and political capacity. The verse names the people precisely in that capacity — 'an holy nation, a peculiar people.' Apostolic teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PEB INFORTUNIUM

[Numbers 35:22-23, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But if he thrust him suddenly without enmity, or have cast upon him any thing without laying of wait, Or with any stone, wherewith a man may die, seeing him not, and cast it upon him, that he die, and was not his enemy, neither sought his harm: [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:22-23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PEB INFORTUNIUM, p. 889; scan anchor: djvu line 149227 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Homicide per infortunium is killing by misadventure — a lawful act, no intent of hurt. The Mosaic law of unintentional homicide is the same doctrine: no enmity, no laying in wait, and the slayer judged accordingly. Filed as God's spoken judgments (Num 35:1), hence deity verbatim. PER MISADVENTURE left bare — the same entry in English, no duplicate verse. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation as corrected at the build; old reading stands in the errata (KJV diff: corrected) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PER STIRPES

[Genesis 48:5-6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And now thy two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, which were born unto thee in the land of Egypt before I came unto thee into Egypt, are mine; as Reuben and Simeon, they shall be mine. And thy issue, which thou begettest after them, shall be thine, and shall be called after the name of their brethren in their inheritance. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 48:5-6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PER STIRPES, p. 890; scan anchor: djvu line 149370 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Per stirpes is taking by representation — distributees taking the share their stock would have had. Jacob's adoption of Ephraim and Manasseh as his own sons in the inheritance is scripture's own act of representation. Jacob's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PERDUELLIO

[John 19:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. If thou let this man go, thou art not Caesar's friend: whosoever maketh himself a king speaketh against Caesar. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 19:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PERDUELLIO, p. 891; scan anchor: djvu line 149521 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Perduellio is traitorous conduct subversive of the sovereign's authority. The verse states the Roman treason principle itself — setting oneself against Caesar — in a Roman trial scene. Spoken by the accusers, not the deity — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PERFIDY

[Jeremiah 5:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For the house of Israel and the house of Judah have dealt very treacherously against me, saith the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 5:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PERFIDY, p. 892; scan anchor: djvu line 149643 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Perfidy is breach of engaged faith — promising a thing and doing the contrary. The verse names covenant faith broken, in the LORD's own speech. Hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PERFORMANCE

[Ecclesiastes 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ecclesiastes (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for he hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ecclesiastes 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PERFORMANCE, p. 892; scan anchor: djvu line 149658 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Performance is the fulfillment of a promise or obligation according to its terms. The verse is scripture's rule of performance — a vowed obligation must be paid, not deferred. Wisdom literature, not deity speech — no flag. PERFORM left bare — same verse on the verb would duplicate it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PERJURY

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PERJURY, p. 893; scan anchor: djvu line 149809 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Perjury is the willful false assertion as fact by a witness under oath in a judicial proceeding. The Decalogue's prohibition of false witness is its direct root — the commandment every perjury law presupposes. God's own speech, hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PERSON

[Genesis 1:27, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 1:27, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PERSON, p. 895; scan anchor: djvu line 150128 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Person is the human being as capable of having rights and being charged with duties. The verse is scripture's root of human personhood and dignity — the ground on which rights-bearing stands. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PERSONATE

[Genesis 27:19, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Jacob said unto his father, I am Esau thy firstborn; I have done according as thou badest me: arise, I pray thee, sit and eat of my venison, that thy soul may bless me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Genesis 27:19, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PERSONATE, p. 896; scan anchor: djvu line 150290 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Personate is assuming another's character without his consent, to deceive and gain advantage to his prejudice. Jacob's 'I am Esau thy firstborn' — spoken to take the blessing — is scripture's canonical personation. Jacob's speech, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PETITION

[1 John 5:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 John (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 John 5:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PETITION, p. 897; scan anchor: djvu line 150475 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Petition is a written address praying a power for redress of wrong or grant of favor. The verse uses the very word for petitions laid before God — the concept's scriptural form. Epistolary, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PIA FRATJS

[Romans 3:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For if the truth of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory; why yet am I also judged as a sinner? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 3:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PIA FRATJS, p. 898; scan anchor: djvu line 150705 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pia fraus is a fraud counted morally justifiable for religious ends. The verse poses exactly that question — a lie abounding to God's glory, and whether it excuses the liar. Paul's rhetoric, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PILLAGE

[Isaiah 10:6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. I will send him against an hypocritical nation, and against the people of my wrath will I give him a charge, to take the spoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Isaiah 10:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PILLAGE, p. 899; scan anchor: djvu line 150837 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pillage is the forcible taking of property by an invading army. The verse is the invader's commission in God's own first-person speech — 'to take the spoil, and to take the prey.' Distinct from Deut 20:14 (Israel's spoil-law, filed on PELE8); this is the invader's pillage. Hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PLAGIARISM

[Jeremiah 23:30, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Therefore, behold, I am against the prophets, saith the LORD, that steal my words every one from his neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Jeremiah 23:30, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PLAGIARISM, p. 902; scan anchor: djvu line 151287 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Plagiarism is appropriating another's words and passing them off as one's own. The verse names exactly that act — stealing words from one's neighbour — in the LORD's own speech. Distinct from the general theft commandment (Ex 20:15, filed on PECULATUS); this is the word-theft verse. Hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PLAGIUM

[Exodus 21:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And he that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 21:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PLAGIUM, p. 902; scan anchor: djvu line 151302 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Plagium is man-stealing — kidnapping, enticing away men, children, slaves. The Mosaic law states the identical offense with its penalty. Filed as God's spoken judgments, hence deity verbatim. PLAGIARIUS carries the companion verse below. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PLAGIARIUS

[Deuteronomy 24:7, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man be found stealing any of his brethren of the children of Israel, and maketh merchandise of him, or selleth him; then that thief shall die; and thou shalt put evil away from among you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PLAGIARIUS, p. 902; scan anchor: djvu line 151298 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Plagiarius is the man-stealer — the offender, distinct from the offense (PLAGIUM). This verse names the offender ('that thief shall die') in God's spoken law; a distinct verse for a distinct headword, not a duplicate. Hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PLENA PROBATIO

[Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PLENA PROBATIO, p. 906; scan anchor: djvu line 152003 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Plena probatio is full proof — proof by two witnesses, as opposed to mere presumption. The verse is the Mosaic two-witness rule itself: the matter established at the mouth of two or three witnesses. Filed as God's spoken law, hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PLURIS PETITIO

[Luke 3:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 3:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PLURIS PETITIO, p. 907; scan anchor: djvu line 152213 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pluris petitio is the demand of more than is due. The verse forbids the publicans to exact more than appointed — the same wrong in its scriptural form. John's speech, not deity speech — no flag. PLUS PETITIO left bare — the Roman twin of the same offense; no duplicate verse. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PASHA

[Romans 6:23, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 6:23, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PASHA, p. 907; scan anchor: djvu line 152300 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Poena is punishment, penalty — the legal concept of penal desert. The verse states the penalty principle in its archetypal form: wrongdoing earns its wage. Paul's teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

POLICE

[Romans 13:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

that doeth evil. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry POLICE, p. 909; scan anchor: djvu line 152432 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Police is the branch charged with preserving public order and the prevention, detection, and punishment of crimes. The verse names that coercive function in its scriptural form — the magistrate bearing the sword as revenger against evildoers. Paul's teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

POLL-TAX

[Exodus 30:13, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. This they shall give, every one that passeth among them that are numbered, half a shekel after the shekel of the sanctuary: (a shekel is twenty gerahs:) an half shekel shall be the offering of the LORD. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 30:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry POLL-TAX, p. 911; scan anchor: djvu line 152923 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A poll-tax is a specific sum levied upon each person by the head. The half-shekel census offering is scripture's poll-tax — every numbered soul alike. Filed as God's spoken word to Moses (Ex 30:11-12), hence deity verbatim. POLL-MONEY left bare — same verse on the English twin would duplicate it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

POLYGAMY

[Matthew 19:5-6, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh. Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 19:5-6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry POLYGAMY, p. 911; scan anchor: djvu line 152950 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Polygamy is the offense of having several spouses at once. The verse states the one-flesh norm — twain, not many — that the offense violates. Jesus' verbatim words in the Gospel, hence deity verbatim. POLYANDRY left bare — same concept, no duplicate verse. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PORTXO LEGITIMA

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PORTXO LEGITIMA, p. 914; scan anchor: djvu line 153410 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Portio legitima is the birthright portion the heir cannot be deprived of by the testator's will without special cause. The verse is the forced share itself — the father's duty to the firstborn's right, which he may not set aside. Filed as God's spoken law, hence deity verbatim. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PORTION

[Luke 15:12, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 15:12, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PORTION, p. 914; scan anchor: djvu line 153418 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Portion is the share falling to a child from a parent's estate. The verse is the prodigal's demand for exactly that — 'the portion of goods that falleth to me.' The son's speech within the parable, not Jesus' own voice — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

POST OBIT BOND

[Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry POST OBIT BOND, p. 919; scan anchor: djvu line 154194 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A post-obit bond is an expectation of property ripening only at another's death. The verse states the principle of death-contingent expectations — a testament has no force while the testator lives. Epistolary teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

POTENTATE

[1 Timothy 6:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords; [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 6:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry POTENTATE, p. 920; scan anchor: djvu line 154450 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Potentate is a prince, sovereign, or monarch — the term the naturalization oath makes the alien renounce. The verse uses the very word for the supreme sovereign: 'the blessed and only Potentate.' Paul's doxology, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PRJBOIPITIUM

[Luke 4:29, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Luke (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might cast him down headlong. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Luke 4:29, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRJBOIPITIUM, p. 924; scan anchor: djvu line 155135 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Praecipitium is the punishment of casting headlong from a high place. The verse shows the act itself — the Nazareth crowd leading its victim to the brow of the hill to cast him down headlong. Narrative, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRJEMIUM

[1 Timothy 5:18, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Timothy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Timothy 5:18, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRJEMIUM, p. 925; scan anchor: djvu line 155304 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Praemium is reward, compensation — for service, for insurance, for emancipation. The verse states the compensation principle in its classic form: the labourer is worthy of his reward. Paul's teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREVARICATOR

[Psalm 41:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Yea, mine own familiar friend, in whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, hath lifted up his heel against me. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 41:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREVARICATOR, p. 927; scan anchor: djvu line 155561 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A prevaricator is one who betrays his trust — the advocate who aids the opposite party against his client. The verse is the archetype of betrayed trust: the familiar friend in whom one trusted, lifting his heel. David's psalm, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PRECONTRACT

[1 Corinthians 7:39, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The wife is bound by the law as long as her husband liveth; but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to be married to whom she will; only in the Lord. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 7:39, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRECONTRACT, p. 928; scan anchor: djvu line 155969 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A precontract is an engagement that precludes lawfully entering another contract of the same nature — paradigmatically a prior marriage. The verse states the binding force of the subsisting marriage that bars remarriage. Paul's teaching, not deity speech — no flag. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRE-EMPTION

[Ruth 4:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Ruth (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it: but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it beside thee; and I am after thee. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ruth 4:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRE-EMPTION, p. 930; scan anchor: djvu line 156024 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Pre-emption is the right of first buying — the preference of purchase. The verse shows the kinsman-redeployer's pre-emptive right in action: the nearer kinsman holds the first right to redeem, Boaz after him. Boaz's speech, not deity speech — no flag. PRE-EMPTIONER left bare — same verse on the person would duplicate it. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

FRINGE

[Proverbs 8:15, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. By me kings reign, and princes decree justice. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 8:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry FRINGE, p. 939; scan anchor: djvu line 157564 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A prince is a sovereign, a ruler. Wisdom speaks here of kings reigning and princes decreeing justice — the ruler's office tied to justice. (Speaker is personified Wisdom, not a deity — flag off.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PR&T

[Exodus 22:25, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 22:25, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PR&T, p. 936; scan anchor: djvu line 157088 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entries define loan contracts, including loan at interest. This is the biblical law of lending — the scriptural root of the legal concept of the loan and its limits. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREEATE

[Hebrews 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And no man taketh this honour unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREEATE, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156208 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A prelate is a clergyman of superior order, a dignitary of the church. This verse states the calling-not-taking principle of priestly office — the office is received, not seized. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREGNANCY

[Deuteronomy 24:16, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, neither shall the children be put to death for the fathers: every man shall be put to death for his own sin. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 24:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREGNANCY, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156167 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's legal core is the plea of pregnancy: a capitally convicted woman's execution is stayed till she is delivered, so the unborn child does not die for the mother's crime. This verse states the principle beneath the plea — the child shall not be put to death for the parent. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREJUDICE

[Leviticus 19:15, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 19:15, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREJUDICE, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156182 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Prejudice is defined as bias, a leaning toward one side for reasons other than conviction of its justice. This verse is the scriptural prohibition of exactly that in judgment — neither favoring the poor nor honoring the mighty. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation, under a standing flag; text unaltered (KJV diff: flagged) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREMEDITATE

[Numbers 35:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. he that smote him shall surely be put to death; for he is a murderer [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREMEDITATE, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156241 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Premeditation is contriving beforehand — the core of malice aforethought in homicide. Numbers 35 draws scripture's own distinction between the deliberate striker (vv. 20-21) and the unpremeditated killing (vv. 22-23). [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREPENSE

[Numbers 35:21, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. he that smote him shall surely be put to death; for he is a murderer [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 35:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREPENSE, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156391 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Prepense means forethought, premeditated — the same concept as premeditate. Same verse, same reasoning: scripture's deliberate-vs-accidental killing distinction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By quotation of the verse's operative span (KJV diff: partial) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PREPONDERANCE

[Job 31:6, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Job (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Job 31:6, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREPONDERANCE, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156397 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Preponderance is superiority of weight in evidence. Job invokes the even balance — the scales image — in a judicial self-defense, asking to be weighed fairly. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PREROGATIVE

[Romans 13:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Romans (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Romans 13:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PREROGATIVE, p. 931; scan anchor: djvu line 156415 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Prerogative is the sovereign's peculiar pre-eminence. This verse is the theological root the old law appealed to for royal prerogative — all ruling power ordained of God. (Basis of authority, not the privilege itself — stated plainly.) [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRESBYTER

[Hebrews 5:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And no man taketh this honour unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 5:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRESBYTER, p. 933; scan anchor: djvu line 156500 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A presbyter is an elder, a priest. Same verse as PREEATE: the calling-not-taking principle of the priestly office. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRESERVATION

[Psalm 121:7, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Psalm (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. The LORD shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Psalm 121:7, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRESERVATION, p. 934; scan anchor: djvu line 156796 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Preservation is keeping safe from harm, avoiding injury or destruction. The verse speaks directly of being preserved from evil and harm. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRESUMPTION

[Proverbs 18:13, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 18:13, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRESUMPTION, p. 934; scan anchor: djvu line 156924 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A presumption is an inference drawn in the absence of certainty. This verse condemns judging

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

before the evidence is heard — the moral ancestor of the law's caution around presumptions. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRETEND

[Exodus 20:16, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Exodus 20:16, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRETEND, p. 936; scan anchor: djvu line 157118 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. To pretend is to hold out as real what is false or baseless. The ninth commandment is the scriptural root of falsehood-offences. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRETERITION

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRETERITION, p. 936; scan anchor: djvu line 157164 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Preterition is a testator's omission of a legally entitled heir. This verse is scripture's own rule against disinheriting the entitled heir — the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRICE

[Proverbs 11:1, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Proverbs (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Proverbs 11:1, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRICE, p. 937; scan anchor: djvu line 157317 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Price is the consideration given for purchase. This verse is the biblical law of commercial fairness — honesty in price and measure. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PRIEST

[1 Peter 2:9, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Peter (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Peter 2:9, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRIEST, p. 938; scan anchor: djvu line 157379 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A priest is a minister of the church. This verse names the priesthood as the called-out people — the office's scriptural identity. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRIMO VENIENTI

[Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Deuteronomy (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his strength; the right of the firstborn is his. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Deuteronomy 21:17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRIMO VENIENTI, p. 939; scan anchor: djvu line 157533 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. This entry's body carries the PRIMOGENITURE definitions: the eldest son's exclusive right of succession. This verse is scripture's primogeniture rule — the double portion, 'the right of the firstborn is his.' [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRIMOGENITUS

[Genesis 25:31, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Genesis (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. And Jacob said, Sell me this day thy birthright. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Genesis 25:31, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRIMOGENITUS, p. 939; scan anchor: djvu line 157551 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Primogenitus is the first-born son. This is the scriptural firstborn-right transaction — Jacob's purchase of Esau's birthright, the birthright as a conveyable legal interest. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRINCIPAL

[Ezekiel 18:20, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Ezekiel 18:20, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910),

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

entry PRINCIPAL, p. 939; scan anchor: djvu line 157605 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. In criminal law the principal is the chief actor, distinguished from the accessory. This verse states individual responsibility — each bears his own guilt — the root of the principal/accessory distinction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRIZE

[1 Corinthians 9:24, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: 1 Corinthians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: 1 Corinthians 9:24, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRIZE, p. 942; scan anchor: djvu line 158359 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. The entry's second sense is 'anything offered as a reward of contest.' Paul uses 'prize' in exactly that sense — the contest reward. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRO BONO PUBLICO

[Philippians 2:4, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Philippians (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Philippians 2:4, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRO BONO PUBLICO, p. 944; scan anchor: djvu line 158430 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'For the public good; for the welfare of the whole.' This verse states the regard-for-others principle behind acting for the public good. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PRO LABSIONE FEDEI

[Numbers 30:2, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Numbers 30:2, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRO LABSIONE FEDEI, p. 945; scan anchor: djvu line 158554 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'For breach of faith.' This is the scriptural law of keeping one's word — breach of faith defined as breaking what the mouth has spoken. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

PRO SALUTE ANIMAS

[Matthew 16:26, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Matthew 16:26, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PRO SALUTE ANIMAS, p. 945; scan anchor: djvu line 158611 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'For the good of his soul' — the end of ecclesiastical prosecutions. Christ's words state the soul's supreme worth, the concept behind pro-salute-animae jurisdiction. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PROBATE

[Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Hebrews (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Hebrews 9:16-17, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PROBATE, p. 946; scan anchor: djvu line 158732 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Probate is the proving of a will — establishing that the document is the testator's last will. These verses state the legal nature of a testament: it takes force only after death, which is exactly what probate establishes. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PROBATION

[John 8:11, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: John 8:11, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PROBATION, p. 946; scan anchor: djvu line 158844 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. Probation releases a convicted offender under suspension of sentence during good behavior. Christ's words to the adulteress are the ancient shape of it: release from condemnation conditioned on reformed conduct. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PROBES ET EE6AU8 HOMO

[Exodus 18:21, KJV]

Who. The cited biblical book: Exodus (KJV) [basis: citation — the insert names no individual speaker, so the voice is recorded at the book level the citation supports]

What. Moreover thou shalt provide out of all the people able men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating covetousness; and place such over them, to be rulers of thousands, and rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

 All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice

Where. Cited source: Exodus 18:21, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PROBES ET EE6AU8 HOMO, p. 947; scan anchor: djvu line 158915 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. 'A good and lawful man' — the juror or witness free from all exception. This is the biblical qualification standard for adjudicators: able, God-fearing, truthful, hating covetousness. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

How. By verbatim quotation — the note reproduces the cited verse word-for-word (KJV diff: exact) [basis: Phase 2 KJV mechanical diff, class per insert]

PROCLAMATION

[Leviticus 25:10, KJV]

Who. God — the verse is classed deity-verbatim in the edition's merge (red-letter) [basis: phase-data deity_verbatim flag]

What. And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it shall be a jubile unto you. [basis: the insert's own text, verbatim, in its printed form]

Where. Cited source: Leviticus 25:10, KJV. Host locus: Black's Law Dictionary, 2nd edition (1910), entry PROCLAMATION, p. 19 (page anchor suspect — Brick 21 §D); scan anchor: djvu line 159374 [basis: citation + host entry record (entries.json)]

When. OPEN — the citation carries no date, and dating the text is outside the insert's evidence

Why. A proclamation is the publication of state matters by proper authority. This is the Jubilee proclamation — liberty proclaimed by divine authority to all the land. [basis: the phase worker's recorded reasoning — the edition's original Why, carried verbatim]

